The labor picture, according to general report, is rapidly changing what with the return of servicemen from the wars and lay-offs from war industries of men who are now looking for other jobs.

One of the results is that those men are still holding jobs uninterfered with are fortifying their positions to retain them should a show-down come.

The tendency to let the other follow pull the load or shirk on the job, just because there was nothing the boss could do about it, is diminishing. After having grinned and borne it for quite some time, the boss is beginning to feel that there is something he can do about a few things and he will soon be able to tell the slacker or chiseler who has been lying down on the job or not playing the game where to get off.

It is probably a good thing that there is likely to be levelling off and it is to be hoped that a happy medium will be reached whereby the boss will be able to get his good day's work for a good day's pay and where the person who works will be sure of an adequate and fair recompense for a job well done.

All of which would save a lot of headaches all around.

Face It Realistically . . .

People and politicians will do well to face the atom bomb Frankenstein as fearlessly and realistically as do the men who reluctantly fashioned it, says Christian Science Monitor. Certainly those who are trying to shut their eyes to its meaning or to find a comfortable answer ought to have heard Drs. Curtis, Oppenheimer and Wilson before the Kilgore committee.

Their conviction that "there is no countermeasure and there is very little secret" leads them to urge statesmen to invent political controls. They know such an advance in political science faces tremendous obstacles. But they see no alternative. Dr. Curtis, when asked if international control of the bomb was not "visionary," said:

"The possibility of developing atomic energy was also labeled visionary a scant six years ago—and today is a reality."

It is necessary to recognize that the mental elements statesmen deal with are even more precarious and complex than U235. The political machinery required may be more difficult and costly to build than any cyclotron. National sovereignty may be harder to split than the atom. And the statesman cannot act as if the traditions, the institutions, the economic rivalries, the deep-seated beliefs which make up nationalism had already been neatly reassembled in a federal world system.

Yet Dr. Curtis has the right approach. The effort must be made—and with faith that it can be successful.

LETTERBOX

CO-OPERATIVE'S ANSWER

Editor, Daily News:
Please grant us a little space in your paper to clarify some of the mis-statements made by a certain individual in the recent provincial election campaign, especially in reference to our fish liver business. Why the politicians should choose to use our association's business in the campaign is a thing we do not understand but we should probably thank them for the free publicity.

In regard to liver prices: these are all according to the potency of the livers and it would fill a book to explain all the detail. However, this association furnishes each member with a yearly report on all its various operations and in this report everything is explained in detail.

Our payment to members for halibut liver in 1944 was 76 cents per pound and not any of the prices quoted. In regard to the $1.30 price, this is for livers of high potency from fish caught in Area 3, of which we handle very little.

At general meetings our fishermen members decided how they want the different potency livers pooled to get an average price. As to where the money goes, the members hold at least two general meetings a year at which each member is given a detailed statement of all operations. We are sure our operating cost in all departments can compete with any private operation and we can assure the members and others that we maintain an efficient staff.

Therefore, in future, if anyone wishes to advertise our business in the press we trust they will try to obtain sufficient information on the matter or a closer guess.

PRINCE RUPERT FISHERMEN'S CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION.

Means to Remain in Political Life Here—Ford Strike Discussed

A report on the recent provincial elections, unanimously endorsed, at a meeting last night of the Labor-Progressive Club, stated: "It must be frankly admitted that he had expected a higher vote. However, it transpired that many people who recognized the superiority of our candidate and our campaign were afraid of what they called 'wasting their ballots' on a candidate they thought did not have a chance and hence voted for either Pattullo or Brew. This, coupled with the disfranchisement of hundreds of loggers, cannerymen and other workers, seriously reduced our vote. In spite of these handicaps our percentage of the total vote was slightly increased over our showing in June. The stability of our vote and the widespread respect for our party, indicates that the L.P.P. is here to stay in the political life of Prince Rupert. We are a mature organization now and our voice will be heard increasingly as the years go by."

Other topics for discussion included organization and social plans for the future.

The meeting of the Prince Rupert Labor-Progressive Club was held in that organization's new clubrooms in the Stone Block and dealt with a wide range of subjects.

There was a great deal of discussion on the Ford strike. Mike Caprac stated "he knew what it feels like for those boys to be on the picket line and no wages coming in for six weeks now." Replies were read from Ottawa concerning letters sent by the club demanding Ford Co. live up to collective bargaining and meet with the union on a fair and square basis.

Executive Secretary Bruce Mickleburgh commented that "apparently Humphrey Mitchell, minister of Labor, has been receiving so many letters from all over the country protesting the government's impotence to deal with Ford that he has delegated the job of answering them to the Director of Industrial Relations."

C. J. Toombs, Maj. Commanding 1st. Btn. Prince Rupert Regt. (M.G.) Parade scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 30, is cancelled and there will be a Battalion parade 1930 hours Tuesday the 30th of October in its place. Signals and transport will also parade Tuesday 1930 hours on October 30th. Officers and N.C.O.'s will parade 2000 hours on Friday as usual.

Mr. McLean. And apparently Mr. McLean has found the letters piling up so fast that he has had to mimeograph a reply, like the one we have."

A resolution passed unanimously by the club declared that the "Ford strike is long past the stage where letters to Humphrey Mitchell will be much help, as he knows very well where labor and all progressive people stand. The time has come for Prince Rupert people to join with labor across Canada in sending donations down to Windsor to keep the picket line. Canada's front line in the struggle for the peace, holding firm. We call on all our members to support with cash and volunteer work any efforts through the legitimate channels of organized labor in Prince Rupert to raise funds for the Windsor strikers."

LONDON. (C)—Committees are being appointed in 11 blitzed areas to decide whether bombed "pubs" are to be rebuilt on the same spot as before, somewhere else, or not at all.

WED AT CHURCH OF ANNUNCIATION

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Church of the Annunciation on Wednesday when Mary Agnes Driscoll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Driscoll, of Fergus, Ontario, became the bride of Edward James Laveck, of St. Catharines, Ontario. Rev. Father Carroll officiated at the nuptial mass.

The bride was given in marriage by A. G. Langevin, and was attended by Mrs. Thomas Salmon, who acted as matron of honor. Thomas Salmon was groomsmen.

The bride looked charming in a blue wool dressmaker suit with matching accessories and wore a corsage of pink carnations. The matron of honor wore a tweed dressmaker suit with brown accessories and a corsage of bronze chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served for the bridal party at the Commodore Cafe. During the evening a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Langevin where numerous friends gathered to offer felicitations to the happy couple.

Are Sure of Youngsters

Kinsmen Find They're Not Such a Bad Lot

Give Prince Rupert boys and girls something worthwhile to do, and they'll do it. That's the opinion of the local Kinsmen and they think they have good reason for the opinion.

Last year the Kinsmen asked the youngsters of the city to help them send milk to the children of Britain. They gave the local boys and girls Halloween Shell-out tickets to sell and told them that every ten tickets sent a quart of milk overseas. In less than four days the kiddies of this city raised almost ten thousand quarts. "That's not bad, is it?" commented a Kinsmen. Our sons and daughters did that. And they didn't get anything out of it for themselves, either.

This year the Kinsmen felt the boys and girls deserved a Halloween treat so they said: "Give us a hand, gang, and we'll put over a big Halloween party for you with prizes, wieners, apples, anything!" Again Halloween Shell-out tickets were distributed, this time from the Fire Hall, and there has been a steady sale ever since. The boys and girls know it's for their party and they like to help.

In the matter of 200 missing detonators, the Kinsmen, with the help of the police, appealed to the youngsters to find them as they were dangerous and could cause fatalities. The youngsters not only found them but several of the boys responsible voluntarily showed up at the police station with the explosives.

Today the Kinsmen appealed to the boys and girls to guard the loads of wood they left Sunday at several spots in the city for the Halloween bonfires. The Kinsmen are sure the nice dry wood will be safe because the youngsters are on the watch and they're not going to let anyone run off with a single stick of the wood for their big fires.

The Kinsmen have a lot of faith in Prince Rupert boys and girls.

MIRACLES of MAKE-DO

Ever think of the wealth of perfectly good woollen yarn going to waste in those sweaters you have put away and forgotten?

Too small? A little moth-eaten? Too old-fashioned to compete with a "Sloppy Joe"?

All excellent reasons for not wearing them yourself, perhaps. But they can still be used to good advantage. For instance, why not try making over one into a smaller size? Or into an attractive swim suit for yourself for those warm vacation days next summer?

Here are just a few of the many miracles you can work with a discarded sweater. And, these days, when wool and other yarns are so scarce, they are worth a try. Pattern for dressing gown available at stores.

Civic Officials and Press Visit War-Created Port Development

Huge new installations with which the local waterfront became equipped by the United States Army during the war with the Japanese and which are counted upon to play a leading part towards the development of Prince Rupert, Canada's most strategic Canadian Pacific Coast port, as a funneling point for post-war trans-Pacific commerce and shipping were viewed yesterday afternoon by civic officials and the press who were taken on a personally conducted tour of the vast property arranged through the courtesy of the public relations office of the United States Army. It was a timely coincidence that the inspection should have been made on the very day that official announcement was being made that these installations were being turned over by the United States to Canada under an agreement involving $16,000,000 worth of equipment at the support of Prince Rupert and the staging point of Port Edward.

The party learned that the great four-storey warehouse which was built here for the storage in transit of vast quantities of war supplies enroute to the Pacific theatre or conflict with its 370,000 square feet of storage space was the largest structure of its kind ever erected by the United States Army in any part of the world. Further than being the most capacious, this installation has been adjudged by all experts who have seen it as a model of efficiency which has no superior in the world in the way of adaptability of freight handling. Connected with the ocean dock by means of a wide and sturdy overpass it makes possible the handling of cargo on a huge scale completely under cover in transfer from rail to ship or vice versa.

Features of equipment include one main 7 1/2 ton freight elevator at the point where warehouse joins dock and four smaller freight elevators within the building itself. The building throughout is a study of substantiality of construction. Among the features to be specially noted was the diagonally laid maple flooring on the three upper floors with 2 by 4 edge laid fir flooring on the main floor.

feet wide. It too is one of the major installations which is being handed back to Canada by the United States and will be one of the most valuable port facilities in peacetime commerce.

Under the towering 75-ton crane the visitors stood and marvelled at its stature and lifting ability.

Other installations to be seen were the power plant at Morse Creek with its five 125-kilowatt Fairbanks-Morse diesel engines—a plant capable of supplying all the domestic—but not the industrial needs—of the entire city of Prince Rupert. Interest was also taken in the 37,000 cubic foot cold storage plant which even now contains 100,000 tons of fresh meat to meet the requirements of "G.I.'s" still remaining in the area.

These are only a few of the principal items of property which are now in process of being turned over by the United States government to Canada and are now being received by War Assets Corporation with I. M. McKinnon, the regional supply officer, already installed in his office at the big warehouse and taking over.

The party making the tour of inspection consisted of Mayor H. M. Daggett, City Engineer E. A. Phillips, City Clerk H. D. Thain and Bruce Stevens and G. A. Hunter representing the press. Courteous and patient escorts were Major Paxon, director of the overseas stock terminal; Lieut. Elizabeth G. Bell, United States Army public relations officer; Sgt. Ralph Browne, and I. M. McKinnon, regional manager of War Assets Corporation.

more work in Prince Rupert," Mr. Hutchison said. "He was thinking of going back east, and already had his equipment crated. I, myself, happened to have work for that man and now he has contracts which will provide jobs for four men."

Similar opportunities exist in many other types of business if they could be tracked down and presented to ambitious young men with a little capital, Mr. Hutchison believes. Groups of two or three might combine to give a new business a start.

"In my conversations on the matter I have run into a trend of thought which expressed an unabashed hope that this city may soon revert to its quiet, pre-war condition," Mr. Hutchison declared. "My opinion on that is that Prince Rupert should ferret out every opportunity that exists and capitalize on it so the city will go ahead."

"Small businesses are a substantial force in the growth of a community. The more of them Prince Rupert can develop, the better off we will be," he said.

Organization of the group of "opportunity hunters" will probably be clarified further when those interested gather at a luncheon meeting that is planned shortly.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

October 30, 1920

Booth Fisheries, Pacific Fisheries and Atlin Fisheries received notice to vacate the waterfront occupied by them near an extension being constructed to the Grand Trunk Wharf. The removal became necessary on account of building operations on the Grand Trunk property, and negotiations were under way for the fisheries companies to move to a section of the government wharf.

The tug Elita White was burned to the water's edge and sank south of Butedale. The fire started in the engine room while the little tug was towing a boom of logs southward to Ocean Falls.

Highest price ever paid for halibut up to that time on the local fish market was paid at the fish exchange by Booth Fisheries which bought a carload of first class fish for 20.3 cents and 10.1 cents a pound for shipment east.

You Sacrificed to Win the War... Now You Must Fight for CANADA'S SECURITY

Through war-torn years you have loaned your money to help achieve military victory, to help fight inflation, to build a future financial reserve.

The need for your help, today, is just as great. You are asked to pledge a part of your income to help our fighting men back to health and peacetime jobs... to provide credits for Britain, the country who held back the enemy until we were ready (Much of this credit will be used for B.C. goods)... and incidentally, to help secure the investment you have already made in bonds.

Remember, these bonds are as good as money in the bank—even better—they draw greater interest, they are negotiable at any time. They're a sound investment, as sound as Canada itself. So today make your pledge...

LAKELSE, KALUM STREETS CENTRES OF IMPROVEMENT; WINTER IS NEAR

The corner of Lakelse and Kalum Streets is the scene of a great deal of activity these days. Renovations have become the fashion since George McAdams of the Skeena Mercantile and G. M. McGinnis of the Terrace Bakery modernized their establishments. The interior of Johnstone and Michiel's hardware store is to be completely altered. Already the two small back rooms used as office by E. T. Kenney have disappeared to be replaced by a small corner room with a row of windows looking out into the store. The large centre partition is to be removed and numerous minor alterations are to be made. The changes will make the store more attractive, enable a better display of stock to be made and make it easier and quicker to serve the customers. On the opposite side of the street, G. L. Brookes of the Skeena Motor Transport is busy getting his new dining room into shape. The booths are practically finished. They are circular in shape and will be complete with drapes. A tile floor is to be laid and the whole provided with the latest in fluorescent lighting. The front will be finished with white stucco and a neon sign in the shape of an arrow will indicate the entrance.

Recent visitors to Terrace include the following:
Prince Rupert—P. Johnston, R. M. Jack, T. N. McLaughlin, C. A. Brind, W. G. Young, M. Stephens, C. S. Thomson, K. E. Reid, W. Treston, Sgt. Ralph Browne, Beatrice Didrickson.
Port Edward—Capt. McGinnis, Ray Piece, W. Wuggit, Ken Armstrong, Alf Carlson, W. Miller.
Smithers—R. H. Dunlop, W. R. Workman, Philip A. Jones, A. E. Goodenough, Olof Hanson.
Prince George—Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Carter, G. L. Greenwood, J. M. Cattle.

A very successful Hallowe'en tea and sale was held by the Ladies' Guild of Knox United Church Saturday afternoon. The hall was decorated with fall flowers and suitable Hallowe'en motifs. Orange and black were the predominant colors. A happy social atmosphere prevailed as Rev. T. C. Colwell welcomed the guests and Mrs. Barr played the piano. Serviteurs were Mrs. L. Llewellyn, Mrs. V. Ross, Mrs. T. E. Brooks and Mrs. B. Smith. In charge of the kitchen were Mrs. F. Frank, Mrs. McLaren, Mrs. Glen and Mrs. J. McLeod. Mrs. A. Brooks and Mrs. Colwell poured tea and coffee; Mrs. J. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Chris Haugland had charge of the bazaar table, and Mrs. F. Fisher was cashier.

Henry Thompson, who has been convalescing at Shaughnessy Military Hospital since his return from overseas will be coming to Terrace soon. Miss Katherine Ubert of Chicago, who has been visiting with her parents here, has gone to Vancouver to visit him.

Mrs. Bruce Johnstone will be moving from Lakelse Lake into Terrace within the next few days and will make her home in the cottage beside Mrs. S. Kirkaldy, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Campbell (nee Miss Alice Riley) have moved into the home of Mrs. J. Harris on Lakelse Avenue.

Mrs. M. A. Greig returned to Terrace Tuesday evening after a long absence in Vancouver. At present she is visiting with one of her daughters, Mrs. S. Kirkaldy, but will proceed in a short while to Prince Rupert where she will visit with another of her daughters, Mrs. Helen Forbes. Terrace residents are glad to have Mrs. Greig with them again.

Mr. W. Brazier, bookkeeper for Little, Haugland & Kerr, and Mrs. Brazier, bookkeeper for Michiel and Johnson, will leave soon for Prince Rupert. Eventually, they plan to make their home in Haney where they have bought a home.

G. L. Greenwood, inspector of motor vehicles, Prince George, motored through Terrace on his way to Rupert during the week.

Mr. Armishaw will be leaving in a few days for Kamloops and it is expected that Leslie Crumb will be back to take his place as checker.

After a fine motor trip down to Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ronson are now in Seattle.

Mrs. Timms of Kitselas spent Saturday in Terrace where she took in the United Church tea.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Calder left for Regina on Saturday night's train.

M. Dubeau and C. V. Titcomb are back from the Prince Rupert Hospital, where they have been patients.

After spending some time as a patient in the Prince Rupert Hospital, Mrs. Alger is back in Terrace again.

Word has been received by his family that John Desjardines, Sr., has arrived at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Min., and is receiving medical treatment.

Spending a few days with his sunt, Mrs. Barbara Giraud, is young Johnny Price of Smithers. Johnny is looking forward to seeing his father, who is now on his way home from overseas.

Mrs. George Moody and young son of Trail are visiting with Mrs. Moody's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glass.

W. R. Workman, road superintendent, was in Terrace while the road crew was clearing away the slide from the highway.

The heavy fall of snow on Saturday, accompanied by a chill north wind, makes us feel that winter is not far away. During the week, the snow has appeared lower and lower down the mountain sides and the air has become cooler.

On Thursday evening the Terrace Parent-Teacher Association will hold a meeting in the Legion Hall.

The dismantling of army buildings is expected to proceed more rapidly from now on as more soldiers have arrived for that work.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon returned to Prince Rupert on Tuesday after the highway had been cleared.

A very enjoyable Hallowe'en masquerade was held in the Anglican Church Hall on Friday last by the students of the local high school. The variety of costumes created both merriment and admiration. Janet Colwell as Robin Hood, Edna Toop as a cat and Bobby and Betty Bissette as the headless man and his wife were awarded prizes for their costumes. Judges were Mr. Barr, Miss Hall and Rev. R. Hills. A program of games kept all fully entertained and refreshments were served at midnight.

Quince have been successfully grown and ripened by Sam Kirkaldy during the past summer. The fruit makes excellent jelly. It is a bright yellow color, resembles an apple in shape and grows on a low tree. The quince is cultivated in many warm temperate climates but seldom ripens in latitudes as far north as Terrace.

A pleasant social evening was enjoyed by those who went to the card party held in the Catholic Church Hall on Thursday evening.

Mrs. S. Kirkaldy, Sr., has found that the Cape gooseberry, which grows well in Australia, can be successfully grown here. She has some bushes in her own garden. The jelly made from these gooseberries is delicious but has a different flavor from that of the ordinary gooseberry grown at Terrace.

After being badly burned when he fell on a hot stove Tuesday, Mr. Maxim was taken to the Smithers Hospital.

On Thursday night, Mr. and Mrs. John Sikora and young sons left for Vancouver where they plan to make their home.

In order to obtain his discharge from the army, Sgt. Fred Smith left on Friday night for Vancouver.

A brother of J. H. Smith, Stanley Smith, arrived from New Glasgow during the week to make his home in Terrace. He was accompanied by his wife and children.

Mrs. Martinsen and sons from Prince Rupert arrived on Wednesday to spend a few days at Lakelse Lake.

A baby girl was born to Mrs. Edgar Cole at her home Thursday.

On Thursday night Mr. and Mrs. M. Dubeau left for Ontario where they will remain until Mr. Dubeau's health improves.

Mrs. Alvin Jones of Park Avenue will be leaving soon for Tranquille where she will undergo treatment.

Word has been received that Jack Kirkaldy, who has received his discharge from the army, is attending U.B.C. in Vancouver.

SHORT SPORT

A veteran of the ice wars is Bucko McDonald. Once he was the roaring, bouncing defence-man of the Toronto Maple Leafs and later with the Detroit Red Wings and New York Rangers. Now he is a rotund member of the Canadian House of Commons where he sits as Liberal member for Parry Sound. But Bucko, who is now 34, came back to hockey on Saturday night. He went behind the Hull Volants blue-line in the opening game of the Quebec Hockey League season with Montreal Royals. Once he drew a cheer from the stands when he fell on his knees to stop a sizzling drive. But it was not the battling Bucko of old. The old speed just wasn't there and there were none of those belting body blows which made him a much-avoided back-liner in the National Hockey League. It wasn't Bucko's fault but the Montreal Royals won the game 2-0. There were four American Hockey League games Sunday night. At Buffalo, Hershey Bears were shut-out 4-0 by the Bisons. It was the first set-back for the Bears in this year's American League campaign. For the New Haven Eagles at New Haven, it was their first victory of the season when they defeated Pittsburgh Hornets 4-2. Previously, the Eagles have taken four beatings. At Providence, the Reds pinned a 6-3 defeat on Cleveland Barons. A young rookie from Canadian amateur ranks, Henry McQuestion, was in goal for Providence for the first time. Early in the game he showed some unsteadiness but later he steadied down and played a good game. In the western Division of the American League, Indianapolis Capitals got into first place when they trimmed St. Louis Flyers 7-3. The Capitals were in front all the way.

BOXING ASSOCIATION DECIDES ALL CHAMPIONS MUST DEFEND TITLES

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 30 (UP)—Commenting upon the return of champions from service to the ring, President Abe J. Greene of the National Boxing Association predicted that the revival of title competition would elevate boxing from a "purely cash register racket" to its prewar status as a genuine sport.

Greene made this prediction while releasing the N.B.A.'s first post-war ratings of leathertossers.

He said boxing during the war period had been generally a process of "matching and mismatching only by the register of the greatest box office draw." This enables mediocre talent to play to fantastic houses while champions and leading contenders were in service. There was no sporting reason for most of these bouts, he stressed, except to keep boxing "going."

But it'll be a different story now, he promised. With the champs back in civvies, competition for titles should provide "sporting activity resulting in the displacement of 'pretenders' by deserving contenders."

He announced that all champions have been notified they must defend their titles against proper contenders, after a "proper conditioning period." Champions who are entitled to the full period of respite, because they just got out of service, include: Heavyweight Joe Lewis, light-heavyweight Gus Lesnevich, and middleweight Tony Zale.

Three champions have been ordered to defend: Welterweight Freddie Cochrane, lightweight Ike Williams, and bantamweight Manuel Ortiz.

Here are the National Boxing Association's quarterly ratings:

Heavyweight

Light Heavyweight
(Champion) Gus Lesnevich. (Logical contenders) Archie Moore, Freddie Mills. (Out-standing boxers) Lloyd Marshall, Anton Christoforidis, Billy Fox. (Honorable mention) Fritz Fitzpatrick, Walter Woods, Ezzard Charles.

Middleweight

Welterweight

old Green, Nick Moran, Jimmy McDaniels, Billy Arnold, Cecil Hudson.

Lightweight

Featherweight

Bantamweight
(Champion) Manuel Ortiz. (Logical contenders) Tony Olivera, Bennie Goldberg, Luis Castillo. (Out-standing boxers) Kue Kong Young, Sammy Reynolds, Norman Lewis. (Honorable mention) Simon Vergara, Kid Zephine.

Flyweight
(Champion) Jackie Patterson. (Logical contenders) Joe Curran, Dada Marcio, Terry Allen. (Out-standing boxers) Ronnie Clayton, Alex Murphy, George Parks. (Honorable mention) Tommy Burney, Buntly Doran.

ENGINEERS WIN IN BADMINTON

Won Challenge Match with R.C.A.S.C.

The "Y" gym was the scene of keen badminton rivalry last night when the challenge match between the Royal Canadian Engineers and the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps took place. Many excellent games were played and battles were close and hotly contested, with the Engineers coming out on top in the final games total.

Those on the Engineer's team were Lieuts. Macdonald and Stewart, Pigg and LePlume, Cummings and McMenemy (the latter borrowed from the opposing team), Beradine and Thomas, Gefucia and Lennox.

R.C.A.S.C.—Capt. Edwards and Dorcas, Lieut. Hadland and Curley, Horne and Stewart, Carter and De Maddo, Addie and Dick.

LONDON. (U.P.) — After a six-year absence the Brigade of Guards resumed guard mounting at the Bank of England—a custom going back to 1780. During the war the guard was provided by the Honorable Artillery and military police.
