The newspaper said that any American help to Chungking—military, political, financial or technical—before the coalition government was established would aggravate the "current civil war."

Death For 'Pied Piper' Of Manila

Japanese Collaborator Sentenced to Death by People's Court in Philippines

MANILA—The people's court in Manila has sentenced a Philippines collaborator to death. He is Clark Castillo, charged with being the "Pied Piper" who led almost 1,000 Filipinos to mass execution by the Japanese.

The decision of the court in this matter sets an important precedent. It means that membership in the Japanese-backed Makapili Army constitutes treason.

Last March, Castillo, on the pretence that the Japanese were according safe conduct, cajoled the population of the village of Lumband to congregate. The Japanese then killed all of the residents of the village except those who were members of the Makapili organization.

POPE DELIVERS YULE MESSAGE

VATICAN CITY (CP)—Pope Pius XII in a world broadcast, replying to the cardinals' Christmas greeting, said that his appointment of 32 cardinals was intended in part as "a sign of the universality of the church." The Pope said that the hatred and devastation of the war would long remain impressed on the world. He called attention to the many nationalities of the appointees, and said that the church has always radiated a unifying force to torn, shattered humanity and has rebuffed every attempt to dismember it or make it a slave of any one people.

Weather Forecast

Prince Rupert — Cloudy with rain. Strong south to southeast winds increasing to gale force during the afternoon and evening and decreasing to strong after midnight.

GALE WARNING ALONG COAST

Gale warnings were carried along the north coast this morning as winds expected to reach velocities of upwards of 40 miles an hour were forecast for this afternoon and evening. The high winds were forecast to come on the heels of temperatures which moderated suddenly over the Christmas holidays clearing city streets of the ice coating which forced several cars off the road on Christmas Eve, but caused no serious damage either to motorists or pedestrians. Temperatures in the city yesterday ranged from a maximum of 45 to a minimum of 31.

Forecast for today is cloudy with rain with strong south to southeast winds increasing to gales during the afternoon and evening, and decreasing slightly after midnight.

Break and Entry Brings 30 Cents

Thieves who gained entry into the office of Kelly Douglas Co. by smashing a window, got out totalling only 30 cents from the stamp box in the office safe, according to a police report of the only major crime over the Christmas holidays.

The smashed window was discovered at 4 a.m. yesterday by Constables M. L. McLeod and T. Brue making their routine inspection. A later inspection of the office revealed that the prowler had pried open two drawers of the safe, the outer doors of which had been left unlocked, and had taken the 30 cents from the stamp box.

Activity at police headquarters was quieter than it had been for many Christmases, and police reported no arrests for drunkenness, although several persons were taken into temporary custody while under the influence of liquor.

They were given the Grand Cordon and named commanders of the Legion of Honor. Lieut.-Gen. J. C. Simons, wearing beret, commander of the Canadian forces in The Netherlands, is shown receiving the accolade after General Vernejoul had hung the cross and collar around his neck.

AN INTERESTING TABLEAU IN PRISONERS' DOCK AT NUREMBERG—An interesting little tableau in the prisoners' dock of the Palace of Justice at Nuremberg, Germany, where top-ranking Nazis are on trial for war crimes. Hermann Goering, left, who succeeded Rudolf Hess as Nazi No. 2 when the latter flew to Scotland in 1941, chats with the cadaverous Hess, who has just remembered that he didn't forget after all. At right, Joachim Von Ribbentrop, the champagne salesman who became a would-be empire builder, fingers nervously at his throat. Could be that his thoughts are on rope and the sinister use to which it is sometimes put.

Railway Inefficiency . . .

After going through an unprecedented five years of prosperity, the like of which it has never before enjoyed, and not likely to again, the Canadian National Railway System, which is government owned, has set a bad example for other large concerns and businesses, says the Interior News of Smithers. Despite an urgent plea by the government for employers to take on every extra man they possibly can the C.N. has adopted a ruthless, pessimistic policy of cut-down and shut-down. They seem to have no clear-cut plan for the future, and have been stalling and quibbling over the possible construction of a new passenger ship in their own ship building yard at Prince Rupert. Meantime skilled employees are being laid off and allowed to scatter across the Dominion in search of other work.

The latest example of inefficient management is the news this week that the Jasper-Rupert division will be cut to a tri-weekly mixed passenger service. Again, by this action, many employees will be forced to leave this division to seek steady work elsewhere. The government could establish a policy of routing wheat and other commodities for the Far East by way of Rupert, thus increasing the business over this line. Vancouver would never miss this diverted wheat business and it would help to maintain the prosperity of this division and the labor situation as a whole.

Those are the plain facts—have we any government officials who can face them and not feel the need to do the right thing for a change?

Nationalization In Britain . . .

Given practically a free hand by an overwhelming victory at the polls in July, Britain's Labor government is going ahead with its gigantic experiment in the nationalization of industry and services.

This program, sponsored by Clement R. Attlee, now prime minister, and his party, was a major issue in the election campaign. Conservatives, who held a majority in the war government, saw in it danger to the liberty of the individual and a menace to the free enterprise on which they said Britain had flourished in the past.

"Free enterprise vs. Public Ownership" was the main election theme and it still is the basis of conflict in parliament between the major parties.

The long-term aim of Labor is a "Socialist Commonwealth of Great Britain" and for its first five years at Westminster the party set forth a detailed program on which a start has been made. Nationalization of the Bank of England, the first step, passed through the Commons with little excitement, mainly because the association between the bank and the government has been so close for generations that the change meant little.

Since then the nationalization path has been more thorny. Fuel Minister Emmanuel Shinwell has admitted the difficulties in nationalizing coal, gas and electricity; public ownership of inland transport involves numerous problems which the government agreed might take time to work out; and decisions on public ownership of iron and steel have been delayed until a report on means of increasing the efficiency of the existing industry is received and studied.

In November Herbert Morrison, government leader in the Commons, threw down the gage of battle to the opposition when he declared the government's intention to proceed with the nationalization program at all possible speed and announced that owners who allow their properties to fall into disrepair because of the prospect of nationalization will face the danger of reduced compensation.

The public-ownership program now in sight has not caused undue alarm in financial and industrial circles. Concerns likely to be nationalized, such as the railway companies, have said they expect adequate compensation will be paid. The government has said it does not intend to nationalize insurance companies. In many other fields public ownership is something for the remote future and not an immediate prospect.

Apart from its interest in public ownership, the new government seeks to extend social security legislation now on the United Kingdom's statute books. An omnibus national insurance bill will provide higher pensions for the aged, widows and others in need. Pending introduction of this legislation the government faced a "revolt" of nearly 200 of its members who demanded that the basic old-age pension rate of 10s ($2.25) a week be increased forthwith, and it is making new haste with the promised legislation.

Three chaplain heroes, all winners of the Military Cross, who are stationed at Fort Osborne Barracks, Winnipeg, look over the helmet which H/Capt. L. F. Wilmot, M.C., wore during the breaching of the Gothic line in Italy. Captain Wilmot, centre, holds the helmet which was pierced three times by German shrapnel without doing any more damage than taking a little hair off his head and nicking one of his ears. "The angels must have been near me that time," said Captain Wilmot. On the left is H/Major James Porter Browne, who won his M.C. for exemplary service at Dieppe when with total disregard for his own safety and while subject to continuous mortar and machine gun fire, he repeatedly went to exposed positions rendering every possible aid and assistance to the wounded. His home is at Dauphin, Man. On the right is H/Major Russell Oliver Wilkes, who was born at Hamilton, Ont., and who was awarded the M.C. for gallantry at Nisoria in Sicily. Under intense enemy fire, Major Wilkes personally evacuated one man to the R.A.P. and returned under fire to assist in the evacuation of two more. (Canadian Army Photo)

If a dollar could write a diary . . .

"DEAR DIARY," the dollar would write, "here I am in a great big bright factory, my ears almost deafened by the roar of machinery which turns out shining new appliances that thousands of Canadian housewives have been waiting for all through the war."

"I know I'm just one of millions of dollars which the Life Insurance companies are investing now in all sorts of civilian post-war developments . . . public utilities, power resources, railways, hotels, office buildings, and a whole list of projects which are pressing needed to get us all back to a normal peacetime footing."

"I came from a country bank, as part of somebody's Life Insurance premium. It's wonderful to feel that I'm doing something socially useful for the future welfare of my country."

25¢ This portion of every dollar of Life Insurance funds is invested in public utilities, industries, etc., and is hard at work in every province, creating work and prosperity. The remaining 75 cents are invested in government and municipal bonds, securities and mortgages, etc., yet these funds are always available for the immediate protection of four million policyholders in time of need.

YULE HAMPERS SENT OUT TO 30 FAMILIES

Deliveries of between 25 and 30 Christmas hampers were made by the local Salvation Army to brighten the spirits of people who would not have fared so well at the Yule festival. Adjutant Peter Gorrie, local Salvation Army commander, said the deliveries were made Monday afternoon by messenger truck and, in some "last minute" cases, by taxi.

The practice is an annual one for the Salvation Army which, in addition to its continuing work throughout the year, makes a special effort to brighten needy homes at Christmas time by sending out hampers with food and toys.

The Army's work this year was materially assisted by funds raised by the Junior Chamber of Commerce's radio auction.

In addition to sending out hampers, the Salvation Army was host to about 50 children Monday evening when a full Christmas dinner with all trimmings was served at the Citadel. The feast was followed by the showing of films by Major Wells of the Salvation Army.

Power Company Ladies Entertain

Meat rationing need not deprive the beef lovers of an occasional juicy roast. The coupon budget of a family of four can allow a four-pound rolled rib roast, complemented with a good Yorkshire pudding and horseradish sauce, to be the highlight of Sunday dinner. And with no undue restraint it should provide Monday's meal as well as some luncheon fixings. A macaroni scallop-alternate layers of cooked macaroni, sliced hard cooked eggs, a colorful vegetable such as green beans, and a well-seasoned cream sauce—is an attractive and satisfying dish for meatless eating on Tuesday. Wednesday's lamb stew wearing a jaunty topping of biscuit rounds is a six-token bargain. Liver or kidney sauté for Thursday will give your family a nutritional boost at no ration expense. By Friday the eating cycle revolves to fish. Sausages which link well with sweet potatoes and beets, all of which can be oven-baked, make an easy meal for Saturday. Lightly fried bologna slices are a tasty-egg accompaniment now that the usual bacon and ham are doing a big job where most needed, and you may like to devote one or two of your remaining tokens thusly.

ORIGIN OF XMAS SEAL

TORONTO, (C)—History books cite the names of countless persons who have benefited humanity. Yet few people know of Einar Holboell, Danish postal clerk and originator of the Christmas seal.

He was only one of thousands who delivered mail that winter of 1903. The sufferings of tuberculous children on Copenhagen's streets moved him first to compassion, then into action. The long-term result—today's red seal campaign to fight tuberculosis.

Stamps constantly passed through Holboell's hands, and to him came this thought: Why not add one more penny stamp to the thousands of Christmas letters, a levy on healthy senders, to help alleviate T.B. suffering?

The enthusiasm of his fellow workers caused him to present his plan to the King and Queen of Denmark, who paved the way for the first sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals in December, 1904. The proceeds established two hospitals for tuberculous children.

Einar Holboell's idea took root. In 1907, an American woman, attracted by the Danish Christmas seals appearing on mail to Americans, brought the seal plan to the United States.

Sir William Gage, president of the National Sanitarium Association, introduced the plan to Canada in 1908 to help maintain Canada's first two hospitals for tuberculosis at Muskoka, Ontario, and a third at Weston, Ontario.

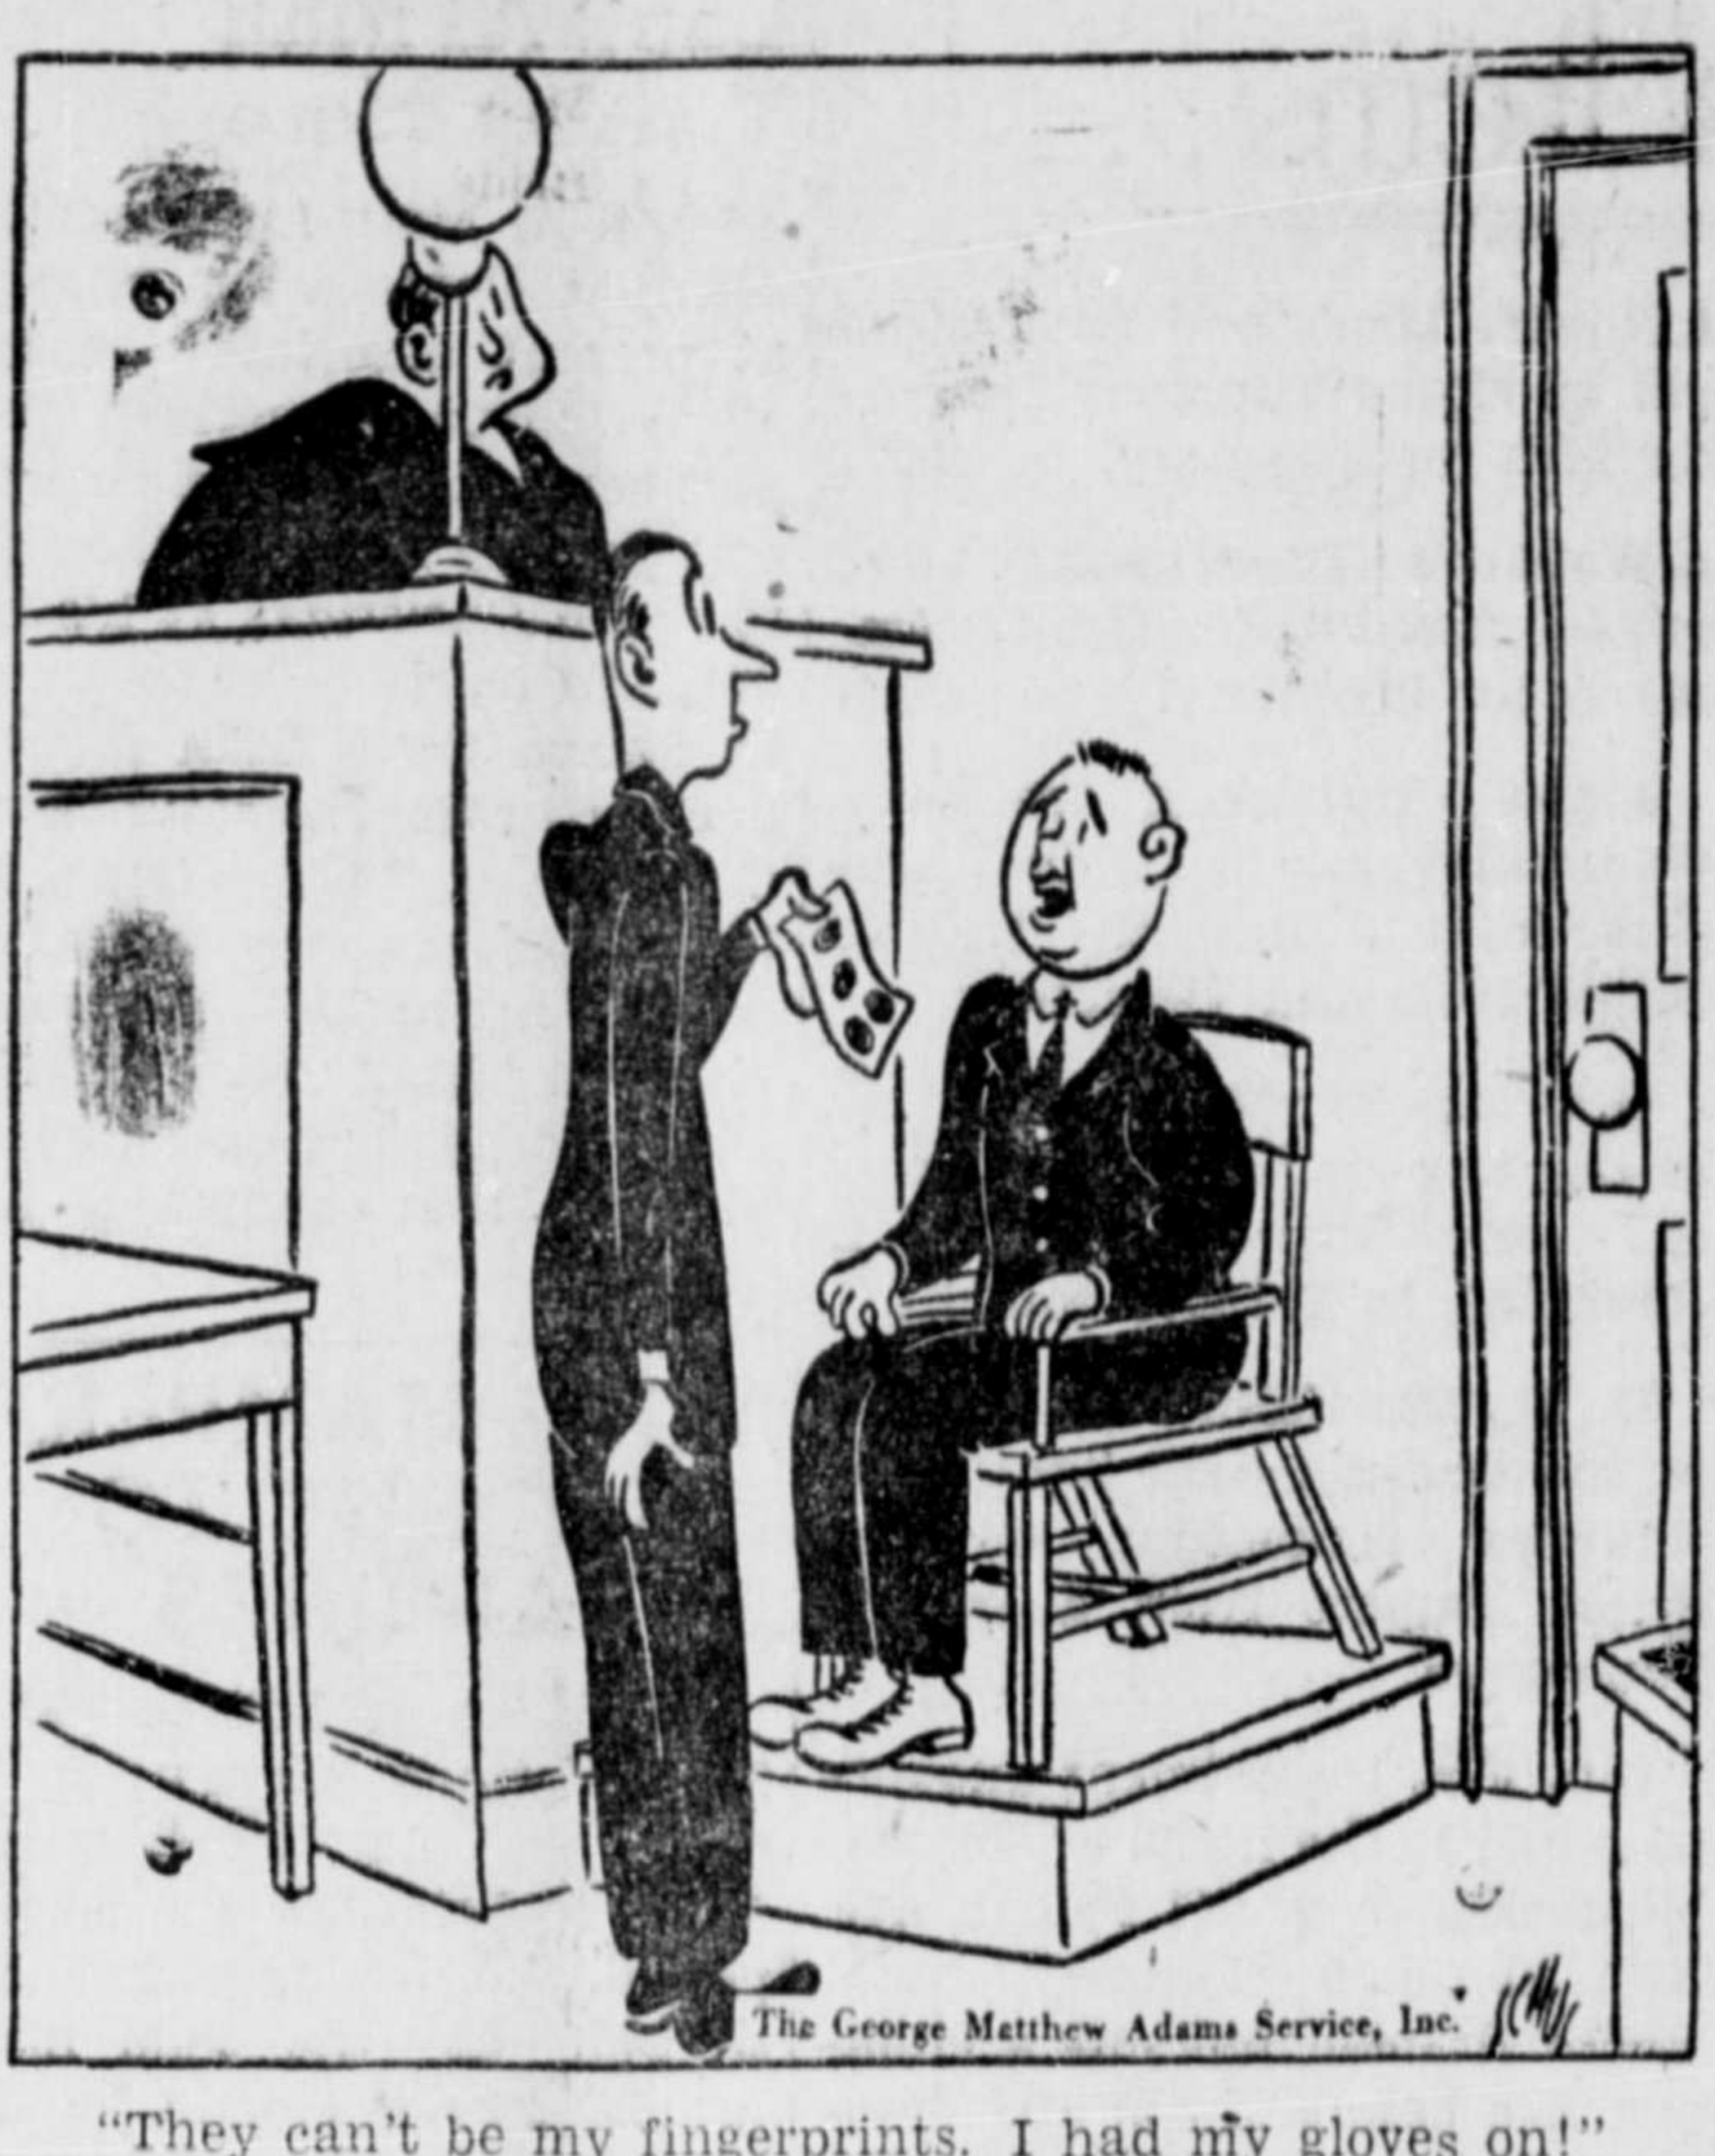

At the outbreak of war 45 countries were annually selling these seals.

Every such seal, whether its motif be the Danish Queen's face (1904), a wreath of holly (1907) or a little boy (1945)—designed by artist Park Phipps, whether sold in Canada or Europe, displays the same emblem—the double-barred cross, in its patriarchal or religious form, used as a symbol of rank or dignity by the patriarchs of Jerusalem and Alexandria. More familiar is the Lorraine or heraldic form of the cross, which was used as the badge of the Free French under General de Gaulle.

The National Sanitarium Association, pioneer organization in Canada to fight T.B., founded in 1896 by a group of philanthropists in Toronto, was intended to be national in scope. But so great was the need in Ontario that its efforts were later concentrated in that province and other associations were organized to cover the rest of the Dominion.

In 1900 there was but one small sanitarium. Now there are more than 30 sanatoria which treat 12,000 patients annually.

SAVING FATS AND OILS—Every woman can develop her own code of thrift in the use of fats and oils. At this season there is an excellent opportunity to make the most of the chicken fat which may be a left-over from a tasty dinner of roast chicken or stewed fowl.

When you prepare a bird for roasting or stewing, be sure to remove all excess fat from the body cavity before cooking.

The best way to render chicken fat is to cut the fat into small pieces. Then melt it in the top of a double boiler or use a heavy kettle over a moderate fire, or to save fuel, use the oven after it has been used for baking. Next strain the fat slightly, skim and cool it through a piece of damp cheesecloth or a fine sieve into a container.

Rendered fats should be stored in a tightly covered tin container or glass jar in a cool, dry place away from the light.

Rendered chicken fat, with its bland flavor and soft texture, may be used for most types of cooking. Chicken fat can be used in place of other shortenings in cake, tea biscuits, muffins and cookies.

Home economists have found that when substituting chicken fat for other shortenings less of the chicken fat is needed. They recommend that 2/3 of the amount called for in the recipe is sufficient. Because chicken fat is so bland it is a good idea to use a little more salt when using it in place of other fats.

THIMBLE COOKIES—Here's a simple recipe for Thimble Cookies using 1/2 cup of chicken fat in place of 1/2 cup of shortening. Thimble cookies require 1/2 cup chicken fat, 1/4 cup brown sugar, one egg yolk, one cup pastry flour, one teaspoon vanilla and 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly, add egg yolk and beat well. Mix in flour, vanilla and salt. Form into balls, place on a greased cookie sheet and bake five minutes in a moderate oven, 350 degrees Fahrenheit, then dent again. Bake 15 minutes longer. Put jelly or jam in the depression while still hot. This makes 1 1/2 dozen cookies.

LEFTOVER SALADS—If the family left any meat on the Christmas bird there are several ways to dress it up so that no one would ever know the dish was a glorified left-over. Turkey salad mould is specially welcome after heavy holiday meals. Chicken may be used for the recipe equally well.

Turkey salad mould requires 1 1/2 tablespoons gelatine, 1/4 cup cold water, 3/4 cup cooked salad dressing, one cup of celery cut fine, two cups cooked diced turkey (or chicken), 1/4 cup chopped unpeeled apple, chopped pimento or green pepper.

Soak the gelatine in cold water. Dissolve over hot water and add to salad dressing. Fold in chicken or turkey, celery and apple. Season to taste. Mould and chill. Unmould on crisp lettuce. This makes six servings.

CEDARVALE MARRIAGE

Miss Edna Bright Becomes Bride of George Leighton

A well known young man of Metlakatla and a charming girl of Cedarvale were the principals in a pretty and interesting wedding ceremony last Wednesday afternoon in the United Church at Cedarvale. The bride was Miss Edna Bright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Bright of Cedarvale. The groom was George Edwin Leighton, eldest son of Mr. George S. Leighton and the late Mrs. Leighton of Metlakatla.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. C. Colwell of Terrace. A reception was later held in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Sutton, where many friends gathered to extend their personal felicitations to the happy couple. A toast to the bride was responded to by the father of the bridegroom. Dancing was enjoyed in the school house. This turned out to be a very happy affair. Solos were sung during the serving of refreshments. The party broke up at 2 a.m.

The bride and party proceeded to Kitwanga to cut a handsome three-tier wedding cake in the Kitwanga Hall where more speeches and toasts were proposed. Dancing was in full swing till 2 a.m. and then back again to Cedarvale to entrain for Metlakatla via Prince Rupert.

The couple will make their home in Metlakatla. On December 28 a wedding party will be held in Metlakatla Y. M. B. Association Hall. The groom is a staunch member of the Metlakatla Y. M. B. Association.

NELLIE McCLUNG REVIEWS CAREER IN LATEST BOOK

By JEAN THOMPSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Women with hobbies have brighter outlooks than those without them, Nellie L. McClung discovered in the early years of her married life in Manitow, Manitoba. Her own double hobby of consuming interest in public life and writing is vividly reflected in The Stream Runs Fast, (Thomas Allen), the second volume of her autobiography.

Picking up the thread of her life where the first volume, "Clearing the West," left off, Mrs. McClung carried her own story through almost 50 years, from 1896, the year she was married, to 1945 when she wrote the closing chapter of "The Stream Runs Fast" in her present home at Lanters Lane, near Victoria. She surveys her work as homemaker, crusader for women's rights, Alberta legislator and author of eight books.

The book reflects the rugged life of the prairie and the women who make homes there. It carries with it the atmosphere of the land's "purple twilights, her phantom breezes, the smell of burning leaves, the ripe tints of autumn, the slanting snow—a land of sudden changes of weather and killing frosts."

There are human and heartening incidents—the reading of Dickens' Christmas Carol in Manitow Orange Hall a draughty place heated by one stove in the middle of the room, the stirring of Mrs. McClung's ambition to be a public speaker after making an address of welcome to a W. C. T. U. convention and the successful petition to the privy council by five Canadian women headed by Judge Emily Murphy to have women declared persons.

No woman who reads "The Stream Runs Fast" can fail to be stirred by the sincerity and energy with which Nellie McClung approached every adventure and opportunity which her crowded life offered. Rich in experiences of Western Canada, this straightforward, modest book traces not only the years but also the growth of a philosophy of life based upon concern for others and the ideal of a better world.

Most of all, the book is witness to the author's conviction that "Canada is destined to be one of the great nations of the world and Canadian women must be ready for citizenship. No nation ever rises higher than its women."

Q. What can a girl do if a man is invariably from 20 minutes to an hour late in calling for her, when she has frequent engagements with him?

A. If she wishes she can wait no longer than 15 minutes, then may go out without leaving a message. If he cares for the girl this may correct his inexcusable habit.

Q. If there are to be only 10 or 15 guests, should a hostess send engraved invitations?

A. No; these invitations should be short personal notes.

Q. What is the maximum number of courses one should serve at a luncheon?

A. Not more than five courses—four are sufficient.

Q. If a man is seated in a street car or bus and a woman is standing, should he give his seat to her?

A. Yes; regardless of present-day observation, it is still the gentlemanly thing to do.

Q. When a young man asks a girl to go to a dance with him, what would be the best way for her to refuse?

A. She may give the excuse of having another engagement.

Q. What beverage could be served to a luncheon guest who does not drink coffee?

A. Chocolate.

Chinese Printer Broadcast Hope On Puppet Bills

An unknown printing engraver broadcast a message of hope to his Chinese compatriots in 1944 by engraving it in minute letters in the filigree work on Japanese puppet money issued by the Central Reserve Bank of China.

"U. S. Army coming in 1945" is the message of the tiny English characters hidden in the filigree work of a small bundle of crisp, 200-yuan notes brought to Prince Rupert by Capt. Albert Mah, noted local-born transport flier, when he returned home for the Christmas holidays.

To the uninitiated, the banknotes are as harmless as they are worthless but, when they were printed early in 1944, they were eagerly sought by patriotic Chinese who read the message and passed it along to other enemies of the Japanese tyrants.

An indication of how the Japanese employed every possible method of impressing their tyranny on the Chinese, even to using Chinese leaders, both alive and dead, is given in the portrait used to inspire confidence in the worthless puppet money. It is that of the late Dr. Sun Yat Sen, whose most brilliant and trusted follower, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, led the Chinese in their fight against the Japs.

SHORT SPORT

The soaring Toronto Maple Leafs were stopped with a hard bump Friday night by Detroit Red Wings who vanquished the Toronto club 6-3. On the strength of the triumph, the Red Wings moved up into a third-place tie with the Boston Bruins. The loss was the first in five games for Toronto and was Detroit's first victory in six contests. The Wings opened up powerfully and swept to a 3-0 lead in the first period with goals by Mud Brunetau, Hal Jackson and Syd Howe. Toronto came to life in the second period with Syl Apps and Gaye Stewart breaking into the scoring column. In the second half of the middle frame Joe Carveth scored the winning goal. The final period saw Flash Hollett score, then Syd Howe rang up his second marker, and the Leafs made a final bid with a goal by Sweeney Schriner. The final score again, Detroit 6, Toronto 3.

The Detroit-Toronto game on Tuesday night featured a fairly rare hockey oddity, a penalty for a goalie. Harry Lumley, net-minder for the Wings, was assessed two minutes in a box in the third period of the contest for holding Jack Hamilton's stick. It was the second time this year that a goalie has been penalized. However, Lumley remained in the game for the 120 seconds with Jerry Couture sitting out the penalty for him.

Perhaps the first attempt to set up a trans-Atlantic athletic league is on the fire. The president of the Boston Garden, Walter Brown, plans to fly to England to look into possibilities for an international hockey league. The league would have teams in four British cities, and in Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Washington. But the general manager of the Philadelphia arena and the amateur Philadelphia Falcons, Pete Tyrell, thinks Brown's plan to have teams fly across the ocean is not practical. Tyrell says "flying hockey players to England at the current rate of $560 per passenger, one way, would be rather expensive for any hockey promoter."

Toronto Saint Michael's College team of the Junior "A" Division of the Ontario Hockey Association arrived in Winnipeg today for a two-game exhibition series with the Winnipeg Monarchs of the Junior "A" bracket of the Manitoba Amateur Hockey Association. Twelve Toronto regulars and four subs make up the Queen City delegation. The first game will be played tonight and the second Saturday night.

THIS AND THAT

"You can always tell when she wants a date. Other times she brings out her Great Dane."

Canadiens, Wings Win

Montrealers Further Extend Margin of Leadership in Standing

Two games were played in the National Hockey League last night. The Montreal Canadiens met the Toronto Maple Leafs on Toronto ice and defeated the home team 4-2, thereby lengthening Montreal's lead in the loop standings. The second engagement of the night saw Detroit Red Wings visit New York and defeat the Rangers 3-2, a victory which moves the Wings into undisputed possession of third place in the league race.

Hero of the night as far as the Canadiens were concerned was Joe Benoit whose two unassisted goals in the second period broke a 2-2 deadlock. From that point on, the league leaders held the upper hand.

Penalties figured in the game's first two goals. Left winger Toe Blake scored for the Canadiens in the first period with the help of Maurice Richard while Billy Taylor and Dutch Hiller of the Leafs and Dutch Hiller of the Canadiens were in the penalty box. Jim Peters was serving time when Gus Bodnar fired in Toronto's first goal with the help of Syl Apps and Gaye Stewart. Peters, incidentally, headed a scoring play just after his penalty was up.

Syl Apps tallied Toronto's other goals, unassisted, early in the middle frame. Neither team was up to form, since both were suffering from injuries. Toronto was without defenceman Babe Pratt and rightwinger Mel Hill—they were injured in Detroit Tuesday night. As for Montreal, the Canadiens lost the services of veteran Murph Chamberlain near the end of the first period when he suffered a nasty skate gash in his instep.

One of Roughest Games of Season
In the Detroit-New York fixture, the fans were treated to one of the roughest displays of the season. There were high tempers, fights and rough play throughout. The excitement reached a climax in the final frame when on two occasions the Rangers played with only three men on the ice while on one occasion the Wings strove to hold their own with two men off the ice. Neil Patrick, Alf Pike and Eddie Brunetau all drew majors, while a scuffle be-

ENTERTAINING COMEDY HERE

Marking the combined starring efforts of Barbara Stanwyck, Dennis Morgan and Sydney Greenstreet, the gay comedy romance, "Christmas in Connecticut" is being shown today at the Capitol Theatre. Featuring S. Z. Sakall, Reginald Gardiner, Joyce Compton, Robert Shayne and Frank Jenks in supporting roles, "Christmas in Connecticut" tells the streamlined story of one sailor's hilarious week-end holiday.

Seaman Dennis Morgan is just recovering from eighteen days of sea and salt water on a bobbing rubber raft. Miss Stanwyck's articles are published in "Smart Housekeeping," a magazine which Morgan chances to read in the hospital. Induced to visit with the communist by a publicity-minded publisher, Sydney Greenstreet, and tempted by some of her marvellous cooking, they depart for the Connecticut wilds.

The authoress, unfortunately, is having troubles of her own. For if the truth be known, she has neither farm nor children, her cooking is definitely bad and most important of all, she is not even married. A charming faker, she has thus far succeeded in her hoax, aided by Sakall, an adoring restaurant chef, and her own vivid imagination. In desperation lest she cause her editor-in-crime, Robert Shayne, to lose his job, she accepts Gardiner as a prospective and imminent spouse. He is the proud possessor of a Connecticut farm and it is here that Liz prepares to make her last stand.

Sailor's date, sees she is unmarried, dates same, a few stolen hours in a stolen sleigh and Liz and the sailor are all at sea.

Fire Department Answers 3 Calls
City fire department answered three fire calls over the week-end, the first received by the department in 10 days.

At 5:15 Saturday afternoon, a call was received from 751 Comox Ave. where fire, said by Chief Lock to have been caused by an open flame from a plumber's torch, ignited the floor of the residence of K. Brown. The blaze damaged the floor and kitchen wall of the residence before it was put out.

Firemen extinguished an electric power line pole on Second Ave. set alight by a short circuit at 5:30 Saturday.

At 1:15 a.m. Sunday, a call was received from Rance and Hardy's store on Third Ave. where firemen found the burning smoke-filled as a result of an electric refrigerator motor burning out.
