POTSDAM, July 24 (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill, President Truman and Marshal Stalin appear to be getting along well in their Potsdam meetings. Fire At Sea

Story of Survivor

Small Freighter Was Quickly Consumed After Flames Broke Out

Within an hour after fire broke out aboard the small American freighter boat "FS29" off Green Island, 35 miles north of Prince Rupert, at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, the vessel had been abandoned and crew and passengers were safe aboard the motor freighter Robert Eugene and headed for Prince Rupert, it was reported by Major Morgan Livingstone who was one of the passengers.

The vessel was abandoned only after every effort had been made to control the flames and save the ship. "The captain, mate and crew performed their duties without unnecessary delay and a minimum of excitement," Major Livingstone declared.

Major Livingstone told of being awakened at 3 a.m. by a member of the crew who reported the ship on fire. "I immediately dressed and went on deck, observing the crew attempting, by means of water and chemicals, to control the fire which appeared to be in the galley and after part of the ship.

"At approximately 3:20 a.m. orders were given to prepare the lifeboats. About fifteen or twenty minutes after the boats had been lowered a ship was sighted and a Very Pistol fired to indicate we were in distress. The Robert Eugene came as near as was safe and stood by. After about a twenty-minute interval of time, the fire showed no signs of abating so the captain gave orders to abandon ship. The fire was then breaking through the deck. We rowed to the "Robert Eugene," were taken aboard and shortly after were headed for Prince Rupert.

There were no casualties and most of the effects were saved although a few bags of mail and some freight was lost.

Twelve passengers and crew of eight of the "FS29" are now on the way to Seattle aboard another ship.

British Election Result . . .

This is the week when the United Kingdom learns what government it chose in the general elections on July 3, announcement of which is delayed until this Thursday to permit counting arrangements of the soldiers' vote to be carried out at the same time. Meantime, it is all a matter of suspense although the guess heard most often is that Churchill's government will receive re-election by a narrow margin. However, it is generally conceded that Labor and Liberal parties will gain many seats in the first general election since 1935. There are some even who are willing to bet on a Labor victory.

One thing is certain, whatever government gets into power will face a barrage of questions when the new Parliament meets on August 8. There will be questions on such varied subjects as demobilization, labor supply for civilian industry, rehousing of the nation and abolition of queues. The next government of England is going to have an interesting time and it will have to know the answers if it is going to fare very well.

Ottawa Is Responsible . . .

Interesting information has come to light to the effect that no definite offer has been made by the federal government to turn the Prince Rupert Highway over to the province. It had been reported here for some time that such an offer had been made and that the provincial government was hesitating about taking it over.

This should simplify Prince Rupert's representations with a view to having necessary maintenance work on the fast-deteriorating road carried out. It is the federal government with which we still have to deal and which we may rightfully expect to do something about it—no matter whether or not it is still regarded as a military highway.

It is suggested that the matter of jurisdiction over such highways may come up at the forthcoming Dominion-Provincial conference. It is to be hoped the whole matter may be ironed out without delay.

Daring the Kamikazes . . .

There are two ways to get at the Japanese air force and the Kamikaze suicide planes in particular. One is to bomb the factories which make the airplanes and strafe the fields where they are parked. Another is to attack targets which the enemy cannot afford to lose and to present targets which tempt the enemy fliers to come out and fight. Then pilots and planes both can be destroyed.

This explains in large part the huge carrier-plane strikes at Tokyo and the risking of the big fleet of Allied warships which steamed up and down Japan's coast while the planes are at work. It is daring and hazardous business. But it is one thing for a fleet thus to invite enemy attack while in battle formation, able to maneuver, with crews expectant and alert, and quite another to sustain such attack in a landing operation when transports, landing craft, and protecting warships are in effect pinned to the beaches. The Kamikaze peril, at the very least, must be radically reduced, and this is one way to go about it.

Apparently the Japanese will not come out this time and will take losses in anything but planes and pilots in the air. Their air force must be conserved for top emergencies only. It can fight for only a few vital targets, and not for these every time.

Announcement of the names of ships and flag officers is less part of the dare to the enemy than it is evidence of a new Allied navy policy. Hereafter the public will be hearing of ships and their commanders just as it has become used to news of Army divisions and their generals.

Cited For Gallantry

The Department of National Defence announced citations to previously announced Distinguished Service Order awards for gallantry in the Italian theatre to two officers of the Canadian Army from Prince George—Lieut. Col. Harry Herbert Angle, 32, and Richard Bartley Sellars M.C., 32. The citations give details of the actions leading up to the awards.

On January 3, 1945, 9th Canadian Armored Regiment (British Columbia Dragoons) under the command of Lieut. Col. Angle, were ordered to advance through the bridgehead established by the Irish Regiment of Canada from the Lomone River to Conventello up to the crossing of the Bonifico Canal.

The regiment passed through against stiff opposition of German infantry, anti-tank guns and approximately 14 Panther tanks and self-propelled guns. The regiment, under the skilful handling of Lieut. Col. Angle, pushed steadily forward and although their front was narrow, limiting power of manoeuvre, drove the Germans back to the Bonifico Canal. The main bridge across the Bonifico was blown just ahead of them and Lieut. Col. Angle, by very quickly moving a squadron to the right, captured another bridge intact defended by approximately 50 Germans and two self-propelled guns. He then moved his entire regiment across and personally went forward to the leading squadron under shell and mortar fire to ensure that the position was adequately organized to defeat any counter attack. The crossing by the regiment caused great confusion among the Germans, forcing them to withdraw from the south side of Lake Comacchio and the town of Santh Alberto. The regiment then advanced to the sea and the mouth of the Reno river over the difficult tank country, rapidly pushing back the German rear-guards and capturing a number of them.

During these operations the regiment commanded by Lieut. Col. Angle destroyed: one Panther tank, was instrumental in destroying another, three self-propelled guns, four mountain field guns, seven anti-tank guns, four mortars, three trailers with motor equipment, captured or killed 175 Germans, and captured 60 horses and equipment, with a loss of only two of his own tanks and six personnel wounded.

With his headquarters under direct and indirect enemy shell and mortar fire a good deal of the time, Lieut. Col. Angle, by bold and skilful handling of his regiment, without thought of personal danger, smashed the determined enemy south of the Reno river and established the right flank of Eighth Army on Lake Comacchio ensuring the success of the corps plan.

Captain Sellars
On January 4, 1945, B Squadron, 9th Canadian Armored Regiment (British Columbia Dragoons) was ordered to seize and hold the bridge over the Canal Bonifica Déstra Del Reno, southeast of San Alberto. This bridge was reported to be prepared for instant demolition and well protected by anti-tank weapons and small arms. The area on both sides of the canal was still in enemy hands. Major Sellars decided to make a run for the bridge along the south side of the canal. The rapid move of the squadron under the skil-

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The provincial government called for tenders for the construction of a section of wharf to fill in a gap along the waterfront in the Cow Bay area. Approximate cost was estimated at $15,000.

Prince Rupert gave an enthusiastic reception to President D. B. Hanna of Canadian National Railways who arrived on a special train accompanied by A. L. Mitchell, railway vice-president. When the train pulled in it was boarded by Mayor Thomas McClymont who gave official greetings to the railway executives: A crowd of several hundred watched the reception.

The ss Prince George, north-bound, struck a rock in Johnstone Straits, Seymour Narrows, causing bottom damage which required dry dock repairs here. She arrived in Prince Rupert several hours late.

HOLIDAY WINDFALL
SYDNEY, Australia. (P)—When war broke out in the Pacific, New South Wales railway employees decided to forego annual holidays. Accumulation to date is 2000 years and the railways commission has informed the government that it will have to be liquidated by time off when manpower becomes available or paid for. To pay will cost $3,600,000.

ful leadership of Major Sellars completely surprised the enemy and the 2,500 yard run to the bridge was successful. As the leading troop approached the bridge two anti-tank guns, sited to cover the approaches, opened fire but were quickly silenced.

Under heavy small arms fire Major Sellars dismounted from his tank, ran to the bridge, located and cut the leads and removed all the detonators he could find. By this time his two troop commanders had come forward and leaving them to finish neutralizing demolition charges, this gallant officer ran to the far side of the bridge and commenced neutralizing the charges there. Small arms fire was continuous and at this time heavy mortar fire also was brought down on the party. Ordering his troop commanders to return to their tanks and provide covering fire Major Sellars remained at the far side of the bridge until he had completed his task in spite of the intensity of the mortar fire. When he returned to his tank his clothing had been torn to shreds by mortar bomb splinters, although he escaped with slight scratches. Major Sellars remained on the bridge under heavy fire for one and a half hours and personally neutralized four demolition charges, four leads and removed two mines at the entrance to the bridge.

The initiative, brilliant leadership and outstanding courage displayed by this officer enabled infantry and tanks to cross the canal with the minimum of delay to form a firm bridgehead and his actions were directly responsible for the capture of San Alberto and the successful thrust across the Fiume Reno the following day.

CANADIANS CONTINUE TO MARRY

LONDON, July 24 (P)—Canadian girls aren't going to like this but the Army newspaper, Maple Leaf, reports that since V-E Day "at least 100 Canadians have taken British brides."

Worse still, the report continues by saying repatriation depots are aiding and abetting Canadians "in committing matrimony."

These depots "do all they can to smooth the path of true love," Maple Leaf states, and quotes an officer at one of them as saying "if a man wants to get married and it's humanly possible to get him married we do so."

It sounds like a conspiracy, especially in view of the fact that before V-E Day some 30,000 Canadians became husbands over here.

Registrars in London report that Canadians and Americans are so anxious to marry British girls before returning home they have been "unable to cope with the rush."

H. W. Canfield, registrar for the London borough of Bromley, says "there has been a definite increase in weddings since the European war ended—I'm marrying couples now at the rate of four an hour."

SOLDIER AVOIDS ROYAL VISIT

CLIVEDEN, Eng., July 24 (P)—Sensitive about his disfigured face wound, a Canadian soldier declined to see the Queen when she visited the Canadian Tertiary Hospital here, Lady Astor revealed while entertaining members of the House of Commons staff.

Showing the party around the tory Cliveden, Lady Astor led to a framed portrait of a soldier in the drawing room hanging beside portraits of King and Queen.

"The boy's name," said Lady Astor, "was James. One day the Queen visited the hospital. He was so sensitive about his appearance he locked himself in a bathroom and refused to be presented to her."

"Despite efforts of a lady waiting who tried to make the soldier realize the Queen would understand, he would not come out. He continually replied 'can't see Her Majesty like this.' The Queen later sent a note to the soldier enclosing a photograph of herself.

Mills Family Holds Post Office Record

LLANGADFAN, Wales, July 24 (P)—For 132 years the post office in this Montgomeryshire town has been in the hands of the Mills family, a record for Wales, with Richard Mills, the present postmaster, having in his possession the plate used in the office when it was opened in 1812. Original postmaster was also a Richard Mills, and the story about him is that he always delivered mail while accompanied by his greyhound called Nelson—and if Nelson stirred up a rabbit and gave chase there would be little hope of letters being delivered that day. The present boss, however, says things are run more efficiently these days.

TWO FISHERMEN FINED $50 EACH

Joseph F. White of Inverness and Jalmar Mackie of Vancouver were each fined $50 with an alternative of one month in jail when they pleaded guilty to separate charges under the fisheries regulations before Sutherland Magistrate Andrew Thompson on Monday. Each was charged with starting fishing operations on the Skeena before the 6 o'clock deadline on Sunday evening. In addition to the fines, the fishing licences of both men were revoked under a fisheries department policy now in effect which automatically withdraws the licences of fishermen convicted of infractions of the regulations.

NEW APPLES ON MARKET

Preceded by a department of Agriculture warning that the 1945 apple crop will be about 3,000,000 boxes less than last year's 8,000,000 box crop, the first apples of the 1945 crop made their appearance in local fruit store bins on Monday. Definitely not the raw-eating variety, they, nevertheless, are tops for pies and baking and are selling at 10 cents a pound.

Cherries, which have reached the season's peak during the last week, are now on the way out and it is predicted that, by the end of the week, there will be very few left. They have been selling from 25 to 29 cents a pound.

Among the horrors of war which have smitten Prince Rupert is a shortage of bar laundry soap which in a drier climate might present the danger of inflicting the population with the title "the great unwashed." However, there is still an abundance of powdered and flake soap. The shortage is attributed to vast shipments overseas to help cleanse disease-ridden Europe and to the continued heavy use of fats for munitions.

WILL HONOR CANDIDATES FOR QUEEN

Four pretty girls—Miss Beatrice Didrickson, Miss Lillian Knutson, Miss Evelyn Bussey and Miss Ruth Giske—one of whom will be crowned with full royal splendor on the evening of August 10, as Queen of the Civic Centre Carnival, will be feted this evening at the local USO Club.

Arranged by Frank Finnerty, USO Director, and Bob Herrick, program director, the queen aspirants will be honored with a cabaret dance. The club has been decorated in night club style with tables circling the dance floor. The four girls and their guests will be seated at a special table.

Highlighting the evening will be a floor show which will include the leading acts from "Camp Capers," a YMCA Service Show from Vancouver. Their appearance for this occasion was made possible through the efforts of Bruce McIntyre, program director of YMCA, and the kindness of the performers.

Following the floor show, the princesses will be introduced to those in attendance. His Worship, Mayor and Mrs. H. M. Daggett, and Colonel J. H. Mellom, Commanding Officer of the Prince Rupert sub-port of embarkation, have been invited to attend.

GUERRILLA GIRL GIVEN MEDAL

LONDON, July 24 (C)—Two women who for five years avoided the Gestapo and as a reward for their underground activities were awarded their country's V. C.—the Polish Virtuti Militari—came to London to tell of the special espionage and fifth column work they performed.

Maj. Janing Karas, formerly chief liaison officer for the Polish Home Army, and Maj. Wanda Lenar, commander of the anti-Nazi sabotage organization in Poland, said that with a specially trained band of 100 girls they not only succeeded in running thousands of gallons of urgently needed gasoline but also maintained contact between General Bor and the late General Sikorski.

Other activities included the damaging or precision instrument factories, burning of stores and the cutting of railway lines. In fact, so great was the havoc caused by this women's force that the Germans maintained an entire army group in an endeavour to counteract their activities.

The two majors were only captured once, and although the Gestapo offered large rewards for their arrest, the Germans failed to recognize them and turned them loose.

RADSTOCK, Eng., (C)—Lord Hylton, Conservative M. P. for Wells, Somerset, from 1895 to 1899, Lord-in-Waiting to the King in the last war and Captain of the Yeomen of the Guard from 1918 to 1924, died at the age of 82 at his home near here.

Hair-Do Tinted Rainbow Shades

LONDON, July 24 (C)—Tinted hair to match their frocks was featured by 80 of the 100 models who took part in London's Albert Hall Vanity Fair and the shining tresses featured nearly every shade of the rainbow.

One model had what is called "an upsweep hair-do" with the back half tinted green, half blond, and the front hair piled up into feather curls, each tinted a different shade.

The bright hair shades, it was explained, are painted on with a fine brush or spray. It is said that the paint does not harm the hair and can be washed off at any time.

Charles Plumridge, director of this post-war hairdressing display and president of the International Hairdressing Society, said he thought British women would take to the tint idea "in a big way."

KEEPING HOUSE IN WARTIME

Outdoor Eating Appeals to All; Good Picnic Recipes are Given

The lure of the great outdoors draws its annual crop of city dwellers from their homes, to the porch, the back lawn or the distant stream and meadow. And of course, the lunch is the important thing.

Crisp salads and hot oven dishes can provide plenty of variety for the "one plate meal." Breads, buns and several spreads are fun for a serve-yourself lunch and mean a holiday for mother too.

Pack crisp salad ingredients separately or mix together with a tangy dressing at the very last minute. To keep cool, wrap the container in wet newspapers then in several thicknesses of dry.

Bean pots are grand for carrying hot dishes such as stews, macaroni and cheese or baked beans. Wrap thick layers of newspapers around the pot or casserole taken straight from the oven and it will be piping hot after a short run to the camping ground.

Here are some interesting recipes:

Meat Foldovers
2 cups ground cooked meat
1 tablespoon fat
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup chili sauce
Biscuit dough made from 2 cups flour

Combine meat, fat and seasoning and cook 2 minutes. Divide dough into eight portions. Roll each piece separately 1/4 inch thick, place a portion of meat mixture on half of each piece of rolled dough and fold over, pressing edges together. Bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees F., for 12 to 15 minutes.

Picnic Salad
2 cups shredded cabbage
1 1/2 cups baked beans
4 frankfurters, cooked and sliced
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon vinegar
2 tablespoons chopped mustard pickle
Combine all ingredients lightly. Six servings.

Fruity Picnic Cake
3 cups fresh fruit—raspberries sliced strawberries or peaches
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup shortening
1 egg
1/2 cup milk

Topping
3 tablespoons mild flavored fat
3 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons flour
Sprinkle 1/4 cup sugar over prepared fruit, let stand 10 minutes. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Cut in shortening using pastry blender or 2 knives. Beat egg, add milk, stir into the flour mixture, blending well. Spread dough in a greased cake pan. Cover with sweetened fruit.

Topping: Cream together fat, sugar and flour, and sprinkle over fruit. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees F., about 45 minutes. Makes a cake 8 x 8 x 2 inches. Six servings, picnic size.

APRICOT RICH—Another fruit rich in vitamin is the apricot, an excellent source of vitamin A which keeps eyes clear and bright and complexion soft and smooth. Unlike C, vitamin A is well retained when the fruit is cooked or canned.

In addition to generous portions of vitamin A, fresh apricots also contribute some vitamin C while dried apricots, which have been absent on war service for the last few years, contain a considerable amount of iron.

Australia Follows Canadian Fashions
MONTREAL, July 24 (C)—Australia, which is dependent on Canadian mills for much of the fabrics used in the manufacture of women's wear, is looking to Canada for its fashions as well, Margaret McNeill, Sydney, N.S. W. dress manufacturer, said here. "In the past, we have purchased most of our supplies in New York but we now feel that Canadian designing has reached a point where it compares favorably with styles produced anywhere else in the world," she said after inspecting fabrics of a Canadian producer at Cowansville, Que.

Miss McNeill said she had completed arrangements with a leading Montreal designer to produce his line in Australia—the first arrangement of its kind between Canadian and Australian dress manufacturers. The Montreal designer will ship a selection of his original samples to Australia each season for copying by Miss McNeill's firm. Each garment will carry the designer's label, identifying it as a Canadian product.

SHOULDER BAG PARIS FEATURE

PARIS, July 24 (C)—The shoulder-slung purse, like the automobile, is here to stay. In Paris, unlike America, the pocket book with the shoulder strap is universally worn and the type which tucked under the arms is as extinct as a corset cover. The reason, of course, is purely utilitarian, as women in France need both arms free for such purposes as riding bicycles and carrying shopping bags. Shortages of fabrics and leather have taxed the ingenuity of the designers, but they have turned out huge handbags in heavy cloth and brilliant colors, making them the smartest of all summer accessories.

HOW CAN I ???

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I save time when cleaning silver?
A. Make a solution of 1 quart of boiling water, 1 teaspoon baking soda, and 1 teaspoon salt. Pour into an aluminum vessel and place the silver in it. Allow to remain for a few minutes, then rinse with clear hot water. Clean the kettle at once.

Q. How can I hasten the whipping of cream?
A. Try adding three or four drops of lemon juice to the cream, and it will hasten the operation of whipping it. The cream will soon thicken.

Q. How can I clean bathroom tiles?
A. All dark spots and lines will be eliminated if the tiles of the bathroom are washed down with a paste made of plaster of Paris. Allow it to dry and then wipe off.

The Experts Say - -

MAKING MOST OF RATION—Here are tips from the experts on how to make the most out of war-rationed foods:

Far from the city sounds, or even in a cool corner of the backyard, picnic meals again are calling for picnic fare. That usually means sandwiches and sandwiches bring up the problem of rationed butter.

The home economists of the agriculture department's consumer section have worked it out and found that one-quarter pound of butter spreads 20 slices of bread. With certain types of filling, such as cream cheese, peanut butter or meat paste, only one slice need be buttered for each sandwich. In this way, one-quarter pound of butter is enough for 20 sandwiches.

Sandwiches are of two kinds—"hearty" and "party"—and picnics of course, call for the hearty variety—thick, crusty and well-filled.

Here are some tricks to remember in sandwich-making: Don't melt butter. Soften it to just the right consistency and it will go farther.

Use day-old bread or, if only fresh bread is on hand, put the loaf in the ice-box for an hour or so before using. It will slice better.

If the sandwiches are made several hours before serving, wrap them first in waxed paper, then in a damp towel and store in the refrigerator or a cool place.

Here is a sandwich-filling with taste appeal and staying quality. This filling for the "hearty" sandwich is especially good for Sundays and holidays because it can be made up ahead of time and kept in the refrigerator.

It's called tomato meat sandwich filling. To make it, combine 2 cups of ground meat, two tablespoons of grated onion, 1/2 cup tomato juice, a few grains of cayenne, one teaspoon chili powder, salt and pepper to taste. Cook, stirring constantly until the mixture reaches the boiling point, then cool and store in a covered container. The yield is about 2 1/2 cups and the filling will keep several days in the refrigerator.

RICH RED CHERRIES—Are making their appearance in shop windows again and that brings up a tip from the division of nutrition.

The division's experts point out that cherries are a good source of iron necessary for the blood and would be beneficial either before or after a trip to the blood donor clinic. They also provide vitamin C. To get their full vitamin C value, some of which is lost in cooking, fresh cherries should be eaten as is—raw.

APRICOT RICH—Another fruit rich in vitamin is the apricot, an excellent source of vitamin A which keeps eyes clear and bright and complexion soft and smooth. Unlike C, vitamin A is well retained when the fruit is cooked or canned.

In addition to generous portions of vitamin A, fresh apricots also contribute some vitamin C while dried apricots, which have been absent on war service for the last few years, contain a considerable amount of iron.

Aiding Canada At This Time—

The National Employment Service

is equipped to help job-seekers—both men and women—through its local Employment Offices in 200 cities and towns.

These offices also offer effective service to employers needing workers.

Employers and workers can aid in finishing the Pacific War and in reconversion and reconstruction by making full use of the Local Employment Offices.

Several restrictive Manpower Controls have been removed—but because of continuing unfilled vacancies in important industries, others have to be continued for the present.

The labour situation has not yet been met in some top-ranking priorities—home building, food production, textiles, and others. Hence, the Controls that remain. Mainly, these include:

SEVEN-DAY NOTICE TO TERMINATE EMPLOYMENT, REMAINS. any man or woman, 16 to 65 years of age, wishing to leave employment in industry or commerce must give 7 days' notice to his employer in prescribed form, or an employer must give an employee similar notice, unless Regulations provide specifically for shorter notice, or unless an Employment Office approves shorter notice.

MEN MAY NOT LEAVE JOBS IN "DESIGNATED" ESTABLISHMENTS: only with permission of the Employment Office may men leave jobs in "designated" establishments.

EMPLOYERS MUST REPORT VACANCIES: Regulations still require employers in industry and commerce to list all vacant positions—whether for men or for women—with the nearest Local Employment Office.

UNEMPLOYED MEN MUST REGISTER: men who are unemployed are still required to register at the nearest Local Employment Office, if unemployed 7 days.

MEN REQUIRE PERMITS TO SEEK OR ACCEPT EMPLOYMENT: it is still illegal for a male person, 16 to 65 years of age, to seek employment without a permit, in practically any industry except agriculture; also, it is still illegal for an employer to hire such a male person without a permit.

FEMALE WORKERS ACCEPTING EMPLOYMENT MUST BE REPORTED: while women and girls seeking work in industry or commerce may do so without a permit, either the employer or the worker must report the fact to the nearest Employment Office within three days of the time a woman is hired.

MEN MAY NOT LEAVE EMPLOYMENT AFTER DIRECTION: men already moved to employment under compulsory direction, may not leave the employment to which they have been transferred, without permission.

MEN MAY NOT LEAVE AGRICULTURE: during the present busy season on the farm, men may not leave agriculture without permission of the Local Employment Office. Any man from agriculture, working at another job, is liable to direction back to farm employment. Employers may not hire men from agriculture, except with permission.

RIGHT OF DIRECTION: Employment Offices may still direct male persons, 16 to 65 years of age, to work at agriculture, mining, and a few other basic industries.

LABOUR EXIT PERMITS: Labour Exit Permits are still required by anyone wishing to seek or enter employment outside Canada: apply at your Employment Office.

ADVERTISING: Permission to advertise in regard to the engagement of male employees is necessary, before such advertising may be issued.

National Employment Service to ease Transition
The National Employment Service, by effectively organizing the employment market in Canada, can do much to ease the economic effects of the transition from war to peace.

Employers and work seekers, both men and women, are urged to co-operate by using the placement facilities of the National Employment Service.

THE PRINCE RUPERT HIGHWAY

She's still nobody's baby and no-one seems to care if our cars get racked to pieces and the brush gets in our hair.

Originally 'twas built to protect us from the Jap. Now, as a scenic highway, it has put us on the map.

It's put us on the map 'tis true, but how on Earth we'll stay. Becomes a major problem as we bounce down Rupert way.

The chuck holes are stupendous, their depths I've sounded twice. And I'll tell you in all frankness, the sensation isn't nice.

One needs to be a superman, with arms like tempered steel, if even he remotely hopes to keep on an even keel.

Snowslides come and snowslides go... When Old Sol has done his part.

No help, just yet, from William Lyon and none from Mr. Hart. Much expensive road machinery lies idly by to rust. It's only "paid load," up to date, a heavy layer of dust.

If the wonderous scenery you'd admire, be very sure to park. Or the chances are that, rather soon, to the angels you will hark.

Alight and walk... well, stagger then, if that's what it must be. And watch the good old Skeena rolling proudly to the sea.

See yonder mighty waterfall, majestic in its power, Pay homage to the snow-capped peaks which ever skyward tower.

Must we forever be content with plausible evasions And nurse in silence all our hurts and manifold abrasions?

Won't someone listen to this plea, 'tho it may be poorly tyed. Come, summon your paternal pride, adopt this wayward child.

Romance Has Obstacles For Septuagenarians

LONDON, July 24 (P)—When a 75-year old husband accuses his 74-year old wife of being nothing but a "good-time girl" there isn't much the judge in the divorce court can do but advise them to "go home and live in peace."

But William and Marie Collins won't do that. In his divorce plea William accused his wife, whom he married four years ago after a two months romance, of wanting to spend too much money on "cigarettes and having a good time."

Marie says she accused her of flirting and leading a gay life. "We still live together," she said, "but since he has stopped my money I do no cooking for him."

"We have our own beds and to get his own back he often comes into my room and pulls the bed-clothes off me."

After the hearing which was adjourned for a month, William asked Marie: "Come and have a drink, old dear," to which Marie replied: "I'm damned if I will."

The business of your bank is not all done in dollars and cents. It renders valuable service to Canadian business in the far-off market places of the world, overcoming the obstacles of strange currencies, be they pesos or piasters, escudos or rupees.

Through its own branches, or through its commercial correspondents and business connections all over the globe, your bank often has the specialized information necessary to bring buyer and seller together, no matter how far apart they live.

Your bank is able to gather information on the reliability of foreign firms, to handle letters of credit, to arrange the complicated exchange of funds, performing an individual, intricate and inexpensive service to importers and exporters alike.

This feature of Canadian banking has a direct bearing on your welfare. It has, through many years, developed the sale of Canadian goods abroad, resulting in more jobs for Canadian men and women.

H.M.C.S. "UGANDA" WHALER PLACES SECOND IN PACIFIC RACE—In the shadow of a mighty carrier, "war canoes" of the British Pacific fleet line up for a race at an advance anchorage. The whaler of H.M.C.S. "Uganda" (nearest camera) placed second out of 16 ships entered, a New Zealand crew taking first. Many of the British sailors shamed their Canadian cousins by showing up for the race in full war-paint and headdress, with tom-toms to inspire the paddlers.

TWENTY-FOUR INNING GAME

American League Endurance Record Tied by Athletics And Tigers

PHILADELPHIA, July 24—A 39-year endurance record for an American League baseball game was tied Saturday when Detroit Tigers and Philadelphia Athletics battled almost five hours to the twenty-fourth inning without any decision.

Umpire Bill Somers called the game at the end of the twenty-fourth because of darkness with the score still tied.

The Athletics and Boston Red Sox in 1906 played a similar number of innings to set a record.

On Saturday the Athletics scored in the fourth inning and Detroit in the seventh.

Football Talent To Be Imported

NEW YORK, July 24—The new coach of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, crafty Bert Warwick, says that western football clubs will continue to import American talent when high-class inter-provincial competition is resumed after the war. He says some classes of American players, such as forward passers, will have to be imported because they have only been partially developed in the Canadian game.

SHORT SPORT

Britain's leading jockeys, such as 40-year old Gordon Richards and his younger contemporary Harry Wragg, have long been thought of as national assets. But until now no one considered them as "articles for export." Briefly there is a movement to ship some leading riders to Sweden to boost British bloodstock, one of the countries' greatest commodities. Not only would they show their prowess in the saddle, but would act as propaganda agents and explain why British thoroughbreds are the best in the world. It all revolves around business of course. The more race horses Britain can sell Sweden, the easier it will be for Britain to pay for goods, such as timber, wanted from Sweden. The jockeys will be racing and talking to help re-establish Britain's foreign trade.

Arrangements are preliminary but the riders, including Gordon and Harry, are willing to go. And turf followers need not worry because all the jockeys would return after the good-will mission was completed. Lord Fitzwilliam, one of the stud owners interested in the scheme, told the press that final arrangements have not been completed but that it would be "a semi-private affair and the government will come into it."

LOOKING OVER BALL LEAGUES

The sensation of the baseball world was the 24-inning game played Saturday by Detroit and Philadelphia, in the American League. The first-place Tigers and the last-place Athletics finished with the score deadlocked at 1-all. After tying a 39-year old American League endurance record. It was Philadelphia which played the only other 24-inning game on record on the American League's record books—back in 1926. They took that game off Boston, scoring three runs in the twenty-fourth inning to go ahead 4-1. The National League has a 23-inning duel in its books—a 1-all draw between Brooklyn and Boston back in 1920.

In the National League only one game was played yesterday the Pittsburgh Pirates beating the Boston Braves 8-5.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox defeated the New York Yankees 1-0 while the Cleveland Indians took the Washington Senators 2-1. The Philadelphia Phillies bailed the Detroit Tigers, 1-10.
