WHAT PRICE SAVINGS?

The hopes and dreams of a lifetime, gone up in smoke! Wiped out in a few minutes before their very eyes!

And it's too late to start over!

That little house was the symbol of their dreams, the result of years of saving. Then came 1940 and the blitz. They were lucky, then. Others lost, but their home came through the merciless pounding of those terror-stricken months. They're not so lucky now. Their dream has been smashed by a robomb.

Maybe you're dreaming, too? Perhaps there's a growing balance in the bank, earmarked for a little home of your own. But, while you're waiting and working, are your dollars working, too? Are they working to put an end to a tyranny that is robbing millions of their dreams, their hopes, their lives?

The money you are putting by for your future can help now to bring peace to the world—help bring relief to those millions who have lived in peril for so long. Every dollar you invest in Canada's Seventh Victory Loan is doing double duty—giving you a stake in peacetime tomorrow, bringing Victory closer!

Don't hesitate! Put your savings into Victory Bonds!

On their way to Aiyansh, the Kitimat team paused at Port Simpson to administer a 69-29 defeat on the home team, then proceeded up the river where they walked over the Kitkatla team by a score of 71-13, and beat Greenville in the final game to the tune of 36-26.

Firm believers not only in speedy and aggressive style of play, but also in the strength of numbers, the Kitimat team was drawn from the following traveliers: John Shaw, Magnus Henry, Walter Bolton, Wilfred Wilson, Tommy Robinson, Harry Amos, Norman Stewart, Rod Bolton Andey Walker, Eli Grant, Fred Williams, Ed Smith, Len Bolton.

Guiding the destinies of the team were captain Gordon Robinson, coach Stanley Shaw, manager Charlie Williams, and committee managers Robert Smith. Alex Gray and Nelson Grant.
