REHABILITATION PLANS STUDIED BY DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE

Rehabilitation in all its phases was given a thorough scrutiny by delegates to British Columbia conference held in Vancouver early this month and certain government plans came in for rough treatment by the assembly of rehabilitation council members from throughout the province.

While several towns from the central interior sent delegates, Prince Rupert was not among them.

"It was a mighty important meeting and I think Prince Rupert ought to have been represented," said Mr. Whiting who attended in official government capacity.

Speakers at the conference included such policy-makers as Hon. H. G. T. Perry, education minister and chairman of the provincial cabinet committee on reconstruction, Hon. E. C. Carson, provincial minister of mines and industry, and such bureau heads as G. M. Morrison, federal supervisor of veterans' placement and Col. H. E. Goodman, special placement officer, Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Mr. Whiting has made a report on the conference which he will present to the next meeting of the Prince Rupert Rehabilitation Council.

Among decisions of the conference, Mr. Whiting said, was one in favor of abolishing Selective Service and restoring freedom of movement among workers, sacrificed to the war effort.

Controls Are Unpopular "The public had to be induced to accept controls which were unprecedented and totally foreign to the former conception of the liberties of the Canadian people," Mr. Whiting said.

Legislation for returning veterans is of the most helpful type to be found in the world, he continued. Rehabilitation credits, as explained by W. A. Green, supervisor of credits, department of veterans' affairs, are apparently the least understood by the public of the rehabilitation plans and veterans are advised to seek counsel from the department of veterans' affairs on this complicated subject.

Hon. H. G. T. Perry told the conference that, in four of the ten rehabilitation zones into which the province has been divided, government officials and local committees have found opportunities for 450 small businesses employing from one to five persons.

Reconversion plans are progressing well but much of the information supplied by firms is of a highly confidential nature.

A large number of ex-servicemen have availed themselves of the vocational training program but a far greater number are taking university courses, Col. Frank Fairey, district director of vocational training of the Department of Labor, told the conference.

Col. Fairey presented a most encouraging picture of the opportunities offered servicemen to obtain a university education, Mr. Whiting declared.

Government employment offices throughout Canada will be staffed by special veterans' advisors whose complete job will be to look after the interests of returned servicemen, he revealed.

Tokyo Has Not Yet Answered; Meantime Warfare Is Continuing

ADMIRAL NIMITZ OFFERS COMMUNICATION FACILITIES TO MAKE CONTACT WITH ALLIES—WOULD RECEIVE CAPITULATION

With the Allied capitals still in receipt late today of no reply from Japan in regard to acceptance of surrender terms and war continuing by land, sea and air against Nippon, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the United States Pacific fleet, aboard a British battleship off Tokyo, today invited the Japanese to make contact with the Guam (Navy) radio if they need means of communication with the Allies.

With surrender negotiations for the Japanese far behind the stage that had been believed, the war in the Far East is still being actively waged today.

A flash carried over United Press wires at 7:40 last night saying that Japan had decided to accept the United Nations surrender terms was denied a few minutes later but, in the meantime, the information had spread throughout the world and caused Prime Minister Mackenzie King to deliver a victory announcement over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Officials in the United Press Washington bureau denied that the flash had originated in their office and said that they were endeavouring to trace the source of the story which was carried in newspapers throughout the world.

The surrender announcement was denied in the White House and government officials said that they have as yet received no word from the Japanese government.

It was announced today at Berne, Switzerland, that no reply had yet been delivered by Japan to the Swiss government for transmission to the United States in answer to the Allied peace terms for Japanese surrender.

The Australian radio from Melbourne said yesterday that the Japanese reply might be expected within from sixteen to 24 hours.

Another report said that Emperor Hirohito of Japan, whom the Allies insist shall be merely a mouthpiece for them, was seeking the services of King Gustav of Sweden to act as an intermediary.

When V-J Day shall be now depends entirely upon the Japanese themselves.

Meantime fighting goes on between Soviet and Japanese forces in Manchuria and Korea and Japanese cities are still being bombed on a reduced scale.

The Chinese minister to Washington had a brief conference today with President Truman and, at the conclusion, told newspapermen that he expected the "good news" might come any time.

WIDESPREAD CONFUSION CAUSED BY FALSE JAPANESE SURRENDER REPORT

TORONTO, Aug. 13 (CP)—The false Japanese surrender report last night caused general confusion throughout Canada.

The report sparked demonstrations verging on violence in Halifax and Ottawa and created short-lived celebrations in other Canadian centres.

Although official denials of the premature radio report were made, crowds in Halifax staged an uprising reminiscent of V-E Day riot scenes when several hundred people tried to storm a liquor store.

The false peace flash sent last night over the wires of the United Press was transmitted in Britain on the news wires of the British United Press—U.P.'s British affiliate.

News offices across the country were flooded with telephone calls.

One Vancouver newspaper—the Sun—rushed an extra edition into print although the false flash was ordered held up two minutes after being sent.

In Winnipeg, large crowds jammed main thoroughfares, waiting for late reports from loud-speaker systems.

Restaurants and stores closed immediately they received the surrender report. However, the denial moving from mouth to mouth saw many of them re-open shortly afterwards.

The Atomic Bomb . . .

The revolutionary effects of the atomic bomb, with power-blast two thousand times that of the largest bomb hitherto used, on war and peace are the subject of keen discussion and speculation. The enhanced urgency for starting the machinery of the United Nations Organization going without delay is accentuated. The importance of perfecting measures for the prevention of another war is multiplied at least two thousand fold.

The atomic bomb having brought Japan to her knees in such short order, its future potential horrors pass beyond the realm of calculations. The amount of energy locked in the atomic bomb is prodigious. The problem of controlling its release has not been solved. If forces are unlocked which cannot be controlled, these forces after Japan's defeat ought never again to be used for purposes of war. The alternative would be the destruction of mankind. Some method to control the production and uses of the new explosive is imperative. Whatever form this might take—it is obviously a very difficult problem—it is felt to be the first duty of the United Nations to bring their Charter into fullest operation. In view of the constitution of this Charter it would be the highest duty of the Big Five to maintain and reinforce mutual co-operation for the preservation of peace.

It will doubtless be with this determination that the final touches in the erection of the United Nations structure will be speeded up.

You Must Water the Roots . . .

When it comes to making a plant flourish, farmers, and even city housewives with geraniums on the window sills, know that it is necessary to water the roots well, says Christian Science Monitor. James Truslow Adams advises that this be applied to the plant of good government. He comments that the roots at the community level are largely neglected, even in these years when more people are following political affairs with greater interest than before. Most of the watering is being done at the topmost branch, or the national science, by letters, telegrams, and other forms of pressure.

A heartening concern on the part of a man with national experience that the roots be watered is shown in the announcement by Col. Bradley Dewey, former National Rubber Director, that he is a candidate for the School Committee in Cambridge, Massachusetts. Colonel Dewey, who heads a large chemical plant, could easily justify inaction in local affairs because of his business or because he might believe his ability should be used at the national level. But he has chosen to give time to community school affairs.

If others throughout the nations follow his example, the supporters of good government will soon see the plant thriving, topmost branches and all.

Must Publicize Route . . .

Members of the United States congressional sub-committee on roads which visited Prince Rupert recently in the course of an Alaska Highway fact-finding tour made the somewhat startling statement that they had never even heard of the Hazelton route. That may not be so surprising at that when we think that these committee men come from the far removed east where it is natural their realization of our geography in these parts is rather vague. Possibly, too, we have not been successful in publicizing the merits of the Hazelton route as widely and as well as we might have. However, the committee men, on their visit here, were emphatically advised of the Hazelton route and steps are being taken to see that they receive full information.

Advocates of other Alaska Highway routes are very much on the job these days so it is well that we should be promoting the good routes which might be of more direct benefit to us and which might not necessarily conflict with other routes.

GRATITUDE OF CANADA

Fund Proposed to Provide Annual Visits to Britain for Canadian Schoolboys

LONDON, Aug. 10 (C)—A scheme whereby Canadian schoolboys would make annual visits to Great Britain is being proposed to London businessmen as a way of expressing concrete thanks to Canada for the part the Dominion's army played in saving the capital from destruction by V-weapons.

London firms are being solicited by letter and in person by Noel Morton, an Englishman with many years' association with the Dominion. Morton is acting as honorary organizer of a "thank you Canadians" fund until a sponsoring body can be formed.

In a pamphlet sent to managing directors of many London firms, Morton suggested that a fund be raised by popular subscription to invite from 100 to 200, or more, Canadian boys, aged 15 to 18, to Britain for some two months each year.

"They would be selected as to character rather than mere scholarship," the pamphlet said, and would represent a true cross-section of Canadian life. Most of their stay here would be spent in universities or polytechnics, in selected factories or on farms, according to the boys' tendencies and choice. They would live with private families. Aim of the proposal is to "create an Empire tie in terms of individuals and, subsidiary to it, to encourage trade relations between the two countries." Lifelong friendship would result from these visits, the pamphlet said, and the Canadian boys, having seen British goods in the making, would become "overseas agents."

Business firms and the "little man" would contribute to the cost of the scheme which Morton estimates will require about £250,000 (about $1,125,000) to launch.

Morton, who went to Canada before the First Great War, was educated at the University of Toronto and worked in the Dominion before returning to the United Kingdom about 10 years ago.

BATH, Somerset, Eng. (C)—Bath, which already has celebrated V-E Day twice, is to have a third celebration Sept. 24 to give relaxation to persons who worked hard during the war.

CHINESE START TO CELEBRATE PEACE REPORT

The false peace rumor which flashed throughout the world at 6:40 last night caused an explosive but short-lived celebration among part of the city's Chinese population but otherwise the feeling of elation died on the strength of the broadcast denial later before any celebration could get under way.

Acting on the strength of the initial radio flash, some 50 Chinese brought out bundles of fire crackers which they had been hoarding for the peace celebration and proceeded to set them off on Third Ave. at 7 o'clock. A crowd of about 100 bystanders watched the pyrotechnics.

While the official siren did not sound, vessels in the harbor set up a clamor which seemed to authenticate the peace story. When the denial was broadcast a few minutes after the original flash, a citizen whose spirits had tumbled during the anticlimax muttered philosophicaly, "Oh, well, it wouldn't be a surrender without at least one premature report."

FORMER LOCAL MAN MARRIES

Miss Barbara Heays Becomes Bride of Mario Bussanich

A lovely wedding of much interest in Vancouver and Prince Rupert was solemnized recently in St. Michael's Anglican Church in Vancouver, when Barbara Ruth Heays, youngest daughter of Capt. and Mrs. W. S. Heays of Vancouver, became the bride of Mario Anthony, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Bussanich of Burnaby.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride presented a charming picture gowned in a delicate pink afternoon dress and a chapel veil crowned with rosebuds. Pink roses with streamers comprised her bouquet. Her only jewelry was a small gold cross, a gift of the groom.

Attending the bride was Miss Corrine Heays, sister of the bride, who chose a pale blue afternoon dress and a coronet of blue and pink daisies and carried a bouquet of contrasting pastel flowers.

Mrs. W. S. Heays, mother of the bride, wore a lovely mauve two-piece dress with matching hat, and a corsage of carnations. Mrs. T. Bussanich, mother of the groom, was attired in a green silk dress with contrasting hat and a corsage of carnations.

Groomsman was Michael Bussanich, brother of the groom, while L. Goetz of Victoria acted as usher.

The reception following was held at the I.O.O.F. Hall, East Hastings, where a large gathering of friends and relatives were received by the mothers of the bridal couple.

The bride and groom stood under an arch of roses to receive the toast to the bride which was proposed by the groomsman and was suitably responded to by the groom. At midnight lunch was served. The bridal table, appropriately decorated, was centred with a three-tier wedding cake.

During the evening dancing was enjoyed by the many guests. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Nobles, Mrs. Mary Corey, R. Doherty, Miss Alma Doherty, all of Seattle; Mrs. A. J. Bussanich and Bobby of Prince Rupert; Mr. and Mrs. M. Bussanich and Harry Lee of Bellingham; Mr. and Mrs. L. Gates, Mr. and Mrs. W. Frost of Victoria.

Many useful and beautiful wedding gifts that were received proves the popularity of the bride with her many friends.

The groom, formerly of Prince Rupert and now of Vancouver, is an employee of the Western Fish Co.

Many friends and acquaintances join in extending congratulations and best wishes to the bridal couple.

"BEEF TRUSTERS" WIN FIRST PRIZE IN TUG-OF-WAR

Their feet planted firmly on the Third Ave. pavement, Thomson's "Beef Trust" outpulled a six-man Navy team to win the finals in the Civic Centre Carnival tug-of-war series Saturday night after Navy vanquished a hastily picked Army team a few minutes before.

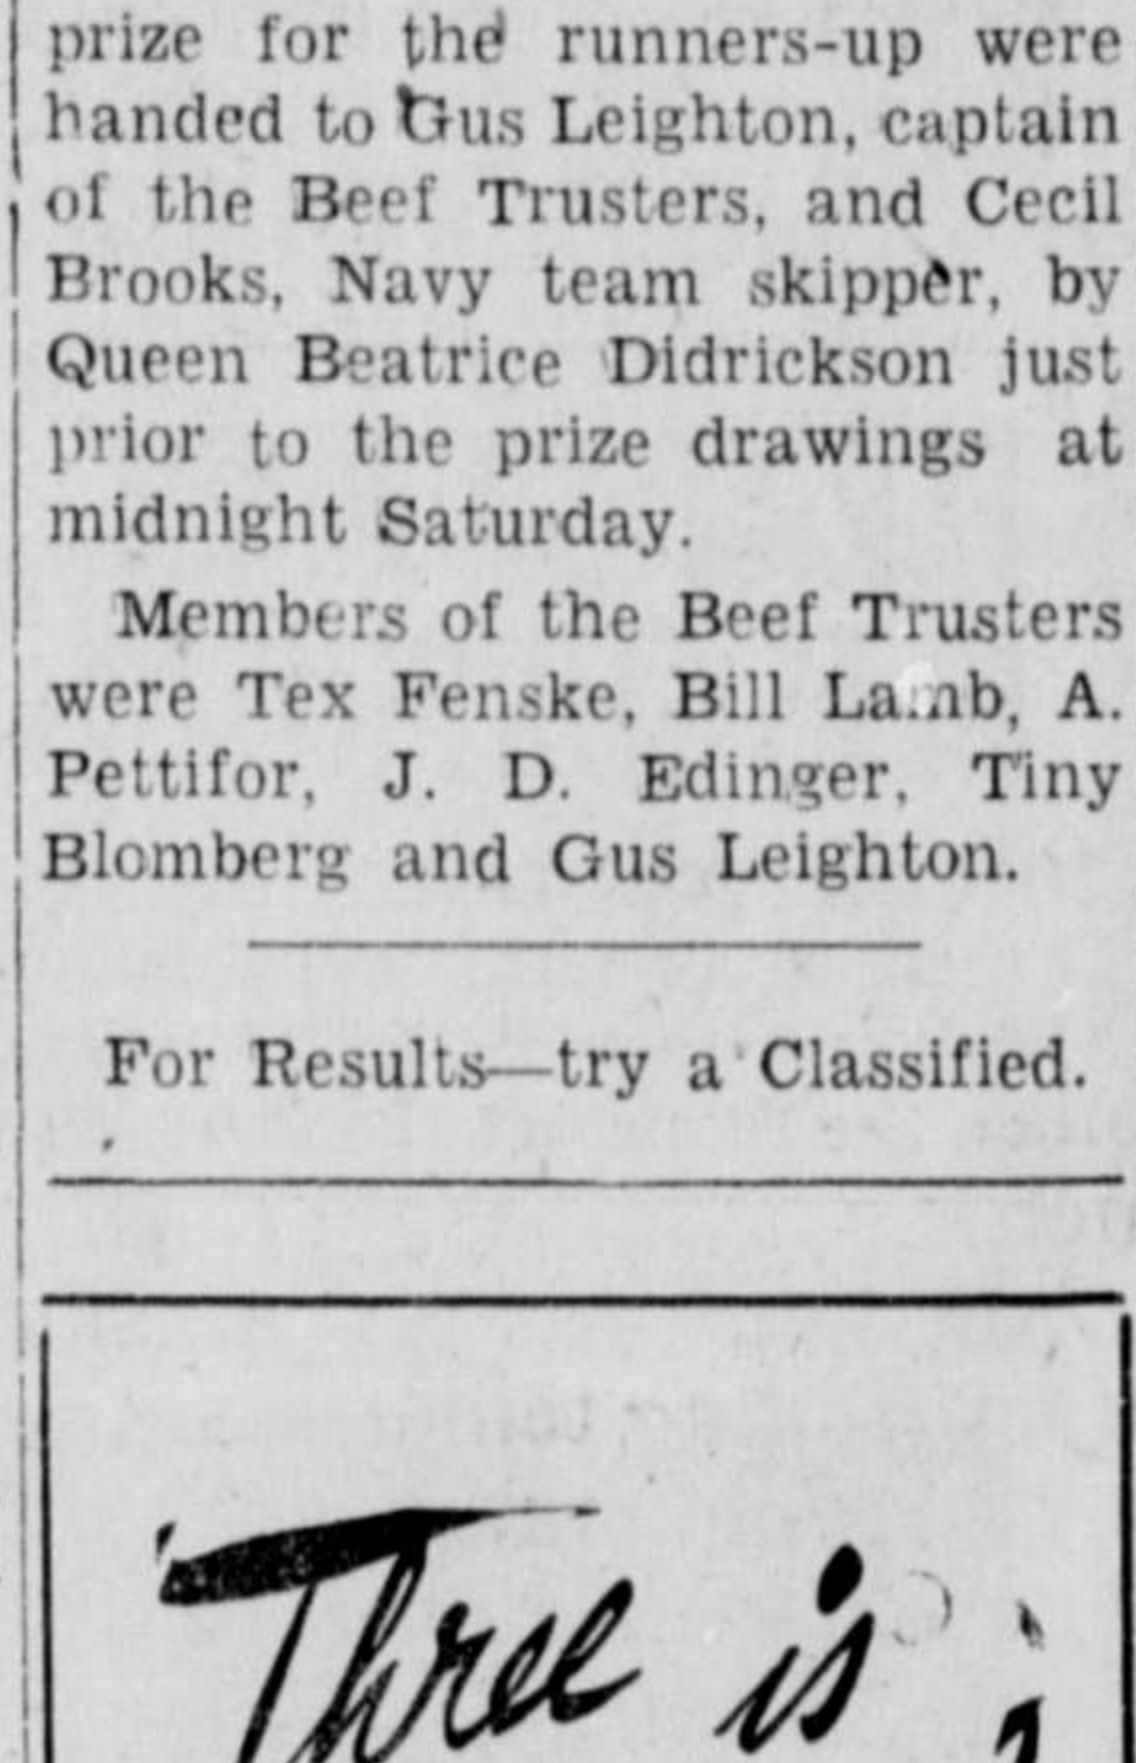

Outweighing Navy by several pounds per man, the Beef Trusters put on a steady pressure similar to that exerted on Monday night when they dragged Navy over the line in each of the two pulls. Their win netted each member of the six-man team a prize of $10.

The winning prize and a $40 prize for the runners-up were handed to Gus Leighton, captain of the Beef Trusters, and Cecil Brooks, Navy team skipper, by Queen Beatrice Didrickson just prior to the prize drawings at midnight Saturday.

Members of the Beef Trusters were Tex Fenske, Bill Laanb, A. Pettifor, J. D. Edinger, Tiny Blomberg and Gus Leighton.

THORNHILL MOUNTAIN IS ASCENDED BY YOUNG FOLK; MORE VETS HOME

Sgt. Major A. E. H. Johnston took a party of eleven to climb Thornhill Mountain Tuesday. Leaving in the cool of early morning they had a pleasant climb up, under a cloudless sky. After reaching the heather region they pitched camp and proceeded to do some exploring. The afternoon was spent roaming over the dips and dives and enjoying the beautiful wild verdure. The party was made up mostly of children and they were overjoyed to find some swimming pools which they tried out. While nearing the Lookout cabin they espied a mountain goat which stood stock still and approached them all. Clouds came drifting over and overcast the sky completely. By five o'clock they had returned to camp and, though tired, hastily took up their bed rolls and proceeded down the trail for a suitable camp site, going almost halfway down before finding one. Wednesday morning they walked back to town.

R.A.F. HEROES ARE MARKSMEN

Years of Practice Prepared Them for Battles With Luftwaffe

LONDON, Aug. 10 (P)—Behind the immortal few who broke the back of the Luftwaffe in 1940-41 and thus saved Britain from invasion was an even smaller group of men who in peace years gave Britain's tiny air force the "know-how" necessary to fight and win against near overwhelming odds.

While the world cheered the epic stand of the R.A.F. against the numerically superior German air force in the first years of the war, the question was often asked "how do they do it?" It was straight shooting that did it—shooting based on years of practice and research.

As early as 1933 the R.A.F. was practising air firing training against ground targets, but even though this developed a high degree of skill it did not provide the pilot with necessary experience in allowing for the deflection required against a fast-moving target.

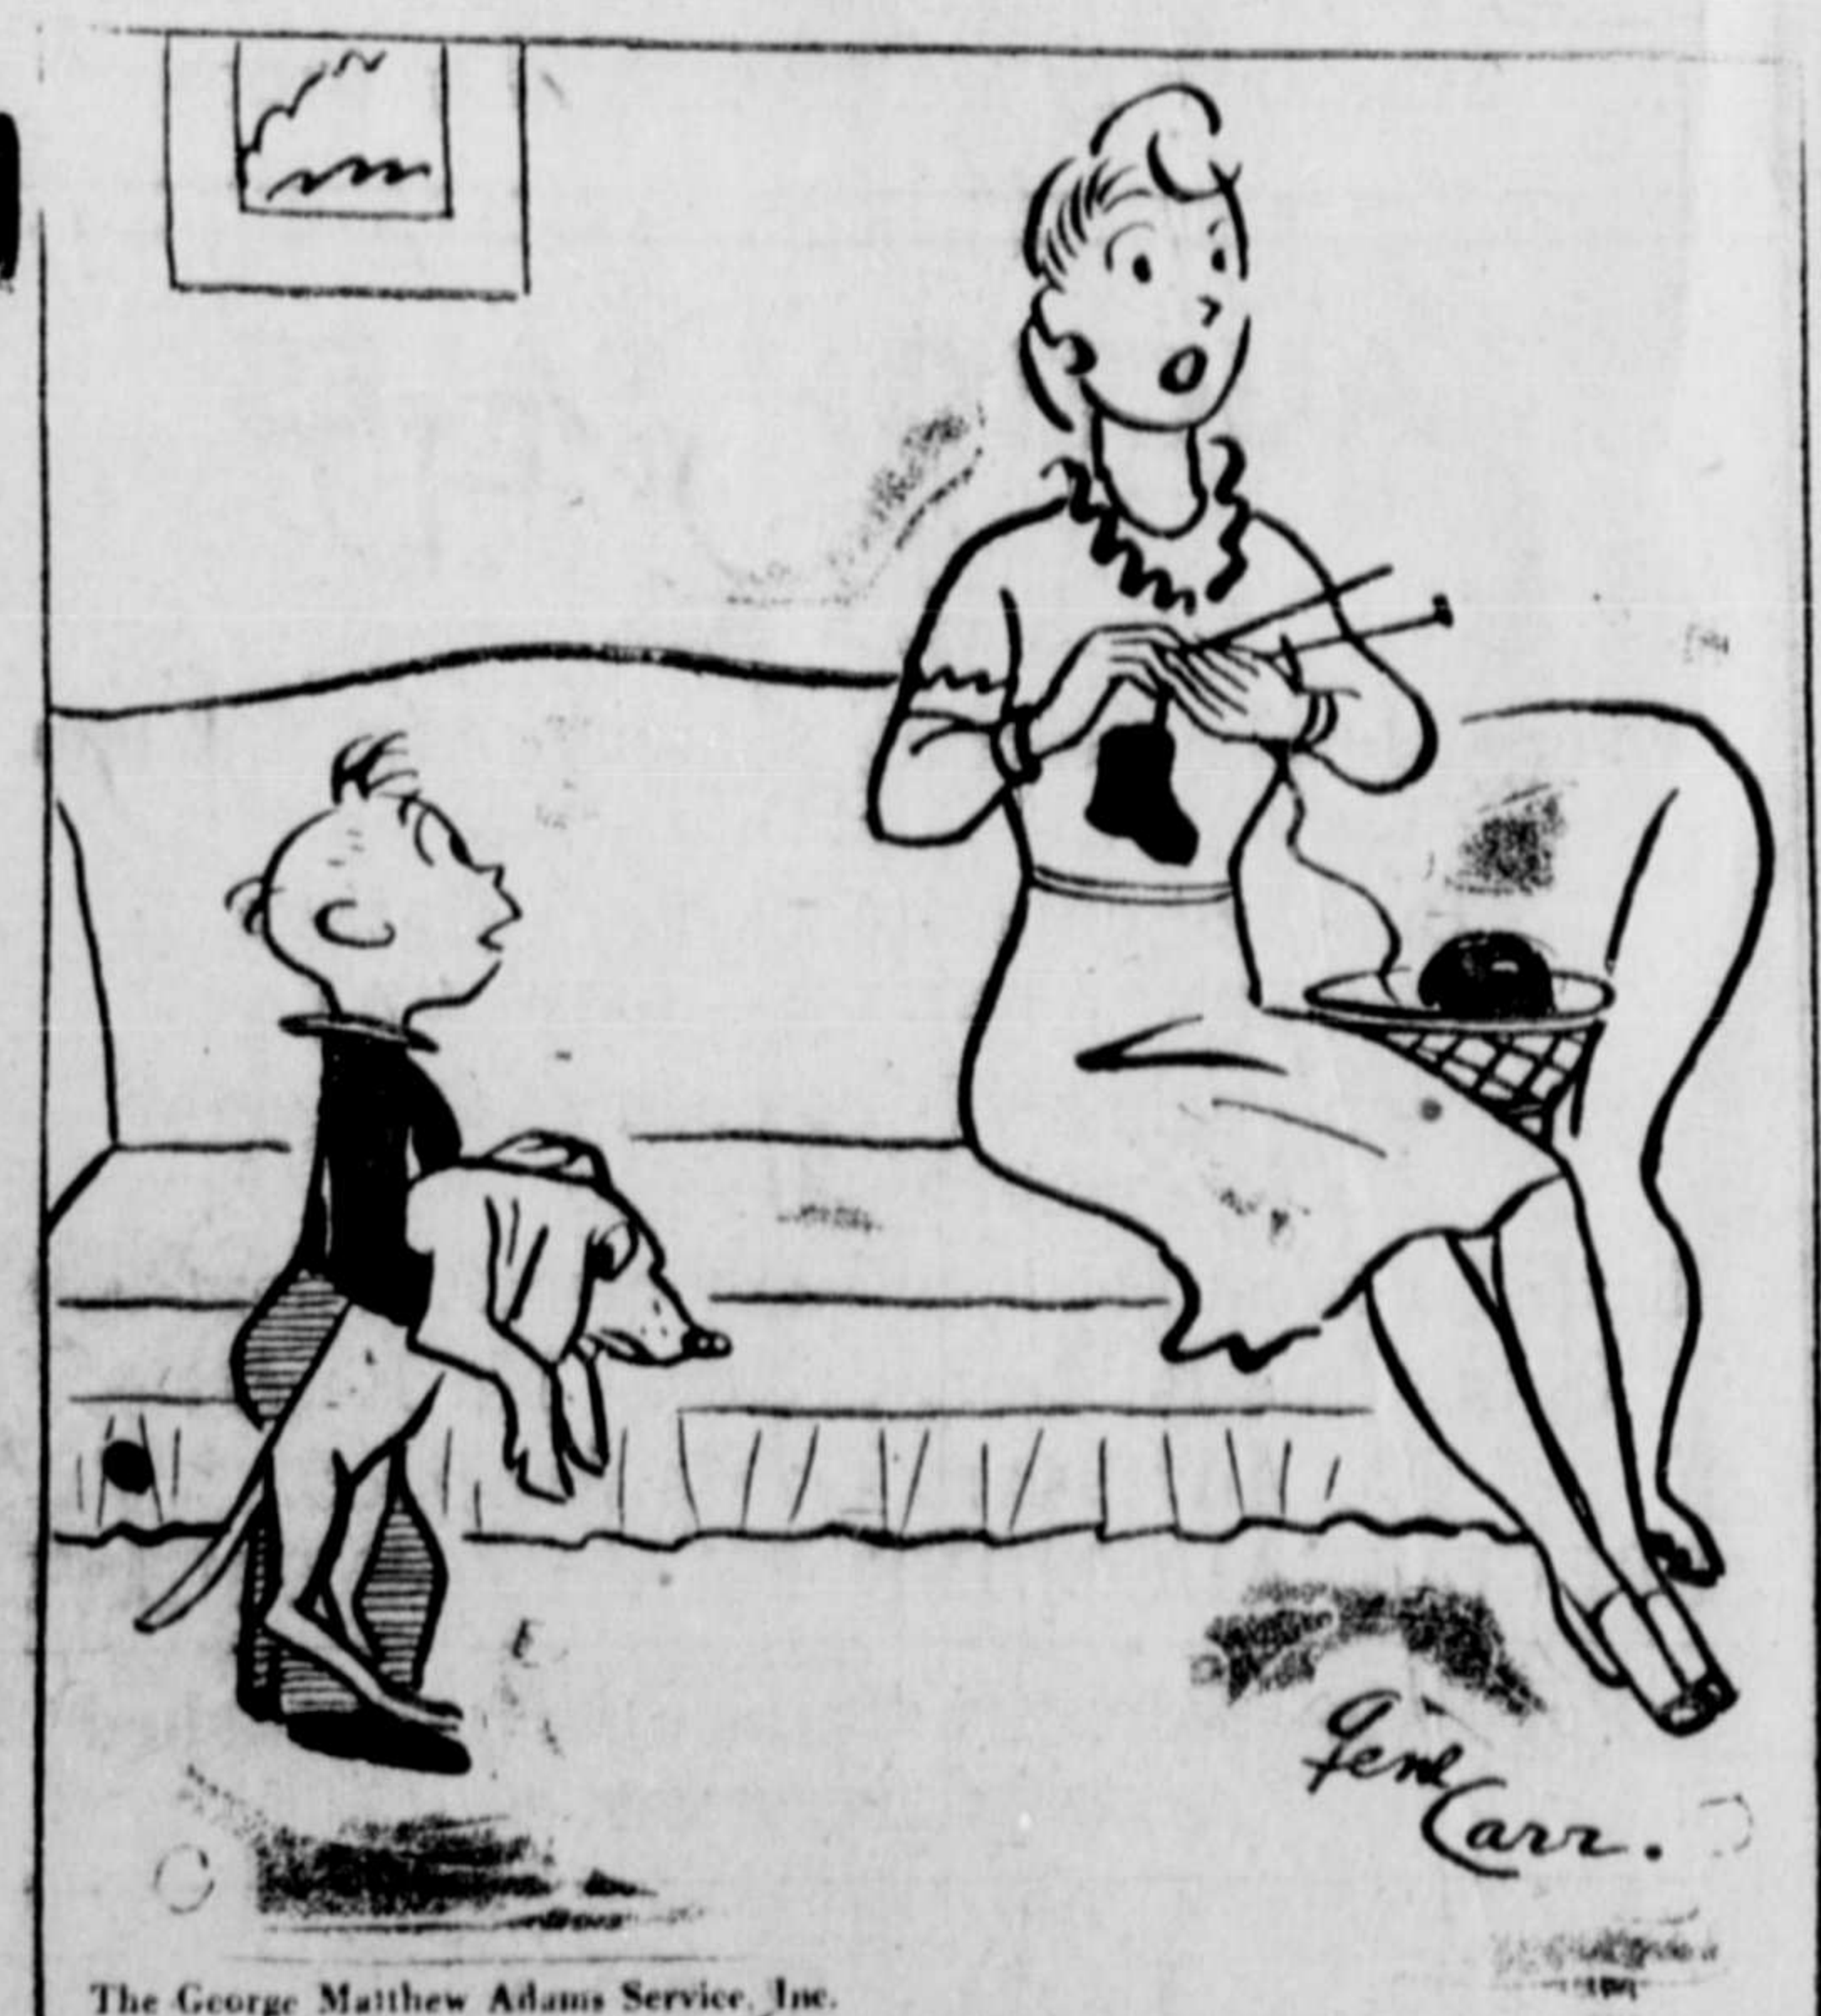

At the time it was thought nothing could be done to overcome this lack as towing a target was considered too great a strain for the wood-and-wire aircraft of those days. A fabric cone was developed, however, which became the well-known "sleeve target"—and from that time Britain's fighter force became a bunch of sharpshooters.

Back of this revolution in combat training were a few officers who, after being told their plans were "impossible," went ahead to prove their critics wrong. Men like Air Vice Marshal H. Broadhurst, Air Commodore A. A. B. Thomson, Group Captain C. H. Keith and Air Commodore A. L. Perry-Keene as junior officers risked professional suicide to pioneer these tactics.

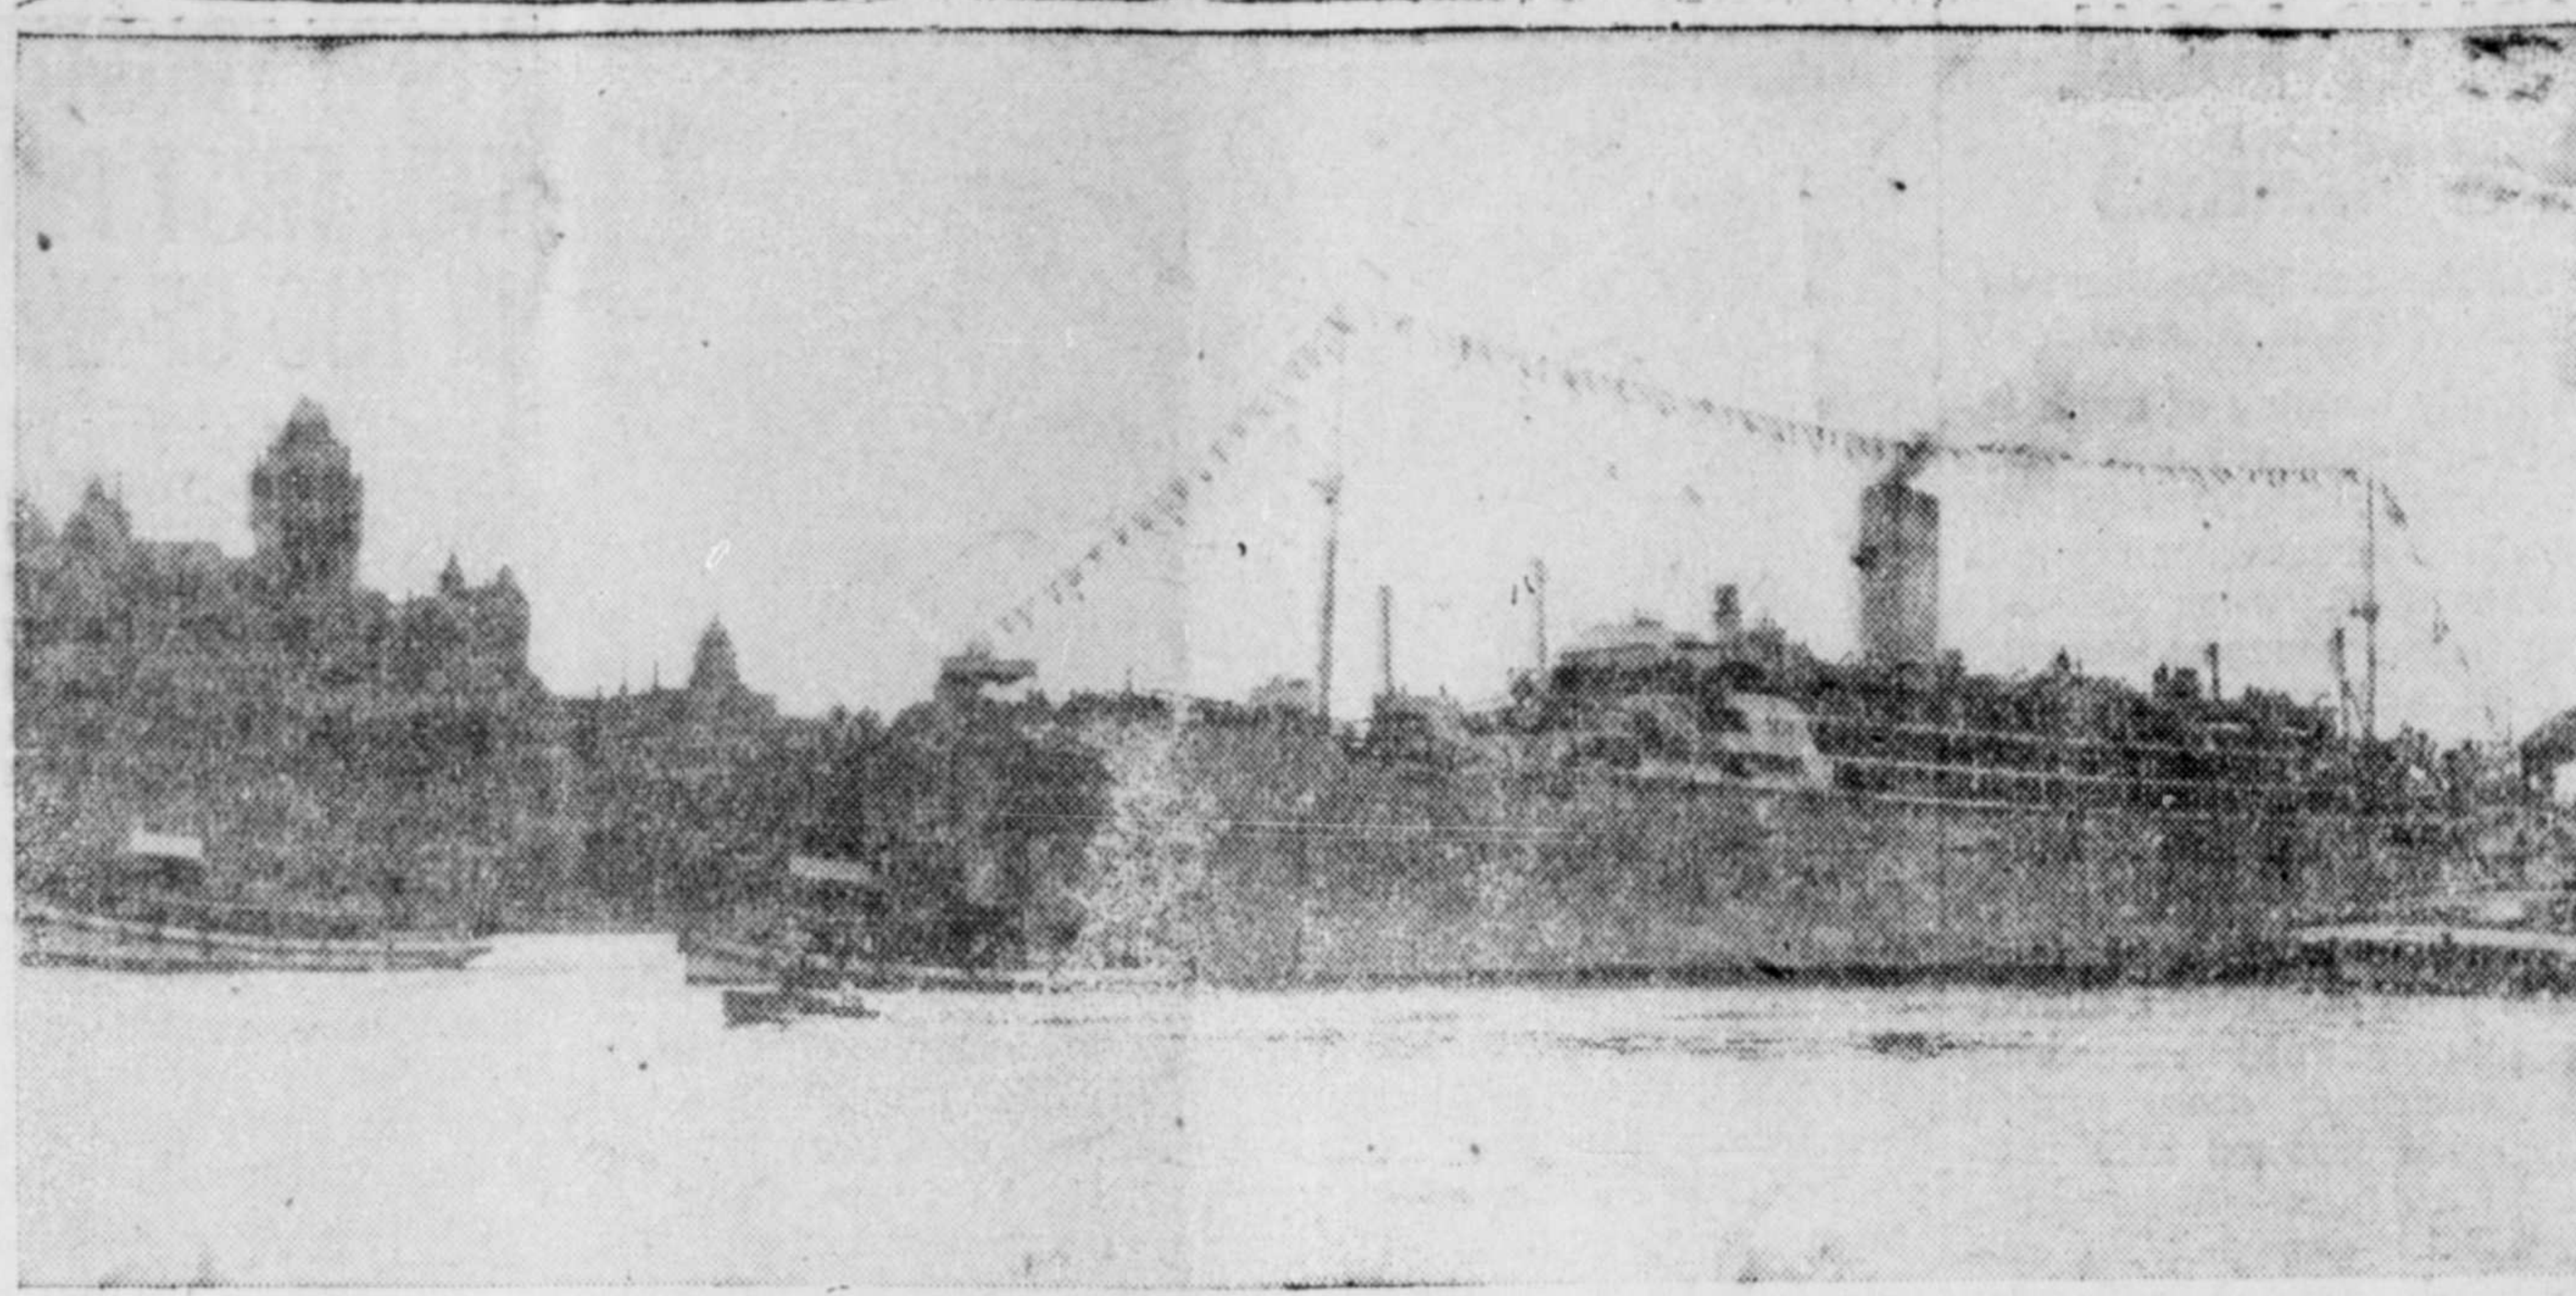

That is one of the chief reasons why, when the Luftwaffe came, scores of 100 to 11 were chalked up in a single day's fighting by the R.A.F. They knew how to shoot. The Germans, counting on numerical superiority, didn't.

FERRY SKIPPER GETS SURPRISE

FRANCOIS LAKE, Aug. 13—Capt. Bruce Little had a delightful and unexpected experience on the Francois Lake ferry when his second son, Roy, after having been away overseas for nearly five years, came up by car from Kelowna on Monday and drove onto the ferry.

Cpl. Roy Little joined up in August, 139, with his brother Douglas, in the B. C. Dragoons. He was transferred to the Westminster Regiment and then to the First Survey Regiment where he served as radio mechanic in France, Holland, Belgium and Germany.

Roy first saw his mother in Kelowna on his return to this country, staying there for a few days before driving on to visit his father at Francois Lake.

Sgt. Douglas Little is still in Europe and expects to return next February. He served in Italy, Sicily, France, and Germany, where he still is.

Capt. Little's sons spent their boyhood at Southbank while he was in charge of the ferry for 15

He divided the world into Elements

Because of his outstanding scientific work, Lavoisier was elected to the French Academy in 1768 at the age of 25. He spent most of his fortune fitting out a research laboratory, and hired as his assistants several brilliant young scientists. He disproved the faulty theories of the chemists of his day and laid the foundation of modern chemistry. We owe the modern concept of the element largely to him as well as many chemical terms used internationally today. He served the government in matters relating to agriculture, hygiene, coinage and the casting of cannon. He was falsely accused by Marat in the years following the Revolution and went to the guillotine in 1794.

JUST as Lavoisier fitted out a research laboratory to find out about chemistry, so International Nickel operates research laboratories in Canada, England and the United States to seek out new uses for Nickel.

With the help of this research, sales of Canadian Nickel doubled and trebled in the years following the first great war. Now, Nickel laboratories together with other scientists are again devoting their research to the problem of finding new uses for Canadian Nickel.

Canadian engineers, designers and metallurgists have free access to the scientific and technical data gathered by International Nickel from the whole field of metal research.

As industry gets to know still more about Nickel and its uses, the demand for Canadian Nickel will increase. Canada and Canadians will benefit accordingly.

The only extra-base hits in the tilt were doubles by Ambrose of the M.P.'s in the second inning, and McKerrall of Soo Sods, in the fourth.

sure appreciate it," Mr. Hall commented as he received the beribboned envelope. His ticket had been drawn from the revolving barrel by Princess Lillian Knutson.

Carnival Chairman T. N. Youngs visited Mrs. Brett, winner of the $1,000 first prize bond, yesterday at her home, 1632 Sixth Ave. E., to deliver the security personally. "It is the first time I have ever made such a winning," Mrs. Brett said happily. "It's going to go right into savings," she added thrifly. Mrs. Brett's family includes a six-week-old child.

The ticket, which won the $1,000 prize for Mrs. Lois Brett, was drawn from the barrel by Queen Beatrice and, appropriately enough, it was one which had cast 100 votes for her in the Carnival Queen contest. Mrs. Brett was not on hand to claim her prize. Neither was the cryptic McRiley from Boulder, Colorado, winner of the $500 bond. McRiley's ticket was pulled from the barrel by Princess Evelyn Bussey.

Prior to the prize drawing, Queen Beatrice distributed prizes to the captains of the winning team and the runners-up in the tug-of-war contest, the only sporting event in connection with the Carnival celebrations.

Tug-of-War Team Receives Cash

On behalf of "Thomson's Beef Trust," the six-man aggregation which pulled a Navy team in two contests on Monday night and again on Saturday night, Gus Leighton, team captain, received a $60 prize for distribution among team members, while Cecil Brooks, skipper of the Navy six accepted a $40 prize for his team.

During an interval in the prize distribution, master of ceremonies T. N. Youngs expressed the thanks of the Carnival committee for the help given by the various armed services in putting the Carnival over. He also made particular mention of Alex Armstrong, Carnival committee treasurer, for his work in handling Carnival funds.

Attractive mementoes of their campaigns for Carnival queen were distributed to two of the three princesses by Queen Beatrice during the evening. Sterling silver compacts were given to Princesses Evelyn and Lillian. Princess Ruth Giske, who was not present Saturday night, will

GIRLS' SOFTBALL PLAYED SUNDAY

Betty Scott Pitches C.W.A.C. To Playoffs on Sunday

Behind the fine twirling of Betty Scott and backed up by potent hitting by her team mates Canadian Women's Army Corps trounced Dry Dock 16-6 in an early morning softball contest at Acropolis yesterday.

The Army girls pulled ahead in the early part of the game, scoring eight runs in the first four innings, while the Dock girls tried hard to overcome the 10-1 lead. The last three innings of the game saw the Dry Dock girls rally a count of five runs but still not enough to offset the six runs scored by C.W.A.C.

"Robbie," playing first base for the Army, was the big hitter of the day, collecting two homers in three trips to the plate. Anne Bloomingdale also credited herself with a long homer to centre field. "Billy" Hendrikson at shortstop and "Stubby" at second base backed up the infield with their spectacular fielding. "Stubby" also reached base safely four times in five trips to the plate. Betty Scott doubled twice to put herself in with the big hitters.

"Dot" Douglas and B. Scott were the big hitters for Dry Dock, each hitting long homers. B. Scott, pitcher for the Dock girls, was hit hard but never gave up trying. "Bubbles" Hanson, on first base for Dry Dock, played her usual steady game.

Catcher Anderson for Dry Dock was completely knocked out by a foul tip in the second inning, but revived herself to continue playing for the latter half of the game. Her return to the game was applauded by the spectators.

C.W.A.C. now play the Allies in a two-out-of-three series for the first half of the semi-finals, the winner to play either High School or Moose, who are also playing their semi-final tonight. C.W.A.C. 233 222 2-16
Dry Dock 100 002 3-6
Batteries: C.W.A.C. — Betty Scott and McKnight; Dry Dock — B. Scott, Leona and Anderson. Umpire—Alex Hertzman. Scorer—Rube Sher.

Ralph Guldahl, putting on one of his famous "stretch" finishes, won the $5,000 Milwaukee Open Golf championship with a 72-hole total of 268 strokes five years ago. The Chicagoan's total was 16 under par for the North Hills course.

GREAT PITCHERS' BATTLE WHEN ACROPOLIS DEFEATS KETCHIKAN

When it comes to pitching artistry there have been few exhibitions to compare with the skill displayed by Tony Sanchez, of Prince Rupert's Acropolis Club, and Bill Haynie, of Ketchikan Coast Guard yesterday on Acropolis Hill as the pair amassed a total of 45 strike-out victims in one game before a crowd of 1,500 fans.

A mound duel between the pitchers was not halted until the 13th inning when pinch-hitter Randall singled home Kalinovich to give Acropolis a 2 to 1 victory.

Sanchez, who hails from Laredo, Texas, struck out 28 men and yielded only three hits and one walk in the prolonged fixture while his Ketchikan rival, Haynie, of Little Rock, Arkansas, fanned 17 and allowed seven blows. In every inning except the fifth and seventh Sanchez whiffed at least two.

It was planned to hold two nine-inning games but since the first was not over until 4:30 o'clock, the second was cut down to five frames. In the night-cap, Mayer pitched shut-out ball

FORTRESS WINS OVER BARRETT IN CLOSE GAME

Fortress finished the schedule of the Area Senior Softball League in second place by virtue of their 6-to-5 triumph over Barrett last night at Gyro Park before a large crowd.

Fortress opened the scoring with a run in the fourth inning. Barrett secured the equalizer in the fifth and both clubs countered four times in the seventh, but the winners came back with the deciding run in the eighth.

Hertzman did the pitching for the winners while Makison hurled for the losers.

Fortress 000 100 410-6
Barrett 000 010 400-5

Batteries: Fortress—Hertzman and Swanee; Barrett—Mackison and Bard.
The Canadian Women's Army Corps gained the fourth playoff spot in the Girls' Softball League by defeating the Dry Dock, 14 to 4, in a sudden-death game at Gyro Park yesterday morning.

Playoffs in the girls' circuit are expected to commence tonight.

The final standings of the senior league follows:

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Port Edward	17	2	1	35
Fortress	10	5	5	25
Barrett	9	8	3	21
Coast Battery	4	11	5	13
Navy	5	12	3	13

Sweet Caps Salute Those Who Wear This Badge —

Today the only thing that distinguishes them is a crowned silver shield bearing a trefoil of red maple leaves. An unobtrusive button symbolic of so much in the life of the wearer. Canadians at home welcome them back with pride.

Ask those who wear it, they'll tell you that during years in uniform the demand was for the unending solace of Sweet Caps — and now, back in "civies" it still rates first in smoking pleasures.
