Billmor Sawmill Destroyed by Fire

BUSY PLANT NEAR CITY WIPED OUT BY FLAMES — 100 MEN OUT OF WORK — NO INSURANCE

Billmor Spruce Mills Ltd. sawmill plant at Port Harbor, seven miles out of Prince Rupert on Canadian National Railways, was completely destroyed by fire which broke out at 4:30 Sunday morning. The fire was still burning at noon but was extinguished later in the day. One hundred men are thrown out of work. The amount of loss may run to $250,000 it is unofficially estimated. There was no insurance. The plant had a single shift capacity of about seventy thousand feet per day. It was fully equipped with two large steam engines, donkey engine, carriage, three main saws, planer, Ross terry and separate shingle mill. Cut lumber in the yards, an estimate of which is yet to be made, was included in the destruction. A nearby subsidiary diesel mill and offices were saved as were the employees' houses.

There was a good water system at the mill, a four-inch pipe line with 250-pound pressure. A fire boat from nearby Port Edward was also pressed into service but the conflagration was too far advanced to save the plant. There was a brisk southeast wind blowing to fan the flames.

Billmor mill had cut 23,000,000 feet of lumber last year. It had been working on a single shift basis seven days per week. Much of the output was cedar. A major proportion of the cut lumber of late was for lining of ships loading at Prince Rupert and Port Edward. Lumber was also being cut for the United States Army at Prince Rupert.

The mill was built in 1928 and had run every year since at least part of the time. During the past four years it had been in steady operation.

Cause of the fire is not definitely known. Men had been working on repair of the carriage until 11 o'clock Saturday night. Four men had been working around the plant later in the night including the watchman and the man in the electric light plant.

B. E. Morgan, the manager, was the principal owner, the Morgan logging company of the Queen Charlotte Islands also being interested.

Ironically enough at the very time the Billmor fire was at its height, the Morgan Logging Co. was losing a large raft of upwards of two million feet of logs in Hecate Straits. The raft was being towed by the tugboat J. R. Morgan from Queen Charlotte Islands to Ocean Falls on the mainland when a sudden storm came up. The side wiring loosened and the raft broke up. The storm was severe enough to break lifeboats on the forward deck of the Morgan which was able to make anchorage safely after a futile effort to save the raft.

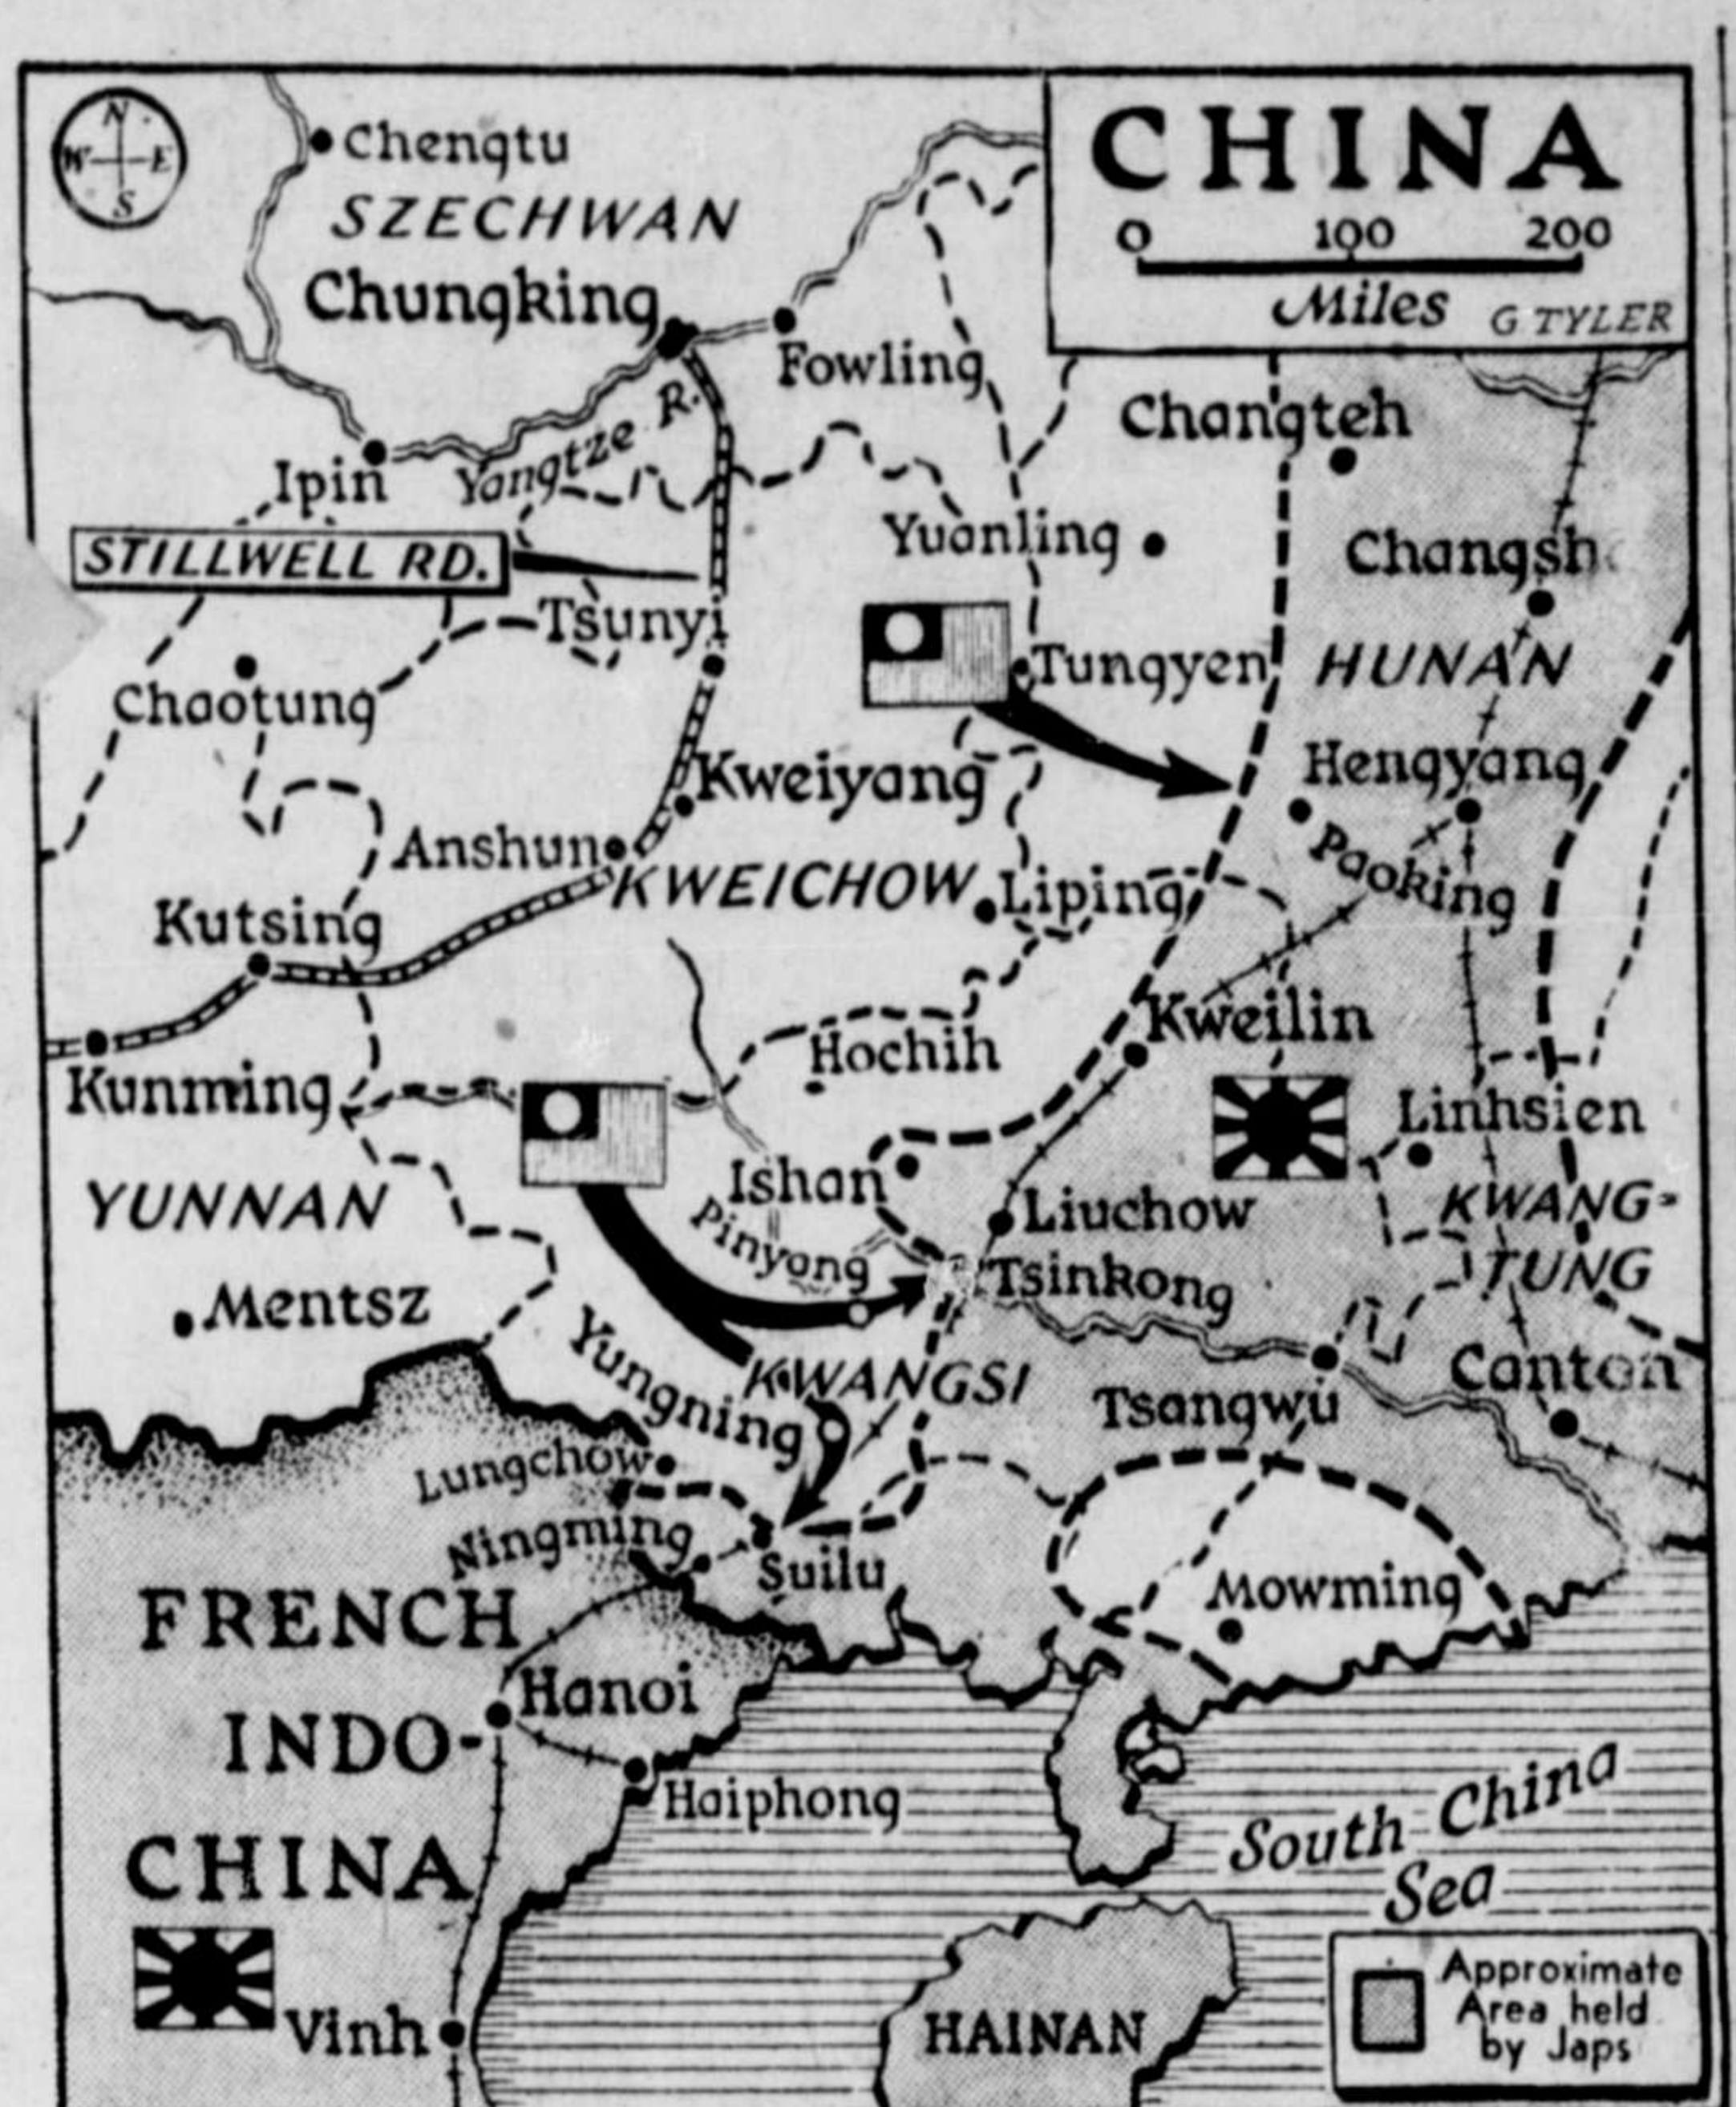

There were no casualties in either mill fire or raft loss.

The fire at Billmor will not interfere with shipments of cottonwood logs which are being made through Billmor from the lower Skeena Valley around Remo and Terrace to Vancouver.

War News Highlights

New Bombing Technique
GUAM—United States superforts have adopted a new technique of bombing Japan. A great three-pronged attack directed Saturday at Kobe, Osaka and Nagoya was followed up when a fleet of 200 superforts from bases on the Marianas visited the Tokyo and Yokohama area and concentrated on five important war plants. It was the fourth straight day of intensive raiding of Japan. No fire bombs were used but high explosives were dropped with pin-point precision on specific industrial and military targets. Three large aircraft factories were practically wiped out and an army depot and seaplane base were heavily hit. Ten American planes were lost over the week-end.

Battle of Okinawa
GUAM—United States forces are fighting into the last ditch of the Japanese defences on Okinawa. The enemy is making his last stand—a desperate one—in the core of his defences, a high plateau known as "The Lost World." Here a desperate final attempt is being made by the Japanese to hold the Americans back. Tokyo reports that a large Allied fleet has moved up to the south end of Okinawa, indicating that a new landing may be planned behind the enemy lines. Meantime the fleet is lobbing shells into enemy positions.

Canadians Are Voting Today

GERRY MCGEER MADE SENATOR—APPOINTMENTS TODAY BY PREMIER

OTTAWA, June 11 (CP)—The appointment to the Senate of G. G. McGeer, K.C., late Member of Parliament for Vancouver-Burrard, being of particular interest in the West, Prime Minister Mackenzie King today announced several important appointments. There were also appointments to senatorial vacancies for Ontario and Quebec—J. R. Hurlbise of Sudbury and Jean Marie Dessureault of Quebec City respectively. Major General LaFleche was named minister to Greece. Walter Turnbull, secretary to the Prime Minister, is named deputy postmaster-general and J. A. Sullivan, also of Ottawa, assistant deputy postmaster-general. Major-General Sir Eugene Fiset is re-appointed lieutenant-governor of Quebec.

Early Vote Was Light 65 VOTERS USE ADVANCE POLL

Unpleasant weather possibly holding down vote in federal election here. Possibly a continuing cool and heavy drizzle following the rain-storm yesterday held down the volume of early voting at the federal election in Prince Rupert today. Up to noon there was a mere trickle of voters and at 12 o'clock only 611 had appeared at the central voting station in the chilly Moose Hall downtown. At the East End Hall polling station 174 ballots were cast up to noon. There are about 4000 persons qualified to vote here. The voting was going off in an orderly fashion under the direction of Returning Officer T. W. Brown. There were the usual perplexities on the part of some voters who did not seem to quite know what to do. One voter complained that the parties represented by the candidates were not designated on the voting paper.

"Who is this man Applewhite, anyway?" queried one voter who, knowing none of the candidates, intimated he would take the first on the list. "Who are these guys anyway?" commented another. "Pshaw, I don't know any of them, I guess I'll not bother voting." Bruce Mickleburgh, Labor-Progressive, was the first of the candidates to appear personally at the polling station with Leading Aircraftman Harry Archibald, C.C.F., close behind him. E. T. Applewhite, Liberal, was also on hand from opening time and Major J. T. Harvey, Progressive-Conservative, appeared about 11 o'clock. Labor-Progressives were particularly active in assisting to direct the voters to the ballot tables and marking booths.

First voters downtown were Mrs. A. B. Love, consistent early voter at civic elections, Mrs. Audrey Kellest, Mrs. R. G. McAuley, Mrs. C. E. Cullin, J. T. Parker, Charles Morrow, W. O. Franky, Mickey Stefanek and Mrs. G. R. S. Blakaby.

Early voters at East End Hall were Mrs. Phyllis Slater, Mrs. E. T. Russell, J. R. Blakey, Hugh Ferguson, H. Walker and Ald. G. W. Rudderham. The polls close at 6 p.m. and the counting should be pretty well completed by 7 p.m. Following are the names of deputy returning officers: Moose Hall—Mrs. Violet Scherck, Mrs. H. D. Thain, Mrs. Robert Parker, Mrs. Ruth Turner, Mrs. F. M. Joyce, Mrs. A. E. Field, Mrs. Alex McRae, Mrs. J. A. Rutherford, Mrs. A. C. Clark, Mrs. E. A. Weather Conditions Are Favorable For Polling

OTTAWA, June 11 (CP)—Canadians went to the polls today to elect a new Parliament and return to power or choose a successor for the Liberal party which has held office for two terms. It was raining in some areas and sunny in others but nowhere did nature present obstacles akin to those of the last Dominion election in March 1940 when huge snowdrifts in Ontario and Quebec barred residents from the polling booths. Sunny weather prevailed in Vancouver.

TINY FAWN ELECTION PROBLEM

A tiny, helpless fawn, found motherless on the highway last week exerted a slight influence on the federal election machinery in Skeena Riding and added another worry-line on the countenance of Returning Officer T. W. Brown. Less than a week old and requiring constant feeding and attention, the fawn was found on the highway east of the city by Mr. and Mrs. Taylor of 416 Eighth Ave. W., who took it home to look after it. The infant proved very appreciative, making friends with the family dog and kittens. But it required to be fed from a bottle every three hours and that was what caused the hitch. Mrs. Taylor had agreed to act as poll clerk in one of the division in the downtown voting station which would have necessitated her being away from home all during election day. Torn between her election day commitment and solicitude for her four-legged charge, Mrs. Taylor leaned in the direction which most women would have taken. Returning Officer Brown eventually got another poll clerk in the person of Mrs. Jane Creech. "I don't blame Mrs. Taylor at all," he commented. "The fawn is the cutest thing you ever laid eyes on." When it is old enough to look after itself, the fawn will be returned to its wild state in accordance with the law.

NO BALLOT BOX, SO NO VOTING AT TLELL VILLAGE

Voters at the tiny logging village of Tlell on the east coast of Graham Island probably were among the few settlements in Canada which did not cast a vote today. Word received by Returning Officer T. W. Brown Sunday night advised him that the ballot box for the village had not arrived. Mr. Brown, whose records show that he had sent the ballot box May 31, could not account for it going astray. He immediately sent another down to a boat due to sail for the Queen Charlotte Islands this morning but admitted that there was little hope of it arriving there in time. Weather made the use of aircraft to take a ballot box across impossible. In the 1940 elections the village of Cumshewa failed to get its ballot box in time due to a boat being stormbound prior to election day. There are about 15 voters at Tlell.

LONDON (CP)—The King and Queen with Princess Elizabeth and Margaret paid a private visit to Burlington House for a preview of the Royal Academy summer exhibition.

British Borneo Is Invaded By Australian Division

CANBERRA, Australia, June 11 (CP)—Australia's Acting Prime Minister, J. B. Chifley, has announced a new invasion of Japanese-held territory in the oil-rich island of British Borneo by the veteran Australian Ninth Division. The Ninth Division saw service in the North African campaign of the European war. The exact point of the landing was not disclosed, but two days ago the Tokyo radio said Allied troops had hit the beaches of Labuan Island under cover of heavy naval bombardment. Labuan is at the mouth of Brunei Bay, a former Japanese refueling point on the Borneo northwest coast. The beachhead had been extended two miles, it was announced today. General MacArthur's latest communique has made no mention of the Borneo invasion. A bulletin from Manila said Allied bombers and light naval units continued their bombardment of Jap defences, concentrating on the Brunei Bay area and the oil centre at Balikpapan.

Deputy Returning Officers From All Political Groups

All four political parties and three persons of unknown political tendencies are represented on the list of 27 deputy returning officers appointed by Returning Officer T. W. Brown to supervise the polling divisions in the city. The following list, Mr. Brown says, shows the proportion of candidates appointed at the suggestion of the different parties and those who were appointed by Mr. Brown and whose party connections were unknown to him. Liberal, 12. C.C.F., 10. Progressive-Conservative, 2. Labor-Progressive, 4. No Party, 3.

Actually the list adds up to 31 names, but, Mr. Brown explained, this is accounted for by the fact that four of the deputy returning officers were appointed at the suggestion of more than one party.

Japan's Plan of Defense . . .

News of the fighting in China cannot be as complete or as reliable as that from other theatres. Enough of recent reports can be pieced together, however, to sketch in the outlines of an emerging pattern.

Chinese forces are not only striking for a gateway to the sea on the Fukien coast. They are also endeavouring to cut off the Japanese south of the Yangtze River from the main armies of the north by severing the rail communications. American planes and ships have already throttled down the connections by sea to a trickle.

At the same time there are reports that Japan is withdrawing important armored units from the Shanghai area and dispatching them to Manchuria. This, added to rumors of other enemy movements out of South China, supports the opinion that the Japanese have seen the imperative need of pulling their far-flung armies into a territory which can be effectively consolidated and defended.

This will hardly mean the abandonment of key points without a battle. The Japanese High Command may well calculate coldly that to deny to the Allies Singapore, the oil fields of Sumatra, the rubber of Malaya, and the big ports of the China Coast for every possible day would be worth the sacrifice of several hundred thousand troops. They apparently so calculated for all of their Pacific outposts, and the Allies are doubtless planning accordingly.

What Will a Nickel Buy? . . .

There was a time—and not too long ago—when the smallest Canadian coin had a definite value all its own and a nickel was sufficient to satisfy childhood's desires. There was, according to myth and legend, even a five-cent cigar although it was not good.

Now—any fond parent who tries to impress his four-year-old offspring with the value of money can be stumped every time with the question: "What will a nickel buy, Daddy?" There just isn't any answer except to suggest that the nickel will fit the slot in the mission bank. The penny, the nickel and the dime are no longer a yardstick of value for the child because the things they used to buy have been taxed out of the five-cent class if they are available at all.

Nor is the child the only one affected. Adults still pay five cents for their daily paper but they cannot help but be aware that to the price of many things they must buy something more has been added—something officially known as an excise tax, inaccurately referred to as a luxury tax and correctly regarded as a nuisance tax.

In recent weeks some of these special wartime nuisance taxes have been removed but many still remain. It will be a big day on the way back to economic normality when the five-cent piece is once again sufficient to buy a bottle of soft drink, a chocolate bar or a package of gum. It would be good finance and good politics to bring the nickel back to par.

The most famous remark of Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall was: "What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar." This was later amended by Franklin P. Adams to read: "What this country needs is a good five-cent nickel."

Would Keep Canada Free Of Japanese

Having experienced at first hand indignities, insults and injury at the hands of the Japanese during the course of her activities as a foreign correspondent in Japan and Japanese-controlled territory, Miss Mariel Cordeaux, who has been a volunteer campaigner on behalf of the Liberal party because she considers its policy the most effective in preventing further infiltration of these enemies of democracy and civilization, told a public meeting audience in the Capitol Theatre yesterday afternoon that they should be careful about doing anything that might lead to these Japanese people becoming their neighbors. "Believe me," she said, "I don't want a Japanese neighbor spitting over my back fence."

Miss Cordeaux told an astonishing story of what she had actually seen of Japanese preparation for world conquest and enslavement which she emphasized meant imprisonment in chains and nothing else. They might have seemed "smiling and friendly, polite and courteous" for the time but all the while they were preparing for the greatest war in the history of the world. Long before the actual outbreak of the European war in 1939, there had been German and Japanese collaboration looking to world conquest. After 1939 and before Pearl Harbor, the Japanese had actively aided the Germans against not only the Allies but against neutral shipping. The Japanese had had a very definite part in the disappearance of ships in the Indian Ocean and elsewhere. There had been utter ruthlessness and barbarism in the treatment of those unfortunates who had come into their hands. After Crown Prince Frederick of Germany had visited Emperor Hirohito in 1939, a regime of insult, mistreatment and even murder of British subjects had commenced.

The speaker told how she had become a marked woman and had eventually been ordered to be killed.

Miss Cordeaux described an incident at Kobe of being forced to strip before two Japanese soldiers and customs officers who were searching for photographic negatives which she had concealed in her hair. In Hong-kew, the deplorable slum area of Shanghai she had been rescued from Japanese bayonets by a soldier of the British 72nd Regiment with a drawn gun. She described graphically the bombing in 1940 of the Empress of Asia aboard which vessel she was a passenger.

Holding up one of the familiar Japanese glass fishing floats, Miss Cordeaux told how these had been used as a preliminary in research which had led eventually to the sending of trial bombing balloons to the Pacific Coast.

Speaking of the political situation, Miss Cordeaux declared that Mackenzie King's forbearance against imposing conscription had been a wonderful thing. The dignity of the individual had been recognized. By not diverting from the voluntary method and leaving the Canadian people to the dictates of their own hearts and consciences, there had been achieved a degree of war effort which was the marvel of the world.

Essence of Liberalism

Dr. Jack McDougall said he had identified himself with the Liberal party because he had been interested in the development of a true national spirit. The essence of Liberalism was "progress without dictatorship, stability without reaction." State ownership, as advocated by the C.C.F., could only result in centralization and development of collectivism. "If you want to become just a cog in the wheel of state ownership, vote C.C.F.," the speaker suggested.

The Tory party of reaction and special privilege "controlled by the big boys with the money bags," was one of less intellect today than any party of the last 25 years.

As late as March 26, 1944, Viscount Bennett had told the British House of Lords that, if they wanted to see an example of 100 percent mobilization of manpower, they should take a ship, to Canada.

Mackenzie King would go down in history as Canada's most outstanding leader.

Conscription was a dead issue. Tories in this campaign were flogging the dead horse because they had nothing to offer themselves.

The party which had lifted Canada in war from a position of mediocrity to world leadership could carry Canadians to an even greater destiny in the world at peace.

Final Address Of Candidate

E. T. Applewhite, Liberal candidate for Skeena, in his final campaign speech, expressed gratification at the clean campaign that had been waged in Skeena. He was proud to be the candidate of a party which had achieved such a marvelous war effort under the leadership of the greatest living democrats and statesmen. He referred to the complete absence in the campaign of charges of graft or scandal. As for the post-war problems, the government had been planning for two years to meet these and, had, indeed, implemented its plans with much legislation. The policy of the C.C.F. was possessed of the same elements of poison that had started Italy and Germany on the path to destruction. Better out-and-out communism than a panacea of impossible promises from a machine run party. It was easy but it was "absolutely dishonest" to make reckless election promises. The candidate wished to make it clear that he made no promises other than that he would employ all his ability and energy in the working toward the fulfillment of the needs of the constituency in which he had resided longer than any other candidate and with the problems of which he believed he was more familiar. S. E. Parker presided over the meeting. On the platform were W. O. Fulton, T. N. Youngs, Gillis Royer, Robert MacKay, S. O. Granley, J. A. McRae, A. D. Ritchie, Robert Gordon, W. M. Watts, C. F. McCarthy, Robert Parker, Mrs. Robert Gordon and Mrs. F. Joyce.

ARE HEARING FROM NORWAY

Cables from Relatives in Homeland Received But No Letters as Yet

Since the resumption of communications with Norway following the liberation of that country, several members of the local Norwegian community have received cables from relatives. In a number of cases it was the first time these people had heard from the home folk since the German occupation in the spring of 1940. Although mail service with Norway has been resumed, few if any letters have so far been received.

There are many Norwegian people in Prince Rupert who are anxiously awaiting word as to how their kin survived the ardors and persecution of the occupation.

I.O.D.E.'s Work Is Reviewed

Prince Rupert Shared in Accomplishments of Order in Canada

Report of the forty-fifth annual national meeting of Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, has been received in the city.

Women from nine provinces and from the Yukon assembled in Regina to review their work for the year, to look in retrospect on their war work since 1939 and to plan a constructive program of post-war work service.

Total membership was recorded at nearly 35,000, there being 950 chapters. (Five of these are in Prince Rupert).

The largest portion of funds raised during the year, approximately $900,000, was spent on war work such as field comforts, bombed civilian relief, Polish relief, personal property and nursery bags and prisoner of war parcels.

Child and family welfare work received $137,000 during the past 12 months. This included provision of milk and hot lunches to schools and families, fresh air camps, recreation facilities, upkeep of clinics, sanatoria and hospital assistance.

Over $6,000 was spent in assisting the Sea Cadets and in Girl Guide work as well as organizing junior chapters. (The Galloway Rapids Chapter in Prince Rupert received its charter last year.)

Ex-service personnel and their families were given special attention. Hospital visiting and accompanying treats for patients assumed large proportions. By their care of soldiers' plots in cemeteries, the memory of servicemen is kept green by the chapters. Graves of men whose families live far away receive extra attention.

Four hundred and thirty students were the recipients of bursaries, scholarships, and other monetary assistance. Many "adopted" schools were given libraries, magazine subscriptions, radios, flags and school prizes.

Many chapters assisted in war savings stamp drives and Victory Bond sales. Money was raised for service libraries to the amount of $300,000. (Prince Rupert contributed well over $1000 during the recent drive here). All contributions to the National Service Libraries Fund are used to buy books, playing cards, games, records, etc. for the armed forces and military hospitals.

War-time hospitality during the year was widely practised. Thousands of servicemen were entertained in homes of members of the order, also in I.O.D.E. canteens. Many members helped in other service centres and a number of distinguished visitors to Canada were entertained. A special welcome was accorded war brides and help was offered when needed.

C.C.F. HOLDS FINAL RALLY

About 250 people faced wet, blustery weather to attend a final C.C.F. election rally in the Capitol Theatre last night where Candidate Harry Archibald, supported by Herbert Gargrave, M.L.A. (Mackenzie), made a final appeal to Skeena voters.

The audience was composed almost wholly of C.C.F. supporters and responded to the speakers with intermittent applause. Mr. Archibald was initial speaker, addressing the meeting for about 20 minutes, reiterating campaign pledges.

"Whether we win or lose tomorrow the work of the C.C.F. ent chapters and their subsequent interest in the welfare and comfort of the men had proved an inspiration to many men in the Canadian Naval forces. (The Prince Rupert chapters have adopted the frigate H.M.C.S. Prince Rupert).

"The need for 1,000,000 jobs will have to be filled by any government which is elected in Canada at this election. Mr. Gargrave said, adding that the present trend was toward unemployment which after the war with Japan would be on a mass scale.

Ald. William Brett was chairman of the meeting.

"VERY THOUGHT OF YOU" HERE

Tender Romance of Wartime Showing Today and Tomorrow at Capitol Theatre

"The Very Thought of You," picture for this Monday and Tuesday at the Capitol Theatre, is the brave, tender romance of soldiers and the girls whom they have made their wives amid the emotional earthquake that is war. Specifically, it is the story of Dave (Dennis Morgan) and his buddy, "Fixit" (Dane Clark) and two girls, Janet (Eleanor Parker) and Cora (Faye Emerson).

The plot is a simple one—and familiar. A boy and a girl meet, fall in love, and marry on a furlough time—against family opposition. A baby son is born while father fights overseas. Strangely enough, the tiny boy unites his mother's family, long separated in spirit by petty jealousy and pride. And his father, wounded in battle, returns to a happiness insured by the love of his wife, and to a marriage that he was told would "never last."

The supporting cast includes William Prince, Marianne O'Brien, Georgia Lee Settle and Dick Erdman.
