LOADED, she has the freeboard of a half tide rock, in ballast she towers high above the water. Her general appearance varies from streamlined beauty to the lines of stark utility. She is a tanker. But whether loaded with phlegmatic Bunker "C", volatile aviation spirit, or lubricating oil - or whether she be in ballast - one cargo she always carries, and that is COURAGE. This cargo is carried in the hearts of her personnel, and is distributed from crow's nest to stokehold plates.

Inside her hull there are three million or more gallons of liquid fire. Much of the crude oil carried by the Imperial Oil tanker fleet will be made into products for the fighting forces in Canada and Newfoundland. The navies and the oil burning merchant marine of the United Nations operating from ports on the Atlantic Coast of Canada are supplied from Imperial Oil refineries. On the Pacific Coast too, Imperial Oil Limited supplies a large share of similar requirements.
