Credit to Our Allies . . .

The freedom with which Prime Minister Winston chanties. In the years just be-Churchill pays tribute on every appropriate occasion to the magnificent fight our American and Russian solo parts regularly with the allies are putting up in the war is a good example to those of us who may be loath to admit credit where one of my favorite radio artists credit is due in this respect. It is no true patriotism for any of us in the present world emergency to endeavour to delude ourselves or others that, without the United States and Russia, we British would not long ere this have been in a serious position.

General Montgomery describes the war as the greatest tug-of-war the world has ever known and that we shall win provided all pull their weight. It is not pulling our weight or encouraging the other fellow to pull his if we waste our talk or thought on diminishing credits because of feelings of our own nationalism.

We might-or might not-have been able to win Russia but it's really Rupert) the war by ourselves. This question is one, indeed, and with my mind still back on that is unworthy of discussion for we must all admit the B.B.C. wavelengths I think that, to say the least of it, it would have been a des- of Gracie Fields highly "mellerperate situation for us.

The saying "united we stand, divided we fall" thing, but not a great many was probably never more applicable than it was to- Canadians know that one day and it is nauseating to hear the commentary of some of our people who sound like they would rather lose the fight to the enemy than be constrained admit that we had to have assistance to beat him. Here in international Prince Rupert we should be getting away from such ideas.

The quicker we all get together in spirit as well as in effort the quicker will the nasty business be scarcely said a word but Gracie over. Surely there are few who would defer the victory by bickering over the honors.

Principle or Interest? . . .

It has been truly said that victory by arms in war the gents-all together . . . that's 1943. would be futile if, in winning that victory, we should lose the principles for which we fight—if, after the war is over, we should have found that our morality and our decency is gone and that, having beaten the common enemy, we should be enemies among ourselves—enemies because of the persistence of considerations of self-interest over considerations of the common weal.

Probably there is no greater element of insidious sabotage among us on our side than that of our own selfish interests.

It might be interesting to search ourselves and consider what each one of us would do if it came to a direct choice between principle and self-interest. How would we react if really put to the acid test? We have seen how our fighting men have faced and are facing up to this issue. Are all of us on the home front as noble and as self-sacrificing in what we are pleased to call our war effort? Are all of us giving Rupert. Therefore, what was aldue consideration to the principles? The actions of some of us might make it seem doubtful if we are.

The Big Fighting News...

The big news of war continues, of course, to come from the Russo-German front where German dikes in the Ukraine, so long held, have given way and the and the United States, prior to whole area is in a state of collapse, with nobody quite sure how far the Soviets will advance. ACTIVITIES OF M.CA. and Y.W.C.A. (By DOROTHY GARBUTT)

My spies tell me that Stewart Robertson is to be with the cast of the Navy Show this week. Stewart Robertson, as you may know, is the brother of Anna Neagle-or seeing he is coming to Rupert, perhaps it would be more polite for us to put it Anna Neagle is the sister of Stewart Robertson. He was in Hollywood when the war broke out so came north to Canada and joined the Canadian Navy in which he holds a commission. He has a truly delightful baritone voice and secializes in sea fore the war he used to sing British Broadcasting Corporation Male Voice Chorus and was at that time. If I am not mistaken he was also a guest at popular noon-day radio serial hour called "In the Bar-Parlor of the Black Dog." Here a mythical Mr. and Mrs. Hawkinsthink that was their namewere mine host and hostess and once a week used to entertain notable personalities in a very informal manner. Ah me, those were the days!

At a recent meeting of the Chinese Patriotic Association of Prince Rupert, attention was given the notice appearing in a local window to the effect that no Asiatics were employed. In this connection, we wish to say:

1. It is unfortunate, particularly in the very midst of a war to raise a racial issue among the United Nations. We would like to emphasize this-there are no Japanese or Hindus in Prince luded to must have meant the Chinese. We should also like to point out that for years before the present struggle began China was engaged in a death struggle with Japan, continuing since then to the present moment.
