HOW EMPLOYMENT STARTS...

Ever since it became clear that, in time of war, Canada could find employment for all willing workers, there has been a determination that, at any cost, the same condition must exist in time of peace. "Full employment" is in the platform of all political parties. We now have to face the problem of full employment in time of peace, for it is quite clear that "post-war," which used to look like dreamland, is now just around the corner. This problem of employment has little to do with measures to remedy distress. Public opinion accepts measures of this sort as both desirable and inevitable. There may be doubts about the wisdom of some of those which we are planning. Only Socialists appear to favor the recommendation in the Beveridge Report, that unemployment relief should be given only to those who do not accept the jobs which the government employment agencies choose to find for them. These are all interesting and important matters, but they do not go to the root of how we are to obtain full employment.

It might be a good thing to stop and remember that full employment starts in the stores and other business establishments in every community across this country. We hear so much about the mistakes of big business that we are apt to forget big business is only a part of business. Much of the business of this country gets its start when someone goes into a store and buys something. The amount of employment in Canada will depend more on the people's being willing and able to find and buy what they want, at prices which they like, than on any other factor in our economic life.

Factories can run only if the goods which they make are sold. Most of the goods are sold over the counter in small businesses throughout the country. Socialism, public ownership of utilities, new financial and monetary plans, are all matters which we shall probably be discussing forever, and they have little to do with the real business life of Canada. As long as we are going to have any liberty in Canada at all, this will not be something with which governments can interfere very much. It depends on the willingness of the people to buy, the money they have to spend, and what they think of the goods which are offered. The people of Canada want lots of goods, and, as a result of the war, a great many have lots of money. If you want to find out whether there will be full employment in Canada, you might ask the storekeepers if they are going to be able to buy goods the people want and sell them at prices which will capture the market.

THE AMERICANS...

The B.C.C. news broadcasts call them "Americans." Even our own Canadian war reporters call them "Americans." The difficulty is, what else is there to call the U.S. troops and the people of the U.S. but "Americans?" In deference to those who live south of the Mason and Dixon line, we don't like to call them "Yanks." "United Statesers" is too complicated, and, there are other United States among the United Nations. For many years we have contended hopefully against the name "Americans" but don't like arguing with our friends, and it seems we can't win anyway. From now on our great allies must be the "Americans."

NAZIS RUSHED FROM DIEPPE

Citizens of French Coast Town Happy at Liberation

By Maurice Desjardins
Canadian Press War Correspondent
DIEPPE, France, Oct. 11 (C) — Dieppe dialogue:
"Bravo, Tommy. You are a British soldier?"
"No, I am a Canadian."
"Then you speak French?"
"Very badly; I'd rather speak English."
"Was it very difficult for you to get to Dieppe?"
"It was a bit sticky, especially at Caen and Falaise. It was not very pleasant around there but we got through."

"You know we are happy to be liberated by Canadians. You paid us a brief visit in 1942."
"I know. I was here. And so were a few boys of my unit."
"It was tough that day, wasn't it?"
"I'll never forget it. By the way, are there any German snipers in Dieppe?"
"I don't think there are many. If there are, they are hiding. When they left they had no fight in them. You should have seen them riding a bicycle with two flat tires."
"Good, then we'll catch up with them. Will you have a Canadian cigaret?"
"Yes, thanks. It will be the first good cigaret I've smoked in four years. Only please give me something to light it because since a month it has been impossible to find a match in Dieppe."

"Here you are. I must go now."
"Au revoir and thank you. Not for the cigaret only but for having come here to liberate us. Vive le Canada."
"And vive la France."

AIYANSH MAN PASSES AWAY

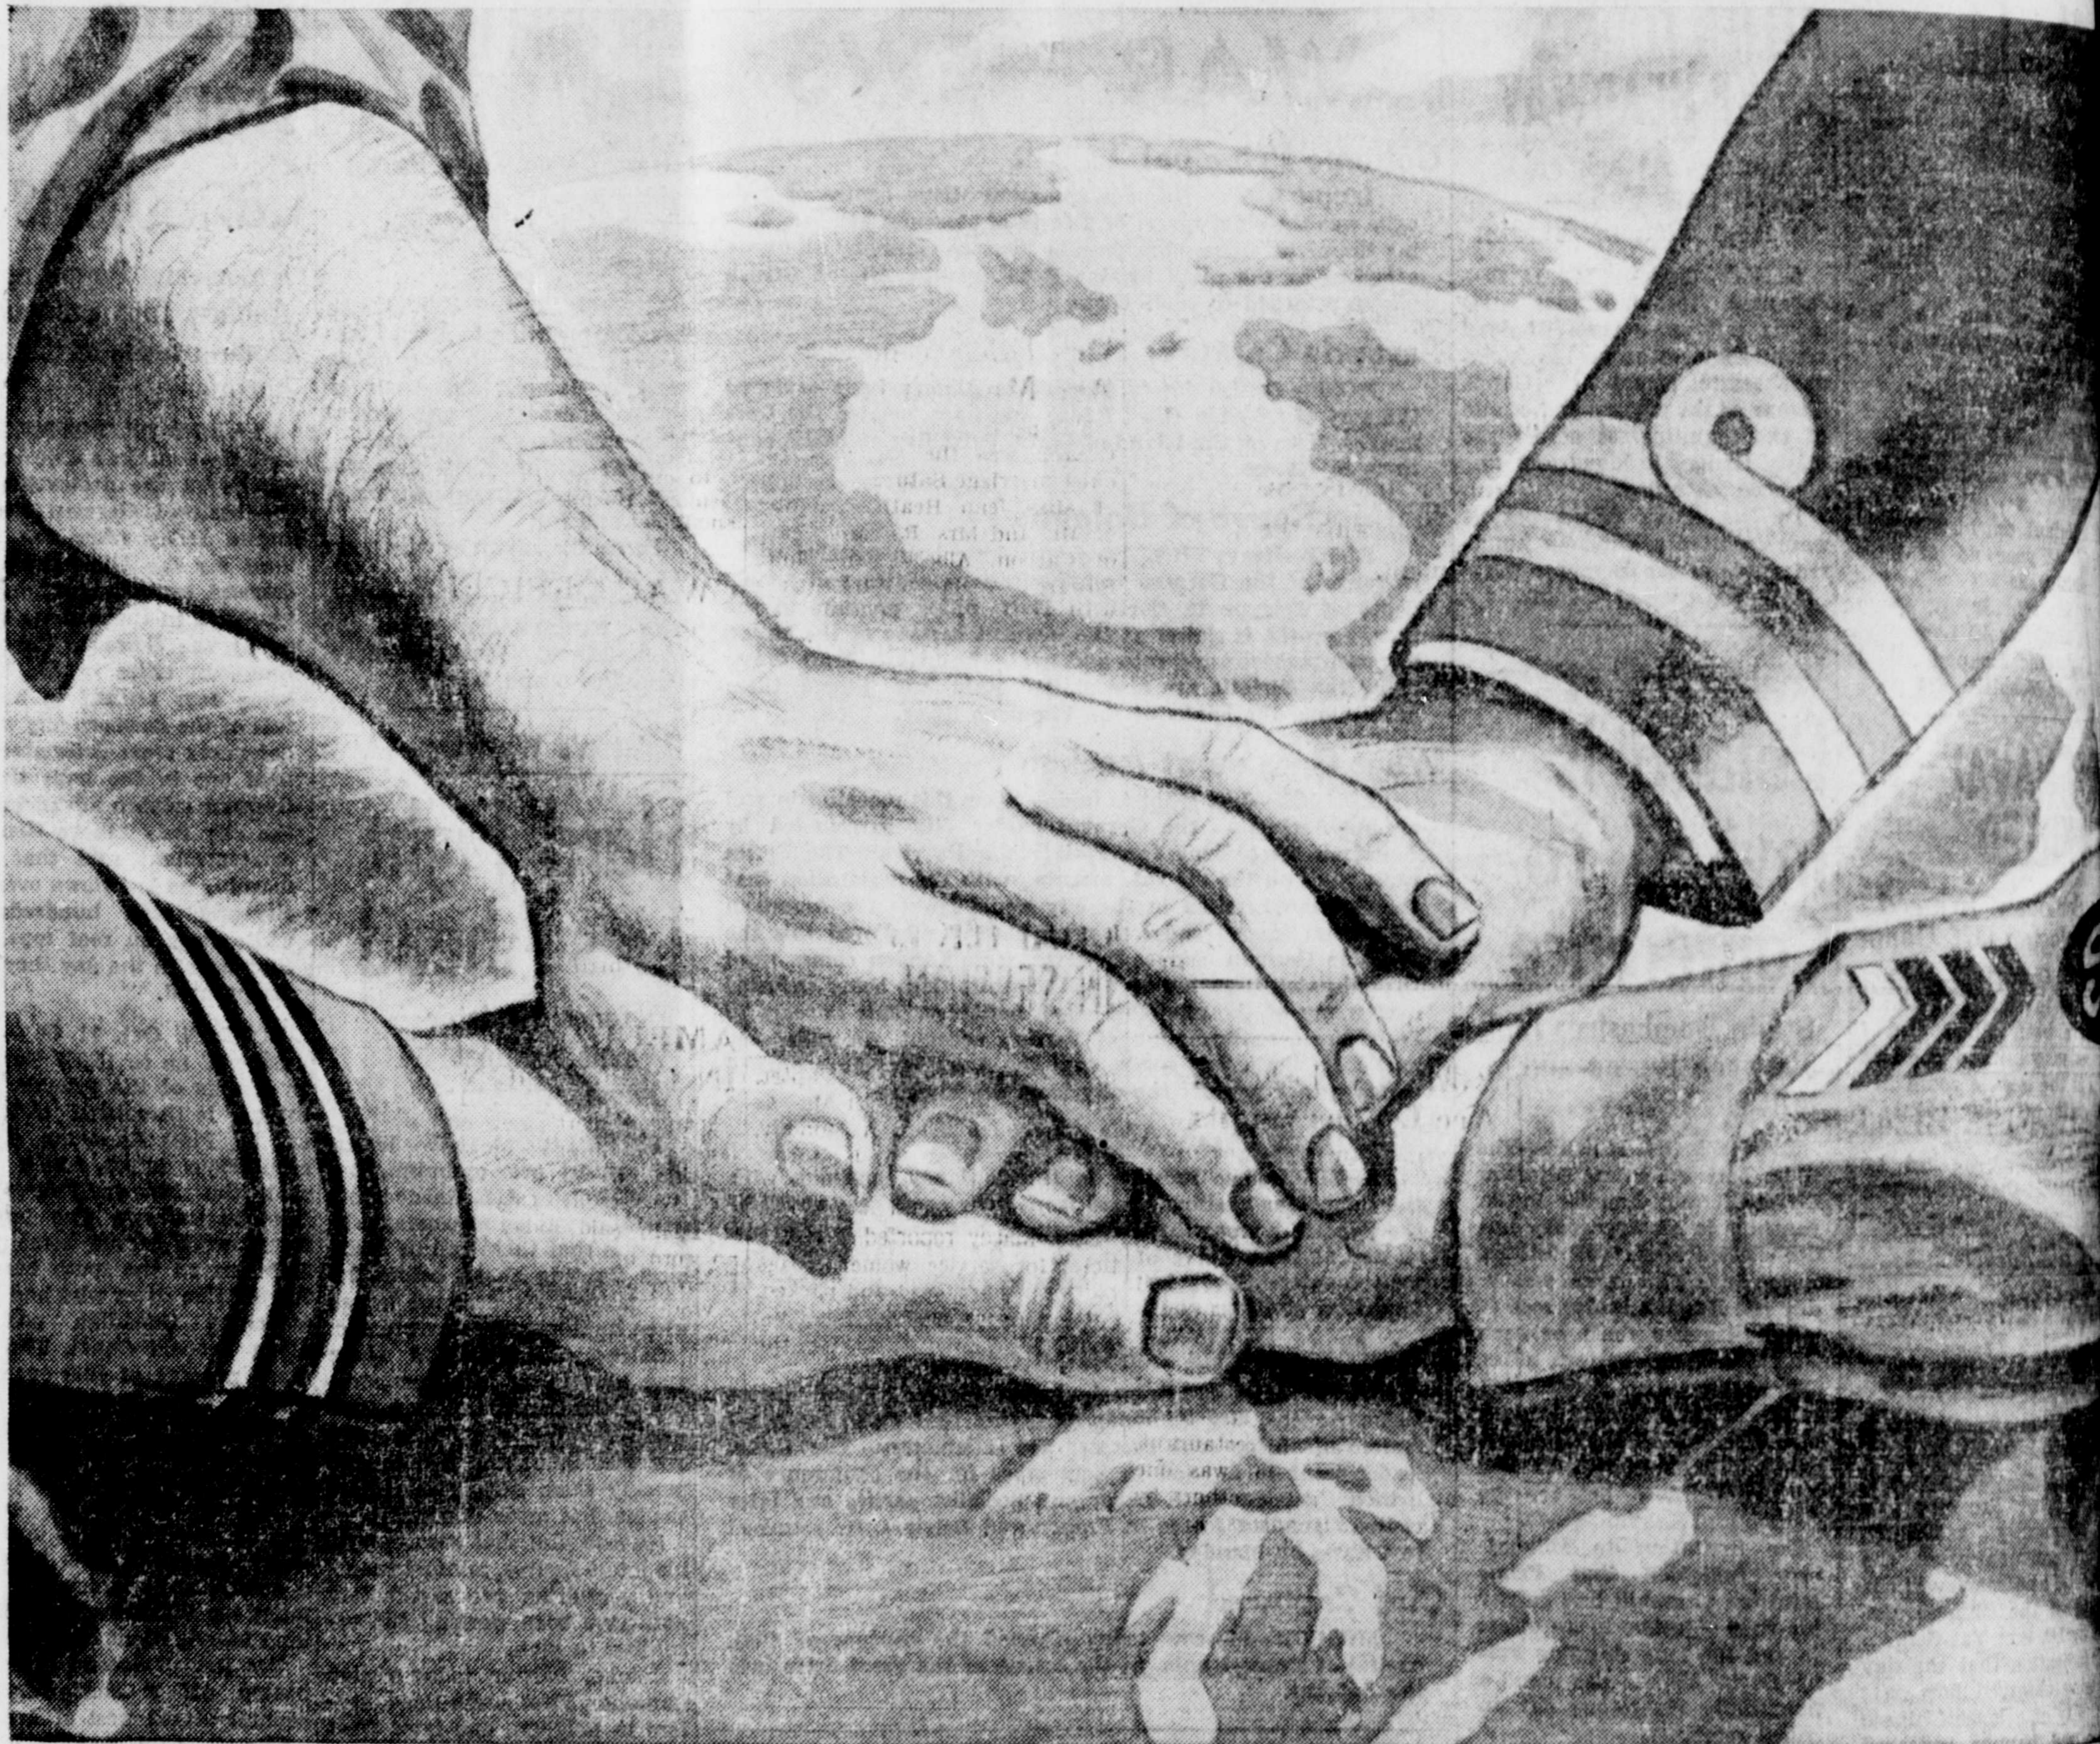

Steven Scodane Had Worked at Claxton Cannery From Early Days

AIYANSH, Oct. 11 (Special to Daily News)—One of Aiyansh's respected elder residents passed away on Monday evening in the person of Chief Steven Scodane. He was 78 years of age.
Well known all along the north coast, Mr. Scodane had been a faithful worker for the B. C. Packers for forty years. He worked at Claxton Cannery as a contractor for fishermen from the time of the late Peter Wallace. For over forty years deceased had been president of the Aiyansh Harmony Silver Band.

Mr. Scodane is survived by his widow and two daughters—Mrs. Anthony Adams and Mrs. Paul Mercer—and one son, Cedric Scodane.
Social Credit Candidate In Every Riding
VANCOUVER, Oct. 11 (C)—Hon. Solon Low, national leader of the Social Credit Association, said here that his party expects to have a candidate in every British Columbia constituency in the coming federal election. Low arrived in Vancouver on a speaking tour of the coast province.

ALL FOUR — Partners for VICTORY!

The men out there can't do it all alone!
Sure, the Navy can litter the bottom of every ocean with wrecked enemy subs... clear the sea-lanes... transport millions of fighting men to their landing points!

And sure, tough-trained Army lads can blast their way up beaches and smash miles inland—while the deadliest Air Force in the world blows the very heart out of Berlin!

But not without our help!

We're active partners for VICTORY! We're the Fourth Service!

It's our job to give them the stuff to fight with... and keep doggedly on giving it... till the last victorious gun is fired... and the last battle is won!

Yes, the Fourth Service must remain steadfast to the job... support to the full the fighting men of the Navy, Army and Air Force.

So let's be ready! Ready with our fighting dollars to back up our partners—for VICTORY! Lend all you can—in Victory Bonds. This time buy "one more than before"!

A Civilian Again — WHAT ABOUT A JOB? WHAT ABOUT SECURITY?

These are questions uppermost in the mind of every man and woman discharged from the forces. They want to know how to get a job. They want to know what protection there will be if they become ill, or if any other situation arises which cuts off their income.

JOB PLACEMENT POLICY

Special arrangements have been made for Canada's veterans who are seeking employment. Although they apply to all Canadians through Employment and Selective Service there is a special division to deal with the problems of ex-service men and women.

RETURN TO FORMER JOBS

As stated in a previous advertisement, if your boy or girl held a civilian position before enlisting and was not engaged to replace somebody already in the forces, and if the position still exists and your boy or girl is capable of filling it, it is the employer's duty under the law of Canada to reinstatement him or her in that position with seniority.

CIVIL SERVICE PREFERENCE

Under the law of Canada, every ex-service man or woman, with overseas service, or disability pensioners receive preference in civil service appointment if qualified for the position for which they apply.

TO ASSIST EMPLOYMENT

Parliament, at its last session, made provision for a new Department of Reconstruction, whose function is the co-ordination of measures for the provision of full employment in Canada. Much legislation has already been passed to bring this about, while a special committee has been sitting since March of 1942, hearing expert evidence on Canada's post-war needs. Industry, the provinces and municipalities are all making plans which will provide jobs in Canada.

SOCIAL SECURITY MEASURES

Under the re-establishment program, Canada's veterans are protected against casual illness or unemployment in the 18 months following discharge. Maintenance allowances up to $50 a charge. Maintenance allowances may be paid, for the month, if single, and $70 for a man and his wife, with children's allowances, may be paid, for the period of service to a maximum of one year, period of service to a maximum of one year, should either condition arise.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

Every veteran who enters insurable employment is entitled, after fifteen weeks in that employment, to unemployment insurance credits as payment, to unemployment insurance in the services, since July 1, 1941, had been spent in the insured employment.

VETERANS' LIFE INSURANCE

Canada's veterans, in most instances, may purchase life insurance, without medical examination, to a maximum of $10,000.

OTHER LEGISLATION

A new Housing Act has been passed, providing money at low interest rates, for home financing. Family allowances will distribute $200,000,000 a year.

Acts have been passed to maintain farm and fishery prices.

Consideration is being given, with provincial co-operation, to a wide program of National Health Insurance.

Veterans' welfare officers are stationed in key centres throughout Canada. They are the friends of ex-service men and women. It is their duty to advise and assist all ex-service men and women with their re-establishment problems. If there is anything about the rehabilitation programme which you do not understand consult your nearest welfare officer.
