Odessa Yielded Back to Russia By Germans; Reds Move On Oil Fields

Greatest Black Sea Port And First Prize of Nazis In Invasion Recaptured

MOSCOW CELEBRATES

MOSCOW, April 10—Premier Joseph Stalin, in an order of the day, officially announced the capture of Odessa. The greatest salvo of victory guns yet was fired, 440 guns being used to fire thirty-six rounds.

LONDON, April 10 (CP) — Odessa, the greatest Black Sea port and first major prize of the Nazi invasion of Russia, has been yielded back to the Red Army, Berlin announced today. The evacuation of the naval base was acknowledged by the German High Command which also disclosed that the Russians were striking out in a full-blown offensive to

Unity Is Essential

United States, Britain, Russia and China Must Stay Together to Avoid Another War

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 10 (CP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull, fighting for a postwar policy of national collaboration, appealed to the American people Sunday night not to let controversies of election year create disunity and destroy effectiveness in world affairs. Mr. Hull's summation was built on the assumption that the United States, Great Britain, Russia and China will co-operate for peace as well as for war. If they do not, Hull said, there was no hope of avoiding another great conflict in the next generation.

OTTAWA—Hugh McKinnon, Liberal member for Kenora-Rainy River, died today. He was fifty-nine years of age.

Official Czech statements indicated that the Russians had crossed the Czechoslovakian border in the direction of Tatra Pass, a long, narrow mountain range in the Carpathian plain but a Soviet bulletin was silent on that sector. The Red Army, having halted after encircling Iasi, Rumanian oil centre, by-passed, that city on its way to the Pliasti fields. The position of the garrison at Iasi is described as hopeless.

Gets Commission In Air Force

WAR NEWS

ON CZECHOSLOVAKIAN FRONTIER

The Russian Army has now reached the frontier of Czechoslovakia and the people of that country have been called upon to rise up against their Nazi aggressors. The Russians, pressing on along a 200 mile front, have drawn further into Bucovina Province of Rumania. They have captured the major prize of Odessa.

ALLIED BOMBERS FAR AFIELD

Allied bombers reached out to within three hundred miles of the Russian front when they attacked war plants in East Prussia and Poland with good effect Saturday night. Royal Air Force mosquitos bombed the munitions centre of Essen and also laid mines in enemy waters. None of the British planes were lost.

GERMANS POUND ANZIO

Action has been stepped up on the Anzio beachhead in Italy. A heavy German artillery barrage caused some damage, it has been admitted. The Allies replied by shelling an ammunition dump.

INDIA AND BURMA

A small Japanese force which made a thrust at Kohima, sixty miles north of Imphal in Manipur Province of India, was thrown back. There was fighting in the outskirts of Kohima. The situation in Burma, where combined Chinese and American forces are fighting against the Japanese, is little changed.

TRUK BOMBED

The big Japanese naval base of Truk has again been struck at by Allied bombers.

U-BOAT MENACE

More Allied ships were sunk in March by U-boats than in February. The British Admiralty admits that Nazi U-boat strength is still considerable. They are still being combatted effectively.

BOMBING NEW GUINEA

United States Fifth Air Force bombers dropped 281 tons of bombs during the week-end on Hollandia, Wewak and Hansa Bay on the north coast of New Guinea.

R.C.A.F. BOMBER GROUP'S TARGETS FOR A YEAR

During the first fifteen months of the Canadian Bomber Group's existence overseas (it was organized Jan. 1, 1943) more than 40 important manufacturing and communications centres, seaports, shipbuilding yards, U-boat bases and other targets in Germany, Italy and France felt the weight of Canadian bombs. These 40 targets were attacked not once but many times. For example Berlin, during the period, was attacked 18 times. In carrying out these operations, aircraft of the Group flew 11,999 sorties, dropping a total of more than 22,000 tons of bombs. These statistics refer, of course, only to the operations of the R.C.A.F. Bomber Group and do not take into account the activities of R.C.A.F. Coastal Command squadrons or the contribution of the tens of thousands of R.C.A.F. personnel attached to R.A.F. units

FLATFISHING FOR BRITAIN

Anchorage in Hecate Straits Halted Temporarily While Fish Spawn.

The extensive flatfish industry, developed this year on Hecate Straits, through the British order for some millions of pounds of frozen soles and flounders, came to a temporary stop recently, when the Federal fisheries department asked the operators to halt fishing because the flounders were spawning. An official of the Dominion fisheries research department has been investigating. It may be that the fishing will have to be held up for some time in order to allow the fish to get in better condition.

B.C. Packers Ltd., Canadian Fishing Co. Ltd., and Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Co. have been flatfish fishing, with a fleet of eight to ten boats. They report consistent and heavy catches, and ten to a dozen carloads of frozen flatfish have gone east from Prince Rupert each week.

Passing Of Impahl Seems Latest Jap Move in India

NEW DELHI, April 10 (CP) — Japanese besiegers of the Imphal plain in Manipur Province of India sent small parties west of Bishenpur, southwest of Imphal and Tiddim road, where they were in contact with Allied forces and suffered casualties. It was the first time that the Japanese were reported west of the Tiddim-Imphal road, indicating an enemy effort to sweep around Imphal defences from the southwest. ### Petty Crimes Sully Easter

Two Cases of Robbery With Violence and Three Cases of Theft at Week-end.

Two cases of robbery with violence were reported to city police over the Easter week-end. Mike Shobalsh, age 58, of cabin 10, Wantage Road, complained that he had been assaulted and robbed at the corner of Eleventh Avenue and Wantage Road at 3 o'clock Sunday morning by two men who had jumped on him and bruised him badly about the face, dazing him.

The men had taken his wallet containing $23.50, he said.

At 4:45 Sunday morning, Charles Sowi, who lived aboard a boat at the new fishermen's floats, complained to police that he had been robbed by one of three soldiers who had beaten him up.

Sowi said that the offence occurred on Fulton Street near Seventh Avenue, and that his wallet, taken by one of his assailants, had contained his boat papers and registration card.

Raymond A. Davis, 817 Fraser Street, told police that he had been robbed of Victory Bonds of considerable value by someone who entered his room and opened his trunk.

Speaking of Ireland...

Many Canadians of Irish descent must have felt embarrassed, if not ashamed, because of the attitude of their ancestral land (south of the Ulster border) towards the present war. The Irish have many national characteristics, both amiable and the reverse, but neutrality is not naturally one of them. Even virtual political separation from the ancient enemy, England, has not brought internal peace to the troubled land of Eire.

Even the most fanatical Irishman must see that Ireland's geographical situation binds her economic and political fate with England's. Yet neutrality, as practised by the government of Eire, has simply provided Germany and Japan with a convenient base for their spies, thereby harming the cause with which Eire's best interests are allied. There are many loyal Irishmen in the British forces, although the newspapers of Eire are forbidden to mention the fact. So it is conceivable that information by Nazi spies operating from Irish bases will be used to bring death to Irishmen.

Young as a self-governing nation, Eire may be politically immature, unready to accept the fact that nationhood carries responsibilities as well as sovereign rights. It is not fitting for Canadians to censure her too severely, when we remember that if certain of our politicians had had their way, Canada might even now be sharing Eire's shame as a neutral.

By Any Other Name...

From a recent exchange of remarks between M. J. Coldwell and Hon. L. R. La Fleche in the House of Commons, it is apparent that members of the C.C.F. dislike being called national socialists, says the Printed Word. They seem to glory in the name of socialist, and the brand of socialism that they preach is designed to be national in scope. National socialism is a convenient and accurate phrase for summarizing their body of political doctrine. It is certainly an improvement over C.C.F.-ism, the present alternative.

Dislike of the name, national socialist, is understandable. In Germany, a party of that name, which assumed control over all enterprise within the state, became known as the Nazis, and that word now carries disagreeable connotations. The national socialists of Germany have a sacred book, "Mein Kampf," and the C.C.F. have "Make This Your Canada." Further parallels may be found if the name of national socialists comes to be generally applied to the Canadian party. Speeches of the C.C.F. leader, it is true, are milder than those of Herr Hitler, but others of the Canadian party have been known to rant in the manner approved by audiences in a Munich beer hall.

The parents of the C.C.F. made one mistake when they chose such an unwieldy name as Co-operative Commonwealth Federation for their brainchild. It was a mistake often made by well-meaning parents. Thomas, John and James emerge from their first day at school with no worse names than Tom, Jack and Jim; but Marmaduke Lancelot inevitably receives the alias of Stinky, and he may carry it long after he has learned to wash with desirable regularity.

If the C.C.F. had the wisdom of the schoolyard instead of the wisdom of Rhodes Scholars, they would know that all that one can do about a nickname is to live it down, perhaps diffidently suggesting a more acceptable substitute.

If they fear that national socialist may become corrupted into Nazi, as in Germany, they might see what could be done with their official party label. The initials contain no vowels, but something might be done by taking two or three letters from each word. Some years ago, the Editor of "Saturday Night" suggested "Co-co-feds." Or what about "Coo-cofed?" It is euphonious, easy to pronounce, easy to remember. It may have one fault, that of being too long, but the process of time would eventually shorten it to "Cuckoo."

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. (By DOROTHY GARBUTT)

I would like to thank Mrs. George Ruddesham and Mrs. Denny Allen for so generously donating irons to the boys at the Military Post Office. Now if the boys at Group Headquarters RCAF who also phoned me about an iron will get in touch with the Post Office staff they may hear something to their advantage. Mysterious as all get out, aren't they?

It seems that all over Canada the Navy boys are pushovers when it comes to children. Remember the party they had at Christmas here. Another instance of their kindheartedness came to me in a letter I received from my eleven-year-old son, Peter, who goes to the School for the Deaf in Saskatoon. He says:

"The boys and girls went to visit the Navy Barracks on Saturday. (H.M.C.S. Unicorn, that is). There were two boys on guard. We visited all the rooms. We saw radios (I think Peter must mean the wireless division) and we played games. We ate reveals. We played Bingo. The boys and girls enjoyed their visit."

Good Friday evening I had a lot of fun selling tickets for the Army Show "Cinderella" at Orme's Drug Store. First there was the theatre queue to watch and what patience those theatregoers possess. Then there were a great many strangers in town of the marine and navy persuasion and I was kept busy telling them where the various service huts and curio shops were although, unfortunately, being a holiday, most of the latter were closed. The time went very quickly.

I dropped in at the USO Hut the other night to see how Eva La Pierre was getting along on her own with Frank Finnerty on furlough. Trust her to be doing right well by herself and the service boys and girls. She had everything humming, her programs and menus arranged for days in advance. They have the cutest white and black kitten about the size of nothing, which they feed with a miniature nursing bottle!

LETTERBOX

TIME FOR ROAD WORK

Editor, Daily News: We the taxpayers of the district have to listen to the big shots talk and get nothing done about the holes in our roads and streets. It is about time the road graders got the moths blown off them and put to work. Then there would not be so many trucks in the ditch owing to conditions.

C. S. VIERS.

RED CROSS AT TERRACE DOES WELL

TERRACE, April 10—The local Red Cross Society held a meeting on Thursday last in the rooms on Lakelse Avenue when reports were received from Mrs. George Dover, convener of the works committee, who gave a very interesting account of the Provincial Council Meeting in Vancouver which she recently attended. The report gave a good idea of what is expected of the Branch, dealing as it did with full details of the large volume of overseas parcels sent and an account of the work of those who have made visits to the patients in hospital.

Routine matters were dealt with at the meeting. The financial statement, presented by A. D. Noble, chairman of the campaign committee in the recent drive for Red Cross funds, showed that the Terrace quota had been assessed at $900 but that the collectors had garnered the astonishing total of $5270.00, a truly creditable performance, reflecting both upon the goodwill and patriotism of Terrace and upon the increased prosperity which the district is at present enjoying.

The proceedings closed with a vote of thanks to the Chairman and canvassers in the campaign.

JAP RETURN IS OPPOSED

C.C.F. Proposal to Curb Public Utterances Objected to by I.O.D.E.

When Queen Mary Chapter I.O.D.E. held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Coates, Wald on Apartments, on Wednesday evening, an inspiring paper entitled "Spirit of the Daughters of the Empire" was read by Mrs. Wm. Brass. This "Spirit" was exemplified in the resolutions passed when members were unanimously opposed to the return of the Japanese to the Pacific Coast. Another resolution was also passed unequivocally condemning the proposed amendment to the Criminal Code introduced into the Dominion Parliament by Angus McInnis, M.P., which purported to "prevent public utterances or dissemination of material calculated or likely to cause discrimination or disharmony on account of race or religion."

A donation was made to Cambrai Chapter to aid in their work at the Military Hospital. The ladies agreed to join with Cambrai in helping at the Civic Centre Carnival as in previous years.

The Chapter agreed to provide Senior Hostesses for the service dances for the month of April. Final arrangements were made for the Easter Monday Tea at the home of Mrs. Alex McKenzie, 724 6th Ave. W., when special efforts will be expended on the Home Cooking Booth.

Mrs. Brass reported another five markers ready to be placed on ex-service men's graves.

The next meeting will be held on May 3 at the home of Mrs. J. M. Taylor, 967 6th Avenue East.

Whifflets From The Waterfront

Recently the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce endorsed a resolution asking the federal government to spend $2,000,000 on clearing the Fraser River of obstruction to the salmon run and also proposing the extension of the three-mile limit in order to aid the protection of the Pacific halibut fisheries from encroachment.

000,000 has been appropriated by the Canadian government and $1,000,000 by the United States government for the work in the Fraser River by international arrangement. No answer is given by the minister in regard to the extension of the three-mile limit.

LONDON (AP) — The baronetcy of Lt. Col. Sir Ranulph Twisleton - Wykeham - Fiennes was preserved by the birth of a son to Lady Fiennes after the death in the Italian fighting of Sir Ranulph. Had the child not been a boy the title would have lapsed.

NURSERY SCHOOLS believe that every child needs a between-meal lunch, and this is endorsed by Dr. L. B. Pett, who suggests that mothers with pre-school children at home follow the same practice.

MAPLE SYRUP will be on the market soon and the very thought makes the mouth water. Among the many delicious recipes which include maple syrup is that for:

QUICK MAPLE BUNS: Make up dough for plain baking powder biscuits, and place in each section of a greased muffin tin one teaspoon nut meats, two teaspoons maple syrup and 1/4 teaspoon melted butter.

FOOD WASTED is undesirable at any time but in wartime it is practically a sin. To help prevent such wastage the Nutrition Bureau has issued these hints: In the refrigerator: perishable foods with natural protective coverings, like oranges, may be stored uncovered; those without such a covering to prevent evaporation, like lettuce, should be kept in a container.

Uncooked meats and fish should be wrapped in waxed paper and kept in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Cooked meats or poultry should cool before being stored, then covered in the refrigerator to prevent drying.

Fats and dripping are important in every kitchen, especially in wartime. They should be used up as soon as possible and kept cold until used. If left at room temperature they will go rancid.

Milk, cream and butter absorb flavors from other foods and should be kept tightly covered.

NAIROBI (AP) — The work of the rehabilitation centre for disabled African soldiers in Kenya has been extended. Extra temporary accommodation is at present being built, including workshops for the manufacture of artificial limbs.

TRIBUTE TO RUSSIA IN ADDRESSES

NORAH ARNOLD, LADY ALDERMAN

Ald. Norah Arnold admitted at the Canadian Soviet friendship meeting last week that, had it not been for Soviet Russia, the Allies would have been in a terrible plight and the war would have been prolonged for many weary years. Meantime Russia had suffered overwhelming desolation with torture, illness and starvation for her people. She suggested means by which contact might be made with the town of Nogaïsk in a personal way by adults and children in correspondence as well as by community effort. After the war there would undoubtedly be tensions and here appeared to be an admirable way to promote better understandings. What Prince Rupert was endeavouring to do in connection with Nogaïsk would be done by thousands of cities and towns throughout the British Empire and in the United States. If individuals could get along with individuals in communities, nations should be able to get along with nations. Ald. Arnold felt that the "resurrection of Russia" would go down in history as the outstanding thing of the Twentieth Century.

GEORGE STANTON, BOILERMAKERS' HEAD

George Stanton spoke of the development of Russia along the lines of trades unionism. Magnificent things had been done in Russia, the recognized workers having made these things possible. In the space of twenty-five years Russia had been converted from a land of devastation and famine with 86 per cent of her people illiterate to a country which today led in culture, science, industry and knowledge. Out of chaos had been built a magnificent civilization of busy workers. All had come about through collective thinking and action, social ownership and planned economy. Their accomplishments in war had clearly demonstrated that the Russian people felt they had something real to fight for. That something was the ownership of the means of production and living. Some day, he hoped, the people of Canada would own and control their means of livelihood.

COLONEL PAULIN, ARMY OFFICER

Lieut. Col. J. F. Paulin said it was a very worthy cause. There was no need for argument or testimony as to that. The cause was one to which the citizens of Prince Rupert might aid in comfort and assistance for those who had suffered on behalf of the other Allied nations. The hearty response of the citizens of Prince Rupert would, no doubt, be joined in by military, naval and air force personnel which also realized and appreciated the tremendous efforts of the Soviet on behalf of the United Nations and the freedom of all right thinking people. The armed forces, Col. Paulin felt sure, would not be lacking in giving support to anything the citizens of Prince Rupert might reasonably undertake.

B. THORSTINSON, SCHOOL INSPECTOR

School Inspector Thorstinson said that the British Commonwealth and Soviet Russia were agreed today upon the necessity of fighting a common foe. As long as that situation existed there would be no need to worry about relations. But the time would come after the war when tensions would arise. As Field Marshal Smuts said a colossus was developing in Russia and the Soviet would become one of the dominant powers of the world. Here was a situation which might as well be realized. It would appear wise to build up amicable and friendly ties while still it was possible. A free and full exchange of views would be most helpful.

AUGUST WALLIN, LABOR LEADER

August Wallin credited trades unionism in the Soviet Republic with being a major factor in stopping and driving back the military steam roller of Adolf Hitler. In Russia there was no tug of war between labor and management but the government and the workers went hand in hand. As for the campaign proposed, he felt that the aim was not so much to materially aid Nogaïsk but to build up friendship and understanding.

REV. ALEX MACSWEEN, PRESBYTERIAN PASTOR

Rev. A. F. MacSween saw no need for extreme feelings. In the record of Russia there might still be much worthy of examination. There should be knowledge and understanding instead of passion and hatred and prejudice. It was high time that neighbors know each other better as nations and individuals. The present plan of Canadian - Russian friendship seemed a practicable scheme which should be productive of much good in bringing about better understanding and mutual appreciation. In closing, Mr. MacSween referred to the Christian duty and privilege of extending in the name of the Master a helping hand.

GARDEN 'NOTEBOOK

STYLES HAVE CHANGED

There have been many changes in flower and vegetable types in recent years and unlike some other developments these have all been for the better. There are many new varieties, different colors and better types and the new gardener is well advised to bring himself up to date. Take the vegetables:

NEW VEGETABLES

In the old days there were only a few good varieties of each and when these were finished the season was over for another year. That limitation does not apply today.

In most lines one can now get a good early variety, a good medium and a good late one. This advantage alone extends the season by many weeks and if sowings of each type are spread over a few weeks instead of days the harvest of good eating is still further lengthened. And new vegetables have also been added. There are new squash, new melons, carrots. One can get a spinach that will not rush to seed quickly, lettuce that will stay crisp and green weeks later than the old types, radish that will be ready to eat days sooner. By careful planning and by wise succession planting, rather than sowing everything on one afternoon, one can have a harvest of garden fresh vegetables from early July until long after the first hard frosts.

FLOWERS ARE IMPROVED

And the same improvement has been going on in flowers. There are varieties that bloom earlier and scores of new shades. By choosing carefully through the season one can easily have a continuous succession of bloom right through the season and one could, if one wished, work out any complicated color scheme desired. And in addition to colors there have been improvements in adapting certain types and varieties to certain conditions.

Once upon a time most flowers had to be planted in full sunlight and rich soil if any sort of a showing was to be expected. The dark corners of the garden and those places where soil is naturally poor just simply had to go without. All that is now changed. There are now to be found flowers that actually prefer darkish corners, in fact will not grow if exposed to full sun from morning till night. And these flowers often have brilliant coloring too. The tuberous rooted begonia is an example. Then there are flowers like portulaca, wonderfully colorful, that prefer a blazing sun, and poor dryish soil. In between these two extremes are hundreds of others that are sufficient to meet any conditions from Akkavik to Peelee Island.

HANDLING A SLOPE

Where grounds slope sharply, say several feet in a few yards, experts advise that separation between and the other races. The latter, if carefully handled, wash away. Most gardeners advise that grounds gently sloping to the shrubbery or the foot drop, then the lined again at the until the end is the other drop must be ed. The two are connected by steps.

HOW FAR WILL IT RUN. AFTER IT SHOULDN'T RUN AT ALL.

by RALPH ALLEN

Well-known War Correspondent of the Toronto Globe and Mail

Somewhere in Italy—A new truck is like a new wife. You don't really begin to get acquainted until you've seen it with its hair in curlers, a shiny nose and a bad case of sniffles.

That's why nobody knows quite as much about General Motors army vehicles as the men of REME. REME stands for Royal Electrical Mechanical Engineers, and they've seen our Canadian vehicles in every possible condition. Their main job is to keep the wheels rolling behind and with the rolling British Armies. The soldiers of REME go as far forward as roads will take them, to provide—under battle conditions—the same crack-care for our fighting machines that we peacetime motorists always got for our Chevy coupes at the neighborhood garage.

They run into some hard cases. The chassis hasn't been invented that will win an argument with an 88 millimetre shell or a Teller mine. And in the ordinary routine of carrying and supplying a fast-moving army, things happen to the engines of military vehicles that shouldn't happen to a sergeant-major.

In the early stages of an amphibious operation like North Africa, Sicily or Italy, for instance, an unexpected shipping loss or a few blown bridges can mean that one truck may have to do the work of two for days or even weeks on end. In such periods of urgency and strain, a front-line vehicle can no more expect the luxury of daily maintenance than a front line soldier can expect a daily bath.

Mechanics see these overburdened trucks at their worst—which means, paradoxically, at their best. They agree the real test of a military vehicle isn't how far and how well it will run under ideal service conditions, but how far and well it will run after it ought to have refused to run at all. They agree that Canadian trucks have passed this test wherever they have met it.

One of these Canadian mechanics put it to me this way not long ago as he crawled out from under a three-ton General Motors lorry, somewhere in Italy: "A fighting truck needs the same things a fighting man needs," he said, "guts and class. Our trucks have got both, and this is the place to find it out."

GENERAL MOTORS SERVICE follows the Flag all over the world

• General Motors' interest in its varied war products goes far beyond the delivery of countless units to our armed forces. To illustrate: GM technicians from Canada are "on active service" helping to improve the fine record of General Motors mechanized equipment in Italy where they landed with Montgomery's Eighth after they await the North Africa; in India where they await the coming Battle of Burma; in England, strategic springboard for the invasion of Western Europe, and in Australia, main attack base for the Japanese in the Pacific. Other GM experts are attached to each Canadian military district, to assist in the instruction of army personnel, and to "keep tabs" on GM products under practical combat conditions; the Company's Army Service Training School has already trained nearly 1200 army and air force mechanics.

C.W.A.C. Pretty Wedding Bride

The Canadian Women's Army Corps staff house No. 7 was the scene Saturday evening at 6:30 of a pretty and interesting wedding when Private Norma V. Nicol of Penticton became the bride of Lance Corporal Paul LaPorte, Prince Rupert born boy, who is with the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps. Rev. Captain Rapson was the officiating chaplain.

The bride was given in marriage by Lieut. Col. G. F. Paulin and was attended by Private Edith Hale as bridesmaid and

JUST FOR A CHANGE! No legs, no cheesecake... but a beautiful face belonging to lovely Linda Darnell who is one of the stars in "It Happened Tomorrow" released by United Artists.

Sergeant Abbott as matron-of-honor. Gus Stromdahl was groomsmen.

The bride and her attendants wore their service uniform and had lovely corsages of roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the writing room where congratulations and best wishes were offered to the contracting couple.

A toast to the bride was proposed by Lieut. Col. Coombs, R.C.A.S.C., and responded to by the groom.

Many beautiful gifts testified to the popularity in which the couple are held.

Later in the evening Lance Corporal and Mrs. LaPorte entertained for Edmonton, where the groom's mother, Mrs. Peter LaPorte, now lives, later going to visit the bride's home at Penticton. After an absence of 30 days, the couple will return to Prince Rupert.

Carving a Roast Bird

For a chicken, as with other roasts, good carving is vital to avoid waste! The first essential for carving poultry is the same as any other meat—a sharp knife! If you have a special poultry knife (one with a thinner blade than the ordinary carver) so much the better. But any carving knife will serve if it is really sharp.

First insert the fork firmly with a prong on each side of the breast bone. Next, make a downward cut between the body and the thigh nearest you, twisting the knife to separate the leg from the body and expose the joint, which can then easily be severed. Still keeping the fork in place, remove the wing. You are now ready to slice the breast and in a large bird, to cut slices from the thigh. For an ordinary family meal, you will now probably have enough meat carved to supply portions for everyone. The normal portion should include some light, some dark meat and dressing. The other side of the bird is treated in the same way as required. The wishbone may be included in first or second portions.

A SIMPLE DRESSING FOR CHICKEN 4 cups freshly made bread-crumbs 6 tbsps. fine flavoured fat 1 tsp. chopped parsley 1 to 4 tbsps. chopped onion 1 tsp. powdered thyme or marjoram (optional) A little milk or stock Salt and pepper to taste 1 egg (optional) Mix the dry ingredients, moisten with milk or stock and egg if used.

Accept Christ Unquestioningly

Features for Easter Sunday at Services in First Presbyterian Church.

That people should be prepared to accept Christ and his teachings without too much practical explanation was the Easter morning message of Rev. A. F. MacSween at First Presbyterian Church yesterday. Christ stood waiting for admission to the hearts of men and it would be well in these days if His doctrines were accepted, the minister asserted. As at other churches of the city, First Presbyterian had a large congregation. The minister was assisted by Captain E. Walker, chaplain of an Ontario regiment, the personnel of which had had a service in First Presbyterian Church earlier in the day. The children of the Sunday School joined with the adult congregation for the morning service and the junior choir, under the direction of Mrs. E. J. Smith, the organist, sang the anthem, "Risen a Glorious King." Another feature of the morning service was the presentation of perfect attendance certificates to Barbara Teng, Barbara Flaten, Viola May Prendegast and Jean Calderwood. The beautiful floral decorations of the church were in honor of the memory of the late James G. Steen.

The Easter subject was carried into the evening service when the pastor preached an appropriate sermon and Senior choir sang "Christ Our Passover."

"Sorry Brother— NO JOBS TODAY!"

Will your son, back from overseas, hear these words? Will he ride the roads looking for a job? Will we have breadlines . . . farm relief . . . mass unemployment . . . starvation wages?

These Things Need Not Be!

Canada has the resources, our people have the skill and the determination to provide jobs and opportunity for all. We have great industrial facilities . . . hundreds of plants built with the people's money . . . plants which can produce radios, washing machines, bath tubs, refrigerators . . .

Electrification of our farms and villages is an urgent need . . . opening up of our Northland has only begun . . . Canada should lead in the development of new industries . . . plastics and synthetics offer vast possibilities for employment and the use of farm products . . . hundreds of thousands of homes are needed, as well as schools and hospitals.

A New Age is Before Us!

Canada can have greater development and abundance than ever before. To achieve it we need a plan . . . courage . . . determination . . . we need a government free from big business control.

The CCF is a people's movement. It is not controlled by the monopolies; it fights them. It has the program and the determination to provide jobs for those who can work . . . security and opportunity for all.

A New World to Build— Let's Build It!

The CCF is YOUR movement. It does not get and DOES NOT WANT the support of the big corporations. It needs YOUR support NOW. Write and send your contribution to your CCF Provincial Headquarters—

Terrace Vets Name Delegate

Will Attend Conventions at Vancouver, Taking Resolutions With Him.

TERRACE, April 10—The Canadian Legion, at a meeting on Wednesday evening in the new hall on Lakeside Avenue, when business was mostly of a routine character, named a delegate to represent Terrace Branch of the Legion at the forthcoming conventions of the Provincial and Dominion Commands to be held in Vancouver, the delegate being S. E. Anderson. Credentials will be supplied to Mr. Anderson and he will present two important resolutions, one asking for better treatment of the so-called burnt out veterans and the other calling for the deportation of the Japs.

Although there have been rumors of an increase in the pension awarded to veterans under the Soldiers' Allowance Act, there has been no official notification and it is felt that the present twenty dollars a month is inadequate. The resolution asks that this be increased to a dollar per day and that the widow of such a soldier be provided with a pension of this amount for the rest of her life.

TWO FILMS INTEREST

"Hi Diddle Diddle" and "Victory Through Air Power" Capitol Theatre.

"Hi Diddle Diddle," an hilarious and sparkling comedy with a notable star cast and "Victory Through Air Power," Disney's sensational live and animated cartoon feature are double-billed at the Capitol Theatre here today and tomorrow.

At a lavish ceremony in Diddle Diddle! Martha Scott married to sailor Dennis O'Keefe. The moment the wedding is tied things begin to happen and the young people are given a chance to get off together. The girl's mother, Billie Burke, gambles away her fortune. The boy's father is supported by his opera star promises to recoup her loss. Many crazy escapades ensue before the boy and the girl finally escape.

"Victory Through Air Power" is reported to be an excellent, fascinating and informative film. Live action sequences depict Major Alexander P. Deersky expounding his theories as to the importance of power while moving through his office and training rooms. Cartoon characters on the almost primitive methods of air fighting in the world war and develop into catastrophic pitch of air warfare as it is known today.
