Good News From Ottawa .

It is good news that came from the Member of Parliament in Ottawa Saturday. True it may not have been very definite but there is doubtless good foundation for confidence that the Canadian National Railways has finally settled on a decision to build new coastal liners to replace the steamers Prince Rupert and Prince George and that at least one of them will be built at Prince Rupert— constituting a sizeable contract that would keep the local shipyard busy for a very substantial period of time.

It is natural to suppose that the Canadian National Railways will be moving rapidly to provide itself with the vessels necessary to remain in the steamship business.

There is good reason to anticipate that Mr. Archibald's hint will be followed in the very near future with the post-war period is being decided at Windsor. The workers, he said, are asking what is to become of the living standards and the unions which they had achieved during the war.

"The Union must win this strike," he declared. "If it loses it will be the signal for every other reactionary employer to embark on a union breaking

Although it is willing to negotiate in some of its demands, the United Automobile Workers Union is steadfast in refusing to compromise on its closed shop requirement, he said. He listed the other demands as:

1. Minimum annual wage guarantee of $1,800.

· 2. Reconversion, or lay-off pay of $25 a week, including unemployment insurance benefits.

3. Two weeks' vacation with

4. Seniority for veterans, allowing that on employment, veterans shall be granted seniority dating from the time they enlisted in the armed services.

"A large part of the responsibility for the strike continuing must be laid on the Dominion and Ontario provincial governments because present legislation allows no guarantee for union security," he said.

Angus MacPhee asserted that 'big business' is afraid of labor and is embarking on a strike breaking policy. In a survey of the labor situation in the United States, Mr. MacPhee said that some people might wonder why Ford had signed closed shop agreements in the United States and not in Canada.

"Probably Ford believed that Windsor was the weaker link in the labor structure. I'm sure that he realized now that he was mistaken."

He would, he said, be opposed to the government taking over the Ford plant as "just another method of breaking the strike." Appeals for contributions and for canvassers were made by Mr. | Nichol, David MacPhee and Geo. Stanton. Motion to send the two telegrams, which he had drawn up, was presented by Bruce Mickleburgh and was passed by

He discovered & alladium

WILLIAM HYDE WOLLASTON, English chemist and natural philosopher, carried on research in chemistry, optics, mineralogy, astronomy, physiology and botany. He developed an improved microscope lens, and applied concavo-convex lenses to the purposes of the oculist. He made a special study of the platinum metals and developed a practical method for working platinum. In 1804 he discovered a new element associated with platinum which be called "palladium."

JUST as Wollaston's researches led to the discovery of palladium, so more recent research has developed commercial methods of recovering the minute quantities of this metal which occur in Canada's nickel-copper ores, and of developing new uses and markets for the increased Canadian production of palladium.

Though it takes many tons of the Sudbury ore to produce one ounce of palladium, the Sudbury mines have become the world's largest producers of this precious metal.

Scientists engaged in metal research have found palladium to be eminently suitable for use in electrical contact points, as a catalyst, and as an alloying element in dental alloys. This beautiful white metal is also being used in the finer pieces of jewellery.

Canadian engineers, designers and metallurgists are invited to make use of the technical data regarding palladium and all the metals of the platinum group which has been gathered together by International Nickel from the whole field of metal research.

Presbyterian Pastor Warns Against "Leanness of Soul"

Likening the situation in the world today to the position of the Hebrews after their deliverance from the bondage of Egypt to endure the sacrifices of crossing the desert to the Promised Land and God had sent "leanness into their soul," Rev. A. MacSween, preaching on topic of "An Unhappy Victory" from a reading of Psalm 106, told his congregation in First Presbyterian Church yesterday morning that God-given victory in the war would be a futile thing if there was not the conviction and strength necessary to implement the reconstruction. There must be more than the material satisfactions of security but essential to complete | ith it all, she is modest and victory and lasting peace was a deeper and fuller life based on the order of God's Kingdom.

PRE-WAR NAVY STRENGTH At the outbreak of the war, the Royal Canadian Navy consisted of 1,774 men.

First Canadian Woman Plane Pilot Heading for China After Spending War Years In Washington, D.C.

> Miss Roberge, who was the first white girl to be born in Miss Ina Robertson, for the Prince Rupert-her father was a carpenter back in the days around 1909 when the city was tional prominence 15 years ago when she became the first Canadian girl to have an airplane pilot's license. After several years in active flying, she eventually became identified with the British air ministry and during the recent war was stationed at Washington, D.C., in an executive capacity in connection with the purchase and delivery of aircraft under lend-lease.

Now Miss Roberge has become identified with the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (UNRRA) and will soon be heading for China when they had been unwilling to spend a couple of years engaged in special work.

On the way from Washington Miss Roberge stopped off for a time at Toronto where her sister, who has distinguished herself in the field of plastic surgery, is now located. From Prince Rupert Miss Roberge proceeded to Vancouver to pay a visit with her mother, Mrs. Olier Besner, before proceeding back to Washington to make final preparations for departure to China.

Miss Roberge has had an interesting career, not without its phases of high adventure, bi... unassuming, not given to talking about many intriguing experiences which doubtless must have been part of her varied life

Yes, you can be sure of Firestone tires standing up to any practical speed you will ever travel. Wilbur Shaw, the famous driver, definitely proved that for you in an actual speedway test.

• Shaw drove for 500 miles at an average speed of 100 miles per hour—on the straightaways he hit 135 miles per hour. Not a skid or blowout occurred in this gruelling test—equal to 50,000 miles of ordinary driving. You may never want to drive at 100 miles per hour but it's mighty comforting to know your Firestone tires have the reserve strength and stamina to stand up to any demand you could ever make of them. When you are able to buy tires insist on having Firestone DeLuxe Champion tires on your car.
