Med Planes Shatter Nazi West Wall Defence System Before Invasion

Increase in Size and Fury Day After Day—When Principal Target Last Night—Berlin Communique Objective

LONDON, May 25 (CP)—Up to one thousand German bombers laid shattering bombardment to the West Wall fortifications of France and Belgium as long processions of Allied planes filled the sky on the seventh consecutive day renewed pre-invasion assaults. It appeared possible that Wednesday's record of 7,000 planes dumping 5,500 tons of bombs on the Germans might be approached. Overnight between 500 and 750 Royal Air Force and Canadian aircraft smashed railway yards at Aachen which funnel traffic to the invasion coast and mosquitoes struck at Berlin which is becoming almost a continuous target by night and day. Twenty-eight bombers, six of them Canadian, were lost last night.

Unconditional Surrender Is Only Course Open For Germany and Japan—Churchill

LONDON, May 25 — Unconditional surrender constituted the only terms open to Germany and Japan, Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the British House of Commons Wednesday in opening debate on foreign affairs. This was the one immediate objective. There was no guarantee even under the Atlantic Charter that Germany would not undergo territorial changes after the war, Mr. Churchill said. The postwar intention was to set up a world order which would eliminate war and the causes of war. This would be based on board and simple principles of freedom and justice to all mankind. There would have to be an international organization to keep nations within bounds.

Falls 40 Feet, Breaks Arm, Leg

Falling forty feet to the ground from a staging level at the dry dock Tuesday afternoon, Paul Obzera, age 22, a steel erector, suffered a badly fractured right arm and leg. He was accidentally knocked from a high staging level enclosing a shipbuilding berth by a plank which fell from the level above. Obzera was assisting in the erection of steel 'tween deck frames on a cargo ship hull when the boom of a locomotive crane used in lifting the frames pressed against the planking of the topmost staking level, pushing out a plan which came down about four feet and struck Obzera who was sent hurtling to the ground. The accident occurred shortly before 3 o'clock Tuesday. The dry dock ambulance took Obzera to the Prince Rupert General Hospital. His condition was reported to be satisfactory.

City Not Favorable To Paying

Will Assume no Financial Responsibility—No Stand Taken on Merits

The city council, at a special meeting Tuesday night, decided that it would accept no financial responsibility whatever in connection with chlorination of Prince Rupert's water supply, either in the way of installation of the machinery or the operation of same. The council agreed to give a simple answer of "no" to an inquiry by the Department of National Health if the city would agree to take over the operation of a chlorination plant in the city water system should it be installed by the Department. Later, however, the council agreed to grant permission to the Royal Canadian Air Force to install a water chlorination plant at Seal Cove to treat the water of the air station there providing the installation met with the approval of the city engineer and involved the city in no responsibility by way of expense, interruption to service, damage or inconvenience. When the inquiry of the Department of Pensions and National Health was read, Ald. Arnold inquired as to how much the cost of the operation of the chlorination plant might amount to. City Engineer G. S. Hanes was unable to give an exact estimate as he had little information as to the nature of the plant. However, there would probably have to be three eight-hour shifts per day. Mr. Hanes also brought up the matter of restriction of water flow through the installation. The engineer felt that the authorities who installed the plant should be capable of operating it. ## ARCTIC IS FIRST BOAT WITH CATCH

First of the regular halibut boats to return from the banks with a catch this season, the Arctic I, commanded by Skipper A. Petersen, arrived this morning with 18,000 pounds aboard. However, the catch had remained unsold up to noon today pending an agreement among fish buyers as to who should purchase it, competitive bidding having been paralyzed by the fact that all buyers are paying ceiling prices of 18 1/4 and 17c a pound. An agreement is expected to be reached sometime today. Other halibut boats of the first group, which sailed Sunday morning, are expected to arrive momentarily to bring about a resumption of activity in the long quiet fishing industry. Boats of the M to Z group left port singly and in groups Wednesday.

Prairie Province to Choose Eighth House Since 1905

REGINA, May 25 (Canadian Press)—When Saskatchewan voters go to the polls June 15 to elect a provincial government, they will be choosing the province's eighth administration since 1905 when Saskatchewan became a province. Since that time, the Liberals have held office during six of the seven terms. The only exception was the government led by Dr. J. T. M. Anderson between 1929-34. A Conservative, Dr. Anderson headed a co-operative government supported by 24 Conservatives, four Progressives and six independents. At that, the Liberals were not defeated by any one group in the 1929 election. They actually obtained the largest group in the legislature but failed to obtain an overall majority over all other successful candidates. The Liberals at that time were headed by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, now federal minister of agriculture. Mr. Gardiner, however, staged a victorious return in 1934, capturing 50 seats in the then 55-member house. The other five were taken by the Farmer-Labor group, later to become the C.C.F. party. Mr. Gardiner held office until late in 1935 when he accepted the federal cabinet post. He was succeeded by W. J. Patterson, the present premier. Hon. Walter Scott was Saskatchewan's first premier. A Liberal, he was appointed by Sir Wilfred Laurier, then Canadian Prime minister, when the province was granted autonomy. The first provincial election was held Dec. 13, 1905, when Scott was opposed by Frederick Haultain, head of a Provincial Rights Party, composed mostly of Conservatives. The issue was control of natural resources. The Liberals won and Scott held office until 1916. Haultain, later Sir Frederick Haultain, chief justice of Sas-

Mr. King Is Approved . . .

If Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King may sometimes be not altogether appreciated in his own country, at least he was accorded high approbation during the course of his recent brief visit to Britain by the press of the old country. Praise was expressed editorially in the London Times of the sentiments of an address he made to a joint session of Parliament. The editorial was much longer than the Old Country papers usually indulge in these days owing to the newsprint shortage. It is much too long for us to copy in its entirety but some portions which we glean may be of interest.

"The address of Mr. Mackenzie King was the far-ranging estimate of a statesman thinking of the British Commonwealth and the world in world-wide terms.

"I profoundly believe (said Mr. King) that both the security and the welfare of the nations of the British Commonwealth, and, in large measure, the security and welfare of all peace-loving nations will depend on the capacity of the nations of the Commonwealth to give leadership in the pursuit of policies which, in character, are not exclusive but inclusive . . . So long as Britain continues to maintain the spirit of freedom, and to defend the freedom of other nations, she need never doubt her preeminence in the world; so long as we all share that spirit we need never fear for the strength or unity of the Commonwealth."

"These passages are instinct with the enduring traditions of the British constitution. The doctrine would have been as acceptable to the PITTS or EDMUND BURKE as to Mr. KING'S own predecessors, the Prime Ministers of Canada from SIR JOHN MACDONALD to SIR ROBERT BORDEN, and to the Prime Ministers of each of the British nations now meeting in family council in London.

"The unity of the Commonwealth and its methods of co-operation, proven, strengthened and given new significance by the common effort of the war, represent, in Mr. KING'S view, though the words he chose were aptly quoted from an address of Mr. CHURCHILL in 1907, 'a model of what we hope the whole world will some day become.' In Mr. KING'S address, as in that of Mr. CHURCHILL, the Commonwealth and Empire are defined not in terms of a limited association but of the evolution of free nations looking forward 'to larger brotherhoods and more exact standards of social justice.' Not merely is the security of nations indivisible but also their prosperity; and the nations of the Commonwealth as part of 'a larger company' embracing the United States, the Soviet Union, China, France, and all other nations united today in the defence of freedom 'must help to fashion a new world order in which social security and human welfare become a part of the inheritance of mankind.' (Mr. KING'S address, is at once a definition of the nature of the British Commonwealth and the world, consistent both with the long history of the widening freedom of each British nation and with the spirit of the Atlantic Charter and the Moscow Declaration.

"Canada's history and Canada's voluntary and unstinted share in this war both symbolize the nature of the Commonwealth and exemplify the world character of its role.

"It remains the duty of the Commonwealth wherever possible 'to give the lead that is in the interest of the world as a whole,' in security and in welfare—since it is more and more apparent that a broad community of thought and action in social purposes must be one great element in that leadership.

"Mr. KING'S address is a fine and helpful contribution to the philosophy of the Commonwealth and Empire and to the thought of all free peoples. Among these free peoples none has more right than Canada to define the purposes of the United Nations or the principles of the unity of the Commonwealth. Canada has not sought and does not wish to influence the policies of her great neighbour and friend of her partners in the American hemisphere, but twice at a solemn moment in world history, the political imagination and experience of the Canadian people, instantly and freely responding to a challenge, physically distant but morally immediate, has anticipated those policies and has anticipated them by a declaration of war that enhanced rather than weakened the unity of the Canadian people."

HOBBYCRAFT ON DISPLAY

Talent of Local Naval Men Is Developed at H. M. C. S. Chatham

(By DOROTHY GARBUTT)

Monday evening there was a diverting display of hobbycraft in the Seamen's Mess at the Navy. Under the direction of the Naval schoolmaster, Sub-Lieutenant A. Hobbs, and the Y.M.C.A. supervisor to the Navy, Bruce MacIntyre, the display represented the chosen hobbies of various Navy men together with leather work, mocassins and sheepskin holsters made in the handicraft classes held this winter in the schoolmaster's office under the direction of Miss Muriel Vance. Tentative arrangements are being made to display all these articles in one of the Third Avenue store windows. The variety and artistry of the work is delightful.

Stars of the show are Chief Petty Officer Freestad and Petty Officer McCallum, with their paintings, carvings and ivory work and Norm Hathaway of the Navy Band and Lou Adams with their drawings and pencil sketches and pastels. Reminiscent of Audubon are Adams' pencil drawings of types of fish. CPO Freestad has two water colors, one of the oldest building in Oslo and the other a scene on the Nile. Both these pictures are in intricately hand carved frames.

Typical of local art the Chief has taken a large and ornamental fungus, varnished it a rich brown, and carved a handsome eagle emblem on it with the words "Prince Rupert" below. Another interesting bit of carving by the same man is that of a life preserver framing a painted viking ship and on either side are the flags of Great Britain and Norway.

Petty Officer McCallum specializes in ivory carvings and has a most amusing lamp on display the base of which is a whale's ear, one side of which forms a lugubrious human profile painted to resemble a face. Two very lovely carved whalebone cribbage boards, one of which is set with colored stones with initials of the same set on top, are also of interest. He has made ornamental stone-studded pegs to go with each board. But his piece de resistance is a cleverly constructed ivory cigarette holder, so made that when the top is removed each cigarette springs out individually.

And all this work of these men is done in their spare time, without thought of money and just for the love of it. It's quite a thought, that, you know.

Although I have picked out a few outstanding selections the whole display is of a very high excellence. There is Norm Hathaway's very amusing canvas sea bag, on one side of which is depicted in oils a "sailor adrift" and on the other side "The Reason Why"—being two eye-filling gals in the Vargas manner.

Then there are Charlie Webster's knotted rope nets and door mats and an intriguing full master schooner in a bottle—true sailor art that—done by Skipper Al Heater. This is not only a ship in a bottle but the whole harbor complete with lighthouse, village houses, stores, school house and beyond it the protecting hills. There are two things I've always had a yen for, one was a snowstorm in a glass ball—you know the kind—and the other, one of these ships. I wonder if the Skipper specializes in snow storms?

Stoker Bill Meyers has a remarkable fouled anchor design in rope, varnished and gilded, and there is a handsomely carved yellow cedar wall plaque, with no artist's name attached.

Bill Murdoch has some carved and colored totem pole lamps and war canoe designs while the leather jacket decorated with ornamental stitching made by Jack Beam is a work of art.

I've heard of sea horses but the first time I saw a halter for them was in this display when Petty Officer Harold Hobden's hackamor dress halter, made of braided leather, rope and shoe laces was shown me. P. O. Hobden's interest is all in horses, he's from Alberta—one of our famous

CELEBRATED EMPIRE DAY

Observance by School Pupils—Senior and Junior—on Tuesday.

At Booth Memorial High School on Tuesday afternoon a double Empire Day program was presented by the pupils. It was arranged by W. W. C. O'Neill, principal. Representatives of Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, with Mrs. G. E. Moore as chairman, attended and the speaker was Rev. George L. Douglas, chaplain of H.M.C.S. Chatham.

Mrs. Moore's introductory address explained the origin of Empire Day—the day immediately preceding May 24—which was founded by Mrs. Clementina Fessenden, who later became a member of the I.O.D.E., in the year 1896. The following year saw the first celebration of Empire Day.

The subject of Mr. Douglas' address was "This Precious Thing Called Freedom"—freedom, the symbol of what the Allies were fighting for—the four freedoms—from want, fear, speech and religion—freedom, both for body and soul, truth which made for freedom.

The program which followed included: Salute to the Flag with "O Canada."

Piano Solos—"There'll always be an England" and "Land of Hope and Glory," Janet Rochester.

Violin Solo—"The Maypole Dance," Vaughan Tattersal, accompanied by Peggy Large.

Songs—"We're proud of Canada," "The Empire is Marching," Jean Smith, Lavinie Elliott, Viola Prendergast, Selvig Mork, Peggy Pullen, Vichi Mueffels and Monica Holby, accompanied by Rosaline Thain.

Duet—"Red, White and Blue," Lorraine Youngman and Jeanne Langridge.

Piano Solo—"The Maple Leaf," Rose-Marie Hartwig.

Cello Solo—"Charlie is my Darling," Miss Johnson.

Song—"Land of Hope and Glory," Girls.

God Save the King.

PRIMARY GRADES ATTEND THEATRE

Children of the primary grades of the various schools in the morning attended the Empire Day celebration at the Capitol Theatre. Mrs. G. E. Moore presided and Mrs. J. A. Teng, educational secretary, had charge of arrangements with the cooperation and assistance of teachers and pupils of the different schools. Regents and standard bearers of the four local chapters were present on the platform.

Introducing the speaker, Mayor H. M. Daggett, Mrs. Moore, the regent, spoke of the hard years of the war and more especially of the year 1940, the crucial time for the Empire, also of the pride all must feel in the courage and patience of its people during these tragic years.

Mayor Daggett urged his listeners to hold fast to the British Empire—to its flag, the Union Jack and what it stands for. "In whatever part of the world you may find yourselves," said the Mayor, "always be loyal to the British Empire and your homeland which shall ever stand for freedom and liberty."

Commencing with the Salute to the Flag and "O Canada," the combined schools sang "Land of Our Birth," followed by "Music of Empire," by the Annunciation School. After an address by Mayor Daggett two songs were sung by the combined schools: "To the Stars" and "Sing Along." Then "Hearts of Oak" was sung by the Annunciation School pupils. A picture shown by courtesy of D. G. Borland "Canada Carries On" was followed by "God Save the King."

I.O.D.E. Members Attend Church

On Sunday morning members of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, under Mrs. G. E. Moore, regent of Municipal Chapter, attended service at First Presbyterian Church on the occasion of the annual church parade for Empire Day. The padre of the American forces, Capt. W. D. Rowlands, conducted the service and preached an appropriate sermon. Mrs. E. J. Smith presided at the organ and the junior choir led the hymns which were all favorites. Standard bearers of the four chapters attended.

SUBS FOR ADHESIVE TAPE

COLOMBO, Ceylon, C.—Rubber research staffs have produced a substitute for adhesive tape for rubber bud grafting. The substitute will represent a substantial saving of the adhesive tape which has to be imported.

STOCKHOLM, C.—Sweden's peat bogs have been of great value during the war, when the country largely has had to rely upon her domestic fuels. During 1943 production of peat amounted to about 1,200,000 tons, twice the figure for the preceding year.

SEATTLE GALS LEARN POISE

Y.W.C.A. Sponsors 'Beau Catcher' Course Under Former Parisian Model

By BONNIE WILEY Associated Press Writer

SEATTLE, May 25 (C)—The Seattle Y.W.C.A. is turning out "slick chicks" by the dozens. It is the result of the new "beau catcher" course, so popular it has been expanded to the breaking point.

It all started when the feminine walls about the wartime shortage of males became so loud Y. W. officials started an "up-to-date-dating" course, forerunner of the "beau catcher" venture.

Any girl, says Instructor Marie Laliberte, former Parisian model and dancer, can become a "slick chick" if she wants to go to the trouble.

At the opening lesson, Miss Laliberte, throwing up her hands in horror at the "American girls' poor posture," stacks books on their heads and walks them around until they can travel with nary a literary tumble.

"You girls," instructor Laliberte exclaims, "walk the same in evening dresses as you do in sports clothes. The American stride," she adds, with gestures, "makes 'duds' of far too many women."

When the indefatigable Laliberte drills them for days in walking on the level and then leads them to the staircase and starts all over with the stairway posture, some of the girls begin to wonder if the men are worth it, Y.W. officials smile.

After they've mastered a graceful stance and can follow a straight course on a circular staircase, the girls get a chance to sit down for a while and Miss Laliberte schools them in sittings, how to place their feet, how to hold their hands, how to hold their heads and how to relax through it all.

Learning poise to please the boys is only the beginning of the "beau catcher" course. Intensive study of clothes, make-up, hair styling, etiquette and voice are included.

Prowled upon is the wearing of "size 40 Sloppy Joe" sweaters. Subtle colors instead of flashy ones are recommended. Soap and water beauty treatments are mastered before the creams-and-how-to-apply - them are taught.

Meticulous cleanliness tops out-of-the-band-box beauty, the sub-debs learn, and care of clothes is an every night job. Even hemlines, neat pressing non-gap plackets are stressed.

The experiment in "beau catching" has had far-reaching results. Class attendance has skyrocketed. Schools have installed similar courses as a helping hand to the teen-ager to prevent her being over-looked in a war-busy world.

FOUR YEARS AGO IN THIS WAR

May 25, 1940—Germans captured Boulogne, channel port, occupied Ghent and Courtrai in Belgium, encircled Calais and overran Vimy Ridge. Premier Reynaud disclosed that fifteen French generals were relieved of their commands when General Maxime Weygand was named generalissimo of Allied armies.

ON THE CARPET

The House of Lords has a red-bordered carpet marking the limits where a member may stand when addressing the gathering. It is believed the carpet was set in the days when men carried swords so that a safe distance would be allowed in case of altercations.

Liquid Stockings For Summer Legs

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—If you went bare-legged last summer you probably experimented with a number of different leg make-ups. The bottled chiffon, a survey reveals, was used by 93 percent of women, cake leg make-ups by five percent and the stick or cream pastes by two percent.

This year there is a make-up mitt which is moistened in cold running water. It can be applied smoothly to legs in long, sweeping upward strokes and the mitt can be wet as often as necessary to obtain good coverage. After drying on legs, it should be run-proof and water resistant.

For those who still prefer the liquid hose for a natural sun-burned appearance, it is important to select a lotion that is water-repellant and non-irritating. The legs should always be thoroughly dry before applying make-up, to prevent streaking.

Usually liquid make-up can be applied in about six minutes. Just pour a small quantity into the palm of your hand, cup both palms, pouring the liquid from the right to left hand, until you have an equal amount in each hand. Apply from toes upward, using long upward strokes with palms, not fingertips.

Even Evenson, formerly in the cleaning and pressing business here and for the past year residing in Vancouver, arrived in the city yesterday morning and will return north tomorrow night. Many friends will be glad to hear that Mrs. Evenson is now completely recovered from a severe fracture which she sustained in a fall shortly before leaving here about a year ago.

CHLORINATION (Continued from page 1)

He did not see why the city should pay.

Ald. Sorensen was interested in knowing if anything could be done to stop the installation and was told by Mayor H. M. Daggett that it did not appear anything could be done to stop the authorities if they decided to go ahead.

Ald. Rudderham, observing that reports had always shown Prince Rupert's water to be pure, declared he was opposed to chlorination and was doubly opposed to the idea of the city paying for it in any way. He moved that the answer of the council be "no."

Ald. Sinclair, in seconding Ald.
Rudderham's motion, said he saw no necessity for chlorination. The water here was not detrimental to good health.

Ald. Elliott referred to how the city had been endeavouring without success to obtain aid from the federal government in the repair of streets and services. Now the government would impose another financial burden. He felt that chlorination would only serve to further retard the water supply that was already inadequate. He moved an amendment not only refusing any financial responsibility for operation of a chlorination plant
but putting the city on record
as not favoring such an installation owing to its not being necessary and pointing out that it would tend to impede the flow of water to the reservoir which was already inadequate.

Ald. Black, who seconded Ald.
Elliott's amendment, could see no reason for chlorinating Prince Rupert's water at present although there might be some point to making the installation against an emergency arising. He was opposed to the city operating the plant.

Ald. George Hills said he stood for anything that had been proven scientifically to benefit the health of the people. He was not prepared to say that chlorination was not necessary under any circumstances. Of course, all were agreed that the city should assume no financial responsibility.

Ald. Elliott believed the people generally were opposed to chlorination. Personally, he could see where there might be advantage
under certain circumstances.

Ald. Brett saw the issue as being only whether or not the city was agreed to assuming financial responsibility.

Ald. Rudderham mentioned
the killing of the fish in Stanley Park at Vancouver.

On the amendment of Ald.
Elliott being put, only Ald. Elliott and Ald. Black supported it. The motion was then carried unanimously.

CHLORINATION AT SEAL COVE

The application of the Royal Canadian Air Force for permission to instal a chlorination plant at Seal Cove was accompanied by letters from the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage and N. M.
McLean, boat builder, stating that they had no objections providing no expense, interruption to service, damage or serious inconvenience would be caused to them.

After examination of a plan
and brief discussion, it was moved by Ald. Arnold, seconded by Ald. Hills, that permission be granted to the Air Force to make the installation subject to the approval of the city engineer with a view to safeguarding the city's interests.

PASSAGE TO MARSEILLE

Thrilling Picture is Showing This Week-end at Capitol Theatre

"Passage to Marseille," an actioned packed film with timely theme of daring and courage,
comes to the Capitol Theatre
here this Friday and Saturday with Humphrey Bogart in the leading role, playing the part of a fighting French journalist who has been railroaded to Devil's Island but eventually leads four of his fellow-prisoners to freedom and the chance to give their lives in the struggle against Hitler and his works.

The perils which the men encounter as they make their way back to France are the basis of the story and the action. When they are picked up, more dead than alive in mid-ocean by a small freighter bound for Marseille, they utter silent thanks that their trials have ended but,
in fact, they have just begun.
When they are half way to Marseille word comes that France has capitulated. This provokes a crisis aboard the ship between collaborationists and anti-Nazis
which Bogart and his fellow convicts settle by taking the ship over and piloting it straight into an English port.

An outstanding supporting cast
includes Claude Rains, Michele
Morgan, Philip Dorn, Sydney
Greenstreet, Helmut Dantine,
Peter Lorre and George Tobias.

BLANTYRE, Scotland—Mr.
and Mrs. Alexander Struthers received a telegram of congratulations from the King and Queen when they celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary recently. Both are 92.
