BEIJING, June 26 (CP) — The outer defences of Hengyang, a city yet attacked by the enemy, Canton and Hankow in 1938. A gloomy view of the battle was taken by the Chinese, who held the opinion that the fall of Hengyang would mean the end of the Chinese resistance to the Japanese.

The Chinese have charged that the Japanese used poison mustard gas in the fight at Hengyang, inflicting heavy casualties. Gas is also said to have been used at Ningsiang and Changsha before the fall of the latter city.

Progressive Speaker East For Holding Back

Among the people of interior northwestern Columbia is one of poverty, squalor and unemployment. Bruce Mickelthwait, federal and provincial Progressive candidate for the riding of St. John's, said at a meeting in the Progressive Hall Sunday night. It was his first meeting since his return from a tour of the Skeena and Bulkley settlements last week.

Population of the area, transportation and a lack of its vast position had resulted from a lack of interest on the part of eastern producers to keep the territory from producing raw materials. Instead of allowing it to develop naturally to a degree of industrialization, he said.

Another reason for the lack of development, he said, was the disintegration of the government. He selected a route for the highway to the Peace River district, he said.

When it came to getting a highway, all sections wanted it, but no one got anything. There is still plenty of money because the government chose the Pine Pass route.

Rating the degree of need to which the large territory has fallen, the speaker said that between Prince Rupert and Prince George there is a qualified civilian denigration.

Skeena federal riding with a population of 140,000 square miles, largest in Canada and in its rich resources, has a population of not more than 10,000 or about one person to three square miles, he said.

Counting the movement of people out of the district for military service and war, there was a marked decrease in the population as the period at the end of last war, Mr. Mickelthwait told of hearing of the

Women Playing Prominent Part At Chicago Convention

CHICAGO, June 26 (CP) — Two strange women — strangely alike and strikingly different — will play roles in the political show of shows, the first act of which opens here today with the Republican national convention. Up in front in G.O.P. ranks will be hard-working, veteran Bertha Baur, National committee woman from Illinois, co-chairman and official hostess of Illinois Governor Dwight Green's Convention Courtesy Committee, and widow of Jacob Baur, late founder and president of the Liquid Carbonic Company.

Bright spot in the Democratic limelight, when the party convention begins July 19, will be pretty Dorothy Vredenburg, first woman secretary of the Democratic National Committee, and 27-year old wife of Peter Vredenburg 3rd, Alabama lumberman.

Both women will have their work cut out for them in large complicated pieces. As official hostess and co-chairman of the women's division of Governor Green's convention courtesy committee, Mrs. Baur heads a group of women who will act as hostesses for various groups, including the wives of Republican governors, wives of congressmen, state chairwomen and a number of other women's groups. She has also commanded another feminine fleet to wheel the party bigwigs around in cars, man information booths, conduct tours and whatnot.

Mrs. Baur says, "There will be more women delegates and alternates in this convention than ever before in a Republican convention. Women will be on the resolutions committee this year for the first time too. Altogether it looks this year as though women would have the most power they have ever had in a national convention."

Dorothy Vredenburg's job at the Democratic convention likewise has a wide span. As secretary of the Democratic national

THE FALL OF CHERBOURG

The High Command admitted that it had lost contact with the Normandy port and suggested it was safe to assume that the Americans had taken possession of the city. Earlier reports were to the effect that Allied forces had opened a final assault and had driven into the suburbs where fierce street fighting was going on with bitter German resistance. The Nazi garrison had been given fight or die orders with the threat that any who attempted to surrender would be shot by their own leaders. Allied naval, air and land weapons, including battleships, cruisers, destroyers and mine sweepers from the sea were pounding the city.

CONTROL OF PEACE TRADE

Political and Industrial Heads See Little Chance of Return to Order of Unrestricted Free Competition

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 26 — As leaders of public opinion in Britain look at the post-war period they think in terms of planning, control and regulation. There is little if any thought of returning to an economic order of unrestricted free competition.

In different circles varying degrees of emphasis are placed on different forms of control and in some a good measure of scepticism is encountered as to whether plans and controls can be made to work, whether other nations will co-operate.

The controls envisaged are both internal and international. In the internal sphere the British government and the principal political parties are pledged to a policy of full employment. That, it is accepted, means planning and control, the continuance of some of the wartime regulations.

Internally the continuance of rationing as long as shortages exist is proposed. Prime Minister Churchill has announced the government intends to continue price stabilization after the war. The stabilization of prices for farm products and raw materials not only in Britain but throughout the world is regarded as a safeguard against depressions.

WIDE WORLD ECONOMY

Speaking of foreign trade in a House of Commons debate Rt. Hon. Hugh Dalton, president of the board of trade, said by the Atlantic Charter Britain was pledged to the promotion of an expansive world economy.

In such an economy, he said, "I believe there will be room for trade conducted in some cases under a considerable degree of state direction, in other cases without much state direction and in yet other cases quite free of state direction."

The British Federation of Industries, counterpart of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, has come out in favor of an "international economic council" to be created out of existing machinery for collaboration among the United Nations. Its purpose would be to give direction and prevent the trade of various countries from getting out of equilibrium.

The continuance of the bulk purchase through government agency system developed during the war for some time afterwards is likely. Canadian farm products sold to Britain will probably continue to be handled by the ministry of food under bulk contracts rather than by individual firms.

Importance of Highway . . .

Interior communities such as Terrace, Hazelton, Smithers and the rest, appear to be more lively appreciative than we here in Prince Rupert of the vitally important relationship and association that will result from the new Skeena Highway which is to be completed about the end of July and which, presumably, will be open after that time to public traffic restricted only by the ability of motor vehicle owners and operators to travel. Possibly we have become too nonchalant about big developments which have sprung up about us during the past two or three years.

Everywhere throughout the central interior people are planning and talking about driving to the coast at an early date. They are intrigued by the prospect of at long last being able to travel here if and when the spirit moves them by means of transportation which they can schedule to please and suit themselves.

Prince Rupert people, of course, know that the road is about to be opened but they do not seem to be fully aware of or greatly interested in the changes it will mean to us—the opportunities of developing a friendly neighborliness with the communities and the districts which will, as a consequence of the highway, be brought into a contact with us such as could never be afforded under the limitations of railway service.

Prince Rupert, and particularly its business people, would be well advised to develop the contacts with the people of the central interior which the road will make possible. It is a type of contact which all progressive cities have capitalized and thrived upon ever since automotive transport and modern highways became so highly developed during the last few decades.

The New Fishermen's Floats . . .

Having ourselves campaigned rather energetically and candidly of late for the new facility so that we might have the opportunity to preserve for the port our fishing industry which has been showing the tendency to slip away from us of late for one reason or another, one of the principal reasons being the limitation of moorage facilities for the fleet, the Daily News is gratified that a grant of $77,200 has been made by the federal government for the establishment of new fishermen's floats here. The amount may be none too large but, if put to good use, it should do much towards providing at least some measure of relief. Our local member, Olof Hanson, has been working hard on this as well as other matters and it is satisfactory to know that the government has taken some tangible action to show that it appreciates the situation.

Although, as we have said before, we may not owing to war boom conditions, just recently have felt ourselves so dependent on the fisheries as we used to be there will no doubt again come the time that the fisheries will loom larger as a factor in our prosperity than they have of late. It is just as well that we should not lose sight of that fact.

Japanese Naval Power . . .

The recent naval engagement in the area of the Pacific Ocean east of the Philippines may cause us to reflect upon the vital importance of naval strength as a deciding factor in the Battle of the Pacific between the Allies and Japan. As long as Japan has her powerful navy, inactive as it may be, she is a danger and a menace. Once it is disposed of, and there is reason to believe that our side will be able to dispose of it whenever it comes out in the open, we will be able to tell ourselves that we have gone a long way towards the vanquishing of Japan.

Nippon, as yet, has indicated no particular strength as an air power such as Germany, Great Britain, United States and Russia, to a lesser degree, have manifested. Japan has the manpower for army and industry but, great as that manpower may be in the potentiality of fighting ability and industrial production, the country will be largely helpless with her heart at the mercy of the sea power and air power of her enemies. She is still very vulnerable in spite of the ruthless fervor of her fighting men about which we hear so much.

And Japan will be doubly vulnerable once Germany is disposed of.

It may be that we will soon have to be as careful about Japan's "so sorry" talk as we will have to be about German's impending cries of "Kamarad."

LETTERBOX

SUPPORTS PIONEERS' HOME
Editor, Daily News:

One of the many objectives of the Trades Union movement has been and will continue to be the comfort and security of the aged. We realize the hardships and obstacles surmounted by our pioneers of the province and of this city. These pioneers, in the main, have all been honest, hardworking, industrious and imbued with the spirit of opening up the last great west. The present city of Prince Rupert was such of their undertakings. It was, no doubt, a pleasure for them to see and know that they were helpful in many ways to bring Prince Rupert to the city which it is today.

But it is tragic today in a modern age that these aged people cannot enjoy the security and comforts of a modern and progressive area instead of having to spend perhaps, their last days in the back end of an outdated, inconvenient and overcrowded hovel such as is now used as a "Home" for these pioneers, who have given their best years to the development of the city and area.

In our visit to the Dyer Apartments we did find the "Home" clean and in order, thanks to the diligent work of the caretakers. But the idea of several of these folks, sleeping and eating in the same room, with furnishings that did not suggest the com-

Canvassers are needed. When they call at your home, give to help in the comforts of the aged. We feel certain that labor will respond to a worthy cause. Wishing the project every success.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. (By Dorothy Garbutt)

An airmail letter came in the Sunday morning post from Bob Gibson who was area secretary here last year. He is now in Bengal and the letter was written May 30, arriving here on June 25. Pretty quick service from such a long way. It is so very full of interest that I think I will give it to you in full, today and tomorrow. He writes from the Y.M.C.A. area office, c/o S.S.O. Chittagong, East Bengal, India, and says:

"My thoughts often go back to all in Prince Rupert and I wonder how things are going with you—away around on the other side-as it were. I guess I would find many changes both in personnel and in quarters for I trust by now you are all settled in the new building. (At least they've started to clear the land, Bob). I heard it was under way before I left Canada. Well I am typing this letter from a "Y" situated in a jungle clearing. Its buildings are vastly different than I have been accustomed to for they are all "bushas" (bamboo huts) but the work and program carried on is much the same—except that we certainly have not the equipment at our disposal—no moving pictures or anything so grand as that—at least not yet although we are trying. However, to begin where I left off—I believe I wrote you enroute (why Bob, you know you did) I trust you have received it by now. Our trip was very quiet and we landed at Karachi over two months ago. I travelled across India with three Chinese students coming via Lahore and Delhi to Calcutta. While at Delhi we stayed at a beautiful Y.M.C.A. and took time off to pay a visit to Agra and its Taj Mahal. What a place—there is no use attempting to describe it here. I stayed in Calcutta a week and then came to East Bengal to do area work. The trip from Calcutta was most interesting—about seven hours by train and then we transferred to a river boat and came down the Brahmaputra River for another seven hours. . . . (More tomorrow).

SWIFT'S WEEKLY FOOD HINTS

Martha Logan, Swift's famed home economist, whose weekly, wartime cooking column is a regular feature of this page. Look for these valuable hints each Monday

by Martha Logan

Premium Table-Ready Meats

Tasty, tempting, and so easy to prepare! Save time and work by serving Swift's Premium Table-Ready Meats frequently this summer.

Summer calls for planning meals that take little time and fuss in preparation. With work in your Victory Gardens, children soon coming home from school and all the ordinary wartime activities, meals should be streamlined. But, of course, still nutritious and satisfying. That's where Swift's Premium 'Table-Ready' meats come into their own! Here are some tips for making the most of these appetizing loaves and sausages:—when buying, select a variety for appetite appeal and to suit each member of the family. Get several slices of three or four different kinds, with contrast in flavour, texture, colour and shape.

Leftover slices are excellent in sandwiches for next day's lunch. See your family get their vitamins by serving a good green salad (see recipe for dressing) with the meats. And start the meal with a bowl of soup.

Martha Logan

Passing of Mrs. Unwin

Estimated Pioneer Woman of City Removed by Death
On Sunday Afternoon

Death removed another of Prince Rupert's esteemed pioneers with the sudden passing at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at her home on Moresby Avenue, Westview, of Mrs. Elizabeth P. Unwin, wife of John E.
Unwin. She had been in indifferent health for some time but had been able to be out daily.
It was while taking a stroll yesterday afternoon with her husband that she was seized, expiring soon after she reached home. Many friends will regret to learn of her death and will join in extending sympathy to Mr. Unwin as well to their only son and other relatives.

Mrs. Unwin was born seventy-two years ago in Kent, England, and came to Prince Rupert in 1910 with her brothers, marrying Mr. Unwin in this city before the last war.

Besides the widower, Mrs. Unwin is survived by one son, Staff Sergeant Jack Unwin, serving with the Royal Canadian Artillery overseas, five brothers — Alfred, Horace, Robert and Edward Shrubbsall in Prince Rupert and Harold Shrubbsall, also serving overseas, and two sisters — Mrs. William Miles in England and Mrs. Harry Solly in Australia.
Funeral arrangements are in the hands of B.C. Undertakers.

Veteran of Two World Wars Dies

Hanford M. Watson, veteran of two wars and an employee of the local dry dock for the past couple of years, passed away Saturday morning at the Prince Rupert General Hospital after a brief illness. He had come here from Edmonton and is survived by a widow and two children residing at 1099 Alfred Street. There is a boy six years of age and a girl seven.
Mr. Watson was born in Belfast, Ireland, and was fifty-seven years of age. He enlisted in the very early days of the First Great War and served in the front lines in France for the duration of that war with the Third Battalion. He enlisted with the Veterans' Guard in the present war and served for some time on the prairies.
The funeral will take place
Tuesday afternoon under Canadian Legion auspices.
