Time Marches Back? . . .

Signs are that along about October the ersatz war clock will sound its alarm at having its hands deliberately set back an hour. But the hall clock probably will tock back in reassuring grandfatherly fashion: "Oh, that's just an old prewar custom. It used to happen to us every fall

Daylight-saving time never was universally popular even when in operation just for the summer. And the war time which has prevailed the year around since early in the war has been barely endured for the sake of the war effort. Cows are reported to have mooed their protest at being put on the swing shift. Mothers in many sections have had difficulty getting their children up and off to school in the dark and to bed in daylight. Early winter morning workers seldom were moved to poetic outbursts by the accompanying moonlight. Farmers have challenged the clock tinkers to provide a way of "evaporating the morning dew an hour earlier."

But warm protests have been outweighed by cold statistics showing that war time has conserved billions of kilowatt hours of electric power, and war agencies have been adamant against repeal of the daylight-saving legislation. Now, with the war over, the hour has struck when we can send the forward time marching back to civilian status.

this is the Clearing House maintained by the banks so that customers' cheques can be exchanged and the banks can settle their accounts with one another every day. From here, Jack's cheque was sent to the clearing department of his own bank, and from there to the branch where Jack keeps his account.

this is the Ledger-Keeper who made sure that the signature was really Jack's. Then he debited Jack's account. The amount is entered in Jack's passbook next time he comes in, so he always knows exactly where he stands

This is a sketchy outline of what happens when you pay an out-of-town bill by cheque. Many people pay their large local bills that way too. To be able to pay by cheque is a tremendow convenience which costs you little or nothing.

Assurance by telegram has been given the Fall Fair Board that Hon. Harry G. Perry, education minister and local member, will be here to attend the fall fair banquet on Friday, September 7, at 7 p.m., in the Prince George Hotel dining-room, when trophies and prize money will be presented.

Curtailment of logging and mill operations is being seriously considered by many owners confronted with the most acute labor shortage since 1939 in Prince George administrative district of Selective Service.

Detailed planning by the energetic Junior Chamber of Commerce gave children and adults of this district outstanding entertainments Monday, Labor Day, with a full day of sports at Athletic Park and a midway at the Civic Arena in the evening.

Despite stiff competition, Mud River and Beaverley Calf Cluo emerged winners of the junor club calf competition toward the close of the 30th annual Fall Fair last Wednesday when livestock entries were more than double those of 1944.

Pte. Norine Patterson, C.W.A.C. youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Patterson, is home on furlough from her station in Vancouver.

Domestic demand for . textiles increased sharply during the war. It is still going up.

Civilian clothing needs of returning servicemen and women are swelling the demand here at home.

CONSERVATION IS THE KEYNOTE

This year, production directives have again been issued to the textiles industry.

They are intended to divert output to more essential goods.

But directives alone cannot cure a situation arising from world conditions.

The answer lies in conservation. More than ever, the need is to conserve, to take care of what there is, to mend, make-over and make-do.

GERMAN PLANS FOR NEXT WAR

Told in "The Master Race" Showing at the Capitol

The theory that the Germans, responsible for two world wars, are making detailed plans for their third attempt at world conquest is the theme of "The Master Race," coming to the Capitol Theatre Wednesday.

The picture presents a dramatic, believable story, based on already-published evidence from Nazi sources, of the cunning with which the recent rulers of Germany were planning to sow seeds of discord and suspicion throughout the world after their surrender, to make their next attempt more likely to succeed.

The story paints a grim, disturbing picture of the care with which the United Nations must examine collapse on the part of the Germans, and their protestaery they have brought the world.

MUSIC and MUSICIANS

The K. of C. hut resumed its Thursday night dances last week with the Frank Dutton sextette on hand to provide the music. Dutton's band will not be playing at the Y.M.C.A. this evening, however, as that dance has been cancelled due to a shortage of "Y" supervisors here while the association is holding its conference near Vancouver.

Tommy Pederson, trombonist, and Charlie Ventura, tenor sax men, of Gene Krupa's band, are planning to form their own combos at the end of September.

Boyd Raeburn's orchestra opened at Sweet's Ballroom, at Oakland, California, for a run of four weeks.

Duke Ellington cancelled 11 one-nighters in the midwest recently with an explanation that his doctors had ordered him not to make one-night stand's.

Reports from New York indicate that Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians, who usually open the Grill Room of the Hotel Roosevelt there, will stay on the west coast because of motion picture commitments and won't open until later.

Initial practice of the revived Prince George band was held last Thursday 'evening in the C.C.F. Hall. Practices are being held each Thursday and names are now being taken for a special beginners' class.

A new opportunity for servicemen and women in the Prince Rupert area to enjoy classical music has been provided by the conversion of the assistant program director's office in the Y.M.C.A. War Services building into a record-playing room.

LAC. Bob Fleming and Mrs. Fleming, the "Y" assistant program director, have been redecoby music lovers and their task is now practically complete.

Reviewing the number and quality of libraries across the Dominion, the Youth Commisdian Central Jute Committee at sion reports that a levy of 50 cents per capita is reckoned as the minimum on which an adequate library service can be maintained. In Canada in 1942, less than 20 cents per capita was spent on libraries, compared with 30 cents in Britain and 40 cents in the United States.

The commission quotas the Dominion Bureau of Statistics as i reporting that more than 50 per cent of the population of Can-! ada is without library service,! compared with 25 per cent in the U.S. and one per cent in Britain.
