355 MILES FROM BERLIN

Reds Sweep Near Reich

Approaching Vistula River—Now More Than Half Way Across Poland

MOSCOW, July 25.—Sweeping onward through old Poland toward Germany proper, the Red Army today was only twenty miles from the Vistula River, last natural defence barrier before territory of the Third Reich itself. Fall of Lublin was announced yesterday, making the Soviet sweep now over half-way through pre-war Poland. The Vistula river is 355 air line miles from Berlin.

Swift Russian columns, paced by tanks, Kuban Cossacks and swarms of planes were less than 50 miles from Warsaw today after splitting the German armies in the heart of Poland by capturing Lublin and Lukow.

The Russians have advanced 40 miles in 24 hours toward the Vistula river. Pilots report scenes of panic around Warsaw, roads being choked with transport.

HENGYANG FIGHTING IS BITTER

Bloody Struggle Between Chinese and Japanese in Central China Is Still on

CHUNGKING, July 25 (CP)—Japanese units are operating southwest of the outskirts of encircled Hengyang in Hunan Province and both sides have suffered heavy losses in battle.

The Chinese have been attacking for several days in an attempt to force a major breakthrough. The defenders are engaged in heavy fighting on all sides.

The Chinese, sixty miles to the north, broke through the north gate of Japanese-held Siang Siang, rail town, and street fighting is in progress there.

Exiled Polish Government In Critical Mood

LONDON, July 25.—The Polish government in exile issued a statement yesterday in regard to the newly created Soviet-inspired Polish committee of national liberation set up as the government of that portion of Poland freed from Germany by the Red Army.

The new government is termed as a "handful of political opportunists" unknown to the people and representing only a small Communist group.

TONIC FOR HENS

LONDON (CP)—More and better British eggs are expected to result from the importation of Iceland's herring surplus as processed oil and meal. This high-protein meal will be added to the national poultry and pig foods.

Childs' Show Helps Pioneers

Using the Civic Centre carnival as their pattern, five local children held a back yard carnival near their homes on Eighth ave. and turned the resulting $14.32 over to the Pioneers' Home fund. The children were Margaret Dunington, Donald Scherk, Sydney Scherk and Vito Compagno.

and they put on carnival attractions which brought the neighborhood boys and girls out in good numbers. Included in the attractions were a fish pond, wheels, darts and bingo. The proceeds were turned in at the Daily News office to be added to the Pioneers' Home fund.

However, reports of an action by Hon. R. L. Maitland, provincial attorney general, to have the Indian Affairs branch reopen the ancient Digby Island hospital for the same purpose was thought not to be in line with the present course of events and it was decided to inform the Attorney General of the possibility of using the modern Miller Bay institution for the purpose.

THE POLISH SITUATION

The setting up, as announced in dispatches Monday, of a new council of national liberation to be the government of that part of Poland which has been freed by the Russians from Nazi yoke is, of course, with the approval of the Soviet liberators. The declaration of the council repudiating the Polish government in exile in Britain, naturally, can do nothing but further intensify a rather difficult situation which has existed for some time. However, the Russians are really the liberators and, if they have reason to disapprove of the exiled government, the disapproval must be considered with the hope that some satisfactory settlement may be made of what appears at the moment to be a complicated and baffling situation. Meanwhile, at this distance there are factors that are hard for us to understand. But in that respect the Polish situation is not alone. We have similar enigmatic situations in France and Yugoslavia for instance, all exemplary of the frequent tangles of European intrigue.

FRENCH BEHIND De GAULLE

French people in the areas liberated by the Allied forces have told war correspondents that they are solidly behind Gen. de Gaulle, leader of the French Committee of Liberation. In fact, they are "surprised at the idea that there is any difference of opinion among the French under German occupation," according to a despatch from Allied headquarters.

This news will confirm the opinion of anybody who has been in London within recent weeks. In England today there are between 15,000 and 20,000 Frenchmen, not including those in the armed forces. Most of these have taken part in the resistance movement in France and since escaped with a price on their heads. They have extremely good connections with the French underground and know what is going on from day to day.

These Frenchmen are unanimous in saying that the people of France are devotedly behind de Gaulle. He is the one man who has been right about France and has used his voice from the beginning to denounce the incompetent and traitorous. He has made his share of mistakes, but he is still the symbol of the living, fighting France of today.

AGRICULTURE OF INTERIOR

A visit to the orchards and gardens of the Terrace district at this lush midsummer season constrains one to reflect that it should be possible for those who love and understand the land to be able to make a good living there. Wonderful red strawberries, large and luscious, and huge raspberries are being gathered. The cherry trees are loaded and the apples and the plums are coming along splendidly. The M.L.A. for Skeena proudly shows his arbor heavy with concord grapes. Potatoes are being dug this last week or so although it is a little early yet. Fine green peas are already being plucked and the first tender carrots and beets have been pulled. Beans are podding up. Tomatoes are large although still green. The squash are forming up.

Surely, some day markets will be provided and conditions made such that there will be a great and prosperous livelihood for the fruit and vegetable producers of that and other interior areas.

Agriculture must yet become the mainstay of the central interior and the source of happiness and prosperity for many thousands of people in that area contiguous to the city of Prince Rupert.

CFPR ON NATIONAL NETWORK

"We now join the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation." Such was the simple stock announcement, without fanfare or other comment, which heralded yesterday the most important event in radio at Prince Rupert since station CFPR first beamed its original faint signals. Those were the words which were said as the station was connected up with the national network by a direct wire at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

Henceforth, if a couple of days of experimental service are satisfactory and it is quite evident that the experiment has been very satisfactory, we will have permanently and at the original emission time the selection of all the network programs. We will get the news broadcasts, the big speeches, the special events, yes, the hockey and such features.

This is the direct connecting up of the local station with the main CBC network lines—something which we have waited for a long time, and which came upon us so suddenly and without warning to the general gratification of all listeners.

We salute CFPR as a real radio station now—for Prince Rupert and the immediate vicinity in the meantime and for a greater and more adequate coverage of our tributary district if and when it is decided to increase its power.

IS OPEN TO ALL SEAMEN

Already an average of sixty men daily are taking the opportunity of enjoying the recreational facilities and hospitality of the new seamen's club which has been established on First Avenue under the sponsorship of the United States Army and the American Salvation Army but which is open to men of the merchant marine of any and all of the Allied nations, it is reported by Supervisor A. E. Tutte "And," adds Mr. Tutte, "their appreciation is most evident." Men from at least twenty or thirty different states as well as Canadians have already registered.

Supervisor Tutte desired to make it clear that the place was open not only to American seamen but to those of all the United Nations who may happen to be in port.

Citizens who wish to inspect the place are also welcome, said the supervisor.

FOUR YEARS AGO IN THIS WAR

July 25, 1940 — Britain took steps to halt oil shipments to Germany through Spain. Hitler's Minister of Economic Warfare, Walter Funk, warned U.S. that she must be prepared to trade with Germany on Germany's terms or suffer a lockout from the commerce of Europe.

Handsome Jack Doyle, Ireland's tenor boxer, is doing more singing than boxing these days. He's playing the vaudeville houses in Northern Ireland and Eire with his pretty little Arizona Mexican wife, Movita, and claims he's serious about improving his voice. Right now he's still an un-developed tenor without much stage personality, but the crowds like him. Jack hasn't fought for nearly a year and isn't particularly anxious as long as the show business holds up. "I don't like to fight anyway," says Jack. "What I like is the mazuma. When I need some cash I'll have a fight or two."

Although he says he's only 30 now, big Jack started fighting about 12 years ago. Back in 1933 he met Jack Patterson in 1933 British heavyweight title but was disqualified for hitting low. That cost him six months suspension from the ring. Jack Dempsey got interested in Doyle's right hand and the 225-pound Irishman went to the United States, making it clear that he expected to pick up about two and a half million dollars fighting and making movies. He did get himself fame in Hollywood, mostly through his romantic problems. In between times he was back in Britain, where he got himself another disqualification for hitting Alf Robinson when the latter was down.

King Levinsky came to London and Doyle beat him at Wembley Stadium April 27, 1937. A plan for him to fight Tommy Farr fell through. In the second round of a fight with Ed Phillips in 1938 Doyle tumbled from the ring and was counted out. When he tried a comeback the following year Phillips knocked him out in the first round. His money ran low and he began to appear on the stage. On at least one occasion he was booed. In a Dublin ring June 12, 1943, Chris Cole, also an Irishman, stopped the tenor with quick rights and left to the face in the first round. Two months later Doyle was back again, and this time he had more fight in him. Butcher Howell of Cork put him down twice but he got up and kayoed the Butcher in the third round.

His manager says Doyle may do more fighting when his current stage tour is finished. He says Doyle might even fight for the British Empire heavyweight title. Little Movita, a veteran of stage and film, outshines her husband on the stage. But the crowd yell for Jack to sing the old Irish songs and sometimes he obliges after he has given them an operatic air. Movita says she would like to entertain the troops, but the ban on travel from Ireland has kept her here. If she eventually succeeds, Jack may find himself back in the ring looking for the "mazuma."

POST-WAR RECONSTRUCTION

INTEGRITY, experience and business capacity must be given full opportunity to contribute to post-war reconstruction. These qualities are fully as important to the bank in considering applications for loans as are the material resources of borrowers. Indeed, when possessed in high degree, these personal factors often weigh more with the bank than other considerations.

It will be the policy of The Royal Bank of Canada to extend liberal financial assistance to promising business undertakings, whether large or small, new or old, when under reliable management.

KEEP EYE ON GIRLS

Pitish Women Vigilantes Carry Out Scheme to Guard Morals

WOODBRIDGE, England, July 25.—The campaign for moral welfare among the young womenfolk of this Suffolk town is in full swing. The only thing is that its initial phases the campaign has been without result, the reason being that there hasn't been any immorality discovered by the women vigilantes.

After setting up their organization the vigilantes made their initial patrol and reported it went off without incident.

They went around the town's pubs and motion picture houses and up and down the quiet lanes where young love might flourish in the summer evening and found nothing to complain of whatever. But being women of determination they announced they would continue the patrol, next time choosing a later hour.

The whole thing started a little while ago when a dozen women of this little town enrolled themselves as members of a local "save-the-girls-from-themselves" patrol and drew up a rota whereby every weekend—and perhaps oftener—two of them will together go the rounds in Woodbridge and keep a motherly eye on the young girls.

The first experimental patrol was from 9 p.m. to 10 p.m. but it failed to turn up one case of damsel in distress. But that, in the view of the vigilantes, is not because there are no distressful damsels; it is because the patrol chose the wrong time. The next one is to be from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m.

THE FIRST PATROL

Two of the women who went on the first patrol are Mrs. Gibbs of Edwin Avenue and Mrs. Oxborow of Hasketon Road. "We walked more than a couple of miles," Mrs. Oxborow said. "We visited the river bank and other places where we thought our services might be needed, but there was nothing to do. Obviously we should have started after the public houses closed."

"Some of the young girls here need to be saved from themselves," she added. "If I am on duty no young girl in trouble will appeal to me in vain."

Chief of the vigilantes is the wife of Rev. L. Juby, a Methodist minister. Miss G. M. Wilby of Chapel St. Mary, organizing secretary of the Suffolk Moral Welfare Association and the women behind the scheme, is not going on patrol herself because she has so many other duties.

Here are some of the things the vigilantes hope to be able to do for the girls in distress: escort them safely home if they are appealed to; have a tactful word with parents; report bad cases to the police.

"We are not snoopers," said Miss Wilby. "We have no intention of interfering but the young girls need somebody to advise them, or come to their aid in difficult circumstances."

ROGGED LIFE

MY BASES

Goldsmith, a young man from Victoria, who has been posted on the Queen Charlotte Islands for the last 10 months and is now in the city on a brief visit.

"Men who are posted to out-of-the-way bases for a few months find pleasure in simple ways that they would disregard in more civilized places," he says. "During the long stretches of bad weather they occupy their spare time with such indoor games as shuffle board, table tennis, darts, and volley ball. However, mail and movies are often under the most physical conditions."

But mail and movies do not come every day, or even every week. Very often Ollie travels on the boat carrying both to some isolated station.

"Ordinarily the ration boat calls about once a month, but sometimes in winter it is unable to land supplies oftener than once in two or three months. Once I was stuck at a base from the middle of December to the middle of February on account of bad weather. Rations had to be dropped out by plane."

Ollie told of one base that was particularly rugged. It is a small island whose rocky surface climbs 300 feet out of the sea. "Ninety mile an hour gales are not uncommon there and the huts are staked to the rock," he revealed. "I have seen men crawl along the face of the island because the wind was so strong they were afraid of being blown into the sea if they walked."

On that island the servicemen had to use dynamite to blast a 25-foot square of level surface to use as a volley ball court.

"They blew out a lot of window glass from the huts doing it," Ollie recalled.

Servicemen who are sent to those isolated stations are specially trained for the jobs they have to perform and consequently they stay there for some time. After a man has spent six months he may apply for re-posting—but only to a station of a similar kind. After eleven months he may apply for transfer to a civilized location. Leaves are granted, but many men prefer not to take their leaves until they are transferred.

Contributing toward the morale of these men is pretty important work for the YMCA personnel," is Ollie's opinion of his job. To do it he must share the serviceman's life.

Woman Revives Junk Business

ADELAIDE, Australia, July 25 (UPI)—Gentlemen who in peace time ambled around the suburbs collecting empty bottles, all seem to have gone to war.

A news columnist casually mentioned that he knew of stacks of bottles lying idle and shortly afterward received a call from the wife of a prisoner of war. She had taken out a junk dealer's license and was itching to get at those stacks.

... ask yourself this question

One look in your mirror will give you the answer ... Am I man or mouse ... am I one of those who lets the other fellow face all the danger, take all the risks? Look yourself straight in the eye and ask yourself this one question ... Have I the guts? The guts to wear the G.S. badge on my sleeve—to fight that my home, my people may be free.

You'll need months of thorough training to make you fighting-fit. Your place is beside every man who has the courage to see it through. Canada's Army needs you NOW, and needs you for overseas service.

Briefs From Britain

LONDON — Of 98 V.C.s awarded in this war, 19 have been conferred on former Boy Scouts, one of them being P.O. Cyril Bartoni, R.A.F., who received posthumous award recently. Eleven scouts won the V.C. in the First Great War.

NORWICH, England — There are 11,000,000 acres under the plow in England and Wales this year—70,000 more than a year ago.

LONDON — A flying bomb crossed a cricket ground in southern England while a game was in progress, but the players continued the match undisturbed.

BIRMINGHAM — A "team" of 15 grandmothers is among the women packing small arms parts in a Midlands town for use in Normandy.

CHARD, England — William T. Duminy, a former mayor of this Somersetshire town, recently celebrated his 104th birthday.

LONDON — The John Llewellyn Rhys Prize, awarded in commemoration of airmen killed in the Battle of Britain, for the best book of the year, has been posthumously awarded to Lieutenant Alan Lewis of The South Wales Borderers for his volume of short stories, "The Last Inspection."

ABERDEEN, Scotland — Troops brought in to unload coal here after 350 dockers had refused to work unless gangs were increased from four to six, soon restored output to almost normal.

MAIDENHEAD, England — Lady Astor said in an address here that "a very important person" told her the Germans will never be able to send a great mass of planes over this country again because of the Allies air superiority.

FERN, Scotland — Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand during his visit to Britain slept again in a little cottage in this Rossshire village where he was born 60 years ago. His aunt, Miss Georgina McLeod, still lives in his old home.

LONDON — The Metropolitan Water Board has banned the watering of gardens and sports grounds by hoses and sprinklers. London is threatened with its worst shortage for 60 years.

HASTINGS, England — Among those saved in an Anderson shelter recently when flying bombs hit a place in southern England were six members of a family named Anderson, including a woman of 90 and another of 64.

LONDON — Acting Wing Cmdr. J. C. Archer, English commander of the Canadian "Demons" Squadron of Coastal Command, who was reported missing last December, now is officially presumed to have been killed in action.

BOMBERS AND FIGHTERS WING WAY TO BERLIN—Fortresses shown winging their way to Berlin, escorted by long-range fighters, to unload tons of bombs on the Nazi capital in one of the great aerial attacks of the war. Three Fortresses, silverlike without the usual olive drab paint, are flying with the formation.

LONDON — Edward G. Robinson has arrived in Britain to play a part in the R.A.F. film production tentatively titled "Aircrew" with a cast almost entirely of R.A.F. personnel.

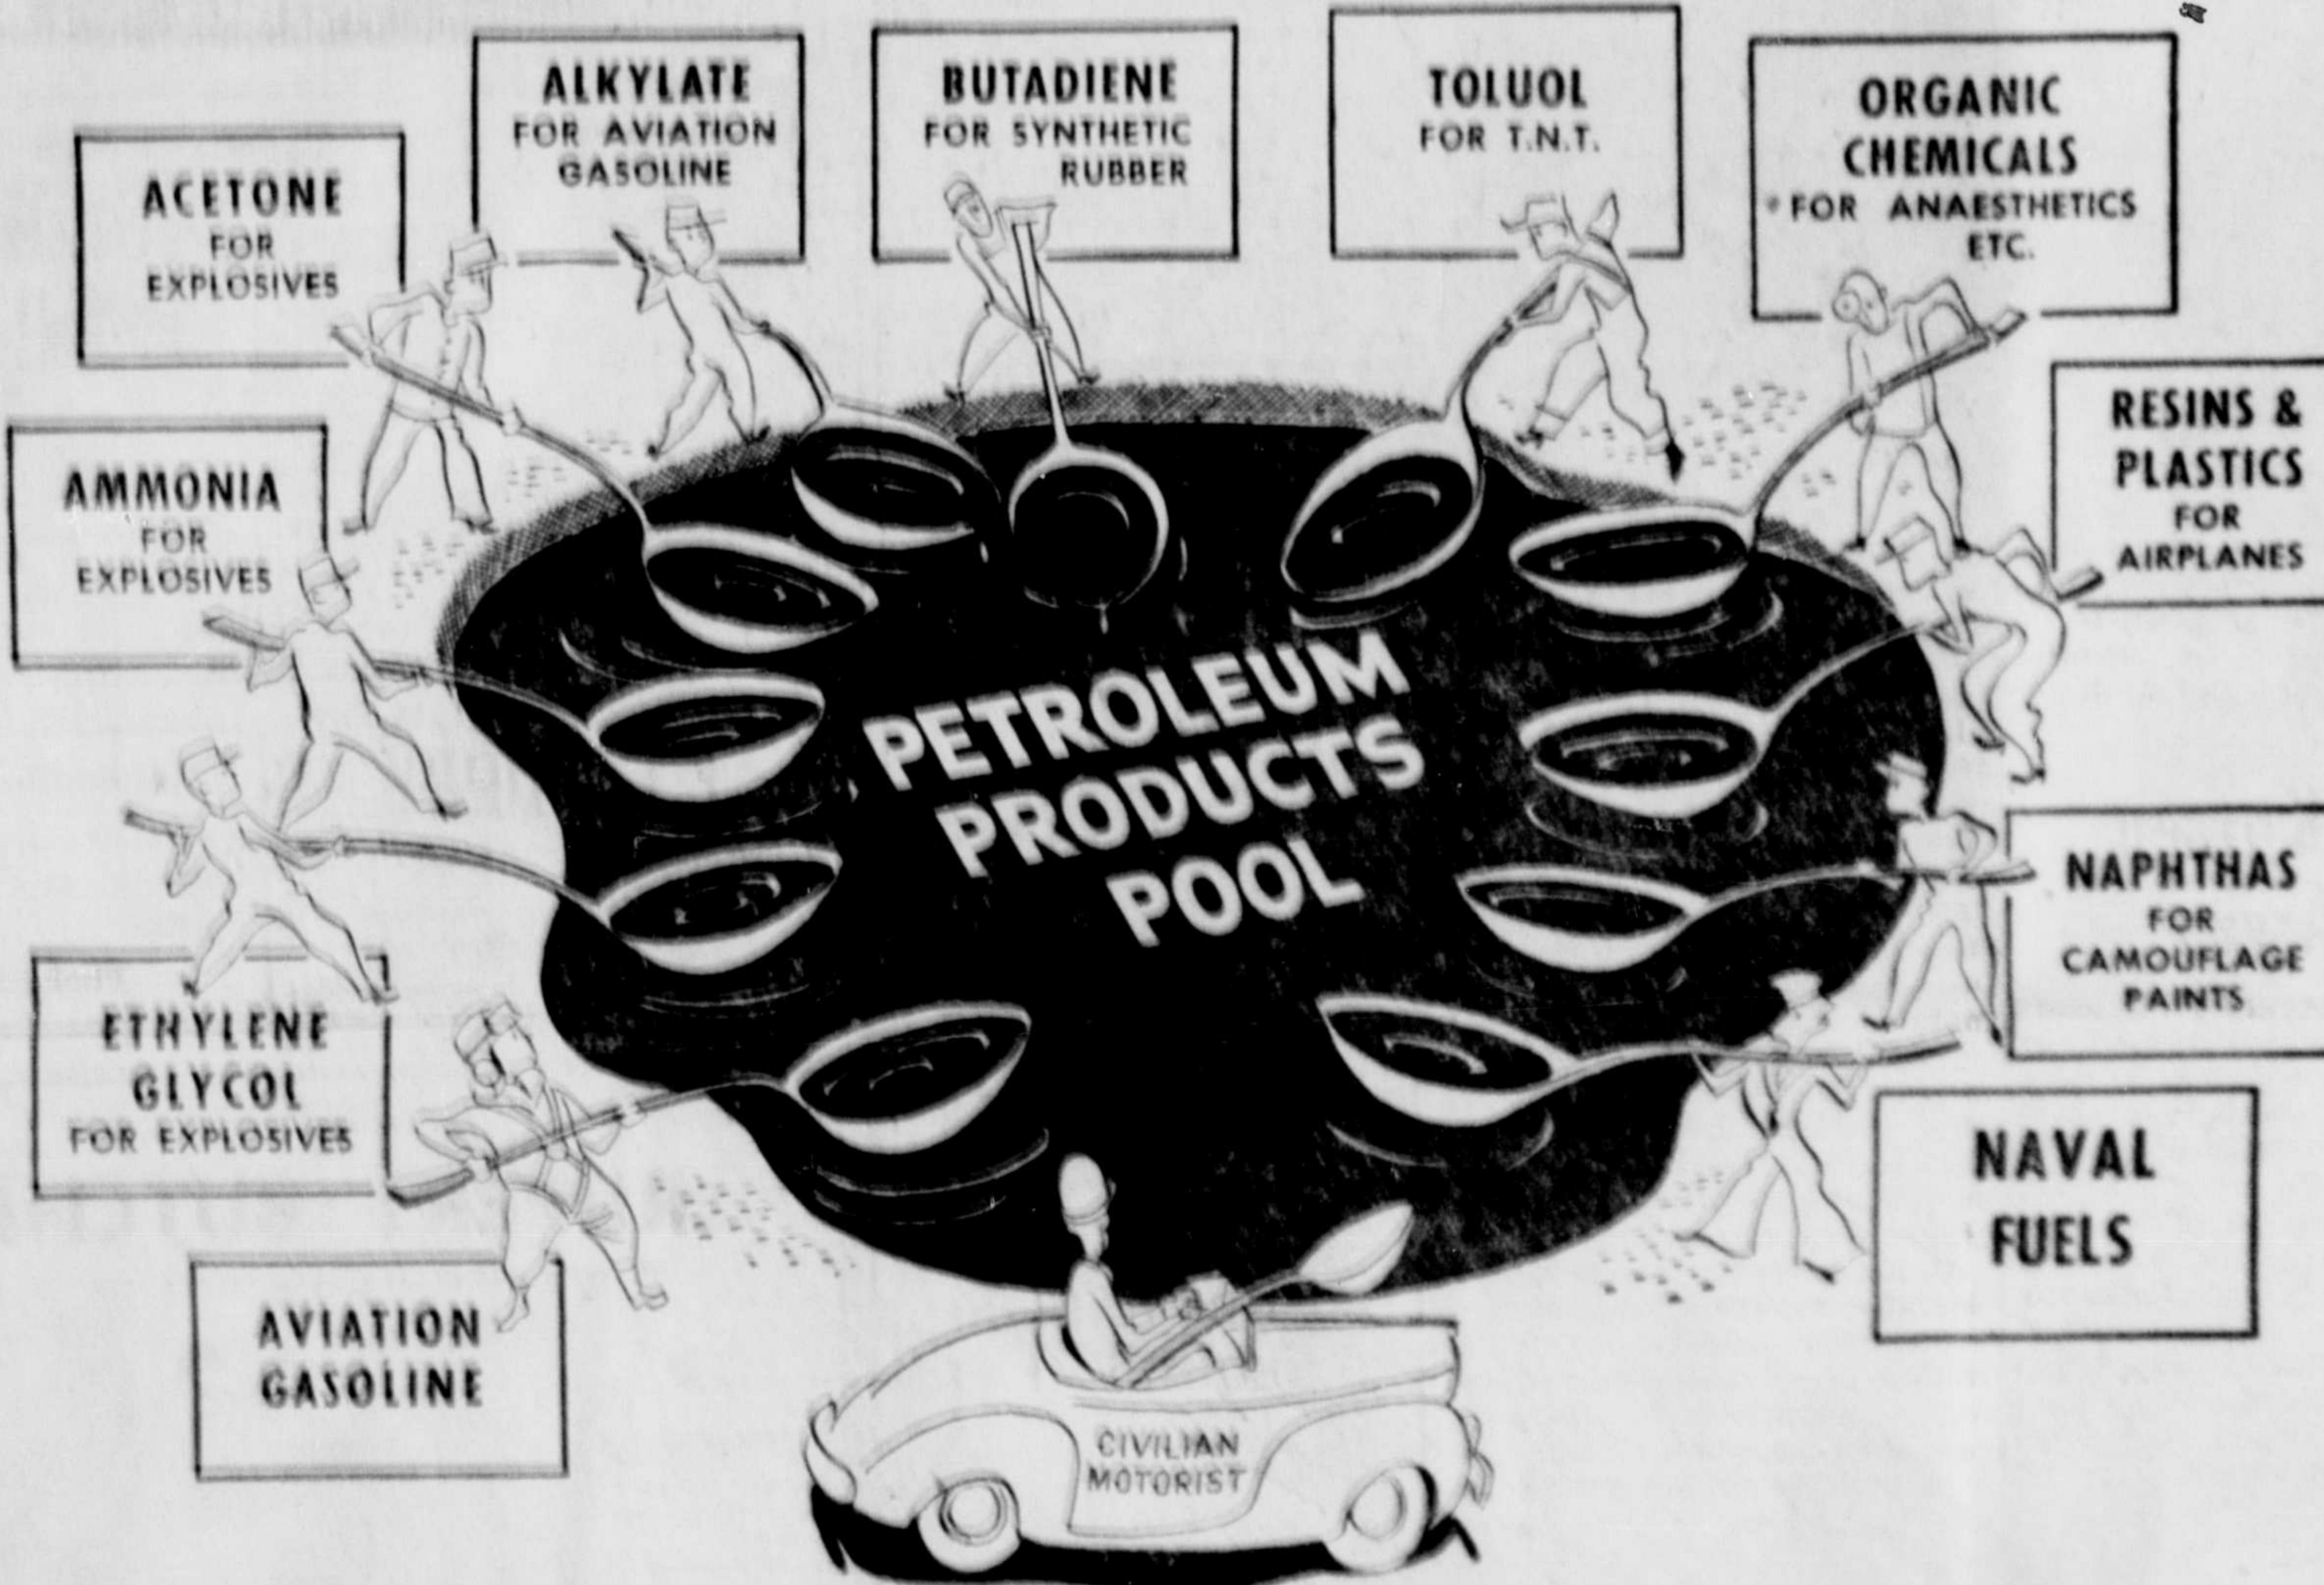

LONDON — Six British seamen were sent to prison for month for being absent without leave for 90 minutes from an invasion ship.

Here and There

BATH, England — Archibald Carlaw Grand, 71, veteran of 40 years on the London and provincial stage, was killed by enemy action in southern England. His mother was Sarah Grand, five times mayress of Bath and authoress of "The Heavenly Twins."

NEW DELHI — The government of India announces that the British government has agreed to an arrangement whereby 400,000 tons of wheat will be shipped to India before the end of September, 1944.

LONDON — Maj.-Gen. Sir Arthur (Bunny) Scott, 82-year-old veteran of the South African and First Great Wars, was killed recently by enemy action.

It Doesn't Leave a Lot for the Civilian

WHEN war demands have been filled... when invasion gasoline, aviation gasoline, Navy fuel oil, petroleum for the manufacture of explosives, synthetic rubber, and gasoline for war industry, farming and essential trucking all have been taken from Canada's oil supply—it doesn't leave a lot for the civilian!

Figure it out for yourself. It takes 5,250,000 gallons of gasoline to fuel 5,000 bombers and fighters for a mission over Germany. It takes enough oil for one fueling of a battleship to heat an average house for 350 years. It takes 18,000 gallons of gasoline to keep one armoured division on the move for one hour.

From petroleum and petroleum gases we obtain the gasoline and fuels needed to power planes and ships and tanks as well as the raw material for acetone, ammonia and toluol for explosives, organic chemicals for anesthetics, naphthas for camouflage paints and plastics and resins for war weapons production.

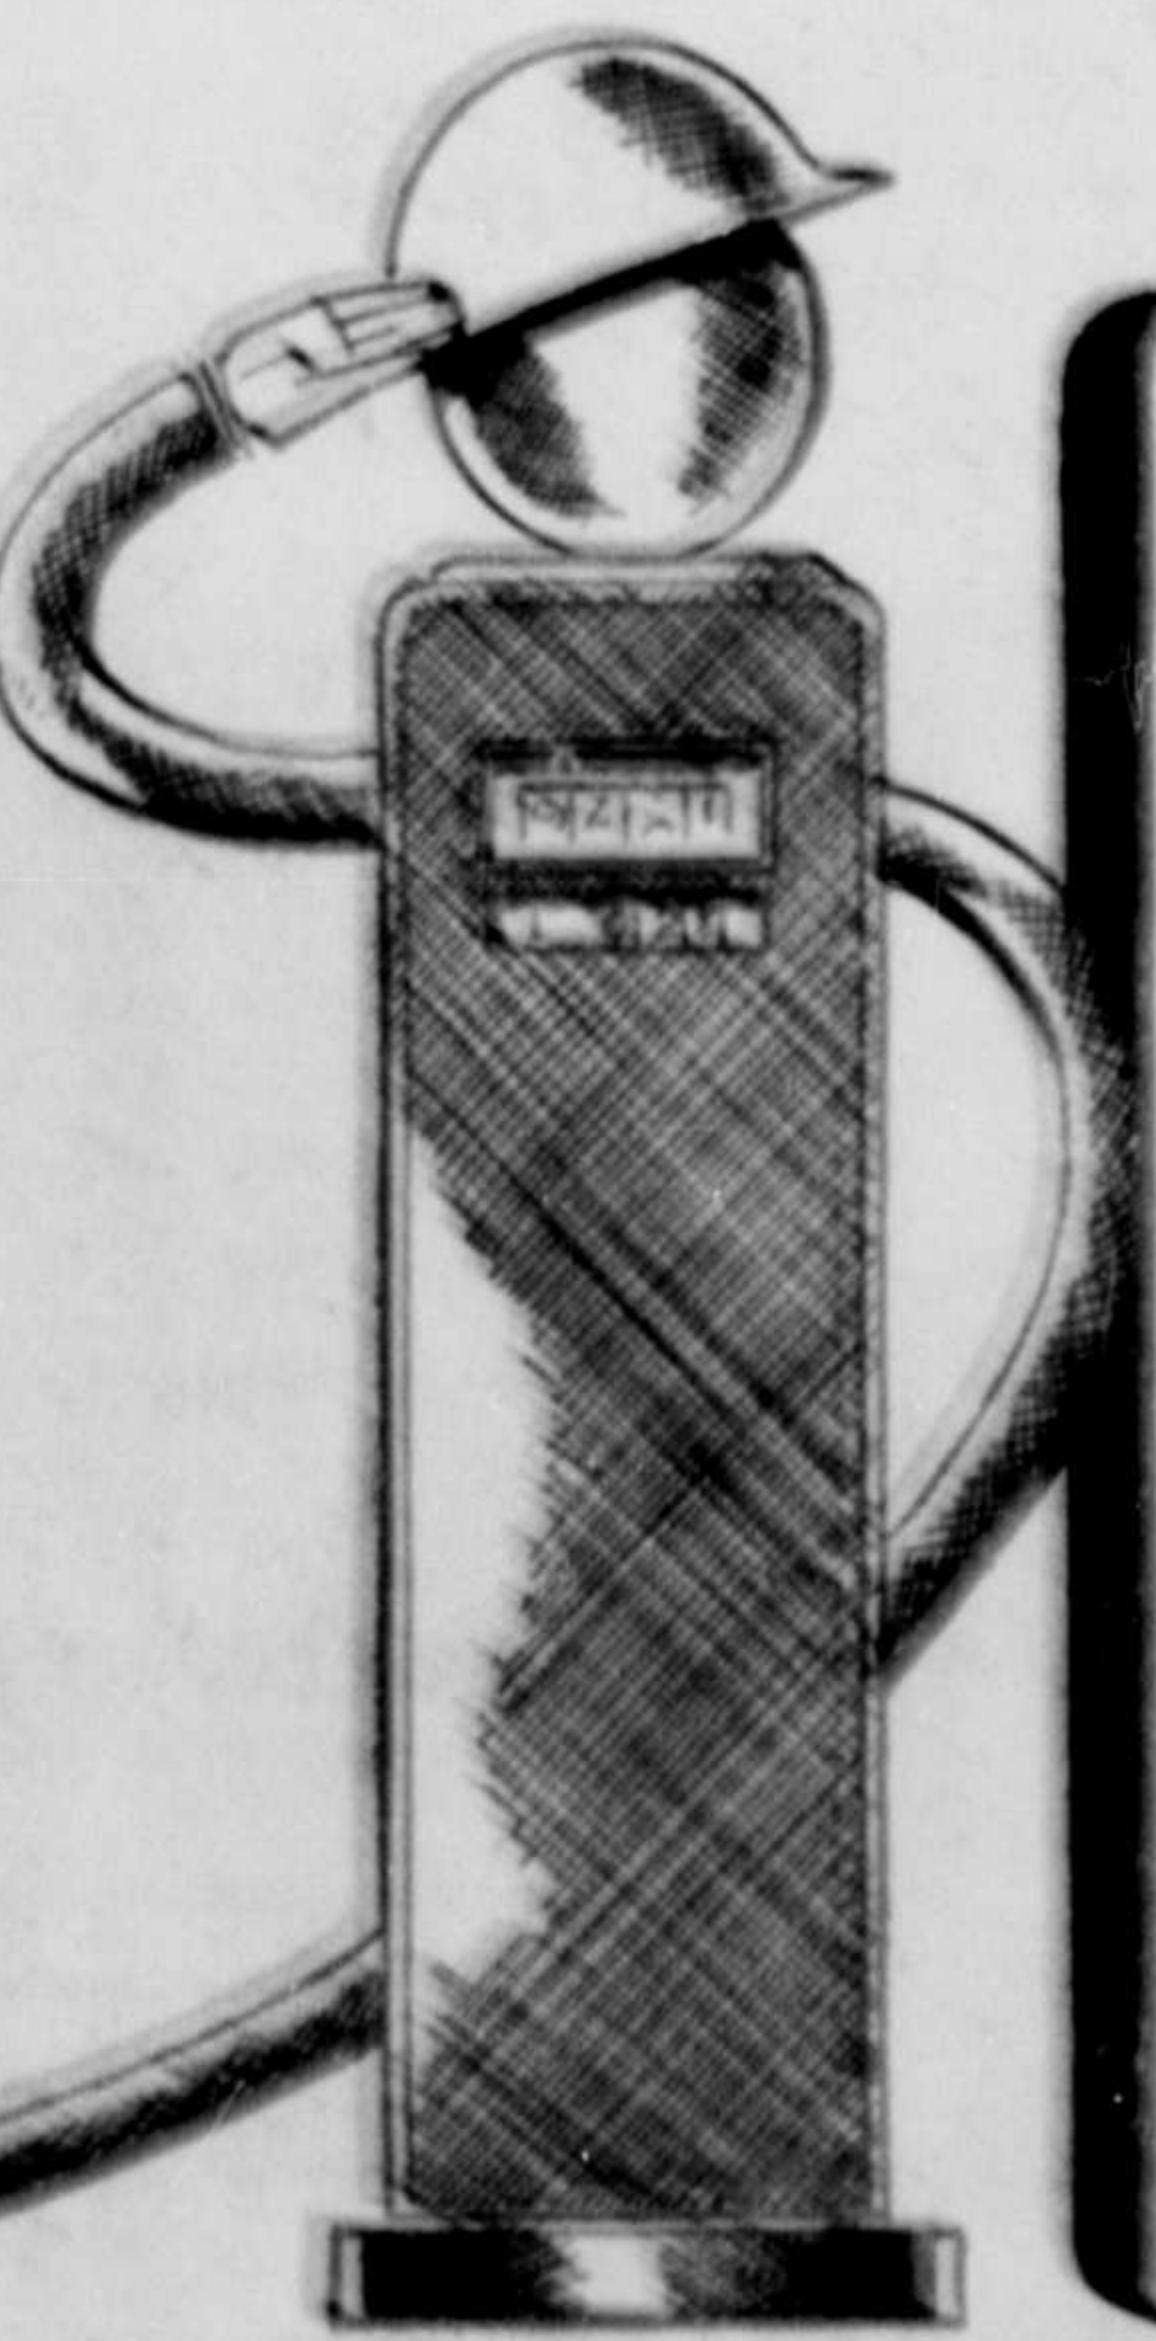

This is why civilian gasoline is short. This is why it's up to every motorist, to every owner of an oil-heated home, to exercise the strictest economy in gasoline or fuel oil usage. Every gallon we can do without here at home is one gallon more for the fighting men. And they need every gallon they can get.

Two full years of gasoline rationing and fuel oil control in Canada have saved 393,000,000 gallons of gasoline and 175 million gallons of fuel oil—a total saving of $68,000,000 gallons of petroleum products. Yet, despite this saving, gasoline stocks on hand in Canada, as of March 31st, this year, were 55,000,000 gallons less than at the commencement of rationing, April 1, 1942.

Oil has a mighty war job to do—yet supplies are short and are constantly dwindling. Oil powers the attack on every front. Oil can mean the difference between success or failure, between light casualty lists and heavy. Oil is vital ammunition—not to be wasted, not to be needlessly, frivolously spent.

NO. 4 OF A SERIES OF ANNOUNCEMENTS ISSUED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF MUNITIONS AND SUPPLY,
HONOURABLE C. D. HOWE, MINISTER

Answering YOUR QUESTIONS about the GASOLINE SHORTAGE

What are Canada's total yearly requirements of motor gasoline?... Approximately 800,000,000 gallons. Do these requirements have to cover both military and civilian needs?... Yes. Why cannot this supply be increased?... Because total hemispheric supplies are inadequate to meet both the colossal war demand and civilian needs. There is not enough oil, there are not enough tankers, for both. How much of Canada's petroleum needs is supplied from Canadian wells?... Only 15%. Why can't this home production be increased?... Every effort is being made to do so. More new wells are being drilled or prepared for drilling, than at any time in the history of Western Canada, but we have yet to find a new Turner Valley. War does not wait for new production.

Construction Firms to Take Part in Opening

Construction companies' work on the Skeena River highway are desirous of taking part in the official opening ceremonies and will try and have the road open at a date suitable to the celebration committee. G. D. Archibald, highway construction engineer, told the latest meeting of the celebration committee.

The committee agreed that Terrace is the logical place to hold the celebration but felt that, in view of the enthusiasm shown in Prince Rupert, an initial ceremony might be held here.

Officials in Ottawa, Victoria and Vancouver are being contacted before the final plans are announced.

FUNERAL OF INFANT

Funeral service for three-month-old Gloria Benson, an Indian child, took place yesterday afternoon from the Salvation Army Citadel with B.C. Undertakers in charge of arrangements.

H. E. Langley, Vancouver mining engineer; L. L. McDonald, New Westminster brewer; and Angus Macdonald, pioneer Alice Arm mining man, were here today returning to Vancouver after a visit to the well known Esperanza gold and silver mining property which it is being planned to reopen by next spring.

ENJOYABLE HOUSEWORK

Casualties Of Germans Enormous

By ENID NEMY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG, July 25 (C.P.)—It's not hard to enjoy housework when it's done in an exquisitely furnished $17,000 Georgian home, as up-to-date as a shiny new Esperanza gold and silver mining property which it is being planned to reopen by next spring.

Canada Digest Goes To France

Wartime Information Board Book Makes Good Reading For Invasion Troops

MOSCOW, July 25—Moscow reveals that from June 23 to July 23 German casualties on the eastern front were no less than 540,000 including 381,500 killed and 158,500 taken prisoner.

OTTAWA, July 25 (C.P.)—Canadian forces took reading material along with them on the invasion of Europe.

Sqn. Ldr. Gregory Vlasto of Kingston found this out recently when he went to Britain to obtain the troops' view of various Wartime Information Board publications.

He wrote to Lieut. Donald C. MacDonald, editor of Canada Digest—one of the publications for the troops:

"For a while I was mystified not to find a single copy of it in a number of units of the 1st Canadian Army that I happened to visit. Then I solved the mystery. Apparently the full supply of the May issue was packed securely away in boxes and tucked into the back of three-ton trucks, in which auxiliary service supervisors are riding in invasion operations. Canada Digest has been included in the list of priority essentials to welfare and morale."

The Digest is distributed to men of the three services not only in the United Kingdom theatre and northern France, but in the Mediterranean, the Middle East and India.

It has already provoked considerable comment, not only in letters from readers, but in the British press. The South Wales Argus, published in Newport, concludes an editorial with the hope that the British authorities will duplicate the Canadian publication.

POWER GOES BEGGING—CAPE TOWN (C.P.)—The potential waterpower in the continent of Africa has been estimated at 190,000,000 horsepower, of which only a minute fraction, much less than one per cent, has as yet been utilized.

LARGEST OF ALL—The Andes is the longest and highest mountain range in the world.

Pat O'Brien Portrays American Soldier and Football Coach

Dealing with the career and life of a great African chief who was accorded English nurse, Edith Shelley of Lincolnshire, in Tanganyika recently.

The story of Edith Shelley reads like a novel of heroic self-sacrifice. Since 1923 she devoted her life to missionary nursing among the lepers of Africa.

At first her medical interests were general, but in 1937 when she herself contracted leprosy and the disease was arrested she resolved to devote her life and strength to the curing of others with the same disease.

From that time, cheetily by bicycle, carrying her belongings in a kit bag on her back, she travelled the jungle, until a few weeks before a malignant growth caused her death.

With successive years of service in various teams, Cavanagh became one of the greatest football men in Canada. Inspired by his personality and drive, he rolled up impressive records against their opponents.

With great success and death, the inspiring coach set to his men both gridiron and the battlefield makes the picturization a topic of particular interest. It is said to be one of the finest portrayals of a football coach ever made.

Ruth Warrick plays the loyal wife and Robert Wade the coach's former teammate.

COSTUME JEWELLERY
Cotton jewellery made in fabric like red and white, ham buttons and tiny green felt is a current fad in the costume district of the city. The new designs are very attractive and popular.

PRINCE GEORGE

TERRACE

Hottest weather of the season 93-5 degrees was experienced at Prince George on Wednesday. Forest fires flared up in a 600-acre area southeast of Cluculus Lake and have since become more serious.

It is estimated that construction work will begin by autumn on 25 houses under a government plan whereby homes may be built on loans up to 90 per cent of their value by Prince George residents.

Judge Eric Woodburn presided over the most northerly court session in the province recently when at Lower Post, within a stone's throw of the Yukon border, he dismissed Leo Corner of a charge of receiving and possessing stolen property belonging to the United States government.
