Churchill Speaks - Does Not See Early War End

Winston Churchill - Takes Lead Toward Extending Life of Parliament

London, Oct. 31 - Prime Minister Winston Churchill took the lead today in steering the House of Commons to extend the life of the present Parliament for another year and end immediate prospects of a wartime election in England.

Churchill said that Britain's wartime coalition government should not be broken because Nazism is defeated.

Churchill told the House of Commons today that Germany's fate may not come before the summer and that it might be at least 18 months after the start to beat Japan.

Churchill held some hope of political conditions in Germany which might bring the war to a speedy end at any time.

Churchill touched briefly on military operations.

Charming War-time IS DESCRIBED BY BRITISH MEDICAL WOMAN

Local Women's Canadian Club Hears Fine Address - Graphic and Good-humored

Vivid word picture and charming good humor enriched one of the finest addresses the Women's Canadian Club has had in many a day when Dr. Winifred Cullis, M.B.E., noted English medical woman and university professor, spoke last night in First Presbyterian Church on the subject of "Britain in Wartime."

Experiences and impressions were graphically related by the charming speaker who held her audience in rapt attention with her inspiring account of how the people of Britain had weathered the full impact of war and, with the end not yet, were still imbued with the same courage, energy and endurance which had so far brought them safely through.

Dr. Cullis described the blackout as "a most tiresome thing" and said its removal would be "a most happy thing."

Incidents in blackout were recalled by Dr. Cullis in the cheerful vein, which characterized her address throughout.

Food rationing had been carried out with remarkable success. While there was scarcity of some of the things to which Britons had become used, nevertheless they had been adequately fed and the essentials had been provided.

Dr. Cullis' description of life in the shelters was highly interesting. In these shelters had been built up a "tremendous amount of community life."

Several amusing incidents were recounted such as the Cockney woman who had prayed that, if the fliers overhead were "our boys, God bless them but, if they are Jerries, to hell with them."

Dr. Cullis started at the beginning in 1939 and described the original dispersal of population from London which it had been expected would be the target of intensive bombing attack, this, however, having not materialized until 1940.

She compared the first mass evacuation in 1939 with that of the present year when the robot bomb attacks had commenced.

Cologne Hard Hit - No Respite In Bombing Of Germany

Spectacular and Devastating Raids

LONDON, Oct. 31 - The great German industrial city of Cologne was last night struck for the sixth time within two days by the Royal Air Force and the Royal Canadian Air Force with great bombing attacks. Hundreds of planes found the city still in flames from the previous attacks.

Since the week-end 20,000 tons of bombs have been dropped on Cologne. Berlin was also a target last night.

At least 3,500 Allied planes staged spectacular raids on Germany over the week-end and yesterday and last night the record-breaking assaults were continuing in full swing.

Royal Air Force mosquitoes over the week-end knocked out at least 14 trains and left several others burning.

From more than a dozen operations by British, American and Canadian planes during the week-end, fewer than 15 bombers and fighters were missing.

The German battleship Tirpitz was hit by at least one 12,000-ton bomb as it was caught trying to sneak from Norway to Kiel.

DeGaulle Decree in Regard to Arms Meets With Opposition

PARIS, Oct. 31 - Predictions of nation-wide demonstrations were accented yesterday as an incipient crisis was precipitated by the DeGaulle government's action in forbidding everyone except the regular army and police to bear arms.

The order, apparently, directed at communist partizan elements who have defied the government's authority, particularly in southern France, met with instant opposition from the influential national resistance council, brains of the French underground during the German occupation period, but the DeGaulle delegation insisted at a conference that the decree be respected.

CONVENTION OF CO-OPERATIVES IS COMING HERE

As many as sixty delegates from various parts of British Columbia and possibly from other provinces may visit Prince Rupert November 15 when a convention of the co-operative movement is to be held here.

The convention, plans for which are now nearing completion, will be held in the Oddfellows' Hall. The general co-operative convention will be followed by a session of fishermen's co-operatives with delegates from the Queen Charlotte Islands, West Coast of Vancouver Island and Vancouver.

Otherwise there was little but patrol activity from Aachen to the Swiss border.

The German stand in the southwestern Lowlands was cut into four dwindling pockets yesterday and the Germans south of the Meuse were disengaged under concentrated air attack and the drive of British and Canadian armies racing to the Moerdijk escape bridge only six miles away. The four pockets were south of the Meuse where the chief resistance centre of Breda had been taken.

Hallowe'en . . .

Cupid will step out of his Valentine setting today to take part in the nocturnal shenanigans of a 1944 Hallowe'en.

With a war-dampener on such pranks as carrying off the back door steps and unhinging the garden gate, ancient Hallowe'en customs on the supernatural and romantic side are being revived at house parties and community celebrations in Canada to take the place of harem-scarum activities in pre-war years.

Some of the superstitions in which Cupid has a long-forgotten part date back hundreds of years. The modern miss who stands before a mirror to-night by candle light, munching an apple and brushing her hair, will, if stories of great-grandmother's day hold true, catch a glimpse of her future husband. The party-goer with an eye for her future mate, may observe another century-old ceremony by tossing a ball of blue yarn out the window, one end wound about her hand. The wind will sigh her lover's name, so the tale goes, and the mysterious male in question will catch the other end of the yarn.

A blind-folded youth standing before three bowls—one filled with clear water, one with dirty water, and a third empty—may learn something about his future wife. If he touches the clear water his wife will be a maid, the dirty water signifies marriage to a widow and the empty dish means he will be a bachelor.

Traditions of romance, however, had little to do with the Hallowe'en of the Ancients. Early Christians set aside dates to venerate every martyr for Christ and these days later were grouped in one festival—Hallowmas or All Saints' Day—celebrated after the 8th century on November 1.

Celebrants kept vigil on the night before the festival and Oct. 31 thus became known on the church calendar as the Vigil of All Saints' Day.

The Irish Druids kept a separate festival on the night of Oct. 31, when they believed Saman, Lord of Death ordered wicked souls to come forth. Christians keeping vigil gradually accepted this idea that witches and ghosts roamed the world on Hallowmas Eve and began lighting fires and making hideous masks to scare them away.

The youngsters continue to observe this original custom despite the war. Disguised as ghosts and witches, complete with masks and a banshee wail, they roam the streets with shrill cries of "shell out" to storekeepers and housefolk.

Meeting a Real Need . . .

The establishment of a sanitarium for the treatment of tuberculosis and venereal disease among the Indians in this district is near accomplishment with the announcement by Ottawa that the Department of Indian Affairs is taking over for that purpose that large hospital at Miller Bay on the other side of Kaien Island which was built for the Royal Canadian Air Force but which, owing to the changed tide of war in the Pacific, was not needed.

The decision of the Department to establish the Indian hospital here is in line with a new policy of ministering to the health of and providing hospitalization for the Indians.

The Miller Bay hospital is a commodious establishment and its use as an institution of this kind will relieve the pressure on existing hospitals in the district as well as centralize efficient and up-to-date treatment for maladies which have constituted a real problem.

A really efficient hospital for the Indians in this district has long been needed and it is gratifying that the department is recognizing that need with appropriate action.

LOCAL UNION HEAD RETURNS

Paddy Stanton Tells of Proceedings at Quebec; East is Still Booming

G. S. Stanton, president of the local Boilermakers' Union, has returned to the city from Quebec where he attended the annual convention of the Canadian Congress of Labor.

Mr. Stanton reports that principles of resolutions originating from the local Boilermakers' Union, including one approving social ownership, were endorsed by the Quebec convention.

The convention declined to commit itself to the "non strike" pledge during the war but did not undertake to do all possible towards avoiding strikes, the final decisions to be left to unions concerned.

There were 499 delegates at the convention which made its headquarters at Chateau Laurier and lasted for five days. There were many prominent speakers including Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, federal minister of labor, Hon. Louis St. Laurent, federal minister of justice, and Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec.

A. R. Mosher was re-elected president of the Canadian Congress of Labor and Toronto was chosen for the next convention.

"Things were still booming in the East," said Mr. Stanton. There is not letup in shipbuilding on the eastern coast. While the local labor leader was in Quebec a call came from Halifax for 700 men for shipbuilding yards in Halifax where freighters and destroyers are being built.

Smithers Division Or Dry Dock May Win Devenish Cup

In the Canadian National Railways Victory Loan campaign there is a strong probability that either the Smithers division or the Prince Rupert Dry Dock may win the Devenish cup, an award presented during every Victory Loan campaign by W. R. Devenish, vice-president, C.N.R. western lines, to the division which leads in the purchase of Victory Bonds in the western district.

At present the Smithers division is leading, with the dry dock following by a close margin.

Enthusiastic Cubs

Brownies

On Saturday afternoon the east end Brownies met at Conrad Street School under the direction of Miss Betty Laurie. This pack although newly formed, had made vast strides. Last Saturday saw several of the girls in full uniform.

Bridge Club

Saturday night saw the East End Bridge Club once again active in the Community Club House. All the regulars were on hand, plus several new faces. First prizes were won by ladies this week, Mrs. S. Craig making high score followed by Mrs. J. Jerome, second. Refreshments were served around midnight.

Old Time Dance Club

Saturday night the Conrad Street School fairly rocked with

Scottish music as the Old Time Dance Club held its first meeting of the season. Officers were elected as follows:

Chairman, Bill Davidson. Secretary, Bill McKenzie. Treasurer, Jack Davidson.

A good crowd was on hand and there was no cause to coax the couples to take part in the various quadrilles, reels and old time waltzes. Refreshments were served after which the crowd danced until midnight.

C.W.A.C. Pipe Band Plays on Streets

The visiting Canadian Women's Army Corps Pipe Band braved the rainstorm yesterday in the downtown business section. Those on streets were appreciative of the excellent and novel music which the smart girls played. Finally, they stopped up under a marquee in front of recruiting headquarters to finish the program. The band left last night for Vancouver to conclude in Southern British Columbia their second trans-Canada tour.

Men who think of tomorrow
Invest in Victory today!

ONE day the whistles will blow, sirens shriek and bells will ring. It will be a day of rejoicing and a day of thanksgiving. We will have won our war.

Yes, we will win this war. We know that now. But the enemy has not yet surrendered nor has the fighting ceased. Canada's sons must continue to wage war on battlefields the world over. Here at home we, too, must carry on: building the ships and planes, making the guns and shells, producing the food on which our fighting men depend. And, we must continue to help pay for all these things through our purchase of Victory Bonds.

When V day dawns, when our boys come home, we all want to be able to hold our heads high—be able to say, "I did all I could."

Are you buying all the Victory Bonds you can? When we lend our money today we hasten tomorrow's victory.

BRITAIN IN WARTIME

them" and another woman who, on being rescued from bomb wreckage and asked where her husband was, replied: "He ain't here, he's enlisted, the bloody coward."

Telling of the Battle of Britain, Dr. Cullis alluded to the great work that women had done, assuming all the tasks that men were doing in civilian defence, in the industries and in the forces.

Not only to the actual women war workers but also to the housewives of Britain was a great debt of gratitude owed for they had put up with many trying things—the blackout, the rationing, the cueing, the billeting, the losing of their homes.

More difficult than the food rationing, declared Dr. Cullis, had been the clothes rationing and particularly so was this for children. In this connection, the speaker spoke in deep gratitude for the clothing that had been sent in such generous measure by the people of Canada and the United States. Such things as the Kinsmen's Club milk contributions would never be forgotten.

Dr. Cullis mentioned the heavy income tax which had levelled the fortunes until today there were only 70 persons in Britain still having an income of over $25,000 per year.

The speaker referred to the "lend-lease" arrangement between Great Britain and the United States, emphasizing that this was a reciprocal plan which worked both ways—a pooling of resources so they might be most efficiently distributed and used. There should be no delusion about "lend-lease" being exclusively for the benefit of Great Britain at the expense of United States. Important contributions had been made by Britain and not the least of these were scientific measures of defence.

"Do, please," urged Dr. Cullis, "support your scientists who will have a big job in a constructive war in the peace to follow."

Dr. Cullis described experiences under robot bombs which came overhead like an express train, then going silent for the tense period before they landed. Anti-aircraft guns, barrage balloons and fighter planes had played their part in meeting and subduing the robot bomb menace.

"London is so dirty these days, even though the debris of bombing has been largely cleared away," commented the speaker. "We are all looking forward to the day when her face will get a good washing."

The speaker said there was in Britain today a growing tendency toward religion. A sign of this was the great value which the Army attached to the padres.

Dr. Cullis was accorded a rousing round of applause at the conclusion of her address and a vote of thanks was tendered on motion of Mrs. A. L. Holtby.

Mrs. J. A. Rutherford played the piano accompaniment for "O Canada" and "God Save the King."

We

We sit at home where it's nice and safe while our young men face death hourly. They fight with their blood, their lives, for every inch they gain in occupied countries. Not very fair, is it?

So how about squaring up the score a bit? How about doing without and making do with what we have to back them with every last dollar.

Let's turn our savings into Victory Bonds today; then buy an extra bond and pay for it by instalments every pay day. It's little enough to do— as we sit at home!

Widower Laments Social Security

LONDON, Oct. 31 (C) — You can't please all the people all the time—and Britain's new social security plan is no exception. In a letter to a London paper a widower "on the shady side of 60," told how he was all set to marry a young widow who "didn't pretend to be violently in love" but was marrying him for $2,500 cash and $20 weekly. "But now," complains the man, "along comes the social security plan—if worst comes to worst she would never starve—so the marriage is off."

BLOOMS GO TO VICTORIA

"Roses from Prince Rupert to Victoria" may sound in reverse but it is being done. Mrs. C. J. Norrington of Seal Cove is able this week to pick a beautiful bouquet from her garden to present to a friend who is returning to Victoria after a visit here. The exceedingly mild fall here is promoting unusual growth in many Prince Rupert gardens including some of the roses which usually bloom but once repeating. The weeds are also thriving and dandelions are to be seen in unweelcome second bloom on some lawns.

350 New Names On Voters' List; May Total 2,000

About 350 new names were added to the 1944 civic voters' list up to last night and it is expected at the city hall that the number will reach 375 before the registration period closes at 5 o'clock tonight.

Yesterday 50 citizens placed their names on the list, half of them taking advantage of the two hour period from 7 to 9 o'clock in the evening when the City Clerk's office was open for the purpose.

A deepening recognition of their responsibilities as indicated by the fact that 16 people have paid their $5 poll tax in order to have their names placed on the voters' list. On the basis of the increase of registrations, it is estimated that there will be about 2,000 names on this year's voters' list.

Old Time Pitcher Scoffs at Lay-off

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 31 (P)—Lewis (Kasi) McAllister, who once pitched six games in seven days and won them all, scoffs at present day hurlers who have to rest several days before they can work again.

He recalled that in 1895 Dallas won the first half of the Texas League and Fort Worth the last half and they played a 12-game series to determine the winner. "I can't understand a pitcher having to rest five days before he can pitch again. Why those six games didn't bother me a bit. They just kept my arm in good shape."

McAllister broke in organized baseball with Fort Worth in 1895 and went to Cleveland.

McLean believes Americans take their golf more seriously than the British, trying harder to improve their game. Golf being his life, he thoroughly agrees with that attitude.

Probably the most remarkable performance in the history of the world-famous Grand National steeplechase was recalled with the recent death of famed race horse trainer, Capt. Percy Whitaker, at the age of 74. He nearly won the Grand National on a horse with one lung. The mount was The Lawyer III, which he not only rode, but also owned and trained. The Lawyer finished third to the 66-1 shot Rubbo in 1908. The horse dropped dead shortly after completing the gruelling course and examination revealed the animal had only one lung. It was the ambition of Whitaker's life to train and ride a Grand National winner. He continued to try until he was 50 but never succeeded in his nine attempts. The closest he came was with The Lawyer. His final attempts were made on Arravale which failed in 1922 when he jumped on a dead horse at the fence before Becher's Brook. For the following two years Arravale balked at the same fence.

Britain's Amateur Boxing Association revealed that during a championship program at London's Selhurst Park a flying bomb passed almost directly over the ring amid the heavy anti-aircraft barrage. Boxers, referee and judges carried on. The crowd rushed from the grandstand to get a better view of the buzz-bomb—then a novelty.

Grey-haired W. J. Hobbs celebrated his 70th birthday by swimming six times across Torquay harbor—a distance of 750 yards—in water temperature that could be compared to that of Lake Ontario on a chilly September day. In his younger days Hobbs won more than 100 swims, including the Australian three-mile race in 1903, and trained

Bottle Wouldn't Break, Ship Almost Went Unchristened

Workmen at the Prince Rupert Dry Dock paused for a few minutes at 1 o'clock Monday to witness the launching of the twelfth ship built by the yard, then with a half-unbelieving stare at the huge empty space where once a ship had stood, they went back to their jobs.

Their latest ship, the 10,000-ton S.S. Fort Simcoe, had gone down the ways slowly and was impelled only a few hundred yards out into the harbor by the force of her slide.

She almost went to the sea unchristened. The beribboned bottle of wine failed to smash against the steel bow when her sponsor, Mrs. J. A. Stewart, threw it. Mr. Stewart, superintendent of building berths, quickly grabbed the dangling bottle and again placed it in his wife's hand. The ship was in motion when Mrs. Stewart threw it again. This time it smashed.

During the ceremony invocations for the safety of the ship were read by the Rev. E. W. Scott of St. Peter's Church, Seal Cove.

Mrs. Stewart, who represented the office and supervisory department, was accompanied by Miss Evelyn Macdonald of the office staff. She carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums and yellow tulips.

At the conclusion of the ceremony Mrs. Stewart was presented with a silver cream and sugar set by T. J. Boulter on behalf of the office and supervisory staff and a silver salver from the yard management.

The Fort Simcoe was warped over to the fitting out berth, where work on the hull will continue.

SCHOOL DANCE HAPPY AFFAIR

Sponsored by the popular Modern Dancing Club, a well-attended hard times party last Friday night provided an enjoyable evening of wholesome recreation for about 75 high school students.

The members of the club came to the Conrad Street School dressed in clothes covered with ragged patches of amazing variety of color and size.

Charlie Currie, the master of ceremonies for the evening, started things off, and, after a short period of dancing, announced contest prize-winners as follows:

Spot dance—First, Bruce Mill and Viv Elliot; second, Jim Comer and Ethelne McKinnon.

Best waltzers — Irene Kildal and Cliff Knutson, and Jim Comer and Katie Didrickson.

Best costume—Robert (Dusty) Elliott.

After a few more dances, the refreshments, in the form of cake, cookies and sandwiches which were provided by the girls, and the cokes, provided by the boys, were served and everyone ate to his or her utmost capacity.

The highly successful evening's activities ceased after volunteers had been received to clean up. Judging by the excited buzz of chatter as the members left in groups, everyone evidently had a thoroughly enjoyable time.
