General McNaughton Becomes Minister of National Defence

CHANGES TAKE PLACE OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP)—General A. G. L. McNaughton, 57, former commander of the Canadian Army overseas, was sworn in today as minister of national defence and went directly to a meeting of the Dominion cabinet. He succeeds Col. J. L. Ralston who resigned over the question of reinforcements for troops overseas. General McNaughton is said to take the position that volunteers are most suitable for service overseas. He could enter the government without any change in present military service regulations being necessary.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, in announcing the resignation of Col. Ralston and the appointment of General McNaughton, said the facts spoke for themselves without him making any comment. He had no knowledge of other resignations, Mr. King said, nor did he see the necessity of calling a special session of Parliament before next January.

Mr. King said that Col. Ralston was a man of the highest integrity. "I hold him in the highest affection and regard."

OTTAWA, Nov. 2—Col. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defence, has resigned from the cabinet highly reliable sources said last night although Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King had no immediate statement to make on behalf of the government.

Col. Ralston's resignation resulted from difference of opinion on the question of the use of the Home Defence force. He had advocated the dispatch overseas of Home Defence men. The cabinet had divided in opinion on the method of reinforcement for Canadian troops overseas, it was learned reliably.

The senior defence minister was at his office at a late hour last night but no statement came from him.

Ottawa reports said Col. Ralston would be replaced by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, former commander of the Canadian Army overseas, who was also not available for comment.

Col. Ralston's resignation came three weeks after he had returned from a tour of European battlefronts where he heard opinions of combatants on subject including the Home Defence Army.

Col. Ralston is understood to have favored having 70,000 men in the Home Defence Army made available for service anywhere. In this position he was supported by on. Angus Macdonald, minister of the navy, and there is general speculation that Macdonald may follow the senior defence minister into retirement.

At a cabinet meeting today practically all members of the cabinet were present including Macdonald but it was not known whether Ralston was present.

Nov. 2 (CP)—Allied invasion troops in the Philippines have fought their way into the key north coast town of Carigara on Leyte Island. Another Allied column is less than two miles away.

To the south, other Allied troops are pushing westward across the jungles, and some of these units are reported to be halfway across the island.

STATEMENT ON ARNHEM

MONTREAL, Nov. 2 (CP)—One of the two war correspondents who accompanied the British airborne troops at Arnhem, Stanley Maxted of the C.B.C., is in Montreal to aid in the Victory Loan campaign.

Maxted says the story of Arnhem has been told pretty thoroughly in print but that he would like to add one statement. He says the airborne troops have been disturbed by an impression that they failed at Arnhem. Maxted stresses that they did not fail. They gained their objectives and held them. The trouble lay in the fact that the Second Army, which was to have joined them, met with unexpected opposition. The airborne troops were not equipped to hold on for more than a few days.

BOMBSHELL BY RUSSIA

This is How Washington Diplomats View Refusal to Join in Chicago Air Conference WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 2 (CP)—Russia's sudden refusal to participate in the international air conference opening at Chicago yesterday had the effect of a bombshell on Washington diplomats and even the best informed today seemed at a loss to explain it.

The sudden decision to withdraw, after the head of the Soviet delegation had been named and some of the delegation had arrived with others on the way, left in its wake speculation as to the future of proposed international co-operation in other fields. Many were reluctant to believe that the whole reason was that given in Russian communications—because invitations had also been sent to such allegedly pro-Fascist and anti-Soviet countries as Spain, Portugal and Switzerland.

Col. Ralston's resignation came three weeks after he had returned from a tour of European battlefronts where he heard opinions of combatants on subject including the Home Defence Army.

A Developing Issue . . .

The federal government is, apparently, developing a compromise plan for the use of manpower under arms in the cleaning up of the war in Europe and the pursuit of the conquest of Japan. According to reports from Ottawa, the men who have been fighting the wars abroad thus far will be demobilized on a "first-in first-out" basis and will be given the choice of re-volunteering for the fight with Japan or mustering out. Evidently, it is also planned to partially demobilize the Home Defence army on the grounds that the war situation is now such that the danger of invasion of Canada is past.

The demobilization of the volunteers will be generally acceptable to the country and those concerned but the disbanding of the H.D.'s may be expected to raise a storm as, indeed, it already appears to have done within the cabinet itself.

There is no doubt that in the country there exists a strong feeling that the men who have held back in enlisting for active service and have now been highly trained for fighting should be used either as reinforcements for Europe or for the offensive against Japan. Certainly, there will be much discontent if these H.D.'s are now demobilized and permitted to entrench themselves at the possible expense of the volunteers who will before long be coming back from the war and justly expecting that adequate provision will be made for them in their return to civil life and economy.

If Ottawa does finally decide to proceed along the line now indicated of disposing of the manpower it has under arms, it will certainly be expected to lay its plans very definitely in regard to the treatment of the real soldiers on their home coming.

The manner in which manpower is to be disposed of in the completion of the war is developing into a major political issue and will probably be the determining factor upon which the coming federal election is fought be the contest before or after the war.

The resignation of Col. J. L. Ralston as minister of national defence as an outcome of the cabinet crisis on the Home Defence Army issue is much to be regretted for Col. Ralston has always been regarded as one of the towers of strength of the MacKenzie King administration.

Ketchikan Paper Steps Out . . .

The Ketchikan Alaska Chronicle is to be congratulated on the splendid special 40-page paper it has recently published as a protest edition against the move at Washington to recognize the claims of the Indians to territorial rights, which recognition might have serious and widespread effects on every phase of commercial, industrial and civil interests in the territory.

The special edition, while primarily designed in the nature of an ambitious protest issue, is in fact a compendium of latest information about Alaska and, as such, should prove of much value as a promotion scheme and a reference document. The industries and resources of the territory are comprehensively described and illustrated.

Fine advertising support, of course, has played an important part in making the effort possible.

IS BACK FROM NANAIMO MEET

Local Y.M.C.A. Man Tells of Recent Army Competitions At Island City

The army's Pacific Command "tabled sports meet" held at Nanaimo Saturday was a model of efficient organization and an impressive trial of all-round sports ability, Frank Watson, Y.M.C.A. sports supervisor, who led the 20-man Prince Rupert area team south last week, reported Wednesday.

He admitted that maybe his boys didn't knock off any top honors, but they did try strenuously and, if Lady Luck hadn't intervened, they probably would have achieved better than sixth place.

"There were supposed to have been twelve teams, each competing in one event at the same time," he explained. "However, Vernon, which was to have placed two teams, did not show up, so two of the events were cancelled. One of them was the tug-of-war. We had picked our teams with an eye to weight especially for the tug-of-war. When it didn't come off we had no compensating event for our 220-pounders who had to run and jump with the rest."

The Nanaimo team won the meet with 152 points out of a possible 200. Prince Rupert totalled up 102 points.

"There was a standard of efficiency, and each member who exceeded the standard was allotted two points. If they just reached the standard they were allowed one point, and if they went below it they were deducted one point," Frank recalled.

Nanaimo, Prince Rupert and Victoria entered two ten-man teams, and there was one team each from Vancouver, Prince George, Terrace and Chilliwack.

"The way they had the meet organized was almost uncanny. The whole thing was completed in two hours and 10 minutes, including announcement of final results. Each team was competing in one event while the other nine were going at others."

The events were the 50, 75, and 100-yard dashes, 75-yard hurdles, shot-put, grenade throw, running high jump and running broad jump, standing broad jump, and hop-step-and-jump.

"It was really a gruelling test of versatility and stamina requiring stiff training, Frank said.

The Prince Rupert team did have one inspired moment when one of its members, a 253-pounder, intended as anchor man for the tug-of-war, defeated his opponent in the 100-yard dash.

"The crowd stood up and cheered when Tex thundered down the stretch 10 yards in the lead," Frank chuckled.

The service men and women who made the trip from here to Nanaimo were:

Men—Lieut. Lou Channell, Corp. E. Fort, Private Fenshe, Gunner Strachan, Gunner Grad, Private Bresner, Private Moran, Private Maissonville, Private Prince, Private Karpick, Signaller Stevens, Private Weisgerber, Private Mahas, Private Benish, Private Kokotila, Private Marcinek, Gunner Whitney and Private Leach.

Acropolis Hill Teams Win Over High School and Co-op

The two Acropolis Hill teams—the Yanks and the Officers—scored decisive victories as the Prince Rupert Basketball League season was inaugurated last night in the Acropolis gymnasium.

High School bowed to the Yanks by a score of 66 to 13, while Co-ops suffered a 51-12 setback at the hands of the Officers. A scheduled tilt between the C.W.A.C.'s and High School girls was postponed.

Brueger topped the Yanks in individual sniping with 13 points, while his teammate, Diess, scored 11. Foreman, of High School, bagged six markers.

The Officers' victorious efforts were paced by Lt. Ernst, who was the high scorer of the night with 14 counters.

Remainder of the teams will open their campaigns this evening.

Is Now Capable Only of Suicidal Action, Pearl Harbor Says

PEARL HARBOR, Nov. 2 (AP)—High naval authorities today viewed Japan's still growing fleet catastrophe in the Philippines last week—two bomb-blasted cruisers have now been listed to bring the total to 60—as rendering the enemy impotent at sea for many months except for suicidal actions in opposing the Allied China-bound offensive.

Fire Department Has Attraction For Number Nine

The number nine seems to have some mystic significance for the Prince Rupert fire department, the monthly fire reports for 1944 indicate.

In October the department answered nine fire calls, which brought the year's total calls to date to 90. This was the first month that the department recorded nine calls. September and October were similar in that the department answered nine calls, three of which were false alarms.

There was no recorded fire damage during the month.

WITCHES SPARE CITY DURING HALLOWE'EN BLITZ

Mischief-dealing Hallowe'en witches apparently rode their brooms well up in the heavens, leaving Prince Rupert real estate relatively undamaged Tuesday night. While the streets were well populated with youngsters busy with their annual shell-out masquerades, both property and the nerves of the citizenry fared not too badly.

Outstanding misdemeanor of the evening, according to police reports, was the theft of a car owned by H. R. Hill, 1446 Second Avenue West. The car had not been discovered at noon yesterday.

A second automobile was observed yesterday morning canted mournfully into a deep ditch along Sixth Avenue East, where it had evidently been pushed by pranksters.

Several gates took their annual October climb up telephone poles, where they were rescued by their owners next morning.

Complaints were received by police of noisy congregations of youths near Booth school and Station B post office.

LONDON, (AP)—Britain's temporary postmen who in the past have had to provide their own waistcoats and dye them regulation blue, in future will have them issued by the government.

On the Night of January 19th, 1944...

Corporal Harold Bradley Leppard was one of a patrol sent out to locate enemy positions on his regiment's front in Italy.

The patrol located an enemy post of unknown strength. Cpl. Leppard set out with the patrol commander to obtain a prisoner, leaving the rest of the patrol in observation.

The two managed to get within 5 yards of the post undetected—then rushed it. A machine gun opened up on them and wounded Cpl. Leppard in the stomach and twice in the arm.

Although severely wounded, Cpl. Leppard killed the German manning the machine gun and one other with his machine carbine. This enabled the patrol commander to overpower and capture the third member of the post.

In spite of the intense pain of his wounds, Cpl. Leppard then helped to escort the prisoner back to the patrol. For his courage, dash and determination, he was awarded the Military Medal.

Where does Duty end, Corporal Leppard?

If you can get men like Corporal Leppard to talk... which is apt to be difficult... they will assure you that in war there is no end to duty until the job is done—whatever the cost may be.

And you may think to yourself "That's all very right and proper for a fighting man, but surely it can't apply at this stage of the war to people at home like me".

Yet all the while, as surely as you ever knew anything, you know in your innermost heart that it does!

You know that to ease up before victory is an accomplished fact is neither courageous nor wise. Commonsense will tell you that the terrific intensity of the war in recent months has greatly increased Canada's borrowing needs for war purposes. And while more and more Canadian boys are risking wounds and death daily—counting desperately on your support—you surely cannot betray their trust.

So doubt no more what to do about Victory Bonds. Because the need is greater than it has ever been before, buy one more bond than you have bought in any previous Victory Loan.

THE NEED IS GREATER

For total victory he fights a total war. For nothing less will he lay down his arms. For your sake he's willing to gamble on coming through alive. Whether he does or not is decidedly your affair . . .

The imminence of victory has climaxed the responsibilities of the home front. Canada's borrowing needs today are greater, not less. To see the uniformed services get all they need to win with minimum losses, is still our biggest job.

Local Banker Tells Of Career in Funny Talk at Gyro Club

An extremely humorous talk dealing with incidents in his own career from boyhood in his birthplace, a small town about twenty-five miles from London, to his present estate as manager of the local branch of the bank of Montreal proved very entertaining at the Prince Rupert Gyro Club at its regular weekly luncheon yesterday. Mr. Blackaby, making simple incidents most entertaining in the telling, related experiences in London employment with a dry goods concern, oil and corn companies and with the London City and Midland Bank before he joined up as a clerk with the Bank of Montreal to come to Canada, serving for a short time in New Brunswick until he came to British Columbia where he was successfully attached to branches in Merritt, Rossland, Vernon, Kelowna, Armstrong, Summerland, Naramata, Vancouver, Williams Lake and Prince Rupert. President Frank Skinner was in the chair at the luncheon.

WITH THE POLISH TROOPS
IN HOLLAND, Nov. 2 — Believe it or not, Polish troops in Holland have waged a six-hour battle with the Germans for the edible remains of a cow.
It seems that the cow made the mistake of stepping on an s-mine. The cow fell dead between two dykes in full view of both the Poles and the Germans.
Both sides decided they needed that cow and what was left of its fresh meat.
The Germans attacked first but a burst of Polish mortar fire sent them back. Then the Poles attacked, but they too were repulsed by mortar fire.
After six hours of stiff fighting for the potential steaks, the Poles finally won.

ATLANTIC FLYING NOW ROUTINE HOP

LONDON, Nov. 2 — The B.C. quotes Royal Air Force transport command officers as saying that a trans-Atlantic aerial crossing now is little more than a routine hop.

According to the London broadcast, more than 100 aircraft per day have been crossing from Canada to the United Kingdom in recent weeks.

It is estimated that at least 25,000 planes have been flown across the Atlantic since 1940, half of them in the past 12 months.

WISTERIA MAN REPORTED SAFE

L/Bdr. Hugh Morton Shelford, serving with the Royal Canadian Artillery overseas, is listed in a late Canadian Army casualty list as being safe and wounded, after having been previously reported missing. He is the son of John Leo Shelford of Wistaria.

Different From Iron Duke's Day

A FORWARD AIRFIELD IN HOLLAND, Nov. 2 — Air Secretary Sinclair addressing photo-reconnaissance and Typhoon dive-bomber pilots of the R.C.A.F., said:

"The Duke of Wellington once said that fighting a war was a matter of guessing what goes on on the other side of the hill. Our generals don't have to guess. You show it to them in black and white with your high-level and fighter reconnaissance while our fighters have blindfolded the German generals."

The pilots in his audience were from wings commanded by Group Capt. E. H. C. Moncrieff, Winnipeg, and Group Capt. Paul Y. Davoud, Kingston, Ont.

TO CONTROL LEPROSY NEW DELHI, — Plans for a model isolation centre in a rural area are being worked out by the Indian Council of the British Empire Leprosy Relief Association. The centre will demonstrate how leprosy can be controlled by isolating infected cases.

PRIMARY PUPILS MUST PROVE TO BE SCHOOL AGE

Congestion in the primary grades of Prince Rupert schools has made it necessary to weed out under-age beginners and the school board has set November 6 as the deadline at which parents must either present birth certificates showing their children to be at least six years old or have them excluded from school.

The deadline was suggested by Edward Wahl, principal of Conrad Street School, and adopted by the board at its meeting last night.

"Parents of beginners were told six weeks ago that they must show their children's birth certificates in order to have them enrolled," chairman J. T. Langridge said. "Assuming that they have had some difficulty in obtaining them, I think six weeks is ample time."

Mrs. M. Roper, board member and secretary, said that she believed many parents of under-age children were deliberately withholding birth certificates so their children would not be kept out of school.

"A woman whose child has been asked to withdraw told me with some bitterness that she knew of other people who were doing that in the hope that birth certificates would not be demanded," she claimed.

A three-man delegation from Steam Operating Engineers Union led by John Mulrone, union business agent, attended the meeting with an offer to assist the board in finding a certified boiler operator for Booth School.

Mr. Mulrone presented a plan, whereby the union might supply two men to work an eight hour shift each as janitors and boiler operators to overcome the present condition where one man works 16 hours.

"It would cost the board only about $38 a month more, and the men would have what they want—an eight hour day," he explained.

Mr. Mulrone denied a suggestion that the union was seeking to "drive a wedge" to obtain union conditions in all city schools. He said that the union was interested in helping the board iron out its troubles in obtaining boiler men.

The delegation withdrew when it learned that certified boiler men were not required to operate any of the school heating plants. According to the chief boiler inspector, a special heating ticket is the only requirement and the union does not embrace such men.

The board will try to obtain special permission for the present boiler man at Booth School to continue under special permit until he can be examined for certified operating papers.

A committee consisting of Mrs. G. Hill and Mrs. J. A. Teng were appointed to investigate the most and problems of installing a school lunch system in city schools.

Burglar Left His Name and Address

TORONTO, Nov. 2 — Being a detective would be an easy job if all crooks were as obliging as the one who robbed the home of Mrs. E. G. Dobson in Toronto. The thief dropped a card with his name, address, and telephone number on it. The police dropped in to see him, recovered the stolen goods and arrested him.

CANADA'S VETERANS Their Post-War Opportunities

This is the seventh of a series of advertisements to inform the people of Canada of plans to re-establish men and women of the armed forces. To get the full details save and read every advertisement.

The Farmer - The Commercial Fisherman AND THE MAN WHO WANTS HIS OWN BUSINESS

The backbone of Canada's natural wealth is the farmer, while, in many of the Dominion's Provinces, commercial fishing is of the utmost importance. In all sections of Canada, the small businessman is a real contributor to the national economy. Here are three fields which many of Canada's veterans will want to enter. It is important that they should have that opportunity and, in planning for re-establishment, Canada has made full provision along these lines. There is financial assistance for ex-service men and women who are qualified to achieve these ambitions.

FULL-TIME FARMING

Provision for return to the land is made by the Veterans' Land Act under the same terms as apply for small holdings outside the high taxation area. The ex-service man or woman, qualified for full-time farming, will have assistance in financing up to a total cost of $4800 for land and buildings, and up to $1200 for stock and equipment. Any cost of land and buildings in excess of $4800 must be paid in cash at the time the agreement is made.

Although large acreages of land are being held for veterans after the war, a man is at liberty to choose his own farm any place as long as it offers a reasonable change for his re-establishment. The veteran going on the farm must pay down ten per cent of the cost of land and buildings, and the establishment is then resold to him for this down payment, plus two-thirds of the cost of land and buildings. The two-thirds can be financed over a period of twenty-five years, with interest at 3 1/2 per cent.

The remainder of the cost of land and buildings (23 1/2 per cent) and the $1200 for stock and equipment becomes a grant, after the veteran has lived up to his agreement for a ten-year period.

To take advantage of full-time farming provisions, the ex-service man or woman must be qualified for full-time farming, must have overseas service or at least 12 months' service in Canada, and must have a reasonable expectation of living up to their agreement.

COMMERCIAL FISHING

For the veteran who has a background of commercial fishing, and who is qualified to resume that occupation, there is the same assistance as in full-time farming.

Homes are financed on small acreages near commercial fishing grounds on the same basis as for city and other workers. This is a measure to provide security for the veteran, for it enables him to raise a portion of his food requirements to assist in those periods when commercial fishing is not possible or profitable.

The provisions for commercial fishing take into account that in many cases, to be successful, a partnership arrangement is necessary. In these cases, if the partners are both ex-service men, each will receive a grant of $1200 which can be pooled for the purchase of needed fishing equipment. Each also will receive the same assistance as the farmer in securing a home on a small holding of land.

ASSISTANCE IN BUSINESS

Those ex-service people whose ambition is to have their own business can receive financial assistance. To purchase the business they can draw on their re-establishment credit, which is made available to them on the basis of $7.50 for every thirty days' service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for every thirty days' service overseas.

The re-establishment credit also can be used to provide working capital for a business already owned.

In addition, Canada has recognized that in establishing a business there may be a period when returns are not sufficient to maintain the owner. During this period, maintenance grants can be paid on the basis of:

- $50 monthly for a single man or woman.
- $70 monthly for a man and his wife, together with allowances for dependent children.

These grants may be applied for at any time within twelve months of cessation of hostilities or discharge, whichever is the later date.

BLUE RIBBON TEA - Always Dependable and Delicious

Hallowe'en Tea Is Held at Terrace

TERRACE, Nov. 2—The Women's Auxiliary of the United Church held a tea and sale in the Orange Hall on Saturday afternoon with everything conforming to the spirit of Hallowe'en.

The affair drew a large number of purchasers and tea drinkers who dropped in on the cheerful scene for a pleasant little time with a friend or two. Attendees were costumed in Orange hue with tall hats and Hallowe'en designs on their aprons. In hall decorations use had been made of orange tinted flowers from local gardens while the walls were strewn with Hallowe'en emblems. Besides tea, over which Mrs. A. N. Brooks and Mrs. M. E. Cole presided at the table, there was home cooking and cakes for sale and fancy articles at several stalls attended by members of the auxiliary. Mrs. E. T. Kenney, Mrs. Ivan Frank, Mrs. Floyd Frank, Mrs. B. H. Sundal, Mrs. I. J. Robinson and others contributed in making the function a great success.
