Two Allied Naval Disasters Are Disclosed

British Cruiser Cut In Two
Liner Queen Mary;
3 of Personnel Perish

LONDON, May 18 (CP)—The Admiralty has announced the loss of the British cruiser Curacao with 100 crew members and men after colliding with the Queen Mary in the Atlantic on October 2, 1942. The collision occurred twenty miles off the Irish Donegal coast.

The Queen Mary, steaming at thirty miles an hour through a thick fog, cut right through the cruiser, the two halves sinking within 28 minutes. The Queen Mary was loaded with American troops and could not stop because there was an enemy submarine known to be nearby. It was a ghastly scene.

DOMINANT MONTREAL BANKERS
POPULATION NEEDED HERE

City Requires Publicity and Hotel

A well-balanced productive wealth of British Columbia should carry the promise of a prosperous future for this province but there is an obvious need for population in its broad central interior areas as well as in the south coastal district. This opinion was expressed by Guy Vanier, K.C., director of the Montreal City and District Savings Bank, and Georges Lacoste, general of the same bank, when interviewed by the Daily News on Tuesday. Mr. Vanier and Mr. Lacoste arrived in Prince Rupert Wednesday last night for the first of a countrywide tour in the course of their bank's business conditions in Canada.

Mr. Vanier spotted indications of a great need for better publicity and more adequate hotel accommodation, he commented. "You people should go after the C.N.R. and stop until you get a fine, modern hotel."

Mr. Vanier and Mr. Lacoste are enthusiastic boosters of their home town of Montreal. Vanier, who is a member of the city council of that city, expressed his unique set-up of government.

BRITISH SINK
JAP CRUISER
OFF SINGAPORE

Mopping Up
Burma Now

British Moving to Clean Out Last Remaining Japs There

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Burma, May 18—The British fourteenth Army—in a great double mopping-up operation—is racing to effect a new link-up in the middle Irrawaddy Valley, 80 miles northwest of Rangoon. The Fourteenth Army's grim fighting men are engaged in cleaning up the disorganized Japanese remnants west and east of the Mandalay-Rangoon axis.

Spearheads from Rangoon have swept northwest and were last reported only two miles from another Fourteenth Army force driving southeast from Promet. Their link-up would create yet another solid barrier sealing off the Japanese trapped in the southwest corner of Burma. Their only escape route would be by sea. Between February 1 last year, and last Monday, more than 105,000 Japs were killed in the Burma fighting.

HIGH TRIBUTE TO CANADA FIGHTING
MEN, WAR EFFORT BY MONTGOMERY

TORONTO, May 18—Field Marshal Montgomery said in a broadcast message to Canada last night that "of all the men that have fought under my command in this Great War, none is finer than the fighting men from Canada. There may be some as good, but there is none finer." He said that he would like to visit Canada some day if he were asked.

"Right well he did his job in forging Canada's war weapon," said Field Marshal Montgomery of Lieut.-General A. G. L. McNaughton adding that, under Lieut.-General H. D. G. Crerar, the weapon had emerged into a "magnificent fighting machine."

The Field Marshal paid tribute not only to Canada's fighting men but to the Dominion's great war effort. Montgomery referred to the even more difficult tasks of peace which lay ahead and appealed for a continuation of Allied unity.

Weight of War is Shifting to Pacific

British Columbia Industries Are Facing Greater Tasks

Implications of V-E Day on Canada's west coast, in an industrial sense, may be less than in other parts of the country because, while the end of the war in Europe will naturally bring about curtailment of production of munitions, Japan will still be in the fight and the demands of a Pacific offensive will continue to place big demands on British Columbia.

Because of security reasons it is impossible to state to what extent war production on the west coast is influenced solely by requirements of war in the Pacific, but they are considerable, and these requirements will continue until such time as the Japanese empire has been humbled.

To give only one instance while the bombing of Europe is apparently over, there is still a need of bombing and other types of planes on the Pacific, and reports indicate that the production of Boeing B-29's will continue almost indefinitely so long as war rages over Japan. These are the giant craft that have been so effective in reducing to rubble the industrial plants of Nippon.

And so long as B-29's are in production, the Boeing organization in British Columbia will probably be busy in manufacturing parts for assembly in the finished planes.

The same is true in the shipbuilding industry, where Canada is turning out on the west coast vessels specially designed for service in the Pacific.

The general expectation, is, therefore, that wartime industry on the Pacific Coast will probably continue on a formidable basis for some time longer than in the east.

There is a critical need of manpower in British Columbia, and the return of servicemen to civilian jobs has not so far been a significant factor in meeting employment demands. The situation is regarded as the most serious of the entire war period.

Several Thousand Men Are Needed

Shipyards, construction work, mines, logging camps, sawmills and trucking firms could place several thousand men, and the overall need of men in the Vancouver district alone is reported at 8,000.

When demobilization begins on a large scale, however, there is a strong likelihood that shortages of manpower on the home front will be converted into surpluses. Rehabilitation authorities are predicting that Vancouver alone may expect 80,000 new soldier-citizens after the war and with this is made the statement that the city should have at least 5,000 new homes available by the end of the year.

In addition, there is a general trend of population westward to the coast from the prairie provinces and elsewhere. The distribution of ration coupons indicates that the population of Vancouver has grown more than 80,000 since the war began.

Logging camps, mines and farms are in urgent need of men, however, and it is probable that the events following V-E Day will help greatly to relieve this condition.

Manpower requirements of these three industries will probably take up the anticipated gradual release of men from the war services and from war industry for a long period ahead.

The construction industry is eager to proceed with long-deferred plans for residential and industrial building. Even under present conditions of men and materials shortage, home building has been extensive in Vancouver, Victoria and other British Columbia centres, although the rate of progress has been slow.

Capacity operation of most British Columbia industries to the limit of available manpower appears to be in sight for well into 1946. This forecast will be subject to partial revision should complete victory in Europe lead to early collapse of Japan. In that event, pressure for completion of contracts for Pacific war jobs would be relaxed and the transition to straight peacetime industry would be more abrupt.

A stabilizing factor for British Columbia industry is the urgent demand for lumber and other forest products which will probably continue indefinitely, re-

Appalling Loss of Life
When Bomb Hits Carrier

Franklin Blasted By Own Explosives
With Loss of 832 Men Killed, Missing

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC, May 18 (CP)—Japanese bombs struck the huge aircraft carrier, U.S.S. Franklin on March 19 off the southern coast of Japan, causing one of the most appalling losses of lives in American naval history when the carrier's own bombs and 100-octane gasoline blasted the ship for hours. In New York, Capt. Leslie Gehres, skipper of the carrier, said that casualties included 832 men killed and missing and 270 wounded. The shattered hull survived.

TELLS HISTORY OF SEA CADETS

B. C. Head of Navy League is Speaker Here

Background and achievements of the Navy League of Canada, parent body of the Sea Cadet movement, were outlined by Capt. W. Rankin, president of the B. C. Mainland Division of the Navy League of Canada, in an address before the Rotary Club weekly luncheon meeting on Thursday. Capt. Rankin was in the city on an inspection of the local Sea Cadet corps and attended the meeting with Lt. Cdr. R. A. B. Garrard, executive officer of H. M. C. S. Discovery, Lt. Grant Hooper, Sea Cadet liaison officer, and Sub. Lt. Frank Harcourt, assistant training officer of the Sea Cadet camp at Whytecliffe. The speaker branded as misleading statements that the Navy League was run directly by its officers in Toronto without voice by membership in other parts of the country.

Future of World Is Challenged

Soldier Speaker Sees Personal Idealism as Salvation Rather Than State Ideology

Loss of humanitarian ideals during the last 30 years, culminating in the nihilism of Nazi Germany whose state socialism had precipitated the Second Great War, had left a situation today which still challenged the very existence of civilization. Sergeant Major William Sherwood of the Canadian Army education office here said in speaking before the Prince Rupert Gyrto Club at its regular weekly luncheon. His subject was "Present Day Europe." The only salvation he could see lay in personal idealism as opposed to the ideology of the deity of the state, a realization that good could defeat evil, faith in humanitarian ideals and the belief that the state should exist for the individual rather than the individual for the state.

In a thoughtful address, Sergeant Major Sherwood briefly traced world economics from the days of Roman serfdom, through the switch from the agrarian to the industrial phase of the 18th century to the present era which he described as the declining phase of the industrial revolution.

The speaker told of the development of extreme nationalism in Germany and the expansion of Teutonic influence which had affected all Europe and eventually plunged the whole world into conflict—the last Great War followed. (Continued on Page 4)

One American marine division is making slow progress in its costly drive for Naha. Other marine units have taken the strategic ridge called Sugar Loaf Hill. In the Philippines, two traps are closing on Jap garrisons on Luzon and Mindanao. The biggest force yet enveloped in the Archipelago is being hemmed in on Luzon, where the Americans are driving for Ipo Dam.

As Others See Us . . .

Engrossed in our own local affairs, it often requires outside visitors to see our possibilities and suggest what we should be doing to exploit them for our own advantage.

Prominent Montreal bankers, in an interview appearing in the Daily News, say it is obvious to them that more population is required and can be supported in the vast stretches of the central interior. Those of us who see that country often and are so used to it possibly do not realize its value and potentialities as fully as those who are not so familiar with it. We are used to the interior picture as it is and find it hard to see it any differently.

As for the city of Prince Rupert, the same visitors say publicity and a good hotel are essential requirements. We in Prince Rupert know the place so well that we may not be able to realize the position of other people who are not familiar with it and who may and do have impressions that are entirely erroneous. If people abroad misunderstand and misrepresent Prince Rupert possibly we ourselves are as much to blame as they if we have made no real endeavour to correct unfavorable impressions that are bandied about all over the country.

In the matter of the hotel, a lot of Prince Rupert people do not have to worry. They have their comfortable homes and it is only seldom that their attention is brought to the plight of some people coming here who are often able to get only inferior accommodation if any at all. Of course Prince Rupert people who get around a bit and see what some other places have in the way of hotel accommodation do appreciate the deficiency of the situation here.

With tourist travel offering one of the earliest post-war industries in the attraction of which we have something here distinctive and unparalleled to offer, it is well for us to be giving our attention to the matter not only of attracting visitors to Prince Rupert but to making the place interesting and attractive to them when they do come.

In the publicity campaign that is being worked upon here now, it should not be forgotten that when we invite people to Prince Rupert we must be sure to please those whom we attract at the outset. That done, one of the most effective means of publicity to attract more people here will be favorable talk of those who have been here about the delights and attractions of the place.

The need of better accommodation here is obvious but there must be other things too. Visitors will not be satisfied to merely sit around a hotel for any length of time, no matter how fine the house may be. There must be other attractions—pretty homes, entertainment and various diversions—particularly unique ones.

Dry Dock Wins Cup

Takes Devenish Trophy for Second Consecutive Time

Yesterday official confirmation was received stating the Prince Rupert Dry Dock had won the Devenish Cup for the second time in succession, competing for this trophy in the western region for volume of Victory Loan purchases. Numerous congratulatory telegrams have been received by B. Allen, general manager of the firm.

Winning the Devenish Cup requires a great deal of work and financial investment.

The quota for the Prince Rupert Dry Dock was $125,000 but, to win the Devenish Cup, the employees of this firm invested in the Eighth Victory Loan $183,250. To date the employees of the Prince Rupert Dry Dock have invested $1,051,000 in Canada's Victory Loans.

When W. D. Lambie, unit organizer, congratulated T. J. Boulter, chairman of the Victory Loan campaign at the Dry Dock Mr. Boulter stated he was proud of the job done by the canvassers and grateful to the employees for their investments in the loan.

Mr. Lambie stated: "The National War Finance Committee in Prince Rupert wishes to extend congratulations to B. Allen, T. J. Boulter and the men and women of the Prince Rupert Dry Dock for winning the Devenish Cup again and also for bringing this high honor to Prince Rupert."

All groups exceeded their quota at the Prince Rupert Dry Dock and the very high percentage of 204 was obtained by one group.

REAL ISSUES

Editor, Daily News:
Mackenzie King has returned from San Francisco to open his campaign. Wednesday night, speaking in Vancouver, he presented a "mighty issue" to the voters—"whether Dominion national and international affairs will be carried on by a 'tried and trusted administration' or 'turned over to unknown' and untried hands."
This is the outworn battle-cry under which incumbent old-line parties have contested elections since Confederation. It sidesteps the real "mighty issue before Canada."

The question that is in the minds of all of us with victory in Europe is not a question of experience vs. inexperience for neither the mighty Canadian war effort nor the determination to win the peace are the exclusive property of the Liberal Party.

It is a question of whether we shall have full employment, prosperity, rising living standards, social security, decent homes, farm markets, roads, power. In a word, shall we go forward in the post-war period that is now upon us? Or will it be back to the soup-kitchens?
Let no politician try to evade this question with talk of "experience vs. inexperience" or "socialism vs. free enterprise" or any other of the red herrings that are being drawn across the trail.

Miss Betty Morton, who came north from Vancouver to act as bridesmaid last night at the wedding of Miss Phyllis Hill-Tout and Warrant Engineer John Cloke, will leave tomorrow night on her return south.

Mrs. N. Tiberia, the former Gertrude Turgeon, of this city, returned on Wednesday night's train from San Antonio, Texas, where she has been with her husband, Sgt. Nick Tiberia, U.S. Army, following their wedding in the United States in February.

Miss Bertha Rogers, inspector of home economics for the Department of Education with headquarters in Victoria, arrived in the city on last night's train from Prince George in the course of a trip north on inspection duties and will be spending a day or so here on official duties.

PRETTY EVENING NAVAL WEDDING

Miss Phyllis Hill-Tout is Beautiful Bride of Warrant Engineer John Cloke

The bright rays of a brilliant Prince Rupert evening sun beamed into the little chapel of H.M. C.S. Chatham at 7:30 last night when the nuptial rites of Miss Phyllis Josephine Hill-Tout, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hill-Tout, of this city, and Warrant Engineer John Francis Cloke, R.C.N.V.R., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cloke of Victoria, were solemnized by Rev. Orville P. Hossie, naval chaplain. The chancel was simply adorned with two tapers and a small vase of carnations. The setting was as pretty as it was appropriate. Only a few friends were present.

The bride was a delightful picture as she entered the chapel with her father by whom she was given in marriage. Her beautiful marriage gown consisted of lace bodice with sweetheart neckline. The full skirt was of white organza over white satin. It had a slight train with white satin bustle bow. There were satin-covered buttons from waistline to neckline. An elbow length veil was held in place with two pure white carnations. Slippers were of white satin. A lovely shower bouquet of red roses was enhanced by the arrangement of net ribbon and streamers.

The bridesmaid, Miss Betty Morton, Vancouver, was pretty in her rose taffeta dress with puff sleeves and cross-over bodice. A gold sequin Juliet cap and black lace muffs completed the costume. The bridesmaid's bouquet was of pink carnations and pink roses.

The groomsmen were Warrant Officer Victor Jones.

Following the ceremony, wedding party and old friends of the families of the contracting couple repaired to the home of the bride's parents, 646 Fourth Ave. E. The rooms were decorated profusely with such seasonal flowers as carnations, stalks, snapdragons, daffodils and narcissi. Before the living room fireplace the couple received the felicitations of the guests who had been received on entering by the bride's mother.

R. A. McLeod proposed the toast to the bride to whom he paid fitting tribute. The groom responded. The groomsmen also spoke suitably to the toast to the bridesmaid.

Refreshments were served, the bride and groom cutting a handsome three-tier wedding cake on the bride's table which was covered with a large lace cloth and adorned with a vase of flowers and four pink tapers.

Mrs. S. E. Sunbury of Georgetown and Mrs. J. D. Allen poured and served the Misses Betty Allen, Mimmy Johnson, Marjie Deane, Marjorie Peachey and Eleanor Carr, pretty girl friends of the bride.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Cloke sailed on the Prince Rupert for a honeymoon trip which will take them motoring into the Okanagan before the groom returns to the East Coast to resume his naval duties while the bride remains in Vancouver until he returns to the coast.

The bride's home has been in Prince Rupert since she was a small girl. She is a member of the staff of the Pacific Fisheries Experimental Station which she joined here, moving with it to Vancouver.

The groom is a member of a pioneer Anyox family now residing in Victoria. He has been in the Navy since the first of the war and is a veteran of the Battle of the Atlantic. Among other ships he served on the minesweeper H. M. C. S. Clayoquot which was torpedoed in the North Atlantic this year.

backing of every group in the city. We should send them cards so they can't help but know when we are holding a meeting," Mr. McCarthy said.

Finance Committee Chairman Arnold Flaten reported that plans were under way to raise $10,000 to finance the operations of the public relations committee.

Decision to put into effect its first major project—a slogan contest—was made effective, and details will be worked out by the finance and internal committees. Indications were that the contest will be open to everyone and that prizes may range in the neighborhood of $100.

Committees appointed by Chairman Lloyd Morris last night were:

External—Harry Black, chairman, R. S. Greig, J. K. McLeod. Internal—W. F. Stone, chairman, Verne Evans, Mrs. S. Elkins.

Chairmen were given power to add to these committees. Work of the external committee is to "sell" Prince Rupert to the world while the internal committee will do a similar "selling" job to Prince Rupert citizens themselves.

Present at the meeting were Lt. Barger and Sgt. Ralph Browne of the Public Relations Branch, U.S. Army. Lt. Barger outlined the public relations work done by his office and of its benefits to the city.

"While our work is not primarily to publicize any locality, we have spread the name Prince Rupert throughout the continent. It has appeared on the date line and in lowed by the Treaty of Versailles the terms of which had upset the economic balance of Europe, causing the setting up of economic barriers and in turn leading to the Second Great War.

Nazi philosophy, designed merely for the economic development of Germany and the domination of Europe, yet appealing to the people, had scrapped humanitarian considerations in many nations of Europe which had fallen into the German sphere and had made inherent an attitude among many people that the power of force alone mattered.

Now Germany was defeated but the end was not yet for the war left in its wake this nihilistic attitude, the overcoming of which was the great problem of the future.
