Asking City Be Port of Call for Grain Ships

A claim that Prince Rupert Terminal elevator remains unused while locally built 10,000 ton cargo vessels leave port in ballast and load grain at Vancouver, was deplored by the Chamber of Commerce meeting last night.

Efforts will be made to have Prince Rupert included as a frequent port of call for grain vessels.

WANT COTTONWOOD

Western Plywood Company, of New Westminster, is seeking information on availability of cottonwood in Prince Rupert district and feasibility of having it transported to the coast.

A letter of inquiry was received by the chamber from John Bean, head of the company asking information on the subject. In it Mr. Bean indicated that he will come to Prince Rupert in September.

The letter had been turned over to the chamber by R. C. St. Clair, district forester.

SOLDIER BENEFIT

The Chamber of Commerce last night endorsed a Prince George Board of Trade resolution asking the B.C. government to amend its policy in regard to offering free of charge a million acres of soil-surveyed land to the Federal government for settlement of returning B.C. soldiers only.

G. R. S. Blackaby said the local committee had studied the resolution and was in agreement with Prince George that it was unfair for the provincial government to bar servicemen from all of Canada from this benefit.

Appointment of official Chamber of Commerce delegates to attend the highway opening ceremony at Terrace, Sept. 4, was left in the hands of President Joseph Scott.

Americans Take Large Industrial City of Grenoble in Spectacular Drive in South

ROME, Aug. 23 (U.S.)—Americans in a spectacular surprise move thrust deep into Southern France through German defenses and entered the large industrial city of Grenoble, 140 air line miles north of the Mediterranean coast.

A swift moving armored column plunged into the city, with French forces of the interior playing an effective supporting role.

It now appears that two Allied French fronts are likely to be joined sooner than originally thought possible.

This has resulted in the capture of Iasi, big industrial city and cost the Germans 25,000 in dead, and more than 12,000 prisoners in three days, Moscow has announced.

Russians captured more than 350 towns in initial stages of the attacks apparently aimed at Ploesti oil fields, Germany's chief source of petroleum now about 160 miles southwest of the battle lines.

Russians announced steady successes on other fronts.

German Flight Across Seine Resembles Rout

ALLIED SUPREME HQ., Aug. 23 (CP)—French patriots have liberated Paris and Allied troops have entered the city of Marseille, the Mediterranean port falling without much resistance.

HEAVY CASUALTIES AS ROBOT ATTACKS ARE ACCELERATED

LONDON, Aug. 23 (CP)—Flying bombs plunged into Southern England Tuesday on an accelerated scale bringing heavy toll of casualties.

Taking advantage of bad weather, Nazis maintained intermittent salvos, possibly with the idea of depleting stocks in Pas De Calais against having to evacuate before Allied forces.

According to underground leaders, 50,000 armed patriots, assisted by several thousand unarmed sympathizers are in control of the key points of Paris.

All Vichy representatives who had not fled were captured.

In Algiers it is announced salvos of heavy guns will be fired to celebrate the double victory.

On the left of the Allied line, British and Canadians raced ahead 10 to 15 miles, pushing Germans tighter against the Seine River and into the fire of the American flanking forces moving toward the sea along the left bank.

Meanwhile, an American armored column drove more than half way across France and plunged beyond the ancient town of Sens, only 160 miles from the German border.

Supreme headquarters had no comment on reported Allied landings near Bordeaux in Southwestern France.

Man Find $200 And Costs Under Customs Act

Charged with being in possession of American liquor worth more than $200, contrary to the Customs Act, W. J. Carey, part-time taxi driver, was found guilty in police court Tuesday.

He was fined $200, and assessed the appraised value of the liquor which was $372.34, and $3 court costs.

The charge was laid by Cpl. J. F. Piper, R.C.M.P., following seizure of liquor in Carey's room July 29.

A case against Russell H. Morgan, charged jointly with Carey, was dismissed by Magistrate W. D. Vance.

Gordon Wismer, K.C., of Vancouver, acted for the defence. W. O. Fulton prosecuted.

In police court this morning Morgan was fined $50 under the B.C. Liquor Act for having a small quantity of unsealed liquor in his possession. A charge of keeping liquor for sale, laid under the same act, was dismissed.

On a charge laid under the Foreign Exchange Control Order, Morgan was fined $100 or one month.

A charge against Carey, laid under the B.C. Liquor Act, was adjourned until Thursday.

The magistrate dismissed a charge against Pete Richards of keeping liquor for sale.

Vancouver Shellfish May be Germ Carriers

VANCOUVER, Aug. 23 — A warning has been issued by Vancouver health authorities against eating shell fish gathered locally. A Vancouver man, who ate several raw clams from a beach in this area, has suffered an attack of typhoid.

Claim Dogfish Livers Refused Ship Transport

A complaint that two steamship companies serving Prince Rupert refuse to transport 400-pound drums of dogfish livers from Prince Rupert and the Queen Charlotte Islands to Vancouver will be investigated by the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce.

The complaint was laid before a meeting of the chamber last night by the G. W. Nickerson Company in the form of a letter which stated the Union Steamship Company has indicated it will no longer carry the barrels of vitamin-rich liver because Vancouver longshoremen refuse to unload such cargo.

Canadian National Steamships have made a similar refusal on grounds that the livers give off an offensive odor on their passenger vessels.

The fish livers are shipped to Vancouver for processing.

In discussing a motion to communicate with the two companies on the matter, R. M. Winslow expressed the opinion that Prince Rupert should have a processing plant so it would not be necessary to send the livers to Vancouver.

POSTWAR COMMUNITY PLANNING SURVEY HERE BEING CONSIDERED

Entire Chamber of Commerce Membership Studying Kitchener-Waterloo Fact-finding Report

A community planning survey designed to sustain Prince Rupert and district during the difficult immediate post-war period will be a major aim of Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, which held a special meeting Tuesday night to lay groundwork for the project.

Still in its most preliminary stage, the plan may follow a survey executed by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in sister cities of Kitchener and Waterloo, Ont., findings and recommendations of which have just been published in booklet form.

This "community fact-finding" document will be studied by members in an effort to determine local applications. Methods to be used in making the survey interested members.

"If we did undertake to make the survey could we get enough members to canvass for information on a voluntary basis?" Arnold Flaten asked, adding later, "Are these surveys to have an eventual national scope, or are they to be merely hit and miss within each community?"

Secretary Arthur Brooksbank said the surveys were intended to embrace the national scene. "Each community report will be summarized and embodied in a national survey," he explained.

At the suggestion of President Joseph Scott, each member was asked to study the Kitchener-Waterloo report before next meeting in September.

Also during the interval the standing rehabilitation committee, comprising Mr. Scott, J. J. Little and William Stone, will work on ways and means of making a local survey.

Here are two emblems worn by some soldiers of the Canadian Army Overseas, which World War II has produced and made famous. Below is pictured the shoulder sleeve insignia worn by personnel attached to SHAEF—Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force—in other words General Eisenhower's staff. The shield is black with red flames rising from a white sword, and a rainbow which indicates all colors of which national flags of the Allies are composed tops the shield. At top is the insignia of the famous British Eighth Army—a gold or yellow Crusader's cross on a white shield. Canadians fighting with the 8th wear this insignia. (Canadian Army Photos).

FIRST PONTOON

Work will go on tomorrow at Prince Rupert Dry Dock and Shipyards much as usual, but there will be old timers who may momentarily recall that it was just 30 years ago at 3 p.m. that the first pontoon on the floating dock was launched.

Prince Rupert dry dock has a proud history—a proud reputation, built on hard work and sound boat-handling knowledge since that time.

It has seen and played a vital part in two world wars and although removed from the first degree battle lanes, it has nevertheless been foremost in its contribution.

Everyone who has been associated with this great dry dock and shipyard and those employed today, from the top to bottom, may well feel proud of their plant and of themselves for the job they are doing.

THANK YOU!

A little appreciation has worked wonders. It has rolled away mountains and paid high dividends. It has a soothing and exhilarating influence beyond measure.

Therefore, the Chamber of Commerce in passing a vote of appreciation to authorities responsible for the improvement of 6th Avenue are making a wise move.

They are like the understanding man who sends flowers ahead—years ahead—of another's funeral.

All people like to be appreciated even when they are doing routine jobs. The Chamber of Commerce might well spread its gospel of appreciation and win for Prince Rupert the reputation of being the most gracious and most appreciative port on the Pacific Coast—no mean reputation for cultivating the tourist industry in the post-war period.

Let's all make it a practice of saying "Thank You."

Division "A" Teams Show Marked
Superiority Over "B" Circuit

One of the most significant developments of the Area Softball League play-offs has been the marked superiority of "A" division teams over clubs from section "B".

Soo Suds, who won 13 out of 14 "B" division games, were ousted from the quarter-finals in two straight by Ack-Acks, third-place squad in "A" section. Port Edward, another "A" team, easily eliminated Navy; Coast Regiment beat out Dry Dock, of "B" circuit, and Barrett, of "A" loop, won their first game of the quarter-finals from Air Force, 8 to 1.

In the Women's League, third-place Allies eliminated the Wrens, who finished second during the schedule.

After winning successive encounters by scores of 11-1 and 3-1, the Allies defeated the W.D.s, 8 to 5 to open a best-of-five games series for the championship.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

A wild story was sent out from New York a few days ago all over the Eastern Coast to the effect that the Leipzig had entered Prince Rupert, taken all the coal and provisions they needed, robbed the banks and then pulled out.

Callies and Merchants are tied for leadership in the local football league, each team having 12 points. Sons of England Dry Dock each have five points, while Hornets, having lost all six games, have no points.

Daughters of England held an enjoyable whist drive in the Boston Hall. First prize winners were Mrs. H. H. Hemmings and Mrs. J. W. Moorehouse, second prize awards going to Mr. J. Howe and J. McKeechie, and consolation to Mrs. Berner and Percy Cameron.

CASUALTIES!

But accidents shouldn't happen to your electric range. It was built for long service. Follow these simple rules and your range will not be a "casualty".

1. If food is spilled or boils over on open units, burn it off — do not use harsh brush or scraper.
2. Leave the door open to let oven cool after use. Then wipe out oven with damp (not wet) cloth.
3. Never bang the oven door or put any weight on it. This might put the door out of line, allowing heat to escape.
4. Never turn on heat under deep cooker when it is empty. And watch it closely to see that it does not boil dry.

SECRET PAPERS
FIND RIDICULE
STRONG WEAPON

By FRANK LOWE

LONDON, Aug. 23 — They're reminiscent in appearance of high school newspapers Canadian teen-agers put out with little equipment and boundless enthusiasm, these papers that preach the gospel of truth in occupied Europe, but the message of resistance and hope they carry makes up for the crudeness of their structure.

Now on display here, these samples of Europe's underground press represent the resistance movement in 16 occupied countries. No two are alike—not only do they differ in language, but their make-up and means of printing have no similarity. Hatred of Germany is the lone constant note.

All are makeshift affairs. Put out under the constant threat of the Gestapo with death the reward of a by-line, they are mimeographed sheets, in most cases, printed on two sides of rough paper.

A few, though, are more pretentious. Those are the ones put out by men and women who have been fortunate enough to find a hand press and a couple of cases of type. True, in such cases the type isn't always uniform, with the result that in print a word will look like this: "UNde gRouNd." But that doesn't matter.

Most cleverly of all samples—which come from Belgium, France, Poland, Greece, Luxembourg, Norway, Denmark, Holland, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia—is a faked copy of the German-controlled Le Soir from Belgium. So cleverly did the underground copy the official product their resistance paper was delivered by the unsuspecting Germans themselves.

Strongest weapon of these papers is ridicule. Hitler, Goebbels, Goering are held up in caricatures and in stinging articles as the colossal frauds they are. This ridicule is, for the most part, not bitter—a surprising fact considering how the people responsible for the papers have suffered.

In fact, the only underground paper consistently tough in its outlook is the Yugoslav sample. There ridicule is replaced by grim exhortations to kill the invader and fighting ardor is heated with atrocity stories.

One paper, De Frie Danske, claims to have a foreign correspondent in Berlin itself and gives his sobering accounts of the Nazi capital under fire their largest space. Circulation of this secret paper is said to be 100,000—a figure many Canadian papers would be glad to claim. Other underground papers claim circulation figures that range from the 192,000 of Combat, a French resistance paper, to 2,000 for the average pamphlet type.

By the Canadian Press

Aug. 23, 1940—Italian troops reported massing along Greece's western frontier as Fascist press attacked Greek government for alleged mistreatment of Albanian minorities. Canadian National Registration ended with an estimated 8,000,000 men and women over 16 having filled out forms.

INTERIOR B.C.
HUMOR CARRIES
LAUGHS ABROAD

That a story which can draw forth a genuine chuckle is not restricted by limitations of time and distance is illustrated by the way of a little yarn emanating from Quesnel travelled across a continent and an ocean, and found appreciative readers on the battle fronts of France.

The story was of how George Johnston, of Quesnel, an ardent golfer was mystified at most to the point of desperation by the continued disappearance of his golf balls from a fairway of the golf links. By accident he discovered that the balls were being stored away by a squirrel who apparently believed that they were some sort of nut.

The story was carried by Coast papers, and in various papers across the continent. Then it appeared in papers in London, Eng., and finally it was read in a Canadian Army newspaper by Quesnel boys fighting in Normandy.

Naturally the boys wrote home about it.

Abolishment of Tobacco Tax is Party's Promise

By the Canadian Press

Pledges to abolish the "unnecessary, unfair and unwarranted" provincial tobacco tax and to repeal or amend the civil service act, thus permitting removal or reclassification of "unqualified" employees, are among 15 major points of the Progressive Conservative platform in the New Brunswick election campaign.

The New Brunswick office in London, Eng., closed some years ago would be reopened by a Progressive Conservative government to assist producers of the province in obtaining Empire and European markets.

Under the heading of primary production, the platform proposes orderly marketing and improved transportation for farm products; loans and cold storage plants for fishermen, as well as inquiry into the feasibility of establishing and subsidizing fishing schools; assistance to mining, and full and most economic utilization of forest products, with creation of a forest resources commission to establish long-term policies of conservation, reforestation and soil control.

To promote tourist travel, another commission would be set up to strengthen the government tourist bureau and provide for inspection and regulation of tourists' accommodations.

The party promises all possible steps toward establishment of new industries; plans for complete electrification of the province; an improved colonization policy; further hard-surfacing of roads; and improvement of secondary roads; freedom of labor organization and security for collective bargaining with a full-time minister heading the labor department, and a modern educational system, including extension of vocational training and establishment of chairs of agriculture at universities in the province.

The platform favors a post-war federal-provincial-municipal housing plan. Other planks pledge extended health measures, with motorized medical and dental clinics for remote areas; a home and school for mentally deficient children, and increases in old age pensions, pensions for the blind and mothers' allowances, with a policy of lowering the age limit for old age pensions to 65 years.

Nazi Prisoners
Receive Parcels

"I know what the Canadian prisoners of war receive in their Red Cross parcels, but I'm curious about what German prisoners here receive in the way of parcels from their country." Enquiries such as this are frequently received by the Canadian Red Cross.

Axis prisoners of war in the Dominion receive rations in strict accordance with the terms of the 1929 Geneva Convention. This means that they are fed on the same scale as the Canadian troops who guard them. So German prisoners have not the same vital need of food parcels as Canadians in the German "stalags."

Consignments for Axis prisoners usually come direct to Lisbon and then to this country, but on a few occasions a very small amount has come on the return trips of the British Red Cross "shuttle" service of ships between Lisbon and Marseilles. On arrival in Canada the parcels either go direct to the camps or in some cases to the International Red Cross Committee's delegation in Montreal, who have special storage accommodation for these parcels. This is done so that supplies can be sent to any camp which may have a sudden influx of new prisoners.

Relatives of German prisoners of war held in Canada are able, through the German Red Cross to send, at the cost of one mark each, small parcels known as "Typenpaketen," which means standard parcel. The "Typenpaketen" weigh from 1½ to two pounds each and only a very small number of them, about 1,700 a month, are sent to German prisoners here, as compared with the big consignments of next of kin and "permit" parcels from this country to Canadian prisoners in Germany. The "Typenpaketen" are of three kinds, one containing cigarettes or tobacco, another containing soap and other cleaning materials, and a third containing sweets and biscuits.

In addition to these individual parcels, collective consignments are sent by the German Red Cross. The food sent in the collective consignments includes rye bread wrapped in cellophane, tins of apricots and other fruits, powdered and condensed milk, typical German sausages of various kinds, some with fish filling, tinned meat and soup. Jam made of berries comes in solid slabs the consistency of table jelly. In addition to the food-stuffs, there are collective parcels of soap. This soap is very hard and heavy, with a pungent and peculiar odor all its own.

The Experts Say...

COOKER CARE—For those fortunate enough to own a pressure cooker, Laura Pepper, chief of the Consumer Section of the Agriculture Department, gives these canning pointers:

Be sure the openings in the petcock, safety valve and pressure gauge are not clogged, a toothpick or sharpened match will keep them clear.

Be sure air is drawn from the cooker before the pressure is allowed to rise. A steady hissing flow of steam from the open petcock is the signal to watch for.

Keep pressure steady by regulating the heat under the cooker; fluctuating pressure draws liquid from the sealers.

Watch until the gauge registers the correct pressure and count processing time from that moment.

When processing time is up, cool the cooker gradually; sudden cooling may crack it and again, liquid will be drawn from the sealers.

When the lid's off, leave sealers in the open cooker for a moment or two until violent bubbling ceases. Too sudden a change to room temperature will crack or break the sealers.

And a last word—never immerse the lid of the pressure cooker in water.

Britain Praises Canuck Bombers

British praise for Canada's Mosquito aircraft production is given in an article by Kenneth R. Wilson, Ottawa correspondent of Financial Post, Toronto. The writer recently returned from the United Kingdom after a six weeks' tour with a group of Canadian editors, at the invitation of the British Ministry of Information. He talked to officials of de Havilland Aircraft, the Canadian company of which handles Mosquito manufacture on this continent. Mr. Wilson writes:

"Despite the handicap of 3,000 miles separation from the plant where the first Mosquitos were produced, the Canadian plant got into production more rapidly than a comparable operation in the U.K. which had all the original company experience to draw from near at hand."

Canadian Mosquitos, in the primary and component production of which thousands of aircraft workers throughout the Dominion are engaged, are flown in ever increasing numbers from Canada to European battlefronts. Recently two of them broke all existing non-stop transatlantic flight records. Crossing from a point in Labrador to Northern Ireland, one made it in six hours 46 minutes, and the other in seven hours nine minutes. The faster time was two hours and 10 minutes better than the previous record by an R.A.F. Liberator. Distance was 2,200 statute miles.

Ginger Rogers And Ray Milland Popularly Teamed

Ginger Rogers and Ray Milland, not seen on the screen together since their hilarious comedy, "The Major and the Minor," have been reunited by Paramount for "Lady in the Dark," which opens Thursday at the Capitol Theatre for a three-day showing.

Based upon the play by Moss Hart, with music by Kurt Weill and lyrics by Ira Gershwin, the film version of "Lady in the Dark" is said to surpass in visual beauty its stage sister, and to provide for the talented Ginger and Milland another hit. Filmed in technicolor, the story of the woman editor of a magazine whose repressions almost wreck her life, is told, against a background of dreams brought to life when Ginger, who plays the woman, is induced to visit a psychoanalyst.

"Lady in the Dark" was produced and directed by Mitchell Leisen whose past hits have proved him one of Hollywood's top picture-makers.
