Complaints Against Hotels and Rooming Houses Heard By Labor Council

At the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council on Thursday evening in the Carpenters' Hall with a good attendance on hand, vigorous complaints, both in writing and verbally, were registered in connection with what the complaints termed exorbitant rentals and rates being charged by some rooming house and hotel managements. It was stated that, in a number of instances, Wartime Prices and Trade Board cards had been removed from the rooms in an endeavor to make it appear as though the prices charged were legitimate, or at least to make it more difficult to register a complaint with the proper authorities. After considerable discussion, during which it was pointed out that such action was having the effect of driving labor away from the city, making it difficult for the unions to supply and maintain skilled craftsmen equal to the demand, it was decided that the liaison officer of the council be instructed to write the local representative of the Trades Board with the view of having his department investigate the matter and adjust the violations where same are found to exist.

The report of the entertainment committee in connection with the Smoker held on June 1, showed that same was a success financially as well as fraternally.

DOG FROM OVERSEAS

Odd Reunion to Take Place At Vancouver Tomorrow

VANCOUVER, July 14.—Of late it has been fairly common occurrence at railway stations to witness family reunions of returning war veterans, brides and children. On Sunday morning, however, at the Canadian National Railway station, Lt. S. R. C. O'Malley, who returned home a month ago after five years overseas with the Sixth Canadian Anti-Tank Regiment, will greet "Paddy" when he arrives in an express car. Mrs. O'Malley, who preceded her husband here in April, is also looking forward to seeing her pet canine. "Paddy" is a Welsh Cori, one of the rarer breeds and described as a farm watch dog. Lt. O'Malley bought him some months previous to leaving for the European battlefield as companion for the wife he had to leave behind in Britain. Before leaving for Canada Lt. O'Malley made arrangements for "Paddy" to follow.

INDUSTRIES IN BRITAIN

Postwar Production Will Equal Any Country in World

MONTREAL, July 14.—"When Great Britain returns to peacetime work her industries will equal if not surpass the production of any country of our population in the world," Rear Admiral E. B. W. Grethead, chief inspector of gun mountings and fire control for the British Admiralty, said here today during an interview while inspecting some of the military equipment being built at National Railways Munitions Limited, a Canadian National Railways subsidiary.

While before the war Britain had not gone in very much for production of munitions, the country's ability to turn out large quantities of war equipment proved that it was capable of mass production in its peacetime industries. "On the average, plants in the United Kingdom are smaller than any I have seen in Canada," he said, "although some of those which have been built since the beginning of the war are about the same size. This is a magnificent plant and the work that is being done here is a great credit to Canada."

Rear Admiral Grethead will spend the next three or four weeks in the dominion visiting plants in various cities across the country before returning to England.

JULY TWELFTH IS CELEBRATED

Orange Women and Men Get Together to Observe Beloved Anniversary

Members of the women's and men's Orange lodges gathered Thursday night to celebrate the Twelfth of July, the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, dear to the memory of all good Orangemen. The celebration took the form of a social, supper and program following the regular meeting of the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association.

The evening's program included a sketch and a variety of games were played much to the merriment of all present. Vocal solos by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Teng were much appreciated, accompanied by Mrs. S. Carr. The event came to a close at midnight.

The entertainment committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Frank Ellison, convener; Mrs. F. Barber, Mrs. Menzie, Mrs. W. Richards, Mrs. Henry Smith jr., Mrs. E. A. Evans, Mrs. R. Scherk and Mrs. B. McQuade.

Another L.O.B.A. event of the past week was a church parade on Sunday evening from the Oddfellows' Hall to First Baptist Church where Rev. W. W. Silverthorne spoke appropriately. About 40 ladies took part under Mrs. Henry Smith jr., worthy mistress; Mrs. Frank Ellison, deputy mistress, and Mrs. E. Johansen, drill superintendent.

Sea Cadets Leave For Summer Camp

Given a send-off by scores of relatives and friends who crowded the wharf, Prince Rupert Corps of Sea Cadets, H.M.C.S. Captain Cook, sailed on the Cardena for Camp Whytecliffe, near Vancouver, where they will spend the next two weeks living in true navy style. The Corps marched to the boat headed by its bugle band, detouring along Third and Second avenues before arriving at the wharf. The parade was led by Lieut. Commander Alex Mitchell, corps commander.

GOT ENOUGH TO EAT BUT FEW CLOTHES

Possibly it was due to the fact that he was engaged in farming instead of living in a city that enables John Lindseth, formerly of Prince Rupert and residing in his native land of Norway since 1938, to write now to friends that he came through the German occupation period quite well. He is still healthy, writes Mr. Lindseth, and had enough to eat but there was a decided shortage of clothes and shoes.

Mr. Lindseth, who was a contractor in Prince Rupert for many years before returning to his native land to resume residence, now lives at Holandsvika near Bodo which is about half way up the coast of Norway.

Tokyo Believes Yanks Are Heading In From North and South With Invasion In View

GUAM, July 14 (CP)—Two hundred and seventy-five miles north of Tokyo American warships are today hurling tons of steel at Japan's most important manufacturing city. There seems to be no enemy opposition to American battleships, cruisers and even destroyers—armed with short-range guns which are doing their best to blast the city of Kamaishi off the face of the earth. Tokyo radio says the Americans are sweeping in from north and south, preparing the way for an invasion.

Another of the Japanese home islands—Hokaido—received its first attack from carrier-based planes. One thousand planes took part and hit four industrial centres as well as air fields. The port of Hakodate was the principal target.

Far to the north in the Kuriles American medium bombers struck at Paramushiri and Shimushu in the Kuriles.

OTTAWA, July 14.—A shortage of shipping will delay the return of Canadian troops from overseas for another two months or so. However, an army statement says that the return of European veterans by units and sub-units will go into effect as early as possible. The high priority still being given Pacific volunteers accounts for the delay.

The War in the Far East . . .

This week has been a lively one in the war in the Far East with yesterday's new naval bombardment on Japanese home islands the major feature, and the British activities around Nicobar and Sumatra also important.

Australian troops in Borneo are pressing forward both in the North and at Balikpapan, in the latter area against what is now heavy opposition. Reopening of the port of Balikpapan can be expected soon and will relieve the supply problem considerably.

Meanwhile in Burma, Japanese opposition, aided by the monsoon, has become livelier. The recent counter-attack appears to have had the double object of consolidating the Sittang line and rescuing the six thousand Japanese who are still west of that river in Pegu Yomas. Failure of the initial assault does not necessarily mean that the attempt has been given up.

The completion of the process of Japanese withdrawal from south-western Kwangsi leaves the Japanese in southeast Asia virtually cut off, except for precarious shipping from Canton.

The campaign against the economic structure of Japan's warmaking power has two main forms, (a) direct bombardment from the air and sea, of Japanese industrial centres, and (b) attacks in various ways against the communications of the home islands with one another and with the ports of Korea and Manchuria. The first form, direct attack upon industrial centres, is being carried on by aircraft based on carriers, as well as by superfortresses land-based upon areas captured by the Americans in recent campaigns.

It is essential to Japan to keep open communications of her home islands with the mainland of Korea and Manchuria, from which come vital industrial raw materials. Great as have been her efforts to transfer the finishing industries to the mainland of East Asia, the pattern of Japanese economy still requires that most of the raw material of these territories be carried to Japan. Against shipping in the Tsushima Straits between Korea and Kyushu, numerous air attacks have been directed, while mining at the entrances to the inland sea will further impede access to industrial towns.

Though a certain amount of shipping can sail due east from ports on the east coast of Korea to Japan, the main ports of Korea are on the inner or western side of the peninsula and shipping from them must therefore sail to the south "about." This fact brings it within easier reach of Allied operations than would otherwise be possible.

Black Cod Fishing Shows Increase—
New Keel Laid at Cow Bay—
Lipsett Men Back From Navy to Resume Jobs

Black cod landings here have taken a mighty increase during the last two weeks, although they naturally are still secondary to halibut. However, four large cargoes have been unloaded since the first of the week, the total aggregating 66,000 pounds. On Monday, the Embra brought in 20,000 and the Gony 19,000, while on Tuesday the Advance II arrived with 12,000 and the Selma H. with 13,000.

Halibut landings here have slowed down considerably as vessels make the long haul from Area Three but, during the last two weeks, 386,000 pounds have been brought in. It brings the season's catch to 9,064,000 pounds unloaded at Prince Rupert. Nine Canadian boats landed 541,000 pounds, while six American vessels brought in 345,000. Total Canadian catch landed here this season is 6,580,500 pounds, and the American landings are 2,483,500.

Two American seine boats, now fishing halibut, made their first landings here this week. They were the Regina, of Seattle, which brought in 50,000, and the United, with 73,000.

Keel of a 48-foot halibutter to be built for George Prince, local fisherman, is to be laid at the Crowley and Dirckson boat shop in Cow Bay next month. Designed by Tony Crowley, the vessel will be the largest to be constructed yet in that plant by the present owners who this week laid the keel of a 36-foot troller of their standard design.

A bunkhouse for cannery workers was recently towed by scow from a mining camp down the coast to Nelson Brothers cannery at Port Edward, where it will sit along shore, still on the scow. Rather than move the building from the ancient scow on which it was brought to its present site, cannery officials decided that it would be more convenient to float the scow far up the shoreline on a high tide, then open the cocks, letting the sea flow in and out. The bunkhouse is being equipped with steam heat and plumbing for cannery workmen.

Beam trawling is an expensive business both from the viewpoint of the fish and the fishermen, according to Capt. Andrew Brown, native of Massett, who says he has fished and sailed Hecate Strait for the last 60 years. Capt. Brown says that the hundreds of beam trawlers on the shallow grounds early this summer have cleaned out the area from Rose Spit to Skidegate and that inept fishing practice, coupled with bad weather, has been responsible for leaving thousands of dollars worth of gear on the eastern beaches of Queen Charlotte Islands. Capt. Brown claims that the practice of dog fishermen of throwing the commercially valueless parts of the fish overboard on the fishing grounds is also responsible for the decrease in catches as it drives the other fish away.

Two parties of local angling enthusiasts are heading out to Bill's Lake in the Warke Canal area this week-end. Their prime objective on this occasion, however, is not actually fishing. They have in hand the stout job of transporting a couple of boats to the lake for use in pursuit of the piscatorial pas-

CANDIDATES AT CONCERT

On Sunday evening the military band will present a concert for all service personnel and civilians of Prince Rupert. Special feature of the evening's program will be the introduction to the audience of the contestants for the Carnival Queen contest. Warrant Officer Dick Mills will be in charge of the program and announcements will be handled by Lloyd Morris.

Guest conductor of the evening will be A. E. Tutte, Salvation Army supervisor from the American Seamen's Club. Mr. Tutte is well known in musical circles and earlier in the war was a bandmaster in the R.C.A.F. While it is now planned to have the concert outdoors on the court house grounds, provision is made that, in case of unfavorable weather, it will be in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium.

STAR-STUDDED MUSICAL FILM

"From Bowery to Broadway" Monday and Tuesday
Covering a generation of New York's theatre history, "From Bowery to Broadway," which comes to the Capitol Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, is a melodious, spectacular and human story of the show business from the 1880's to the early 1930's.

The story concerns the friendship of Jack Oakie and Donald Cook, rival show producers who eventually become partners. Maria Montez portrays a glamorous continental star with whom Cook falls in love at the expense of the business. The partners get together again at the end of a lavish show which Miss Montez secretly angles with Ann Blyth as a new singing star. Frank McHugh plays Ann's father. Susanna Foster is a girl with "million dollar legs" while Turhan Bey has the part of an orchestra conductor. Louise Allbritton is seen as gorgeous Lillian Russell and Andy Devine as a priest. Donald O'Connor and Peggy Ryan have fast dancing parts.

TERRACE IS SEEKING HOSPITAL; HAPPY OUTINGS AT LAKELSE LAKE

The Board of Trade held its monthly meeting in the Terrace Hotel. There was a good muster of the members under the chairmanship of President Harry King.
Perhaps the most important and pressing matter which was discussed was the lack of any sort of hospital in the district to which casualties such as frequently happen in the woods and saw-mills could be brought and where they could be attended to until they can be conveyed to the hospital either at Prince Rupert or at Hazelton. Dr. Stanley Mills brought up the subject and several speakers who followed him agreed as to the urgency of the matter. A committee was formed to work on this and was urged by the chairman to find a solution to the problem as soon as possible.

On Wednesday about 20 ladies of the Anglican Women's Auxiliary joined in a jolly trip to Lakelse Lake. Mrs. G. L. Brooks drove the party who were met at the lake by the girls of the C.G.I.T. already encamped near the old hotel.

SHORT SPORT

After a defeat by the "Y" Mess last Sunday, 13 to 7, "B" Mess officers are playing a return softball game this Sunday afternoon at Gyro Park. After a brisk workout the addition of some new blood, it is learned on good authority that the tops in the Army will be plenty tough for the classy "Y" team.

A Toronto mermaid, Doris Geldard, carried off her third Ontario swimming championship Thursday night. She won the women's 200-yard free style in the finale of the two-day senior-junior title schedule.

Favorites faded in the first round play at the Millar trophy tournament for pro golfers at Toronto. However, Craftsman Ernie Tate of the Canadian Army, who was looked on as a strong threat, lost out in the preliminaries. Tate comes from Powell River, British Columbia.

Byron Nelson steamed into the quarter-finals of the professional golf tournament at Dayton, Ohio, when he rallied to beat Mike Turnesa one up. Seven other pros went into the quarter-finals with Nelson.
