Local Boy Survivor

Robert Roy Youngman Was Aboard H.M.C.S. Trentonian... One Prince Rupert man, Robert Roy Youngman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Youngman, Eighth Street, was among the crew members who survived the sinking of H.M.C.S. Trentonian. The 21-year-old seaman is now in Vancouver on survivor's leave. Mrs. Youngman is going to the southern city on Thursday to meet him and he will return here for a few days' visit. A veteran on a year's duty on Atlantic convoy lanes, the Prince Rupert boy has been in the navy for two years. He is a former member of the Prince Rupert corps of Sea Cadets.

finally made my way to a Carley float and felt much safer."... Only a few days before the tor- pedoing the captain had given the ship's company a "pep talk" on the importance of wearing life jackets at sea and at the time of the accident every man had one on. And there were no un- derwater explosions to bother the survivors because the crew had withdrawn all primers from the depth charges. Every man had attended to his own job, the captain added, but he gave special praise to Lieut. Winsman who was in charge of the whaler. Kinsman rounded up all the stragglers and wounded and did "an extremely efficient job." While escorting a convoy in broad daylight, the ship sank in from 10 to 14 minutes after a torpedo crashed into her. One officer was fatally injured and five ratings lost. The first lieutenant, Lieut. Kinsman, told how he was on the bridge using the ship's loud hailer when there was a crash "and huge bits of metal flew everywhere." "I ran down to the boat deck to see if there was any hope of shoring up the damage," he said.

Reserves Decision On Hanburg Case

Magistrate W. D. Vance in city police court Saturday indicated his intention to bind over Mrs. Signa Hanburg to appear before a higher court if called upon on a manslaughter charge arising out of the deaths of her two young children who died of suf- focation at their home on Feb- ruary 10.

He withheld formal decision at the conclusion of the prelimi- nary hearing, which began Fri- day afternoon, at the request of defence counsel T. W. Brown who asked until 2:30 p.m. today to arrange for bondsmen. Crown counsel W. O. Fulton said that he intended to ask that bail be set at $2,000. Mrs. Hanburg is now out on $1,000 bond.

Evidence was given at Friday's session by Dr. J. J. Gibson, who attended the scene of the deaths of Ronald Fossum and Loraine Hanburg shortly after their bodies were discovered. Other witnesses were Dr. R. E. Cole- man, Mrs. Verna Ratchford, Frank Montesano, E. H. Hicks, and Constables Bruce and Stevens, and Corp. A. T. Lashmar of the provincial police.

ELECTRIFICATION OF RAILWAY LINE IS PROPOSED BY TERRACE FARMERS

TERRACE, March 26—At a general meeting of the Kitsumkalum Farmers' Institute, the members discussed the post-war projects most likely to concern them. Foremost among these was electrical de- velopment for rural areas. After a full discussion the following resolution was passed:

"Whereas our provincial gov- ernment is planning on extend- ing to rural areas the benefits of electric light and power and "Whereas there is potential hydro-electric power at many available points along line of the Canadian National Railways be- tween Prince Rupert and Jasper; "Therefore be it resolved that we petition the government of British Columbia to undertake as a public owned utility the hydro-electric development nec- essary to furnish all communi- ties adjacent to the Canadian National Railways with light and power and that the Canadian National Railways, now burning imported fuel oil, be asked to co- operate and electrify its line be- tween Prince Rupert and Jasper to provide the volume of con- sumption necessary to warrant the proposed hydro-electric de- velopment." Some discussion arose on the proposed development, it being pointed out that even were hydro-electric plants established it was usually found necessary to erect steam or diesel emer- gency plants and that, if these alone were built, they could take care of all the needs of the communities. However, it was agreed that with a series of hydro- electric plants serving the rail- way and communities if one were to have a break-down the load could be carried by the remain- ing plants without recourse to emergency power.

Canadians Playing Their Part in Great New As- sult on Hitler's Empire

THIRD DIV IN IT OTTAWA, March 26 (CP)— Prime Minister W. L. Macken- zie King announced today that with the Third Canadian Div- ision was taking part in the new Rhine offensive with the British Second Army. Mr. King said that the battle was pro- ceeding well and added that there was reason to hope that the collapse of Germany would not be long delayed.

LONDON, March 26 (CP)— Six powerful Allied forces including one airborne, are pushing steadily into central Ger- many following the new crossings of the Rhine River. They comprise three general forces. One is the British-Can- adian force on the lower Rhine, the second, the American First Army from the Remagen sec- tor and the third from Mainz. The lower Rhine bridgehead is now reported to have reached a depth of six miles with a length of twenty-five miles. Eleven towns have been cap- tured, among them Basel. The Germans are throwing rein- forcements into the defence and resistance has increased with casualties heavy for the attackers. Eight thousand pris- oners were captured in one day in the British-Canadian sector.

News of the success of the great Allied drive across the Rhine is reported to be sweep- ing through Germany. How- ever, a dispatch from Berne, Switzerland, warns against hope of a collapse or revolt on the German home front. This dis- patch points out that the Ger- man fear of the Gestapo will prevent any sudden uprising or attempt to oust the Nazi leader- ship.

One Swedish correspondent says a German revolution is highly improbable unless the German Army falls apart com- pletely or the food supply of the Reich is cut off. On the other hand, one Swiss source lends backing to reports of internal unrest in what is left of Hitler's Europe by re- porting that resistance to the Nazis is growing in Austria.

From inside Germany comes one Nazi prediction that prob- ably is true. Adolf Hitler's own paper forecasts a drive across the north German plain and more Allied airborne landings. Western front dispatches back up the Fuehrer for once.

The British Second Army has pushed eight miles in to the Ger- man plain crossing the Issel River and has cut through the superhighway leading to Hol- land. British units have cleaned out the stronghold city of Rees. Just below the smash of the American Ninth Army has car- ried to within ten miles of the Ruhr armament capital of Essen in an eight-mile gain. The British and American armies now have joined south of Wesel.

First Canadian Army units east of the Rhine are fighting on the left flank of the Brit- ish Second Army where enemy resistance is reported very strong. The Highland Light In- fantry of Canada from Galt, Ont- ario, was the first Canadian regiment across the great water barrier. It was this unit which captured Spelforf, the first east bank town taken by Dominion troops.

The American Third Army's 72-mile thrust into the Reich has pointed an Allied threat directly at Berlin, 235 miles away. The Third is anchored now on a bridge over the Main river flanking Frankfurt on that river. A news blackout hides what may be further lightning advances by armored spearheads

New Battle For Berlin

Berlin Broadcasts Explicit About Attack from Due East—Moscow Still Silent

HEADING FOR VIENNA MOSCOW, March 26 (CP)— A Russian spearhead driving for Vienna has been supple- mented by another Soviet army. Marshal Stalin says the Second Ukraine Army has joined up the battle in west- ern Hungary and has swept forward twenty-eight miles along the south bank of the Danube. Berlin says a new Russian offensive has been opened in southwest Poland aimed at the Moravian Gap into Czechoslovakia.

LONDON, March 26 —Ber- lin broadcasts are explicit about Russian activities in the east. According to Berlin, massed Red Army forces have re-opened a blazing battle for the imperilled Nazi capital behind a thunder- ous artillery and aerial bom- bardment. The Nazis admit the Russians have swept six miles beyond captured Kuestrin to points less than 31 miles east of Berlin. There, according to the enemy, a swaying, indecisive battle is raging along the trans- rail line jinking Berlin and Kues- trin.

There is no confirmation of this new Red Army drive from Moscow. The midnight Soviet communique restricted itself to the announcement that Russian forces have split the Nazi de- fenders of the prize Baltic ports of Danzig and Gdynia.

of the rampaging Third. The American First Army has advanced eight miles out of its Remagen bridgehead on a new thirty-five-mile front.

Allied planes are hurling death and confusion on Ger- man troop concentrations and defence strongholds. Six thou- sand enemy vehicles were smash- ed behind the western front in more than 6500 sorties flown yesterday by British, Canadian, and American bombers and fighters. One bomber outfit claimed credit for knocking out forty massed German guns in one swoop on the northern end of the front.

During the night, Mosquito bombers blasted Berlin for the thirty-fourth straight night. The United States Third Army was closing in on Frankfurt-on- Main today and sent its tanks through broken enemy lines on the flat central German plains within 250 miles of the Rus- sian lines. A Berne, Switzer- land, correspondent, said that Frankfurt had been entered by Allied troops early Sunday.

End of European War Near . . .

There can be little doubt now that the war as far as Germany is concerned is nearly over. The Allies have made their greatest crossing of the Rhine. Enemy resistance even in his homeland is crumbling everywhere. Many strong defences have already been passed. The resumption of the great Russian offensive from the east is under way or about to start. The noose is tightening on the Reich from all sides. There is every indication now that the issue will be settled within the course of the next few weeks with victory for our side. Discounting any tendency to wishful thinking, this appears all but a certainty. The end of the European phase of the war may come any day now, possibly with dramatic suddenness.

Efficiency and Fatigue . . .

The arch-enemy of efficiency is fatigue, says Professor William James, eminent psychologist. It is not how much work you do that tires you but how you work. You can do more and better work by keeping yourself from getting tired and one way of keeping from getting tired is working rhythmically. Relaxation to prevent fatigue is quite as important for the mental and sedentary worker as it is for the person engaged in manual labor.

Speaking of France . . .

Regardless of how we feel about French, all men have a special feeling for France. The Germans, so long envious of her in spite of their professed contempt, share this feeling.

To many, France is as much a song as she is a country. Her years of darkness cannot hide her light. Her vices, which include her politics, are only the dark flowers she has developed because of being over-civilized. They are the price she has had to pay for her high virtues, and for the delight and drama of her contrasts.

To some of us, France is both Voltaire and Mistinguette, Proust and her peasant Joan, Robespierre and Rabelais. She is a Jacobin wearing a faded court dress. She is at once the tarnished gilt of her old palaces, and the liberty she has bled for her barricades. She is as famous for her bourgeois, the sharpness of her shopkeepers, the liquid precision of her language, the stained glass in her churches, the loveliness of her boulevards, and the unreality of her governments during the tragic years of the hiatus.

Letters to the Editor

CITIZENSHIP AND RELIGION

Editor, Daily News:
I do not desire the publicity involved in writing this letter but perhaps it is peculiarly my duty to reply to a letter in Friday's issue of the News signed E. W. Abraham.

Colonel H. E. Lyon speaks of the racial intolerance campaign which is sweeping like a plague through British Columbia. Mr. Abraham's suggestion would only increase the virulence of this plague by adding theological rancor to the primitive, indiscriminating bitterness of race hatred.

Rights of citizenship should stand independent of racial origin. Some exception to this may have been necessary as a war precaution. But once the war is over, every Canadian citizen should be treated as a Canadian citizen whether his ancestors were British, American, Russian, Chinese, German, Italian, or Japanese.

In like manner rights of citizenship should stand independent of religious belief. Every Canadian citizen should be treated as a Canadian citizen whether he be Christian, Mohammedan, Confucian, Buddhist, Shintoist—or atheist. Against all racial or religious discrimination let us set our faces like a flint. Adolf Hitler declared that the only good Jew was a dead one. A Prince Rupert alderman is reported to have said that the only good Jap is a dead one. It is the same spirit. We are fighting against it in Germany. We can only foster it in British Columbia at our peril. God deliver us from both racial and religious (or theological) hatred.

HIGH SCHOOL SITUATION

Editor, Daily News:
I should like space in which to amplify the published report on what happened at the Parent-Teachers' Association meeting last Wednesday. It would appear from the report that W. W. C. O'Neill, principal of the Booth Memorial High School, was responsible for the resolution. This is not the case.

The resolution was moved by J. S. Wilson, readily seconded and carried unanimously at one of the best attended meetings of the association. It was on the request of the chairman that Mr. O'Neill gave particulars as to what it meant for a school to be accredited and under what circumstances it might be removed from the list. Mr. O'Neill pointed out that the number of credits offered here was greatly in excess of the number required by the department while the winning of the scholarships by former students proved that their schooling here had provided a good foundation.

In moving the resolution, Mr. Wilson said that, as a result of years of familiarity with education matters, twenty of them in the city, he felt he could speak with some authority. He recalled the protest made at the time when Booth Memorial was converted into a Senior-Junior High School. The change, he said, was made on the recommendation of one inspector. However, the school had not been placed on the accredited list then, but later, and on the recommendation of another inspector.

Mr. Wilson referred to the report of the interview given by Inspector Thorsteinsson. He said that the alleged reasons given in that report did not warrant the inspector's recommendation to the department that the Booth School be removed from the list of accredited high schools. He felt that the reference to teachers coming from other provinces was unfair. These teachers had been granted certificates by the B. C. Department of Education and, therefore, they must be qualified. He felt that such an attitude on the part of an inspector did not tend to build up unity among the provinces of Canada, morale among the local staff, or respect of the pupils for their teachers. The specific adverse criticism of one teacher was most unethical. He could not see how such action as recommended by the inspector could be considered educationally progressive. He could not see who would benefit but he did feel that the children would suffer. He also felt very strongly that this making of this report when two-thirds of the school year has passed ignored completely the rights of the pupils, and their parents. These were surely entitled to be advised in time as to how their year's work would be evaluated.

In the course of later discussion those present at the meeting were amazed that the matter had not been discussed with the principal before the recommendation had been made to the department. The sad lack of playground space was recognized by all but the inspector's suggestion that the rocky ridges at the back of the school be made into a rock garden did not seem a solution to the problem and evidently did not get the slightest support from the parents.

I feel that in these abnormal times the very heavy burdens under which teachers are working should not further be increased by the action recommended by the inspector.

A. Douglass Excell, New Westminster, and E.R.A. George Goar, Toronto. The three men helped get the wounded away from the ship and Goar, who can't swim, took charge of a Carley float.

"The terrific explosion stunned us all for a moment," he said "but then we realized what had happened and that there was no hope of saving the ship. Then we scrambled up top," he continued, "and found some of the wounded lying on deck. I sent word to the bridge that the engine room was flooded. The ship was settling fast so the E.R.A.'s helped me get one of the wounded off. By this time the decks were awash.

"After we got away from the ship and reached a Carley float the bow of the ship was standing straight out of the water and we were afraid it would fall over on us. We sighed with relief when it went straight down."

"I could feel she was gone soon as she was hit," said Lieut. Donald Dodds, R.C.N.V.R., Westmount. "All the life seemed to go out of her. I got rid of the confidential books and then took a very graceful dive from the gun deck. I had to swim hard to get away from the bow as she disappeared, but then made my way to the whale."

Terrific Explosion Knocked Some Out

So terrific was the explosion that some of the survivors were momentarily stunned and some knocked unconscious with no recollection of how they got away from the sinking ship. Coder Barrie Meyer of Regina said he remembered "absolutely nothing" until picked up from a Carley float by the rescue ship. He dislocated his knee and was suffering from burns.

"There was a terrific explosion and I remember coming to face down between the magazine and gun shields," said Able Seaman Hector Campbell of Ottawa, an Oerlikon gunner. "Meyer was underneath me and I got him onto a float, then jumped into the water."
