LABOR SEEKS TO HOLD GAINS IN NEW YEAR ACHIEVED DURING THE WAR

Canadian Unions Face 1946 With Determination to Keep Progress Made During War

By JACK WILLIAMS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 (CP)—Canadian labor toward a new year in somewhat anxious but nevertheless determined mood. The labor movement emerged from the war with its membership at a all-time high with new legislation favorable to labor and with a firm intention of keeping in peacetime the gains made on war production.

Reports made public in 1945 placed the total membership of labor unions at 720,000, double the pre-war figure. The question of what is going to happen to that membership looms large as the year nears an end. The unions found new strength in war industries. Thousands of semi-skilled and unskilled workers carried a union card for the first time; but many of them were to change jobs to fit into the peacetime economy.

Strikes in the early part of the year had been low—for the first eight months the time loss was 63 percent lower than in the same period of 1944—but toward the end of the year the figures soar, largely as a result of the Ford Motor Co. walkout at Windsor, Ont.

The main issue in the Ford dispute is union security—the demand of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) for a union shop and check-off. The company opposes that demand with the argument that a union shop agreement, requiring every employee to join the union, and the compulsory deduction of union dues from payrolls, are undemocratic.

While statements from both sides emphasize the union security issue there is evidence of strong feeling in the minds of the ordinary worker walking the picket line that other securities are involved, too—job security and wage security.

Wage Guaranteed

A guaranteed wage of $1,800 a year is one of the issues between the company and the union. The average Ford worker admits that he received a good hourly rate and that he had worked steadily while war production was at its peak but he is nervous about the future.

Labor Presents Civic Case—

MAYOR, CIVIC LABOR CANDIDATES AIR VIEWS AT PUBLIC MEETINGS

Civic Labor Federation's seven candidates for civic office took turns in speaking before an audience of about forty in the Oddfellows' Hall last night and their brief talks were followed by a speech by Mayor H. M. Daggett in which he concluded a summary of the work done by city council this year with an appeal for a solid labor vote.

Speakers were the four labor candidates for the two year aldermanic term—J. S. Black, John Mulrooney, Harold A. Ponder and Alderman George A. Bludworth—the one year aldermanic candidate, Peter P. Forman; and the two labor school board candidates, Mrs. Pearl H. Howe and Mrs. Myrtle Roper. August Wallin was chairman of the meeting.

City Clerk H. D. Thain, who is also returning officer, explained the method of the Hunter ballot which is to be used for this year's voting.

Mayor Daggett credited the 1943 council, composed largely of labor members, with establishing trust funds for the city's telephone and waterworks utilities. From this policy of "salting away" 25 per cent of the profits of both utilities, two funds, containing a total of some $43,000 have been set up. The telephone reserve now contains $11,273. While the waterworks reserve fund has about $32,000.

In addition, a third fund, composed of receipts from the sale

LABORITE M.P. IS FOUND DEAD

LONDON, Dec. 11—A Laborite member of the British House of Parliament has been found dead after being listed as missing since Friday. He was 48-year old J. E. Whittaker. The British Press Association said that Whittaker had been ill for some time and apparently died of exposure.

CONDITION CRITICAL

Famous American General is, However, Comfortable and Completely Rational

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Dec. 11—The latest report concerning General Patton says the two-gun general remains in a critical condition although his physicians state he is "quite comfortable and completely rational." He is suffering from a broken neck and partial paralysis as a result of a motor accident Sunday. Mrs. Patton is on the way to the side of her husband. Weather conditions prevented her plane landing at Paris this morning and it is now believed heading for southern France.

It is disclosed that a British specialist in neuro-surgery has been flown to Heidelberg to examine Patton.

Fluctuations in peacetime employment are not peculiar to the Ford Co. They have been fairly common throughout the automobile industry. The Windsor workers who during the strike have gone for weeks with only income from union relief

Soviet to Co-operate in Giving Control of Manchuria to Nationalists

CHUNGKING, Dec. 11 (CP)—The official Chinese news agency reports today that China and the Soviet Union have concluded an agreement whereby Chinese Nationalist forces will be flown into Manchuria to take over such important cities as Mukden and Harbin.

The report says agreement also has been reached on the procedure to be followed for the Chinese Nationalists to take over local administrations throughout Manchuria. The Russians are said to have agreed to protect the Chinese Nationalist troops, presumably against the Chinese Communists, whenever they land in Manchuria.

LASKI CHARGES UNITED STATES "IMPERIALISM"

LONDON, Dec. 11—Professor Harold J. Laski, chairman of Britain's Labor Party, said in an address last night that Britain in accepting the Bretton Woods proposals is "aiding and abetting American imperialism," but the alternative would have to be to "swing back America on political grounds to isolationism."

Laski, expressing doubts about the wisdom of the Bretton Woods agreement, said "if there had been no signature on this agreement by the British government, the results would have been the destruction of the working powers of the United Nations Organization."

No Soap, Norwegians Are Still Using Sand

There is no soap in Norway yet and it is still necessary to use sand for scouring purposes, according to a letter received by Bert Hanson from his sister in the Old Country. It was five years since there had been coffee in Norway where the people were great coffee drinkers.

Newfoundland To Get Autonomy

Elected Convention To Be Set Up in Old Colony

LONDON, Dec. 11 (CP)—Prime Minister Clement Attlee announced today that the British government will set up an elected national convention in Newfoundland next year. He said the convention will be established as early in 1946 as climate permits. Newfoundland, the first British colony in the western hemisphere, was a self-governing Dominion from 1855 to 1933 when financial difficulties forced it to appeal to the British government. Since 1934 representative government has been suspended and the island has been governed by British government commission.

URGENT DOCK TENDER FOR SHIP REPAIR

Mayor H. M. Daggett and W. M. Watts of the Prince Rupert Industrial Development Committee have sent a telegram to W. K. Levensh, vice-president in charge, western lines, C.N.R., Winnipeg, urging that the Prince Rupert Dry Dock submit a bid for repair work on the damaged Texas Oil Co.'s tanker Illinois now in dry dock here.

At a Civic Labor Federation meeting last night Mayor Daggett told the audience that, after he and Mr. Watts had heard a rumor that the dry dock management would not bid for the job of repairing the 5,000-ton tanker which was brought here for examination, they had made enquiries at the dry dock concerning it.

"Mr. Allen, the manager, was away, and we were given the run-around," the Mayor said. "So we immediately sent a wire to Mr. Devenish urging that the dry dock make a bid for the job. We pointed out that it would help fill the interim until more definite word is received about the construction of another vessel here."

At present dry dock manager Bernard Allen is in Montreal.

Seventy Million People Prepared To Use Lethal Means To Annihilate Invading Forces on Indies Island

BATAVIA, Dec. 11 (CP)—Indonesian leaders threatened today to use both poison and arms to resist military restoration of Dutch sovereignty in strife-torn Java. Premier Sjahrir of the unrecognized Indonesian republic said Indonesian forces would fight if the British command attempted to land more troops to back up the rule of the Netherlands.

From a radio station near Soerabaja, a native leader, Soetomo, spoke of a campaign of poisoning against the Dutch, saying "the Dutch are boasting they soon will bring in thousands of soldiers. What of it? We are determined to annihilate them, even if we have to poison them to death. We have seventy million people behind us. It is an easy task for us to get rid of one or two hundred thousand enemies by poison."

Big Cunard Liner Arrives at Halifax During Night

HALIFAX, Dec. 11—When the Mauretania docked in Halifax last night 14 troop trains were waiting at dockside to take the Canadian service personnel to their homes across the Dominion. One special, with 397 men aboard, moved to Vancouver commencing at five o'clock this morning and until seven tonight a train is steaming out of Halifax every hour over C.N.R. lines.

The big Cunard White Star liner brought home 10 Canadian sailors and one Wren, 4735 soldiers and 635 airmen. In addition the Mauretania brought 30 Royal Navy and 41 British Army personnel, 202 Newfoundland ratings and 72 lumbermen and their 17 wives and six children, 112 Chinese merchant navy ratings and 100 ministry of war transport and 40 Canadian government priority civilians for a total passenger list of 5991 persons.

To transport the Mauretania's passengers 145 C.N.R. cars were needed, 102 sleepers, 17 diners, 15 coaches and 11 baggage cars.

Appraisal work, which is being done by E. F. Poole of Edmonton, may be completed about December 15, it is understood. Mr. Poole, the Canadian government appraiser, is a member of the Poole Construction Co. of Edmonton, which had construction contracts with the Navy here during the war.

American government appraiser is Major Hart, U. S. Army who is at present in the south.

"I cannot see how the deal can be consummated until the appraisal has been completed and the title turned over to War Assets by the Corporation," Mr. McKinnon said.

Commenting on the policy of the corporation, Mr. McKinnon said that its policy was to give as fair distribution of its materials as possible throughout the country. While large blocks of materials probably might be sold in places where they can be most India . . .

There is an emphatic note of urgency in the United Kingdom government's statement of policy for India made recently in both Houses of Parliament. The statement reaffirms in the clearest language the intention of the government as announced to convene a constitution-making body in India as soon as possible. But India is in the grip of an electoral campaign and insinuations are being bandied from the platform reflecting on British good faith. The burden of these suggestions is that His Majesty's government are planning postponement of the accession of India to Dominion status and that they may use the proposed discussions between the Viceroy and the related representatives of British India and representatives of the Indian States immediately after the elections as a delaying factor. In view of the suggestions the government has considered it imperative to eradicate all doubts and suspicions on this subject by a new unequivocal statement. So the government has now made it crystal clear that the setting up of a constitution-making body is a matter which will brook no delay. The government declare here and now that it regards it "as a matter of the greatest urgency." While there may be no delay on the government's part in striving to secure the wisest measures of agreement on the method of framing India's future-made constitution, it will be for the Indian Parties to see to it that their differences of aim and outlook are not allowed unduly to defer the consummation of India's self-governing aspirations.

The government has decided to send a non-partisan delegation to India. These representatives of the chief British political parties should be able personally to contribute to the removal of misunderstandings as they will certainly testify to the earnestness of British intentions and the sincerity of British goodwill. Meanwhile the British government during the transition period which must intervene before India becomes fully self-governing could not permit any attempt to be made to break down the loyalty of the administrative services or the Indian armed forces and they will give full support to the government of India in securing that their servants are protected in the performance of their duty and that the future constitution of India shall not be called into being by force or threat of force.

India will have need of internal peace both for settling the many difficulties inherent in her constitutional problem and for tackling successfully the extensive projects for social and economic welfare which the government of India have outlined, and for the execution of which the British government is giving every encouragement. Until the new constitution comes into being the government of the country will have to be carried on with due respect for the maintenance of law and order and for those charged with their maintenance.

A Graphic War Picture . . .

Undoubtedly the most graphic and comprehensive pictorial document of the recent war to be shown to date is "The True Glory," a filmed chronology of those great events of fighting which took place between "D" Day and "V-E" Day in Western Europe. From the picture can be more fully appreciated the cast and almost miraculous co-ordinated massing of fighting power which started on June 6, 1944, with the operation of Mulberry on the beach of Normandy through Caen, Falaise, St. Lo, Rhem and the other great battles up to the final victory across the Rhine on May 7, 1945. To accomplish this is an ingenious pany the picturization of the various methods of narrative in which fight-London Cockney to the Harlem negro ing men of various nations and races from the London Cockney to the Harlem negro tell the story in sequences. The picture, which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre and concludes today, should be seen by all who wish to be up to date on the war story.

IMPROVEMENTS IN BRITISH TRAINS

New Post-War Services Being Rapidly Put Into Effect
NEW YORK, Dec. 12—The British railways are off to a good start in putting into effect their promises for improved post-war services: faster schedules; more comfortable and attractive passenger cars; restoration of some restaurant cars; speedy resumption, as conditions allow, of the former convenience and luxuries so highly valued by the pre-war traveller.
The London and North Eastern Railway has reduced the time of the "Flying Scotsman" from London to Edinburgh by 50 minutes and from Edinburgh to London by 45 minutes, according to T. D. Slattery, general traffic manager of British Railways headquarters in New York. Another spectacular acceleration is the London, Midland and Scottish London (Euston)-Inverness train, which arrives 1 hour, 43 minutes earlier than formerly. This company has added 44 trains to its services.

LETTERBOX

HAS HOTEL PLAN

Editor, Daily News:
There recently appeared in your columns a letter suggesting a new hotel be built by local interests. This is a good idea and should be applied to other things as well. Unless we are ready to help ourselves and have sufficient faith in our proposals we can hardly expect outside interests to enthuse over them.

The impending lay-offs at the dry dock would seem to provide a timely opportunity. From remarks made at the industrial relations meeting last week one can assume that employees affected are for the most part carpenters, plumbers, painters, etc. and can be gainfully employed on general construction. Why not build a hotel now to take up a portion of the anticipated slack and keep these workers here a few more months at least? By then we hope a nationwide program will permit more suitable re-employment. Also this will give the C.N.R. further time they claim is necessary to reach a decision on their ship construction. As a sign of good faith the C.N.R. should be asked to grant those laid off and remaining here certain privileges during that period. No doubt also the C.N.R. could be instrumental in obtaining material that might be required to keep these men working on other construction. The supply situation might well be solved with both provincial and Dominion government co-operation and aid.

Regarding finance I believe there would be little difficulty and suggest the following:
Let us suppose we decide on a 200-room hotel. A reasonable estimate of cost would be $1,000 per room with $250 for furnishings etc.—total cost $250,000. From the outstanding record of dry dock purchases we may assume that practically every em-employee has some Victory Bonds and if 250 persons put up $500 each to form a company for the undertaking half the required capital would be obtained. Surely an equal amount in shares could be subscribed by other citizens! Properly directed there should be no depreciation on investment and shares should be readily negotiable at full value for those wishing to sell after completion.

As an added incentive to facilitate construction now I think the city might exempt the property from taxation during construction. Here's hoping some responsible group of individuals will get busy on this idea before it is too late.

LAI D AT REST AT TERRACE

Many Attend Funeral of Late William S. Anderson on Monday

TERRACE, Dec. 11—Terrace people turned out in large congregation yesterday afternoon to pay final tributes of esteem and respect to the memory of a respected citizen of many years standing in the person of William S. Anderson who passed away last week.

Rev. T. C. Colwell officiated at a service in the United Church. Miss Betty Colwell presided at the organ to accompany hymns which were "Abide With Me" and "Rock of Ages." Members of the Masonic Lodge, of which deceased was a past master, attended in a body.

Later interment was made at Kalum Cemetery in the beautiful burying ground on the hill where many other pioneers lie at rest. Masonic committal rites were conducted by G. C. Sessions, worshipful master of Terrace Lodge, and James McGlashan, past master.

Palbearers were Messrs. Finlayson, Walsh, Sherwood, Burns, Corey and Lambly. W. A. Kirkpatrick acted as funeral director. Many beautiful floral tributes were offered.

Besides his widow, the late Mr. Anderson is survived by a son, George, and daughter, Mrs. George McAdams.

LOCAL GIRL IS SEATTLE BRIDE

Miss Helen Skogmo and Gayle Woodbeck Are United

A marriage of interest—linking east and west was solemnized in Seattle recently at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. Niveson, when Helen, younger daughter of Mrs. S. Skogmo of this city and Gayle, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodbeck of Charlotte, Michigan, exchanged vows.

The bride looked charming in a frock of pale blue silk jersey with pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds and gardenias.

Mrs. Alice Van Patten, who was attired in navy blue, attended the bride. Her corsage was red rose-buds.

Following the nuptial rite, the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip to the groom's home in Michigan.

BOX CAMERAS ARE HERE AGAIN

Box cameras are on sale at local photographic shops for the first time in three years. About 75 arrived in the city on Saturday. Once it became known they were on hand, considerable activity in their purchase developed. Folding cameras are still impossible to obtain but the expectation is that they too may be available before long. There is still a scarcity of film.

People read classified advertising for the accidental humor that sometimes slips in, as well as for the values advertised. For instance, a farmer put this ad in his local newspaper: "Wanted—Man to take care of a cow that does not gamble, drink or go to dances."

LONDON, Dec. 12—The famous Bathstone mines in Wiltshire, which furnished the original stone for St. Paul's Cathedral in the 17th Century, is today providing the stone to repair the bomb damage suffered by this famous Christopher Wren edifice. During the war Britain's largest underground aircraft factory was set up in the workings of the mine, 80 feet underground.

Old Council Like "Drunken Sailors"

James S. Black, a former chairman of the city's board of works, deplored that, when representative civic government was restored in 1943, streets and utilities maintenance equipment was dilapidated and in short supply and charged that businessmen on council before the commissioner had "conducted the city's business like a bunch of drunken sailors."

"If they had built up reserve funds there would have been money for the equipment which the last three councils have tried so hard to get," he said.

"I remember when a committee of business men met the city council in regard to the city's finances and the only suggestion they could offer was to increase taxes," he declared. "If I have anything to say about it there will be no increase in taxes."

Peter Forman spoke in support of a program of developing and extending recreational facilities and outlined the efforts of this year's council in that regard.

"Juvenile delinquency," he said, "is at a low ebb in Prince Rupert and one way to keep it that way is to provide recreation which will keep the young people out of questionable places."

John Mulrone, incidental to a double-barrelled blast against Reconstruction Minister Hon. C. D. Howe, said that the city needed an airport and deep sea coal bunkering facilities. He declared that, if peace had not been declared "suddenly," the city's public works program might have been under way now.

"The sudden coming of peace disorganized things and city council had to start its negotiations with the federal government over again," he said in reference to the proposed joint street maintenance program which failed to materialize after peace was declared.

Harold A. Ponder saw rehabilitation as "just as important to the worker as it is to the returned service man or woman." The condition of the city's schools offered an opportunity for rehabilitation. However, he added, "it is time the Citizen's Rehabilitation Council was rehabilitated."

He emphasized the need for modernizing the government grain elevator's loading facilities, establishment of coal bunkers for deep sea vessels, beautifying the approaches to the city and reviving the parks as beauty spots.

Alderman George Rudderham saw in the re-election of Mayor Daggett the "keynote of public opinion."

"If the people are satisfied with him, I don't see that the Independents have much of a chance," Mr. Rudderham declared.

Is Sure of Federal Aid

As chairman of this year's board of works, Alderman Rudderham said that preparatory work had been done for a street program next spring and that the city has been able to buy some new equipment for that purpose.

"I feel that the federal government will come through with about $172,000 as its share of the cost of rehabilitating the streets," he asserted, adding later that this was half of estimated $344,000 total cost.

School board candidate Mrs. Howe emphasized the importance of school libraries. Mrs. M. Roper outlined the important points of the Cameron educational report, saying that, "if the Cameron report is carried out, we should have better school buildings."

Mrs. Roper said that she sought re-election from a sense of duty and because she felt that it was in the best interests of education that there should be "continuity of personnel" on the school board and that it should not be changing constantly.

British Railway Is Building Big Hotel

ABERDEEN, Scotland, Dec. 12.—Plans for a new Palace Hotel in Aberdeen, recently proposed by the London and North Eastern Railway, have been approved by the Aberdeen authorities. It is estimated that this 6-storey building, each bedroom with private bath, and featuring air conditioning and a number of public recreation rooms, will cost $2,500,000. The new building will replace the old hotel, destroyed by fire in 1941.

"Maytime," with Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, At Capitol Theatre This Mid-Week

The spectacular musical comedy "Maytime," featuring those singing stars Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy in the starring roles, will delight Capitol Theatre goers here this Wednesday and Thursday.

Not only do Miss MacDonald and Eddy sing the original theme songs of Sigmund Romberg but they are also heard in a number of operatic arias and novelties. Eddy sings the famous "Students' Drinking Song," "Vive l'Opera" and "Virginia Ham and Eggs." Together they sing "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny."

Lynee Carver and Tom Brown provide the juvenile romantic atmosphere while others in the cast include John Barrymore, Herman Bing, Paul Porcasi and Sig Rumann.

Elaborate costumes and magnificent sets embellish the production in which the Don Casack Chorus and Symphony Orchestra also play a prominent part.

Britain's Railway Steamers Still In Military Service

LONDON, Dec. 12 — Many of the railway steamers so familiar to pre-war travellers in Great Britain are still engaged in war work, serving as hospital ships, troopships, minesweepers, etc. Famous train ferry steamers are proving invaluable in pouring supplies into liberated Europe. During the last 20 years the railways spent nearly $45,000,000 in developing these fast, modern liners in miniature.

CUTTING THE CAKE—This happy scene occurred recently at the Y.M.C.A. War Service lounge here after Leora Borton, daughter of Mrs. McMahon of Edmonton, became the bride of Stoker First Class William Lasell, also of that city. Assembled friends gathered to attend the rite and take part in the reception where this picture was taken as the bride and groom cut their pretty three-tier wedding cake.

WILL SURVEY EATING HABITS

Federal Doctor and Nurse to Tour Province

Survey of eating habits of school children in B.C. will be undertaken in representative districts throughout the province. A specially trained doctor and nurse will come from the Dominion Department of Nutrition at request of the nutrition division of the Red Cross, Provincial Board of Health and Metropolitan Health Committee of Vancouver, to inspect British Columbia school children for signs of dietary deficiencies.

By means of facts gathered from this survey, which will commence early in January, it is hoped to evolve a school-lunch program that will be the basis for improving the eating habits, and consequently the health of children of this province.

Following a similar project in Ontario, the Red Cross has undertaken a school feeding project in one rural district and one urban school to demonstrate the value of a well balanced noon meal for a child, if carried on during a school year. This is the first time such a project has been undertaken in Canada, and it is hoped that the B.C. Division of the Red Cross will be able to undertake a similar project in this province.

Appointment of Dr. F. F. Tisdall, assistant professor of pediatrics and director of research at Toronto University as chairman of the nutrition committee of the Canadian Red Cross, is in line with expansion of Red Cross nutrition program in Canada. It was Dr. Tisdall who planned the Canadian prisoner of war Red Cross parcel, which is now being given credit for keeping service men, imprisoned by the enemy, in good health.

PAINLESS BIRTH IS SUGGESTED

LONDON, Dec. 12 — Tall red-haired Dr. Edith Summerskill, parliamentary secretary to the food ministry, seethes with irritation when she talks of Britain's falling birthrate and suggests as a remedy painless childbirth.

Too many men expect an anaesthetic when they have a boil lanced but show little active sympathy toward women who suffer hours of agony in labor without drugs which can bring relief, she told the Canadian Press.

"If the decline in the birthrate continues we will be a middle-aged nation in 20 years," said Dr. Summerskill, who has been a doctor for 20 years and a wife for 19. The mother of a son and daughter, she thinks it is time for the woman's view on the birthrate to be heard and appreciated.

"There are plans for the extension of social services but these services will become harder to finance when the load falls heavily on the able-bodied who have the burden of a large proportion of the population in the old-age category," she said. "It's a grim outlook for our grandchildren."

More children were wanted but men too often took the attitude that women always have suffered in childbirth, so why change? Chloroform was used for the relief of pain 100 years ago "but in this atomic age women still have to agitate for the provision of modern foolproof apparatus which is available for the relief of pain in childbirth and which can be used by a trained nurse or midwife."

Apathy Blocks Birth Progress

"Apathy stands in the way—that's all," Dr. Summerskill said. "A baby is born every minute in this country—at least 70 per cent of them without the benefits of an anaesthetic. Local authorities have permissive power to provide the necessary nurses and apparatus. Too often they don't use their power. But the campaigns backed by women everywhere are having results."

Hospital accommodation for every mother, with efficient nursing and moderate charges, is also urged by Dr. Summerskill, who has argued the case of mothers in the House of Commons since she first won a seat in 1924. She has spoken at hundreds of meetings on the subject and says she finds all women behind her.

"We won't get a real increase in the birthrate until the status of motherhood is raised," she continued. "I'm looked on as more important because I am a member of parliament and a doctor than if I were the mother of six children, and yet a mother vouchers and family allowances recall pre-war days when they experienced alternate periods of high production and lay-offs. They took on union security as their hope for wage and job security to prevent irregular work periods.

LABOR SEEKS TO HOLD GAINS WON

The Windsor strikers—10,000 in the Ford plant and at one time 8,500 on a sympathy strike in other Windsor automobile factories—are not the only Canadians out of a job as the year draws to a close. In November only four of the 29 largest Canadian cities had more vacant jobs than unemployed and in those centres there was difficulty fitting the available men into the unfilled jobs.

Some of those who have jobs are worried about wages. "Take-home pay" has become a popular topic of conversation during the year. Many workers have been upgraded to higher paying jobs during the labor-short war years and most of them have supplemented their regular weekly wages with considerable overtime.

Latest government figures covering 1,724,000 employees showed that at October 1 pay envelopes held an average of $32.08 compared with $32.36 on October 1, 1944. The drop was attributed to job changes and less overtime. It was apparent wages would be one of the big issues in 1946.

Also on the 1946 agenda was the future of such legislation as the federal labor code which introduced compulsory collective bargaining in 1944. The federal government had stepped on to what was normally provincial ground during the war, but the future of such legislation had still to be determined.

CHILD DIES IN SHALLOW WATER

A two-year old Metlakatla child died of suffocation on the waterfront near her home late yesterday afternoon after she had apparently fallen on her face in a few inches of water while playing at the water's edge with another tiny companion. The child was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson of Metlakatla.

According to a police report the child was found lying face downward in the water, and when efforts to revive it failed, a boat was sent to the city to bring medical help. Dr. J. A. Macdonald and J. A. Findlay of the Indian Department were taken to Metlakatla on the P.M.L. 15, arriving about 5:30. However, the child did not respond to treatment.

An inquiry into the tragedy is being conducted by Coroner M. M. Stephens today.

VANCOUVER—Fifty veterans a day are applying for out-of-work benefits from the Vancouver office of the Department of Veterans' Affairs it was announced Saturday. On December 1 there were 4,850 veterans unemployed in Vancouver.

Modern Etiquette
By ROBERTA LEE

Q. Is it good manners to recognize servants when one meets them on the street?

A. Yes, by all means. It would be rude not to do so. In some instances servants are more worthy of recognition than many people they serve.

Q. What is meant by the term "resident chaperone"?

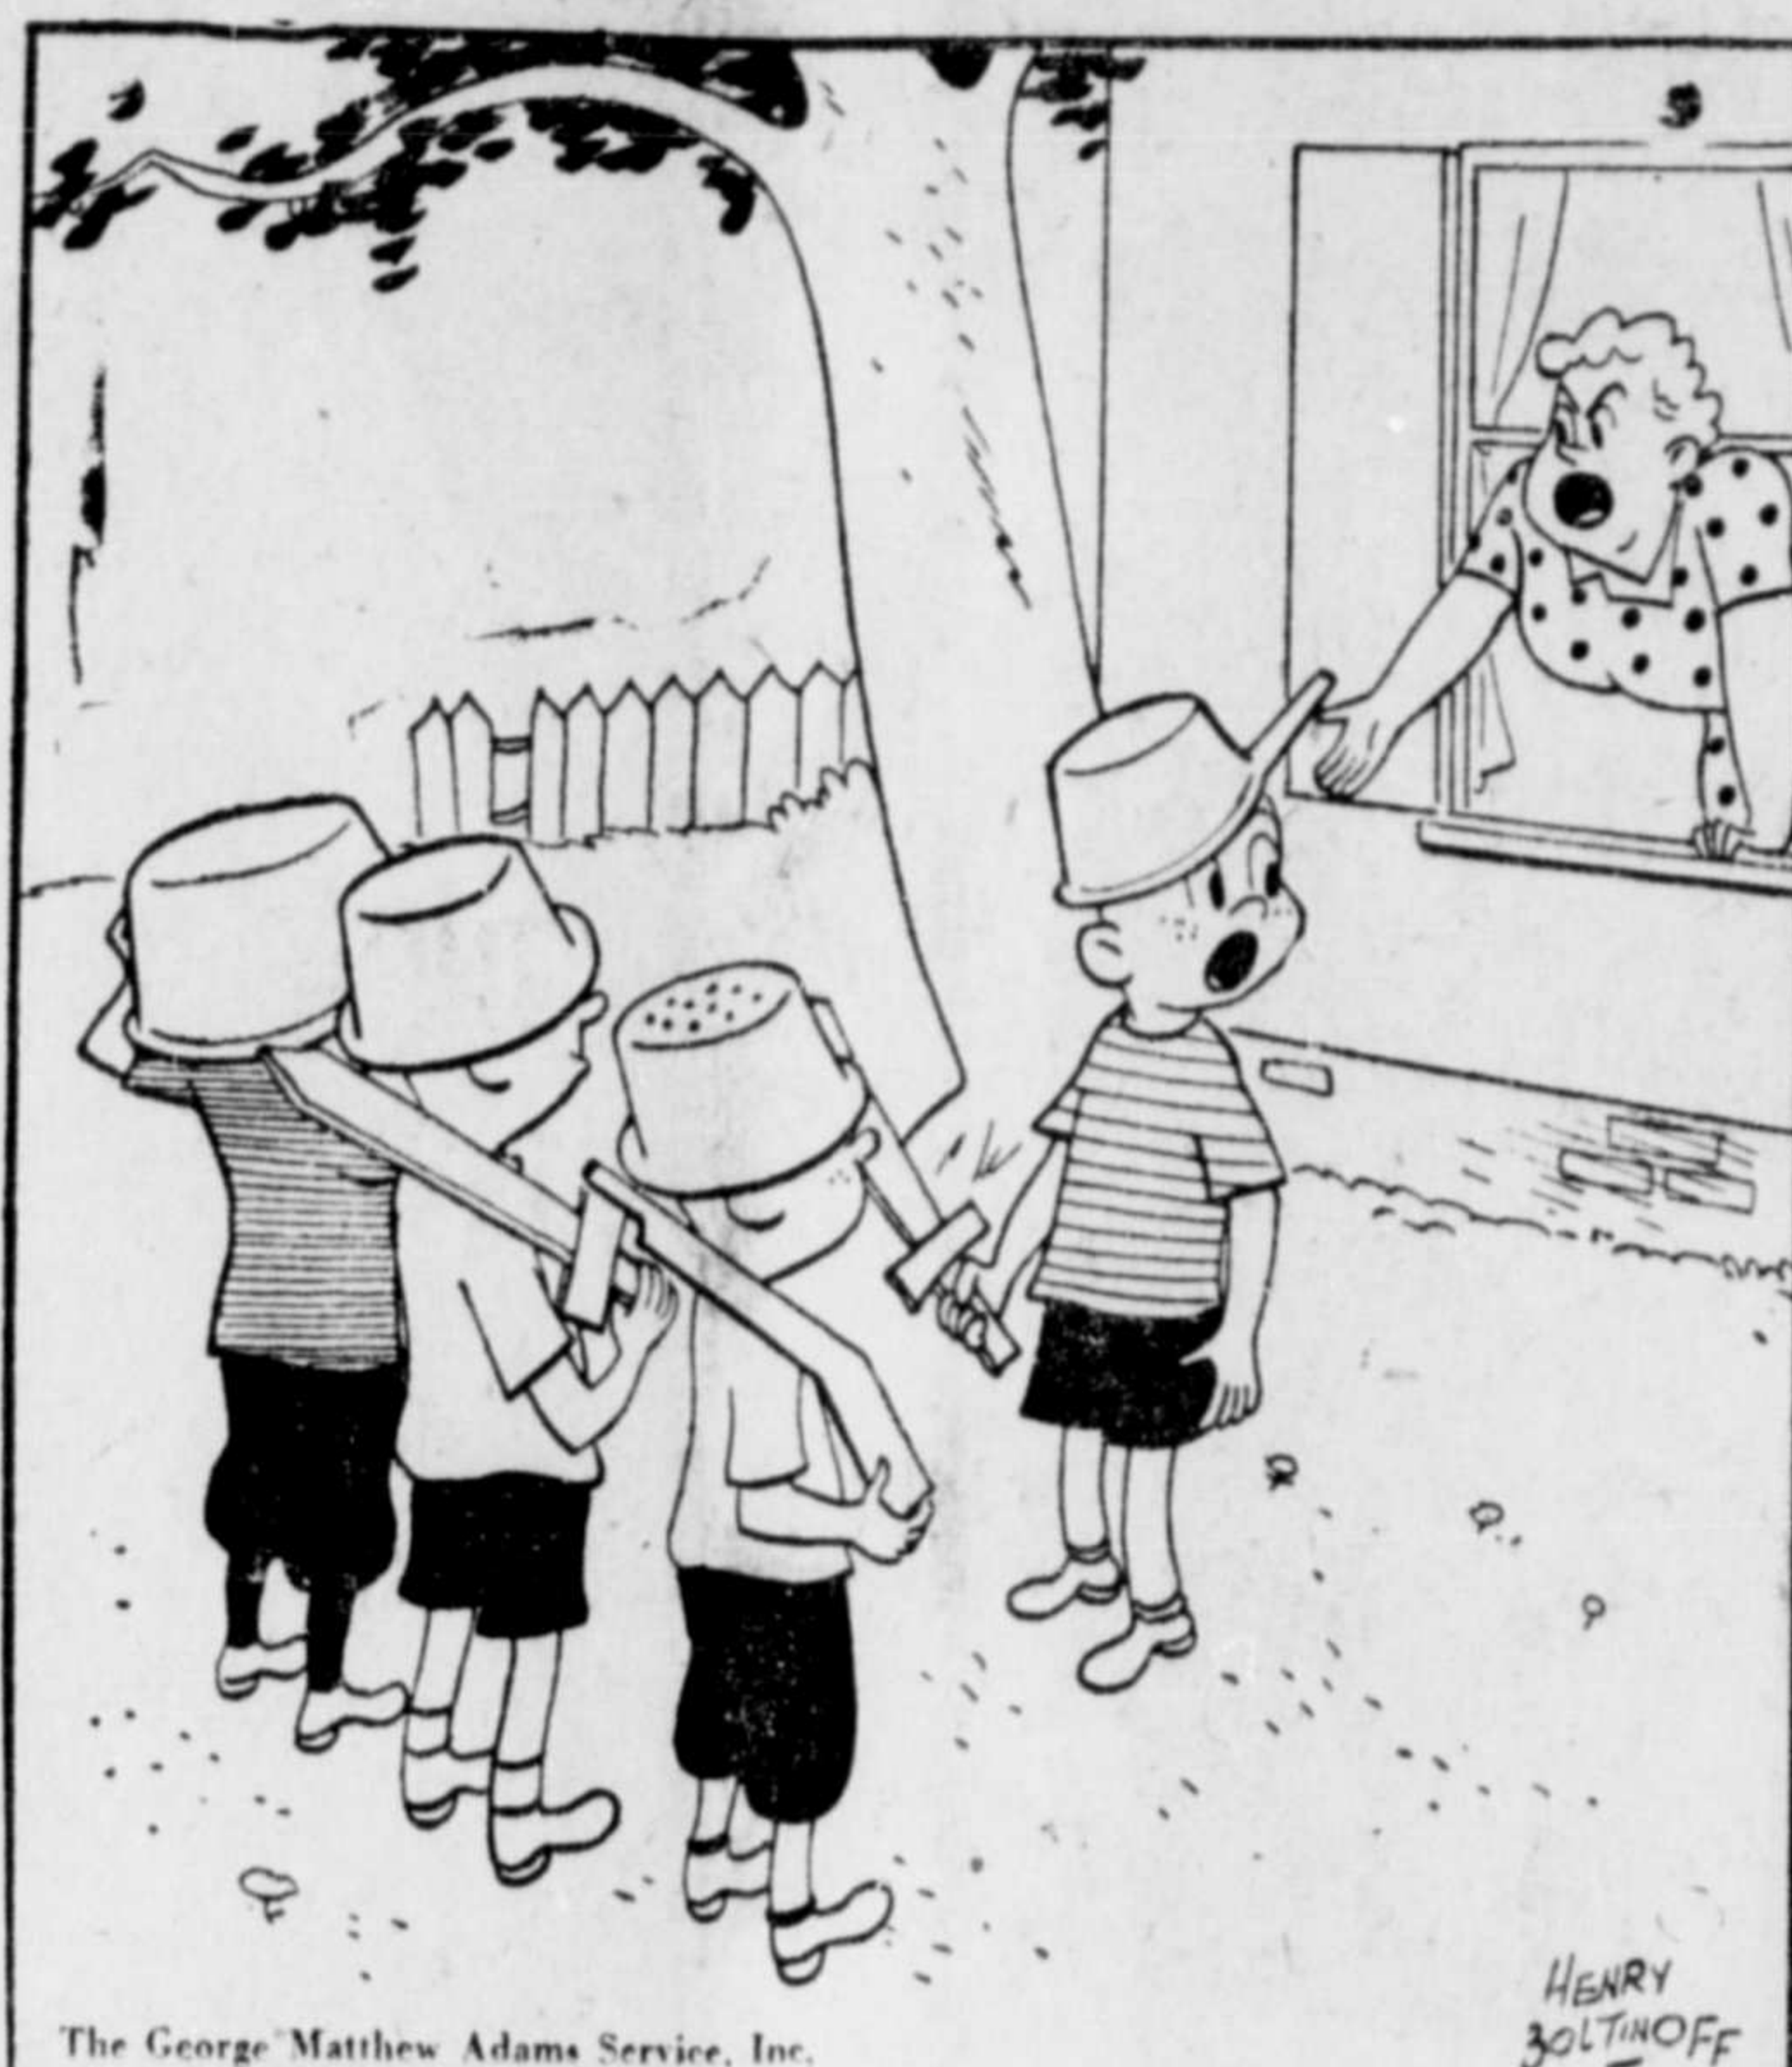

A. This is a person, usually a matron, who is employed by a girl to live in her home, and act as her social protector.

Q. Is it appropriate to have an afternoon reception for introducing a debutante?

A. Yes.

AIMED AT GIBRALTAR

Hitler Ordered Command With Aid of Spain to Seize It in 1940

NUERNBERG, Dec. 12 (UP)—Adolf Hitler ordered his high command in November, 1940, to rush plans for the seizure of Gibraltar in anticipation of the entry of Spain into the war, evidence brought to light by the war crimes trial disclosed.

The evidence was in the form of a directive from Hitler to his high command. It was presented to the court by Col. H. Philimore, British prosecutor.

The directive was issued November 12, 1940, and was entitled "preparing preparatory measures of supreme headquarters for prosecution of war in the near future are to be made along the following lines."

There were sections dealing with France, the Balkans and one headed "Spain and Portugal."

This said: "Political steps to bring about early Spanish entry into the war have been taken. The aim of German intervention in the Iberian peninsula (code name Felix) will be to drive the British out of the western Mediterranean."
"For this purpose," the directive said, "Gibraltar will be taken and the straits closed. The British will be prevented from gaining a foothold at another point on the Iberian peninsula or in the Atlantic islands."

Hitler's directive specified that "officers in civilian clothes will make the necessary preparations for action against Gibraltar and for taking over the airdromes. As regards disguise and co-operation with the Spaniards they will comply with the security measures of the chief of foreign intelligence.

"Special units of the foreign intelligence bureau are to be organized for the protection of the Gibraltar area in secret co-operation with the Spaniards against British attempts to widen terrain of the front and against premature discovery and penetrations of our preparations."

LOCAL WOMAN DIES IN SOUTH

The death occurred at Princeton on Monday of Mrs. Edna Stalker, daughter of a well-known Prince Rupert family, and wife of Douglas Stalker, former Prince Rupert man who recently returned from overseas.

Mrs. Stalker passed away at the age of 34 after an illness of five years.

Born and brought up in Prince Rupert, Mrs. Stalker spent four of the last five years at Tranquille sanitarium and was later in hospital at Vancouver. With the return of her husband to Canada after five years overseas, they moved this fall to Princeton, where Mr. Stalker took employment in a mine.

There is one daughter, Barbara, age 10, who is living with her grandparents in Prince Rupert. Prior to going overseas, Mr. Stalker was employed with city fire department here.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by six sisters and brothers. They are Mrs. M. Lidstone, Miss Ethel Egan, Mrs. Rita Yoston and Mrs. Bert (Hazel) Augier in Princeton and Mrs. Mel (Dorothy) Parry and Mrs. Harold (Agnes) Comer in Vancouver, and brother, George Edgar, at Bella and a brother, Harry, in Prince Rupert.

Remains are being brought to Prince Rupert on Saturday for burial. Accompanying will be Mr. Stalker and Mrs. Comer. Funeral service probably will be held at First United Church Saturday afternoon with interment taking place in Fairview cemetery.
