Plane Crashes In Downtown Montreal

Twin-Engined Bomber Comes Down In City's Commercial District; Nine Killed; Building Is Wrecked

MONTREAL, April 25 (CP) — A twin-engined bomber crashed and exploded in Montreal's downtown commercial district today with toll of at least nine dead and one man in hospital with rescuers searching debris of wrecked buildings for possible other victims. More than a dozen buildings were wrecked, some of them partially destroyed by fire.

Some eye witnesses thought one wing of the plane broke off before it struck. The plane came in silently, its motor apparently either stalled or cut off.

Two victims were identified as Edgar Forget, killed in a building wrecked in the crash, and Philippe Lemieux, a constable patrolling his beat at the time of the crash and hit by the falling fuselage.

It was a four-motored Liberator bomber which plunged into a number of old brick buildings on Shannon Street Houses went down like cards and fires quickly broke out. The blowing up of a gas tank added to the picture of horror.

The bomber was operated by the Royal Air Force Transport Command and had just taken off for the United Kingdom.

The entire crew of five, the only persons on board, were among the killed.

WAR NEWS

GREATEST AIR ASSAULT CONTINUES

LONDON—Hundreds of Allied planes hammered at the Nazis today for the eleventh day of the massive skyway offensive, reaching in force into southern Germany after Royal Air Force and Royal Canadian Air Force night bombers, probably one thousand strong, had blasted industrial Munich, Karlsruhe and Dusseldorf. Thirty British planes were lost Monday night when main blows were aimed at factories in Karlsruhe and Munich.

Allied planes, numbering more than three thousand bombers and fighters, shot down more than one hundred Nazi planes and raked war industries of the Reich again yesterday with attacks from British and Italian bases. Friedrichshafen, Munich, Bucharest, Ploesti and Belgrade were the main targets in this greatest concentrated daylight operation of the war.

NAPLES IS BOMBED

NAPLES—Thirty to forty Nazi bombers struck at Naples on Monday night but the attack was not particularly damaging. One raider was shot down.

RUSSIANS STOP GERMANS

MOSCOW — The Russians have stopped a German attack northeast of Lwow which had succeeded in driving the Russians out of two localities, a Soviet communique said today.

FISH FLEET STILL TIED

SEATTLE, April 25 (CP) — The halibut fleet tie-up continued last night with indications that there was little likelihood of the Office of Production Administration raising the ceiling price at Seattle.

Fishermen and vessel owners conferred with O.P.A. representatives yesterday and were told that raising of the price would be a reversal of basic policy which would leave the door open to increases on every kind of fish.

Airborne Troops Harry Japanese

KANDY, April 25 (CP) — British airborne reinforcements landed more than 200 miles inside Burma, and the American air commando force joined thousands of other commandos in tearing the heart out of the enemy's central Burma supply system.

A British army spokesman in Ceylon said today that since the beginning of the Impahl push the Japs have lost at least 10,000 crack troops, and that their northern offensive arc around Impahl had been broken.

Jap Losses

WASHINGTON, April 25 — Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia in Washington on his way to a conference of Empire Prime Ministers in London, said yesterday that he estimates that Japanese losses in the Pacific since the start of the war have been between 100,000 and 115,000 men, 140 to 170 warships and 5,000 and 6,000 planes.

Jap Pincer Narrowing

CHUNGKING, April 25 (CP) — Japanese shock troops narrowed to less than 15 miles the gap between the two jaws of their pincer movement around the strategic city of Chenghsien.

Impressive Victory Loan Appeals Feature Launching Fine New Victory Ship

youngful-appearing Lieut. Col. R. E. Bricker, on active service in Britain during the days of the Great Blitz when the Motherland was the front line, also took part in the occupation of Kiska and Aleutians and who is now in command of a ship in the quiet of Prince Rupert, spoke from the launching platform of the new Victory ship Fort Aspin at the Local Dry Dock yesterday afternoon and exhorted Prince Rupert people, assembled in large numbers to witness the event, to spare nothing in the buying of Victory Bonds so as to support their fighting men abroad whose lot it had been or would be to face enemy forces which he had personally found were being backed by the best of supplies and equipment.

This was little enough for the people of Prince Rupert and Canada to do here where, apart from higher taxes and the calls to lend their money, there was little to remind them, as far as ease of living was concerned, that there was a war on.

Harold Ponder, veteran of the First Great War and father of a boy who has lost his life in this war, made an impressive appeal to his fellow industrial workers to support the loan to the limit of their resources without regard to interest or earnings for their money but with the thought only of their capacity to assist in financing the equipment, the food, the ships needed to support the fighting men abroad. "How can we even think of complaining about shortage of beer and liquor, the rationing of food, when we consider the hardships and sacrifices which others are making? Let nothing stand in the way of our purchasing bonds to the limit," urged Mr. Ponder.

Fight Due

Minister King Calls on Canadians to Support Victory Loan

OTTAWA, April 25 (CP) — In a Victory Loan appeal, Minister King called on Canadians that there were months of desperate fighting when the invasion of Europe was being fought. The fiercest fighting of this war has not yet seen, he said. No one could give himself that the war would end.

The Minister called upon Canadians to get behind the Victory Loan, the sailors, the air force, the army, the navy, the war was costing $100,000,000 a week and half of the cost of the war was being borne by the British people.

Things might seem a little better today than when the Victory Loan was floated, but the clouds still hung over us and, when it broke, it would be the fiercest fighting the world had ever seen.

GET IN MAY

OTTAWA, April 25 (CP) — Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of finance, today said he hoped to announce the budget shortly in the middle of May.

United States Election . . .

America is oiling up the most complicated election machinery in the world in preparation for the balloting in next November's presidential and congressional contests.

The method of choosing presidential candidates, and the voting system of the United States, dating back with few changes to 1787, baffles outsiders and remains a puzzle to many who use it every two or four years.

This is an attempt to describe it in capsule form.

The 435 members of the House of Representatives are elected for two-year terms. The 96 senators are elected for six-year terms so arranged that one-third of the total is elected every two years.

The president and vice-president are elected for four year terms. The constitution provides that there must be two United States senators from each state, elected by the whole state, and one or more representatives as the population decrees, most of them for electoral districts but some at-large where circumstances dictate.

The constitution also provides that elections be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November of the election year.

Thus, on November 7 next, the United States will elect a president, a vice-president, 435 representatives and 32 senators.

That is the federal picture. But the ballots will also have on them candidates for numerous state, county and municipal offices ranging from state governors down to minor local posts, according to the needs and customs of each state. The ballots are huge affairs but voting machines in urban centres reduce the work of the voters.

The presidential contest is the main attraction of this 48-ring circus but no names of presidential candidates appear on the ballots.

Each party nominating a presidential candidate must also name "Electors" who are members of the "electoral college." There is one elector for each congressional representative in each state—New York has the most with 47. The names of the "electors" are placed on the ballots.

Voters mark their ballots for the "electors" who are named by the party whose presidential nominee they wish to support.

Whichever party's "electors" get the majority of the votes in any state, those electors certify to the state secretary that their party's candidate is the choice for president. This is largely an age-old formality but it leaves the possibility of a candidate winning because he wins the states with the most electoral votes although trailing another candidate in the total vote cast throughout the nation.

But before the voting there is the long, tedious business of selecting presidential candidates.

There are only two parties likely to be in the picture this year, Republicans and Democrats. Their candidates for president will be selected at national conventions, the former opening June 19 and the latter July 26, both in Chicago.

Republicans will trust this selection to 1,059 accredited delegates, the Democrats 1,176.

Selection of the delegates is customarily by three methods, depending upon the state laws and party regulations — primary elections, state conventions and state committees.

In the primaries held by a number of states the delegates are voted upon after expressing their choice of candidate and the results indicate how that state delegation will vote at the convention.

State conventions and state committees may choose delegates who are pledged to support a certain candidate, or a series of choices in a certain order, or may be left free to decide their stand at the convention.

At the convention there is a free-for-all melee in which delegations who are free to do so swing from one candidate to another as they see no possibility of their first choice winning, or who are lured by eloquence to shift their support.

The vice-presidential candidate is nominally the choice of the party but in practice the party's presidential candidate has the say as to who will be his running mate. He is elected by the same vote that elects the president.

On Dec. 18 after the elections the "electors" meet, supposedly, those who got the most votes, and "elect" the president, certifying the election to the secretary of state who transmits the result to Congress.

At a joint sitting of both houses, presided over by the president of the Senate, on the following Jan. 6, two tellers each from the two houses examine the reports from the state secretaries and formally announce the results of the presidential and vice-presidential contest.

On Jan. 20, following, the president is formally inaugurated on Capitol Hill, sworn in by the chief justice, and takes up residence in the White House. The vice-president takes up his duties which consist almost exclusively of presiding over the United States Senate.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A.
(By DOROTHY GARBUTT)

And now after all my coaxing and pleading to get hostesses Lee Van Luven tells me that the Friday night dance at the Highway Camp is postponed until next Friday, May 5. He says he forgot to tell me earlier. That is why sometimes I go crazy on this job. However, tonight's dance is on at the Ack-Ack camp and cars will be at the "Y" for the hostesses.

Thanks to a combination of glorious weather and the primeval excitement of watching a ship being launched I had a most entertaining afternoon yesterday. As guest of Mrs. Cullin, who is matron of the women's section at the Dry Dock, I had the thrill of being taken all over the place before the launching. Seeing the women in their work clothes doing all those intricate machine jobs made me feel very small and inconsequential indeed as though I were playing at war. But on the other hand, don't let me ever catch anyone laughing at me in slacks again! Mrs. Cullin has a very nice office in the women's quarters—a two-storey house built for their convenience. Here we all repaired for tea after the launching. Mrs. Hardy, Miss Hardy, Mrs. Simpson and Leading Wren Adams. I overheard an amusing remark while we were sitting along the bandstand waiting for the notables to arrive. Someone asked why Mr. Allen and party hadn't arrived and some comic in the crowd replied: "He's gone out to launch." Well, anyhow, it made me laugh.

Looks like we're actually on our way to opening fairly soon. The painters are getting on right smart with their work. I wasn't sure at first that I liked the dusky rose tint of the walls but I'm getting used to it bit by bit. Perhaps once we get a touch of turquoise and a soupçon of scarlet in the color scheme it will bring out hidden depths. Perhaps.

Briefs From Britain

LONDON ©—The British automobile trade is holding its first motor show of the war this year. But it will be a show of miniature car models with no full-size cars of the future on display.

LONDON ©—The Ministry of Information has sponsored all kinds of shows since the war started. Its art show, to which members of the various departments have contributed nearly 150 paintings and drawings, was opened by Sir Cyril Radcliffe, director-general of the ministry.

Towards the Great Day—

In your mind's eye, yearningly, you picture it . . . that great Tomorrow when the papers headline "Victory" . . . when the church bells ring the glory of the news across the land . . . when the beating of glad and thankful hearts will be like an echo of marching feet, as our boys come home again.

What can you do to hasten the day? Put Victory First. Buy Victory Bonds . . . and then an extra Bond. It may mean scraping bottom on your budget, but remember . . . your extra Bond may be the one that tips the balance.

Yours may be the Bond that brings the sunrise . . . sooner than you dared to dream . . . on the day when Victory sends the boys back to Canada again . . . safe at last, and proud and smiling, as they swing down the road to home.

LOAN APPEALS

some revealing disclosures as to what had been found out about the Japs and their equipment on the occasion of the occupation of Kiska. "There is nothing shoddy or inferior about the equipment of the Japs. They are splendidly equipped fighters we found. The people at home are quite evidently backing their fighting men to the limit. At Kiska we wound their six-inch guns, ack-ack guns, machine guns all of good quality, good clothes and fine and abundant food, even a careful of candy—and good candy at that.

"Our men need your support," concluded Col. Bricker. "The more bonds we buy, the sooner we get our boys home. Therefore, I say to you—buy war bonds, win the war and get the boys back home."

HAROLD PONDER
URGES WORKERS

Worker, union man and veteran, Harold Ponder addressed his appeal more particularly to his associates in the building of ships. They might have been called greenhorns and farmers but they had done a good job in the building of ships. However, it was a job that was far from finished. "We must carry on as our boys are doing in Italy, in the Pacific, all over the world on land, sea and in the air. We must be prepared to justify by our actions their sacrifices in fighting and dying. If you realize your debt to them and your responsibility to the state, you will not think of interest or benefit of investment from bonds but only how much you can buy in order to finance the purchasing of ships, equipment, food—all so necessary in the support of the fighting forces. We have already suffered cruel blows, some of us in the loss of our loved ones, but we must be prepared to face more of them. We must back up the signatories of the Teheran Conference and the aims to which they agreed. Let nothing stand in the way of purchase of bonds to the limit! Let capital and labor unite! Let us all do our share so the world may the sooner know a new and better day, a peace that will be worthy of those who carry the torch today."

The launching itself went off with complete smoothness and precision. Never was there a more successful one. Hundreds of people witnessed it. The shipyard, thrown open to the public, was full of spectators as were the hills around the yard. Cheers rose, whistles blew, shore guns barked and a naval band played as the fine big cargo vessel slid squarely down the greased ways following the ceremony in which Rev. G. L. Douglas, naval padre, blessed the ship before Mrs. Neil MacDonaid, wife of a rigger, himself riding the vessel, christened the vessel with the traditional breaking of a bottle of wine against the receding bow. Bernard Allen, Dry Dock manager, directed the ceremonies and Mayor H. M. Daggett introduced the speakers. The Dry Dock male choir was in fine voice to sing the naval hymn as part of the proceedings.

Her Record For Bond Buying Is Very Consistent

When the Victory Loan office in the Besner Block opened its doors yesterday morning Mrs. Annette Wood was the first customer. She bought $10,000 worth of bonds, an amount similar to her initial purchase in the Fifth Loan.

"Mrs. Wood has always been very co-operative in buying Victory Bonds," a Victory Loan official commented. "Not only has she led the way in the last two loans but she has subscribed heavily in every loan since the beginning."

25 YEARS AGO

A committee of the city council headed by acting Mayor McRae arranged for a joint reception to be given in honor of Captain McGregor, V. C., of this city, and Lt. Col. C. W. Peck, V. C., who recently returned from overseas.

Theo Collart arrived in the city returning from overseas where he served with the Belgian army. Mr. Collart went back to Belgium in 1914, where he quickly won the rank of captain. He was wounded. When he returned from overseas he brought his wife from England.

Notice has been given in Ottawa that the Canadian Pacific Railway will apply for an act of parliament authorizing it to establish an aircraft service to points within and outside of Canada.

GLASGOW. — Margaret Rose Ure, 13, a Glasgow Girl Guide, was recently presented by the Princess Royal with the Silver Cross, highest award of the Girl Guides for gallantry. She saved her mother from being burned to death.

Mayor Takes Full Part

The start of the Sixth Victory Loan brought a busy week-end to Mayor H. M. Daggett, who fired the first heavy gun in the campaign by speaking over station CFPR Sunday night and who also took a prominent part in the launching ceremonies at the Dry Dock yesterday afternoon.

In his radio speech the mayor urged citizens of Prince Rupert to support to the limit of their capabilities the Sixth Victory Loan Drive.

Being introduced by Bernard Allen, Dry Dock manager, Mayor Daggett in turn introduced two speakers at the ceremony. They were Lt. Col. R. E. Bricker, an overseas veteran and veteran of the Aleutian campaign, who spoke on behalf of the Army, and Harold A. Ponder, Dry Dock plater, who spoke for the Dry Dock workers.

"I am glad to take part in anything that will help the sale of Victory Bonds," Mayor Daggett said.

WE'RE NOT THROUGH YET

PUT VICTORY FIRST

There is hard fighting—harder fighting ahead—than in all the previous years of the war. The sacrifices to be faced abroad and the self-denial at home must reach new peaks in the months to come.

It will not be enough to buy your regular amount of Victory Bonds. Buy extra bonds to match the extra effort we expect of our fighters.

ACTION IS COMING UP

Hernandez and Palmer Looking Good as Headliners for Boilermakers' Boxing Show

Judging from his appearance in work-outs on Acropolis Hill, Urban Hernandez of Hollywood is going to be a real handful for Phil Baker, the Canadian welter-weight king, when the pair meet up in the headline event of the boilermakers' boxing show at the staff dining hall on Saturday night of this week. Hernandez went through a ten-round work-out at the end of the week and really looks like a champ.

Palmer is well known to the fans on the hill for it was there that he knocked out Red Knox, the coastguardsman from Ketchikan, who dropped a close decision to Fritz Zivic.

Abe Liber, a fast-stepping lad from Fresno, should give Young Tommy Burns plenty to think about in the semi-windup.

A strong supporting card has been arranged with fighters from the Canadian Army and Navy, the United States Army and the Boilermakers' Athletic Club supplying the action.

Quebec Wins Allan Cup

QUEBEC, April 25 (AP)—Quebec Aces defeated Port Arthur Shipbuilders 9 to 6 last night to win the Allan Cup in three straight games. The Allan Cup is emblematic of Dominion amateur hockey championship.

RECORD FLOUR OUTPUT

Production of wheat flour in Canadian mills, for the 1942-43, crop year ended with the highest output on record, 23,549,707 barrels.

Labor-Progress Backing Loan

In a letter to the local Victory Loan committee, Bruce Mickleburgh, head of the Labor-Progressive Club, has given assurance that the club is solidly behind the drive, and will call on working people to back the invasion of Europe by buying bonds.

The letter states: "The Prince Rupert Labor-Progressive Club stands solidly behind the drive to put the Sixth Victory Loan away over the top in Prince Rupert."

"In particular we call on all working people to back the coming invasion of Europe by buying bonds. This will show our fighting boys that we are with them all the way as they plunge into the final battles to strike down the Hitlerites for all time.

"The war has been long and hard but the most decisive battles in the west are yet to come. We cannot afford to let complacency rob us of much that has gone before.

"Each Victory Bond bought helps speed the day when our boys will come back and we can unitedly tackle the job of building a world freed of tyranny, suppression and want as envisaged in the historic declaration of Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin at Teheran."

Ontario Man Passes Here

The death occurred at the place where he lived, Seventh Avenue and James Albert Clark, Mr. Clark was a Canadian-born man who had been employed by the United States Post Office at Port Edward.

Deceased is believed to have come to Prince Rupert from Windsor, Ontario, where he was employed by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and a descendant of a family believed to be a name of note.

HALF POPULATED Only half of Prince Rupert is populated.

SPORTS

There is joyful anticipation among the horse-loving people of Newmarket these days as spring comes into full breath and Derby Day nears because the legendary signs point to a Newmarket-trained winner of the great Derby this year. Those people who go strictly by the form sheet rather than legendary portents are not so sanguine in these hopes. But those who like a touch of the mystic in their racing have noted the green shoots of tulips and daffodils on the gypsy boy's grave just four miles out of town. That is enough for them.

Legend has it that when this grassy mound at the Kennel cross roads on the highway to Bury St. Edmunds produces blooms a horse trained at Newmarket will win the Derby. Furthermore, there have been many occasions when the forecast of the grave has lived up to local legend and beaten any readings of public form. Two years ago, it may be remembered, Big Game from Wiltshire was a hot favorite. The grave was a mass of blooms, however, and Newmarket folk—some of them at least—remained quite unperturbed by all the fancy flung at Big Game. Came racing day and their faith that bloomed on the gypsy's grave was justified for Lord Derby's Watling Street, a Newmarket horse, won the Derby. Last year there were no blooms. An Epsom horse, Straight Deal, won the race.

The story is that the grave is that of a shepherd boy who watched his sheep in this area a century and a half or so ago. One day a sheep was missing and, fearful of the consequences when his employer, a local farmer learned of this, he took his own life. As was the custom of the day when a man took his own life, the boy's body was carried to the cross roads and buried. Ever since it has shown signs of being cared for and some years it produces blooms some years it doesn't and some years Newmarket horses win the Derby and some years they don't. Nobody in Newmarket seems to know who cares for the grave. Always it is trim and neat. Gypsies generally are credited with this good work but nobody in the neighborhood, beyond claiming they do not look after the grave, can say for sure.

Airport Plan Prize Open To Empire

LONDON, April 25 (AP)—The British aviation magazine "Aeroplane" has offered a prize of $2,225, open to all British subjects, for the best design of an international airport for London.

Dominion entrants are sought in the belief, the announcement said, that such a layout would also be applicable to the air transport facilities of every major city in the Commonwealth.

The competition closes September 30. Persons interested in entering were asked to write or cable to the magazine for details.

Boy, am I broke

"I've just made a grand discovery . . . how to be happy though broke!

"You see, I have a son right in the thick of it. He's my only boy, and . . . well, never mind that.

"So when they asked me to buy Victory Bonds, I always came through . . . somehow . . . although it meant doing without some things until the war is over.

"But this time I figured I simply couldn't buy another bond. I just simply couldn't.

"And then I realized that about all a fellow gets out of life is what he thinks of himself. So I asked myself what kind of a man I'd really like to be? It was different from then on.

"Now I've arranged to buy more bonds than ever before out of my savings. And I've agreed with the Victory Loan salesman to pay for additional bonds through the monthly savings plan. And am I BROKE! And HAPPY!

"And you'll be happy, too, when you take every single dollar you can find and buy Victory Bonds. You'll be the kind of fellow you like to know!"

Dogs Smother In House Fire

A fire which badly damaged the interior of one of the rooms of the Home of Mrs. R. Parkinson, Market Place, and caused the death of two small household dog pets by suffocation, broke out at 11 o'clock on Saturday night.

The blaze had gutted the kitchen of the Parkinson house, behind the Court House, before the fire department were able to subdue it. The bodies of two small dogs, pets of Mrs. Parkinson, were found in the damaged building after the fire was put out. It is believed that they were suffocated by the smoke as their bodies were not scorched.

Cause of the fire is believed to have been faulty electric wiring. Extent of the damage to the building has not been determined.

ROMANCE IS COMPLICATED

Mystery and Romance in 'Whistling in Brooklyn' at Capitol

Romantic complications as well as a murder mystery tangle the adventures of Red Skelton in "Whistling in Brooklyn," showing this Wednesday and Thursday at the Capitol Theatre. Ann Rutherford and Jean Rogers are the girls who make life complicated for Red when a beautiful reporter appears on the scene to cover Red's marriage to Ann and decides to annex Red herself.

Red plays a radio actor who solves the most unbreakable crimes under the title of "The Fox." Just as he and his pretty sweetheart and assistant, Ann Rutherford, are leaving for their honeymoon, detectives appear on the scene with instructions to pick up Red. He is wanted by the police on the strength of a tip sent in by "Rags" Ragland, Red's self-appointed publicity agent who is long on ideas but short on brains, that he is the "Constant Reader," a desperate criminal wanted for murder.

Red eludes them thinking they are joking and then the real criminals step into the picture. Their object is to get Red out of the way permanently in order that the case may be forgotten. Red determines to get to the bottom of the mystery and goes to work. He uncovers vital evidence and after a series of hilarious adventures succeeds in rounding up the criminals single-handed and ends up a hero in Ann's arms.

HE'S WHISTLING AGAIN Red SKELTON

FLOWERS IN VICTORY GARDEN

There Are So Many Different Marigolds, an Entire Planting Could Be Made of Them.

Borders of annual flowers around a Victory garden or along its paths will make the vegetable plot an attractive garden picture and help blend it in a pleasing manner with the general landscape planting.

The annuals best suited for combining with vegetables are those which grow upright and bear flowers on long stems. They can be sown in rows and cultivated in the same manner as the vegetable crops; and will respond with surprising vigor.

These are also the flowers which are best for cutting, so besides decorating the Victory garden they provide a constant supply of blossoms with which to decorate the dinner table, or to fill vases around the house. The more annual flowers are cut, the more they bloom.

Zinnias and marigolds may be said to lead the list of flowers suitable for Victory garden rows and there are so many varieties of these, differing in color, size and form, that an entire planting could be made of them.

Asters, sown directly in the garden, and thinned out to give them plenty of room, will give a late summer and fall crop of beauty. Calendulas, calliopsis (annual coreopsis), bachelor buttons (centaurea), of red, white, blue and pink, sweet
