He Died Too Late . . .

Fate has been kind to Adolf Hitler. He is dead. The reaction of the most of us to the news of his death is that death is too good for this man to whom must be attached the responsibility for having brought to the world the greatest misery, the greatest disaster it has ever known. Possibly by now even his own people may realize that it was Hitler with his mad and lustful acts, who brought down upon their once great and proud nation what appears today to be its bitter and complete destruction.

We cannot mourn the death of Adolf Hitler. Nor, anti-climatic as it is, do we will inclined to exult in the event. A few years ago his death might have been an event of utmost benefit and vital importance to the world. By today, however, he has done his worst. Had he lived on he could have done no more evil. He has fulfilled his evil career and scorn or revilement now that the devil is dead can do no good.

The dishonored Fuehrer is gone and every historical record—even of his own land—must ultimately record him as the most fiendish pervert that unquestionably was.

Jap Disaster in Burma . . .

The scale of the disaster to the Japanese forces in Burma is indicated by their inability to defend the oil country south of Mandalay. Although the extent of mechanization of Japanese transport and armed forces generally is not such as to raise their consumption of oil to anything approaching that of British or American units of comparable size, the need to transport oil into Burma, if Rangoon is to be defended successfully, is very heavy in Japanese responsibilities. The output of the oil fields is a fraction only of that achieved before the Japanese invasion and application of a scorched earth policy to the wells but they were nevertheless supplying all Japanese requirements in Burma with the exception of aviation spirit. The advance southward via the oil country towards Prome and Rangoon is fiercely—but unsuccessfully—resisted.

Dr. Knipe Resigns . . .

During his incumbency here as director of the public health unit and medical health officer, Dr. Roger Knipe, whose resignation is announced to become effective in the fall, has been responsible for the institution of progressive measures in the very important matter of public health. He has done much to develop in the community an appreciation of good health and the importance of measures to promote such health. A persistent and enthusiastic advocate, has done good work under difficult conditions.

This appreciation of public health and the functions to foster it has been brought to a high degree here and it is to be hoped that, as a result of the departure of Dr. Knipe, there shall be no let-up in the campaign.

Public health and its benefits cannot be measured in terms of dollars and cents. Anything that is may have cost us monetarily, however, we can be assured has been worth the cost many fold.

The Unit Board of Health may have difficulty in finding someone to succeed Dr. Knipe but the chairman of the board has announced that immediate steps will be taken with that end in view.

THE LATEST DOPE!

Whatever remains to be said about that sap in the cartoon above should most likely go into an obituary notice. There are dangerous situations which do not vanish into thin air just because people turn their backs on them or try to hush them up. Syphilis and gonorrhea are like that car in the drawing. Long years of hush-hush haven't stopped "V.D." from damaging countless lives and causing economic waste in industry.

NEW CHIEF IS WELL KNOWN AS WAR ENGINEER

New Chief Engineer, Canadian National Railways, Western Region

J. L. Charles is well known in military engineering circles. He started railroading in 1910 as roadman with the Grand Trunk Pacific in the mountain division. He served with the Canadian Railway Troops overseas returning to Canada with the rank of major and also was awarded the D.S.O. and two mentions in dispatches.

In 1919 he returned to the company in charge of branch lines and in 1923 served as terminal engineer on construction at Nenng yards, Fort William. In 1927 Mr. Charles returned to the Hudson Bay Railway. In a short time he was back as supervising engineer on location for the west and remained at that work until he was called into military service by Royal Canadian Engineers in the present world war. He served as officer commanding 29th Field Company on the Pacific Coast and was later seconded for special duty with the United States forces.

He was released from military service in 1943 to return to the C.N.R. in connection with railway facilities serving the Steep Rock mine at Atikoka and the new ore dock at Port Arthur.

Mr. Charles will make his headquarters in Winnipeg.

PLAN COURSE FOR PUBLIC FOOD HANDLERS

A course which will instruct food handlers in city restaurants in the basic rules of health and sanitation necessary for safeguarding those who eat in public eating houses is to be begun by the Prince Rupert Health Unit, according to an announcement by Dr. R. G. Knipe.

The plan, which the public health director says, has already been approved by restaurant owners in the city, will accentuate the sanitary handling of food and utensils to eliminate the spread of communicable diseases. It will embrace about 100 waitresses in the city as well as dozens of kitchen workers.

"We find that they don't know enough about elementary sanitation. They look on the public health authorities as policemen. We aim to create an awareness of the need for extreme cleanliness in food handling," Dr. Knipe says.

With a method of classifying the sanitary standing of restaurants already in effect under which the health unit issues certificates of approval, Dr. Knipe and his associates hope to include the instruction course in the set-up.

Eventually, we hope to make it compulsory for food handlers to attend the course by making it necessary for 75 to 80 percent of the help to pass the examination before the restaurant would be entitled to a certificate of approval," the health director asserted.

Actually, the course is easy enough to pass. It consists of an instruction book which notes approved methods of handling foods, and the ways in which bacteria and food poisons are transferred. The examination is in the form of a quiz in which "true or false" questions are answered.

Dr. Knipe estimates that the course would take about four hours to complete. When the ex-

The scheme is in effect in some centres in the United States and is working effectively. However, it is not yet being done anywhere else in B.C.," Dr. Knipe declared.

The Prince Rupert Union Board of Health gave the idea its blessing at a meeting Monday night.

INVEST IN THE BEST

No other cause is better or more worthy than the cause of JUSTICE and FREEDOM for which Canada and her Allies are fighting.

No other investment offers better or safer security than do Dominion Government Bonds, which are guaranteed as to payment of principal and interest by the Government of the Dominion of Canada.

Canada's progressive participation with her Allies in MANPOWER, MONEY, GOODS, AND SERVICES, is an achievement which, for all time, will stand as a monument to her everlasting credit.

The Government of BRITISH COLUMBIA will invest another $6,000,000 in this Eighth Victory Loan, bringing the total investment in Dominion Government Bonds to $57,600,000.

In addition to this contribution to the Allied Nations War Effort—your government recommends also that every person, corporation or company in British Columbia invest their surplus funds in Canada's EIGHTH VICTORY LOAN.

Decisive Victories Scored in Last Night's Play

Corporal Le Maurier, a "flying Frenchman" from Quebec, ran wild to score five goals and lead Fortress to a crushing 10 to 3 triumph over Navy in a floor hockey game last night at the Y.M.C.A. gym.

No flash in the pan was Le Maurier's effort for the big blond forward scored in each period—two counters in the first and third sessions and one in the second.

Stewart, with two markers, and Murray, Coull and Coates scored the remaining Fortress goals and

MAPLE LEAFS ARE NOT DOING SO VERY WELL

TORONTO, May 2.—Harry Davis, the Toronto Maple Leafs' veteran first-base man, who is making his debut as a baseball mentor this season, is discovering that a manager's life is not always a happy one.

Although the Leafs have had to play some of the International League's strongest teams in their early games, they have made good showing but not a winning one.

The Toronto squad have not suffered a really decisive defeat this year but they have been shaded seven times in nine fixtures, and consequently find themselves in the circuit's cellar one game behind the seventh place clubs.

VETERANS TAKEN ON

TransCanada Air Lines Look To Post-War Plans

WINNIPEG, May 2.—To cope with the expansion of post-war aviation nearly 200 repatriated R.C.A.F. veterans have been recruited by TransCanada Air Lines, and several schools for their training have been opened at the company's operational headquarters in Winnipeg. W. F. English, vice-president of the air line, announced here today. The figures do not include employees who left T.C.A. to enlist.

In line with T.C.A.'s policy of giving jobs to returned men wherever possible, Mr. English said that 16 air force veterans have completed training in T.C.A.'s traffic department. Seventy-five traffic agents in passenger service are veterans as well as 15 in charge, three passenger agent supervisors and 11 presently in training. There are 23 veterans in radio operator classes.

Flt.-seven R.C.A.F. pilots are now operating the air lines planes and six more are in training.

Before the end of the year it is expected that many more veterans will be trained and passed on to traffic, passenger, service, communications and flight duty.

Prescriptions..

From Rupert's Tent Days we have striven to establish a record for Reliability, Accuracy and Fair Dealing in filling Physicians' prescriptions.

We believe that we have deserved the confidence that has been established with the Doctor and his patients. This has been brought about not in a few weeks or months but extends over a period of twenty years.

YOUNG PORT SIMPSON COUPLE MARRIED HERE

The marriage took place at St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral on Saturday afternoon of Miss Vera Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Green of Port Simpson, to Victor Welles, son of Richard Welles of Port Simpson. The married couple will reside at Sunnyside with the bride's parents before they return to Port Simpson where they will establish their permanent home.

2,200 JUNIOR RED CROSS MEMBERS

The school population of the Prince Rupert inspectorate is 100 percent Red Cross members. Inspector of School B. B. Thorsteinsson has revealed. The inspectorate, which embraces territory from Ocean Falls north to the Yukon border and east as far as Usk, contains 27 schools with a population of 2,200 pupils.

Here and There*HARD TO "FLUMMOX"

SMETHWICK, Eng., (P)—Mrs Mary Hall, 94 and a great-grandmother, serves candy and tobacco in her own shop here. And she says nobody can "flumox" her on coupons, either.

SEND BOOKS TO BURMA

DAR-ES-SALAAM, Tanganyika (P)—Voluntary women workers in Dar-es-Salaam have been sending books at the rate of 30 per month for the use of Africans in the forces. Appreciative comment is reported from Burma—also a request for additional supplies.

BEE STINGS—LONG LIFE

KETTERING, Eng., (P)—Frederick Newman, 80, attributes his longevity and robust health to bee-stings. Every week-end he wanders among his 30 hives and makes sure he gets stung 20 or 30 times—"then I feel like pulling down a house."

RISE AND FALL OF HITLER

tied England, was rendered almost impotent.

Turning of The Tide

As the tide turned, Hitler showed signs of indecision, if not panic. Once dissatisfied with the campaign against Russia, he himself had taken active military command in the field—trusting to his "intuition"—only to turn the task back again to his Generals in the face of disasters.

Another of his boasted "sure" weapons failed when the combined naval strength of Britain and America gradually cut down the destructive shipping raids by U-boats in the Atlantic and elsewhere. The Hitler submarines could not prevent the movement of great American armies overseas.

Despite rigorous war-time censorship the world heard of economic distress in Germany itself; of general despair of the people in hopes of winning the war. Ruined cities provided the tell-tale answer to the Hitlerian boast that Germany could not be bombarded from the air.

The bragging speeches of the Fuehrer became less frequent; there were whisperings of wranglings among the advisers he once trusted; the sly, well-greased propaganda machine of Paul Joseph Goebbels creaked as it tried to explain the setbacks.

Signs multiplied that the Nazi structure faced the danger that caused the Fascist house of Mussolini to topple.

Hitler's puppet states in Europe began to waver; discontent increased in Nazi-occupied nations and guerrilla warfare arose, while the third great power in the axis—Japan—was slowly, but surely, being forced on the defensive in the Orient, the Aleutians, and in the South Pacific.

How He Was Regarded

To future historians will fall the lot of assaying Hitler and his deeds in the cold light of perspective—the dictator who constructed a pyramid of hate and fear that had cast its sinister shadow over the civilized world.

Perhaps not until there has been time to examine the secret documents in the second world war will it be possible properly to estimate the man.

A composite picture of him, however, in the midst of war, reveals deep undertones of shadows with faint lights.

To the zealots of the Teuton race and his Nazi creed he was at one time little less than a god, a mystic immortal with powers transcending the natural. Germans never elected him to high public office, yet he brought them up from the morsass of bitter defeat and humiliation in the first world war to dizzy heights of pride. They came to believe that they were indeed the master race.

But to his enemies—and they were numberless—he was a monster, a heartless tyrant, a paranoiac, the chief thug in a gang of gutter hoodlums that had seized German power. Possibly no one individual in modern times has been hated so intensely by millions.

Churchill's Opinion

Many world figures have given their estimate of him, but few could match the characterization of Britain's Prime Minister, Winston Churchill, who once called him:

"This evil man . . . this monstrous abortion of hatred and deceit."

Hitler's cruel treatment of the Jews in Europe, the appalling wholesale executions of innocent, defenseless woman and children and old men, make a shuddering picture.

The enslavement of nations under the Nazi heel forms another distressing chapter in history, the full, sordid details of which are yet to be told.

Nor has the story been told of the machinations of the dread secret police, the Gestapo, nor of the fate of countless thousands of respectable Germans thrown into the hell of concentration camps.

His life, from the depths when this obscure native of Austria sold his own water-color postcards on the streets of Munich, to that period when he dominated much of Europe by the bloody sword and by weaving a skein of intrigue and betrayal in the very heart of the people of the crushed nations, may be roughly divided into three segments.

Three Epochal Chapters

They were:

1. The struggle for power—Putsch, prison, storm troops and anti-Semitism. This period ended January 30, 1933 when he was made chancellor of Germany and the short-lived republic disappeared.

2. Construction of the Third Reich—

Economic ruin and exile for Jews; power politics; the "blood purge" of his enemies; building of the most powerful army Europe has ever known; the watch on the Rhine restored; anachronism with Austria; the hapless "Peace of Munich"; the subjugation of the Czech nation; the westward rise from Switzerland to the North Sea. This period when Germany, after an alliance with Russia, invaded Poland across the final line of peace and war drawn by Britain and France.

3. Second world war—

The annihilation of Poland; the quick collapse of Denmark and Norway; the crushing of the Netherlands and Belgium; the fall of France; air blitzkrieg of England; the sweep into the Balkans; then, German bayonets shredded the Russian alliance and he began his crusade against the Reds for which he marked the cards when he wrote his book "Mein Kampf" in a German prison camp in 1923.

"BELL TOLLS" SHOWS HERE

Great Film, With Cooper and Bergman, Coming Last Half of This Week to Capitol

Fine picturization of Ernest Hemingway's celebrated novel "For Whom the Bell Tolls" comes to the screen of the Capitol this Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Co-starred in the leading roles are Gary Cooper and Ingrid Bergman who were selected by the author himself. It is of local interest to recall that Miss Bergman, on a visit to Prince Rupert in person a year or so ago, recited for the benefit of service men and their friends at that time some of the sequences from this very picture.

The love story of three days and three nights in which a lifetime was lived is set against the background of the Spanish Revolution is said to rank in tenderness and passion with the greatest romances ever filmed. Filmed in technicolor, it is primarily the story of the American dynamiter and the Spanish girl, victim of the revolution's barbarism. It is the dynamiter's contract to blow up a strategically placed bridge which, if properly timed and executed, will aid the loyalists in stemming the fascists' advance. The girl is a member of a guerrilla band led by Akim Tamiroff which aids the American. In the course of the difficulties which the group encounters the romance develops.

Other members of the specially selected cast are Arturo de Cordova, Joseph Calleia, Vlad-
