Great Resources Of This District Need Capital Application

E. T. Kenney Makes Able Speech in Legislature—Advocates Hazelton Road North—Champions Free Enterprise.

VICTORIA, Feb. 16 (Special to Daily News)—Prediction that Prince Rupert would be the second largest city in the province in ten years was made in the Legislature Tuesday by E. T. Kenney, Liberal coalitionist member for Skeena, while speaking in the Throne Speech debate. Prince Rupert is the fourth largest city in the province now, declared Mr. Kenney, and, if the vast development of the north country during the past two years continues, it may well pass Victoria in population in another decade.

Vigorous advocacy of development of British Columbia's great store of natural resources contiguous to the Grand Trunk Pacific branch of the Canadian National Railway was made by Mr. Kenney. He urged that the department of trade and industry adopt a more aggressive attitude towards interesting capital in the development of those rich resources.

Mr. Kenney pointed out the handicaps that at present confronted construction and development in the area stretching eastward from Prince Rupert. As for materials, such as cement, lime and bricks, he pointed out, there were great deposits of rock, going high calcium content, from which cement and lime could be made. One deposit that extended for three and one half miles with a width of half a mile, was close to railway transportation and to undeveloped water powers. Similarly, there were great deposits of clay which the dominion laboratories had declared to be admirable for the making of bricks.

Mr. Kenney also spoke of the value of constructing the road to Alaska from Hazelton, opening the great Groundhog basin of anthracite coal, equal in quality to that of Pennsylvania. The coast route for a road, he said, would open vast resources.

Mr. Kenney said that a north-south highway was necessary to open up the northland and, in urging the route north from Hazelton to the Nass River Valley, said there were half a million acres of rich agricultural land and the vast Groundhog coal deposits in the area.

CONDUCTOR IS BADLY HURT

Painful Accident Befalls George Raymond of Smithers.

SMITHERS, Feb. 16.—George A. Raymond, well known Canadian National Railway conductor of Smithers and long time resident of this town, met with a painful accident at the farm of John Hynes in the Driftwood District on Saturday afternoon. He had driven out to the farm to bring home a horse and, while getting the horse, a number of horses started galloping around, stampeding a team hitched to a sleigh. As Mr. Raymond grabbed the lines of the runaway team in an effort to stop them he was thrown against the front bumper of his car and jammed by the passing sleigh. Both bones of his lower left leg were very badly fractured. He was given early medical attention and was placed on the early morning train on Sunday and went to Vancouver.

Mr. Raymond is one of the veteran conductors on the C.N.R. and is also one of the oldest residents of Smithers, having lived here since the trains first started running through here. He is well known and popular with the travelling public between Prince Rupert and Prince George.

His many friends are very sorry to hear of his accident and hope that he will not suffer any permanent effects from it.

Prince Rupert Labor Council Elects New Officers

A decision to participate in the movement to make all Labor in Prince Rupert union conscious was endorsed by a meeting of the Prince Rupert Labor Council held in the Boltermakers' rooms last night. During the discussion it was decided to encourage representation on the Labor Council of any Canadian Congress of Labor unions not already represented.

Government Criticized

Would Have Lightened Tax Burden If in Office — Alaska Highway Benefits Canada.

VICTORIA, Feb. 16. (AP)—T. D. Pattullo, Liberal member for Prince Rupert, voiced a mild attack on the coalition government's policies while speaking in the Throne Speech debate on Monday. Mr. Pattullo contended that the Throne Speech was merely a return to the old order with more jobs for Conservatives.

Measures to lighten the tax burden had been Liberal policy for many years. Before he left office he had asked that $450,000 be inserted in the budget to lighten the cost of education but it was eliminated.

The former Premier told of opposition to his efforts several years ago to have the Yukon Territory and the MacKenzie basin added to British Columbia. Eastern and British Columbia interests had blocked the proposals. The result was that Edmonton had outsmarted Vancouver and the Alaska Highway would benefit Alberta.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN ITALY, Feb. 16.—"We are winning the second round" and "there is basis for pessimistic rubbish," were comments today of General Sir Harold Alexander after an inspection of the Anzio-Netuno beachhead campaign.

WILL ASK FOR SURVEY

While accepting the decision of the provincial government to proceed with the project of a Peace River highway outlet route northward from Prince George at this time, the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce looking to the future, at its meeting Monday night decided, on recommendation of the highway committee, to strongly urge that a survey be undertaken without delay of the Hazelton-Telegraph Creek-Whitehorse route more particularly with a view to determining once and for all snow conditions in the Bell-Irving and Naas River sections.

S. E. Parker, chairman of the highway committee, said that, while a route via Finlay Forks and the north side of the Peace might be more advantageous to Prince Rupert there had been advocacy here in the past of the Prince George - Pine Pass route so it would seem inappropriate to precipitate a war on the subject at this time.

Prince Rupert And the "Y"

(Being a series in installments by Mrs. Dorothy Garbutt, The Hostess Here)

(Installment No. 3)

Another problem was to organize our Junior and Senior Hostesses. The Hostess House Committee set about this by drawing up lists of suitable names, and phoning these ladies. In this way we very soon had about one hundred junior hostesses and eighty seniors. The juniors were given pass cards after they had satisfied us as to their references. Their duty it was to attend the service unit dances and especially the weekly "Y" dance which we held for the first year at the Hut and now hold in the Empress which is given over entirely to dances and movies. The Senior Hostesses acted as chaperones to these dances. For unit dances the women and girls meet at the "Y" and are taken out in army trucks. They are taken home to their own districts although not always to their own doors as that would involve a great deal of time and rationed gas.

An Able Advocate . . .

E. T. Kenney, member for the neighboring constituency of Skeena, is becoming quite well known as a persistent advocate of the interests of this part of the province. Able speaker and sound logician, he has during the several years now that he has been in public life earned respect and attention both for himself and the northern part of the province. It was another valuable and constructive contribution to the Throne Speech which he gave in the Legislature yesterday, taking occasion, as he always does, to comprehensively present a case for his district and to preach his economic doctrine of practical democracy.

When first we had these two groups in working order we used to have two senior hostesses and four junior hostesses come down to the Hut each night and help entertain the men, by playing cards and games, talking to them or holding impromptu juke box dances. This, as I said was in the early days when the crowds were less, but soon we had such crowds each evening that the women simply could make no headway. They felt awkward and, as I believe in trimming your sails to the wind, I altered the hostess regulations, stopped having them at the hut but continued to have them at the dances.

"I shall fight to the bitter end," declares Hitler. And when you have done this, Adolph, it will be the bitter end.

As we have only one telephone line at the Hut I soon found that trying to telephone individual hostesses was too much of a task so I wrote to five of the women's organizations asking them to take over the duties of chaperones month by month. The response was whole-hearted and this was worked out very well indeed. At present the following Prince Rupert organizations and auxiliaries do this work: The Queen Mary IODE, the Eastern Star, the Orange Lodge Auxiliary, the Woman of the Moose and the Canadian Legion Woman's Auxiliary.

Flying Field Needed . . .

As I said was in the early days when the crowds were less, but soon we had such crowds each evening that the women simply could make no headway. They felt awkward and, as I believe in trimming your sails to the wind, I altered the hostess regulations, stopped having them at the hut but continued to have them at the dances.

The principal handicap to the institution of a commercial air service for Prince Rupert is the lack of a landing field, it was suggested by Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, superintendent of Canadian Pacific Air Lines, in speaking Monday night before the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce.

Even before the war the Daily News was advocating the necessity of a flying field if Prince Rupert was to keep in pace with the progress of modern transportation trends. With the developing importance of the port and district, this is all the more obvious now.

There may be difficulties in the way of developing a flying field here but it is essential that there should be one in reasonable proximity of the city. It is something that we would do well to start and keep pressing for.

As we have only one telephone line at the Hut I soon found that trying to telephone individual hostesses was too much of a task so I wrote to five of the women's organizations asking them to take over the duties of chaperones month by month. Finland in Key Position . . .

Finland holds a key position in the war situation today and it is natural enough that we should be keenly interested in the reported peace negotiations between the little Baltic nation and her big and powerful neighbor, Soviet Russia. For Finland it appears to be a choice of get out of the war as gracefully as she can by suing for peace now or go on fighting and be finally knocked out with many a grievous bruise.

With the Red Army driving on to the Baltic States and offering every prospect of ridding them of the Nazi yoke, Finland out of the war and Sweden retaining her neutrality, it is not difficult to picture the effect this all may have on that part of Europe, particularly Norway. Quite possibly, Norway may be very well on the way to liberation now.

 "No, sorry, but we must go."
 So taxi was called and we sailed out like seven injured duchesses. Once in the taxi we discovered that we were very hungry so we went to the Commodore. Those were the days when the Commodore and the Boston stayed open all night. They gave us the cabaret room and a grand supper, the bill for which I had sent to the navy after phoning the beautiful young officer to tell him what we were doing and receiving his hurried assent.

A group of RCAP boys came in, and scarcely believing their luck, joined our party and danced and danced and danced. The girls were Lois Judge, Molly Winslow, Delphine Balagno, Joyce Gillette and two others whose names I have forgotten.

CURLING EVENT— SMITHERS BONSPIEL

Even Prince Rupert Was Represented in Ice Competition.

SMITHERS, Feb. 16.—The big Bonspiel of the Smithers Curling Club came off on schedule last Saturday evening and lasted through Sunday and into Monday with all the games not yet completed. There were twenty rinks entered in competition in two series of play. One competition was the Imperial Oil cup, and one for the Bukley Valley Collieries shield. The first losers in these two competitions then went into a consolation competition.

Among the rinks entered were one skipped by Ward Carey of Prince Rupert, one by Billy Little of Woodcock, who brought some Air Force men along with him, a rink of Air Force officers from Smithers, one of other Air Force personnel at Smithers. One rink composed wholly of ladies skipped by Mrs. E. Loude, and one rink of three ladies skipped by Percy Davidson. The balance of the teams was made up of regular rinks of the Smithers Curling Club.

The ice on Saturday evening and up until Sunday was in perfect condition but the heat from the sun caused it to deteriorate after mid-day on Sunday and the games played during the afternoon and evening were on sticky and wet ice. Fairly cold weather during Sunday night put the ice in splendid shape again and play is being continued on good ice.

Billy Little's rink ran up against the Air Force officers in the first game and was defeated. His N.C.O.'s were not able to beat the officers.

Ward Carey competed with the L. H. Kenney rink in his first game and, with a rink full of rooters on his side, he won a draw in an exciting ten ends of play but he failed to come through in the extra end of play and so lost the game. The ladies all went down to defeat in the first encounter.

The Bovill rink arrived into the finals in both competitions and met the O'Neill rink in the play offs for the shield, as the O'Neill rink had defeated the Kenney rink in a close 7-6 game in the semi-finals.

The O'Neill rink, composed of Wiggs O'Neill, (skip) Mr. Delage, Mike O'Neill and L. McLeod, were in excellent shape on the keen ice and defeated the Bovill rink by a decisive score of 16 to 8 and thereby won the Collieries shield.

The Bovill rink still had the finals to play in the Imperial Oil cup competition with the rink skipped by Len Evans and this game was to be played Tuesday evening.

There are also several games in the consolation yet to play before the tournament will be completed.

The Ladies Curling Club put on an excellent dance on Monday night for the entertainment of the visitors.

The Junior Red Cross girls conducted a hot dog stand at the rink during the play and netted a nice sum for their organization. Altogether it was one of the largest and most successful bonspiels yet held by the Smithers Curling Club and the management is well satisfied and consider themselves lucky that they were able to obtain so much good ice in the middle of very freakish winter weather.

MAPLE LEAF STOCK RISES

Defeated Last Resorts in Girls' Basketball Game Last Night.

Two victories and as many defeats may not be such an impressive record for the Maple Leafs but their stock in the Women's Area Basketball League rose as they convincingly defeated Last Resort 15 to 6, in a hoop game at Number Four Group, R.C.A.F. last night. This engagement was the only scheduled game played due to the postponement of the Yanks-High School clash.

The Leafs started slowly enough being content to grab a 5-2 lead in the first half. Four of the five points were scored by McKay, led by Miggins and Edgar, who counted four points each, the winners outscored the Last Resort team 10 to 4 in the second half.

Gillette of Last Resort, accounted for all of her squad's six points to be top sniper in the game.

A total of eleven free throws were taken in the tilt but the only conversion was made by Miggins. The winners took six of the tosses.

Lineups:
 Maple Leafs—Miggins 5, McKale 2, Johnson, McKay 4, Edgar 4, Hemmons.
 Last Resort—Lean, Young, Johnston, Gillette 6, Bruketta, Hoover.

Boilermakers' Ball Enjoyed

Over six hundred persons crowded into the main staff house dining hall Monday night for the first annual boilermakers' ball to be held in a quarter of a century, the last affair of its kind having taken place shortly after the last war when shipbuilding was previously an important industry here. The affair was under the auspices of the local Boilermakers' and Iron Shipbuilders' Union No. 4 and was greatly enjoyed by all.

George Stanton, president of the union, welcomed the guests and J. S. Collingwood was master of ceremonies. A splendid program of modern and old time dances was staged with music by Roy Proverbs' orchestra. Other features of the dance program were prize waltz and jitterbug contest, E. J. Carlson and partner winning the former and J. K. Briggs and partner, the latter.

The general committee consisted of George Stanton, E. T. Russell, George Hird, J. S. Collingwood, W. White and Mrs. G. Bohnke.

Net proceeds of the dance are to go to the purchase of equipment for the social and sports club of the Boilermakers' Union.

Taxfree City In California

Rio Vista, Cal., is what property owners call a taxpayers' heaven. The city council, in adopting the annual budget, fixed the tax rate at zero. The city has leased withdrawal rights to gas-bearing sand to oil companies on a royalty basis. In addition to being absolved of taxation for city governmental expenses, individual property owners will receive royalties.

Another good place to live in, from the taxpayer's point of view, would seem to be the Parish of North Weald, England, where the council decided not to collect any taxes this year because their expenditure came to only $5.

CREAM OF LIVER SOUP — (Here is a deliciously different main dish for either lunch or supper. It's good, too, because it packs in plenty of iron and vitamins). Heat 3 3/4 cups milk in top of double boiler. Blend two tablespoons flour with 1/4 cup cold milk. Add gradually to the hot milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Scald 3/4 pound of liver for five minutes, then drain and grind. Add ground liver, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, a pinch of sage or thyme and two table-spoons finely chopped onion to the thickened milk. Cook for 20 minutes, over hot water, stirring constantly. If mixture curdles it may be beaten smooth with a rotary beater.

EVER NOTICE that a woodpecker uses his head when he works? Do housewives always use theirs when shopping? The market basket of Mrs. Shopwise includes foods from every food group so that her family meals follow Canada's official food rules. Mrs. Not-So-Wise can spend just as much money and time — and probably more — without including foods that will provide healthful eating for her family.

Mrs. Shopwise buys fruits and vegetables in season. Nutrition Services says. She balances her menus with all these foods, too: milk and cheese, cereal, meats, fish, eggs. She buys these first and then if her budget allows she goes in for a frill or two with extras like condiments, cakes, cookies, mayonnaise.

STEADY NERVES are a boon in these trying times and the right foods help give us a calm and unflustered manner. The food elements which help build steady nerves are those vitamins which belong to the B family. They are found in whole grain cereals and bread, wheat germ, liver, eggs, beans and peas and in smaller amounts in other foods.

PARSLEY FOR PEP: That's what it is, says Nutrition Services since it adds iron and vitamins A and C to our diets. It is also a pepper-upper of tired menus — when it is chopped up in its sophisticated form and not just left as a sprig on the plate. Chop it up fine and float it on the soup at the last minute, of course, or sprinkle it over the buttered potatoes, on other vegetables and in raw salads.

SWEATER TALK: A matted sweater is a tragedy these days when sweaters are so scarce. A quick brush-up on washing rules will save you the needless misfortune of seeing a sweater go into the discard.

First thing is to place your sweater on a sheet of paper and draw its outline. Now, dunk it in lukewarm suds and squeeze gently, no rubbing or wringing. Rinse at least twice in water of the same temperature and stretch on the paper diagram. (Never hang on a line). If you want to be extra-careful put a bath towel underneath and one on top and weight the sweater down with magazines. Don't wash woollens on a wet day, they'll take forever to dry, and don't dry them on the radiator, they shrink from heat.

A newly inducted private wrote his family some few days after he had arrived at camp.

"I've gained sixty pounds since I came here — two pounds of flesh and fifty-eight of equipment."

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUIT

We welcomed the first of our When to the Hut yesterday when Wren Rita Bradd from Ontario and Wren Marion Merryfield (what a pretty name!) from Saskatchewan came in to see us and have a look around. Rita has been in Halifax and Marion in Toronto. Rita says she finds the people here very friendly. And if I might say so, I found Rita the same. I think she must know that old adage — to have a friend one must be a friend.

At last we have the doll's house all fixed up so that the electric lights work. We found the wiring wasn't in working order so Jean Melvin and a sailor and I got busy with a string of Christmas lights and some adhesive tape and made our own lighting system. The house stands just little-girl-and-boy-high on a stand which Alex Mitchell made for it and the best of it is you can walk all around it and look at it smartly furnished.

I was talking today to Officer Wyley Brackley "Maskelyn the Magician" local forces. He is no amateur in this line and has quite a bit of professional experience. In civilian life he was on a contract to a club circuit. Each night the band had to double act, singing, dancing or Brack's case, in sleight of work. In this way the clubs could advertise a band and — eight other — was hard work but for experience. Every eight that is when they had completed the circuit, they have a completely new parade. That's the way magicians are made.
