ALLIED NATIONS MOURN DEATH OF PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 13 (CP)—The world today is slowly assimilating a tremendous shock—the tragic and sudden death of President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Georgia. The great war and peace of the United States suffered a cerebral laceration in mid-afternoon and died shortly thereafter.

The United States is in mourning, and with that mourn the rest of the United Nations. Vice-President Harry S. Truman has succeeded to the presidency, and has pledged himself to carry on the work of Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Truman has also announced that the San Francisco world security conference—a project beloved by the late President—will open as scheduled on April 25. President Roosevelt was to have opened the conference which is to chart the course of permanent world peace.

President Roosevelt's partners in leading the Allied forces towards the coming victory over the Axis have sent their condolences to the American nation. The surviving members of the Big Three—Prime Minister Churchill of Britain and Premier Stalin of Russia—have expressed the grief of their countries at the sudden passing of the United States member of the triumvirate.

Mr. Churchill's message to Mrs. Roosevelt has been made public by the White House. It follows:

"I send my most profound sympathy in your grievous loss. It is also the loss of the British Nation and of the cause of freedom in every land. I feel so deeply for you all. As for myself, I have lost a dear cherished friendship forged in the fire of war. I trust you may find consolation in the glory of his name and the magnitude of his work." The message was signed simply—Churchill.

The text of the Soviet leader's statement has been broadcast by the Moscow radio. It was addressed to Mrs. Roosevelt and said:

"Please accept my sincere condolences on the occasion of the death of your husband and an expression of my sympathy in your great sorrow. The Soviet people highly valued President Roosevelt as a great organizer of the struggles of freedom-loving nations against the common enemy and as the leader in the cause of ensuring the security of the whole world." It was signed—Joseph Stalin.

This morning, Prime Minister Churchill asked the British House of Commons to adjourn out of respect for the late American President.

Speaking with considerable emotion, Mr. Churchill told Commons, "it is not fitting that we should continue our work this day. I feel that the House will wish to render a token of respect to the memory of this great departed statesman and war leader by adjourning immediately."

The sixty-three-year-old Chief Executive complained of a headache yesterday afternoon as he sat before the fireplace at his cottage in Warm Springs. President Roosevelt told his attending physician, "I have a terrific headache." Those were the last words he spoke. The President lapsed into unconsciousness and died later in the afternoon.

Mrs. Roosevelt received the news by telephone while she was attending a small party in Washington.

World's Eyes Turn to Truman, New Leader

WASHINGTON, April 13 (CP)—The world's eyes were turned today upon Harry S. Truman, 60-year-old country judge, untried in politics, who as fourth vice-president of the United States had been carrying on the policies of President Roosevelt.

Truman became president less than 24 hours after the death of President Roosevelt which occurred at Warm Springs, Georgia, on April 12.

Truman had gone three weeks on leave from his duties as the country's vice-president.

Truman was in the White House at 3:30 p.m. on April 12, when he learned of the death of President Roosevelt.

MANITOBA GIRLS GET MOVIE ROLES

Girls in Faculty of Home Economics Filmed at Work and Play

WINNIPEG, April 13 (CP)—Some people dream of a lifetime of becoming movie actresses, but for 10 girls in the faculty of Home Economics at the University of Manitoba, the dream became a reality practically overnight.

The fortunate girls were the 10 in the University's Home Management House. One evening Miss Florence MacLaughlin, director of the house, mentioned that Associated Screen News would be on the campus during the week end. The girls made a mad dash for their bedrooms and began experimenting on various ways to make themselves even more beautiful than nature intended.

Then came H. R. Beesley—the cameraman. He filmed them in classes, on the campus and in the house. And all 10 of them would be willing to tell you that it isn't easy being beautiful and doing housework at the same time.

But Christopher was different. Christopher is that baby at the Home Management House and he was a "natural." He is eight months old and has reddish hair. He grinned his widest grin at Mr. Beesley, chatted with him and never missed an opportunity to grab at the camera.

And that is the story of how 10 happy girls got into pictures overnight. However, they are willing to concede after their brief taste of pictures that movie actresses certainly earn their money.

Grenades in Ship From Old Cargo

VANCOUVER, April 13 (CP)—R.C.M.P. officials said today that hand grenades reported found on the freighter ss. Windermere Park in Vancouver harbor were part of a munitions cargo that the freighter carried on her last trip. The grenades carried in the last cargo correspond with the description of grenades which a shipyard electrician said he found on the Windermere Park Thursday.

News' Editor Hears Of F. D. R.'s Death From Premier Drew

TORONTO, April 13 (Special)—G. A. Hunter, managing editor of the Daily News, was told of President Roosevelt's death Thursday afternoon by Premier George Drew, of Ontario, at the annual meeting of the Canadian Press in the Royal York hotel.

Premier Drew was visibly affected by the passing of the world leader.

"It is absolutely terrible," said the Premier as he received the news while a reception to newspapermen was taking place at the hotel.

The reception took a depressed tone as the newsmen hosted away.

NEW SUPERFORT ASSAULTS ON JAP HOMELAND

WASHINGTON, April 13 (CP)—Superfort bombers have carried out heavy new assaults on Japan's war industries. Two separate fleets of B-29's made the long haul from the Marias to Japan shortly before noon today, Tokyo time. One bomber fleet hammered an aircraft engine factory in Tokyo, while the other flew one hundred and ten miles further to blast the industrial and rail centre of Koriyama. Mustang fighter planes from Two Island accompanied the superforts. The Japanese radio asserts that still another fleet of B-29's attacked Shizuoka, eighty miles southwest of Tokyo. A new Mitsubishi engine plant is located there.

"Great Tragedy"—Premier Hart

HOUSE ADJOURNS IN RESPECT FOR STATESMAN OF 'IMMORTAL RENOWN'

Ask Labor Men For 'Frisco Parley'

Resolution that representatives of the labor movement be included in the Canadian delegation to the San Francisco conference this month has been passed by the Labor-Progressive Party at Queen Charlotte City.

Copies of the resolution have been sent to Prime Minister MacKenzie King and Olaf Hanson, M.P.

S. J. Willis, superintendent of Education said that the department will not proclaim a school holiday on V-day since this matter is one for local school boards to decide. Many have already given notice of such action, he said.

PAYS CONSUMERS PRICE CONTROL

VANCOUVER, April 13 (CP)—R. Kenyon, Prices Board official said in an address to the Women's Regional Advisory Council that savings to Canadian consumers on sugar alone have been more than enough to pay the entire cost of Prices Board operations.

He said that in 1919 sugar prices reached 19 cents a pound, but in this war, the price has been held to approximately eight cents a pound.

BLACKOUT MASKS YANK ARMY'S VICTORY BID

PARIS, April 13 (CP)—A security blackout masks the movements of the American First, Third, and Ninth armies which are bidding for a quick decision in the European war. A field dispatch says that only orders from Lieutenant General Simpson are needed to send his famed Ninth army forces gashing into Berlin. Wholly unconfirmed reports say Allied parachute troops have been dropped at Brandenburg, barely twenty miles from the outskirts of the German capital.

Three tank columns of the Third army simultaneously have ripped beyond the heart of Germany in an effort to nip off any contemplated enemy stand in southern Germany. At last word, Third army spearheads were less than thirty-four miles from the Czech border and one hundred and twenty-nine miles from the Russian front along the middle Oder River.

GOT YOUR LUCK PIECE? IT'S FRIDAY 13TH

To some, today is just another date on the calendar, but it is a period fraught with all sorts of unpredictable hazards. It is Friday the Thirteenth.

Those who take stock in the superstition surrounding such a calendar combination conceive the hours as a procession of enemies which must be guarded against with a great variety of rituals and symbols. For instance, no true believer would leave home in the morning without assuring himself that his pet luck piece was safely in his pocket. That would be to court disaster.

Nor would he under any circumstances violate any of the minor superstitions which ordinarily one has a right to expect to get away with. Punishment would be sure to be quick and dire.

Truly, it is a situation which no man should have to suffer, and which, actually, has to be gone through again this year. The second Friday in July falls on the thirteenth.

CITY BANNERS AT HALF MAST

National banners of the United States, Canada, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Belgium are flying at half mast in the city today in respect for the passing of President Roosevelt.

American military and consular establishments, Canadian public buildings and schools, and Scandinavian and Belgian vice-consulates all carry the symbol of mourning.

JUNIOR CHAMBER TO INQUIRE INTO PT. EDWARD BUS

Inability of the proprietor of Arrow Bus Lines to procure a licence from the Transit Controller to operate a passenger bus service between Prince Rupert and Port Edward may be protested in behalf of Leonard Griffiths by the Prince Rupert Junior Chamber of Commerce.

At its meeting Thursday night the group received information from Mr. Griffiths that his application had been refused by the Transit Controller. A committee consisting of N. E. Gerrard and C. G. Ham will make further investigation before making decision to take action.

"I understand there are about 500 civilians at Port Edward and that there will be double that number in the summer. Certainly there should be adequate transportation."

President Colin McCarthy suggested that if traffic conditions warranted the Canadian National Railways might be induced to provide additional rail service to the suburban centre.

"I understand there are as many as 12 and 14 taxi trips made to Port Edward some days," Mr. Ham said.

It was said that Mr. Griffiths has successfully negotiated an agreement whereby his buses may use the section of road owned by the U.S. Army to transport civilian passengers.

Colin McCarthy reported on an interview with Mayor H. M. Daggett regarding the employment of a young man to the position of City Engineer at the expiration of the service of the

Yank Drive Out-flanks North Coast

PARIS, April 13 (CP)—The United States Ninth Army pressed within 48 miles of Berlin today in a 60-mile advance to Tangermunde, outflanking Denmark, Hamburg and Luebeck. This swift push placed the Ninth Army within 93 miles of Russian lines facing Berlin from the east.

The U.S. Third Army in the centre beat east along the last 18 miles to the great Saxony city of Leipzig in a drive to bisect Germany, join the Russians and bar access from the north to the National Redoubt in the Bavarian Alps. The Germans said American tanks were fighting in Halle, 15 miles from Leipzig, after bypassing Merseburg. British troops of the First Canadian Army were today in the southeastern outskirts of Arnheim after crossing IJssel River and farther north the Canadian bridgehead on the west side of the IJssel was expanded to a depth of five miles.

First reports said enemy opposition was light. The town of Twello, three miles west of Deventer was captured and the Canadians are advancing west and south from Twello.

Far behind the lines menacing Berlin the Ninth U.S. Army captured Duisburg, Ruhr city of 431,266 which was Europe's greatest inland port. Duisburg was in the swiftly shrinking Ruhr annihilation pocket where tens of thousands of Nazis were trapped.

On motion, the Secretary was instructed to forward a resolution of condolence to the Commanding Officer of the Prince Rupert Sub-Port of Embarkation, U. S. Army Service Forces, expressing the regrets and sympathy upon the passing of President Roosevelt—a great statesman and a champion of labor.

Felicitations were the order of the evening to the President, August Wallin, who was recently married. A committee was appointed to select and present Mr. and Mrs. Wallin with a suitable wedding gift.

President Guided Country Through Depression and War

IDOLIZED AND HATED, ROOSEVELT SHATTERED TRADITION IN LONG POLITICAL LIFE

White House career of Delano Roosevelt, first of the United States to lead for a fourth term, emblematic of a tumultuous, significant home and abroad.

Years of gloomy economic depression and widespread unemployment in the nation—a chaotic Europe and a first world war; years of an attempted revolution, termed by him "The Great War"; years of internecine quarrels with "Big Business"; years of violent opposition to the Supreme Court; years of totalitarian government in Europe and democratic governments crushed and a new war in the old world eventually exploded to include America.

He has yet to record his own part in the period in which the American government was one of the gravest in its history, and hated of a charming personality and a radio voice which entranced his hearers in his nation-wide "Fireside Chats." He was idolized by millions of his countrymen and hated by others. As a vote getter he was without a peer. His popularity with the masses overlapped that of his famous, dynamic cousin, the late President Theodore Roosevelt. Republican cries that he was attempting to be a dictator resulted only in more votes at the polls.

During the bitter campaign which preceded his unprecedented election for a third time—breaking a 150-year old tradition established by George Washington—the country was torn by fears of becoming embroiled in the new European war. Many of his critics felt that his utterances and actions had already compromised the nation. His outspoken friendship for Great Britain, followed later by Congressional action giving material aid to that embattled empire, aroused misgivings. Organizations sprang up in opposition to his attitude; men of his own political faith in Congress differed with his course.

As the armed forces of the Axis powers, Germany and Italy, rolled roughshod over country after country, the President took steps to prepare the nation for any eventuality. A new army was on May 27, 1941, a few months after his third term had started, he issued a proclamation declaring an "unlimited national emergency." Before this he had turned the country into an arsenal; had wiped the dollar mark from munitions for Britain China by the $7,000,000,000 lease-lend program; had ordered naval patrols almost into European territorial waters to screen Britain's lifeline from Nazi raiders. The total defense costs had risen past forty billions of dollars.

Long In Public Eye

Mr. Roosevelt, who was born January 30, 1882, at Hyde Park, N.Y., the son of James and Sara Delano Roosevelt, was in the national eye long before entering the White House. He had been a New York state Senator, assistant secretary of the Navy in world war days; unsuccessful candidate for Vice President when James

M. Cox was defeated for the Presidency and Governor of New York for two terms.

Two attempts were made on his life, once while he was governor in 1929 in Albany, N.Y., and again in February, 1933, at Miami, Fla.

Of distinguished Dutch ancestry he was born to a life of comfortable ease. Educated at Groton and Harvard he studied for the law and practiced his profession before engaging upon a public career. In 1921 he was stricken with infantile paralysis while swimming at the family summer home at Campobello, N.B. His legs were badly affected and he was an invalid for a long time.

Gamely, he fought the disease and after weary, discouraging months of treatment, was able to walk with steel braces, crutches and finally with the aid of canes. When he became President, he appeared at public functions supported by a military aide or leaning upon the arm of a son. Ramps were used to assist him onto railroad trains and in parts of the executive mansion. He permitted his birthday to be used for celebrations through the country to raise funds for sufferers from the disease.

Once he told a close friend he thought his crippled condition was an asset. He explained that while others might be tempted to get up now and then to look out of the window or stretch his legs, he was divested to his desk and thus was able to concentrate on his work.

He paid careful attention to his health and was in good physical condition after the exacting cares of office. He liked his job and seemed able to take his tasks in stride.

"Wouldn't you be president if you could?" he once asked a friend. "Wouldn't anybody?"

There were millions who looked upon him as unable to make a mistake—as the first real champion of labor and the small earner. But there also were many who thought, especially in the latter years of his fourth term service, that he was leading the country not only to war but to economic ruin.

President Roosevelt . . .

The death of President Roosevelt yesterday afternoon came as a personal blow to practically every citizen of the civilized world. Like Lincoln, President Roosevelt dedicated himself to the service of the people and in his 12 years of office, his championship of the "little man," the worker and small business man, his conceptions of human dignity, and his leadership of his mighty nation during the war entrenched him in the hearts of all humanity as one of the strongest pillars of human rights.

Incumbent of the executive office in the United States for the longest period of any man in the history of that country President Roosevelt carried this theme during the long period of change since his inauguration on March 4, 1933.

"The test of our progress is not whether we add more to the abundance of those who have too much. It is whether we provide enough for those who have too little," said this man who had himself been brought up in an atmosphere of wealth.

During the war years, President Roosevelt saw beyond the fighting and extended the hand of unity to other nations of good will in plans to create a world of tolerance in which nations might live at peace.

He was party to the conception that the nations which had joined to overcome military foe should retain their unity in solving peacefully the problems of the world.

His death on the eve of military victory is an irony which everyone hoped he would be spared. His tired face in recent weeks caused apprehension among millions, but none thought that he would be taken so suddenly. But in its sorrow, the world can be grateful that he lived long enough to make his latest contributions to the pattern of the post-war world.

ton. She went to the phone, spoke a few words, and put down the receiver. She left the room without saying a word and went to the White House. Later in the evening she flew to Warm Springs.

Funeral services for the late President will be held at 4 p.m., Eastern Daylight Time, tomorrow in the White House. Those who attend will be high officials of the government, members of the Supreme Court, chiefs of foreign diplomatic missions, representatives of the Senate and House and friends of the family. The burial will be at 10 a.m., E.D.T., on Sunday in the family garden at Hyde Park, New York.

The body of the late President will not lie in state, and the White House has requested that the public not send flowers.

The flag atop the Peace Tower in Ottawa flies at half mast today in tribute to the memory of the man who a little more than a year ago stood beneath its Gothic arch to speak to the Canadian people. And today, a saddened and sobered House of Commons meets to begin applying the finishing touches to the business of the Nineteenth Parliament. The news of the President's death and the desire of the members to facilitate the attendance of Prime Minister King at the funeral tomorrow are expected to result in the curtailment of debate.

The flash which told of Mr. Roosevelt's passing was one of those rare things which bring political rivals together. During the mid-afternoon sitting yesterday the House was deep in controversy over munitions contracts. A minute later, the entire House was standing in hushed silence, honoring the memory of President Roosevelt. The House was adjourned after moving tribute from party leaders. A group gathered around Prime Minister King whose grim and somewhat ashen face told of the emotion he felt at the loss of a friend as well as a colleague.

In Washington, Canada's Ambassador to the United States, L. B. Pearson, told a radio audience that President Roosevelt was a leader of the United Nations and as such belonged to all of us.

Mr. Pearson said that "above all we Canadians, conscious now of the sure approach of total triumph, remember what the great President meant to us when we were passing through the valley of shadow of defeat. He held ever before us a beacon of final victory, and he backed his hope with help."

A tribute from an unexpected quarter was carried over the Tokyo radio. An enemy broadcaster announced the death of President Roosevelt in these words, "We now introduce a few minutes of special music to honor the passing of this great man."

Berlin announced the President's death, but had little to say about it.

On behalf of the citizens of Prince Rupert we desire to extend to the Officers and men of the United States Forces stationed here, our sincere regrets at the death of their Commander-in-Chief, President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Nowhere among the United Nations will his passing be more deeply regretted than in Canada. We have lost a great friend and a statesman who has contributed so much toward the achievement of Victory and the establishment of a lasting peace. We regret that he did not live to see the consummation of the great objects to which he devoted his life.

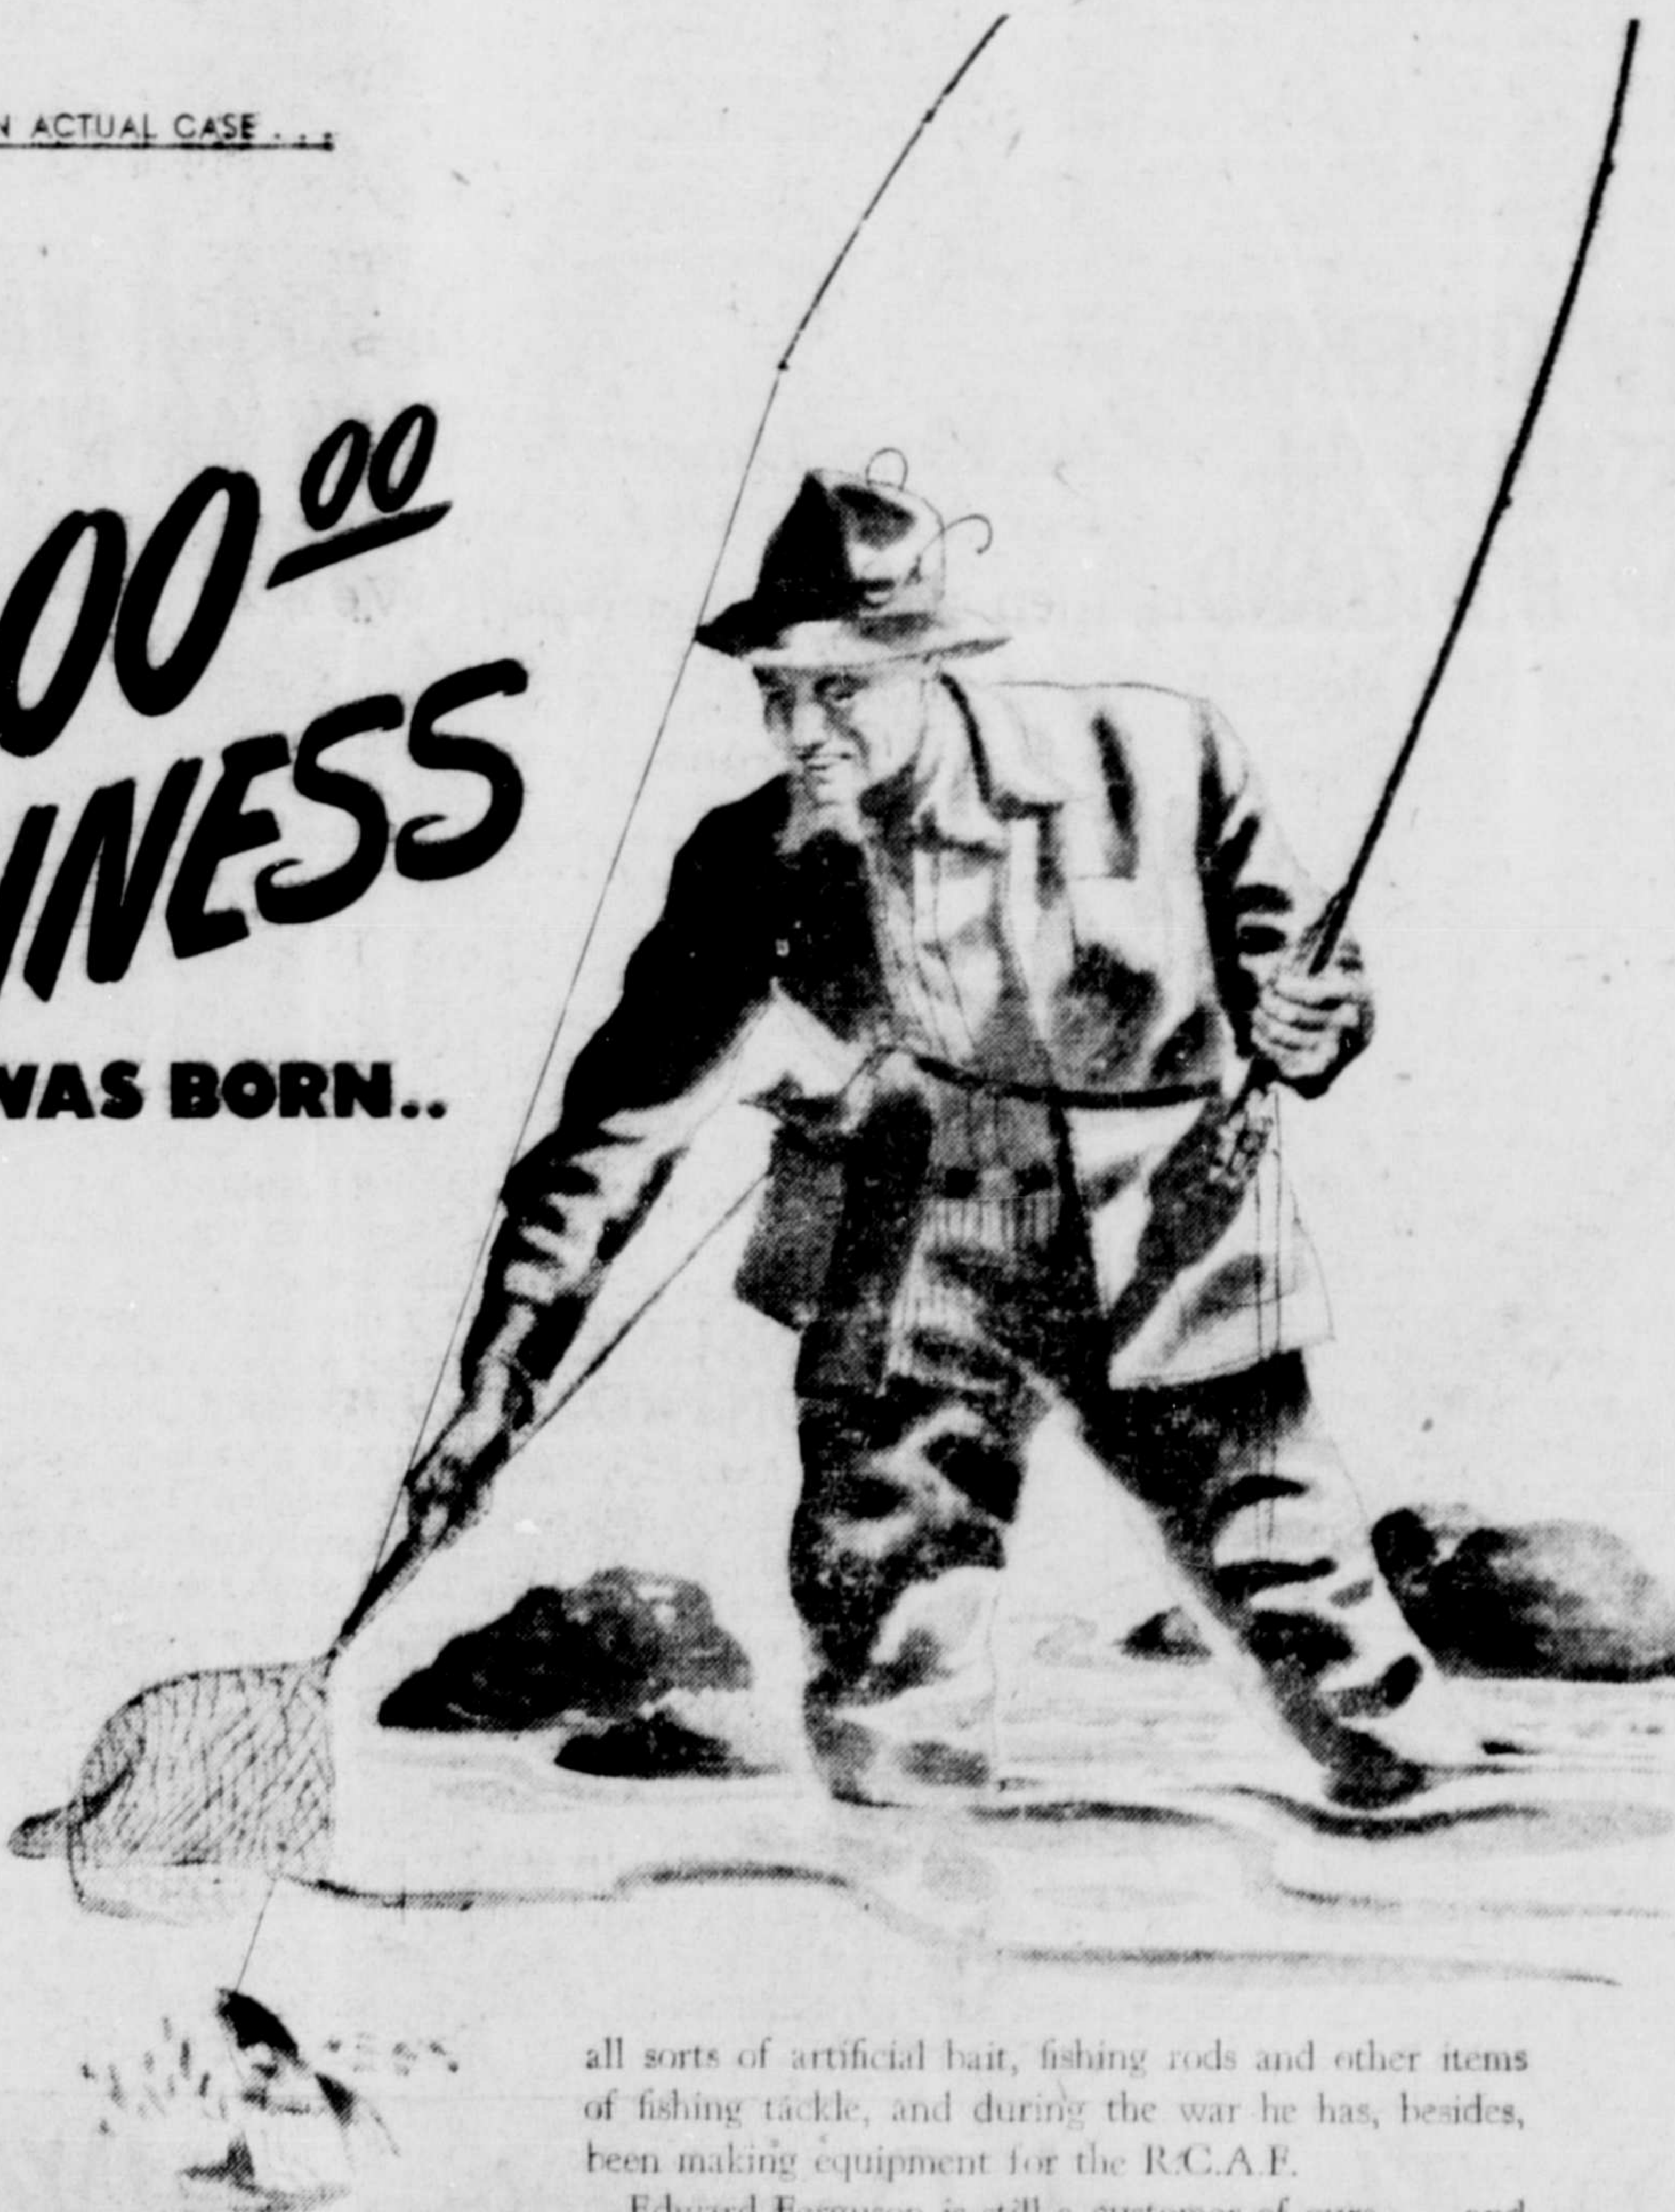

The Mayor and Council,
City of Prince Rupert.

IT WAS during the depression of the early '30's that Edward Ferguson lost his job.

He was a good workman. He had ideas. And he had a passion for fishing.

But he had no job. Try as he did, he could find nothing. Unemployment was increasing on every hand.

For ardent fishermen, casting for trout can do amazing things. For one thing, it can bring peace.

If Edward Ferguson had worries, they soon dissolved in fishing . . . As he had no work, he went after trout pretty often.

On one of his expeditions, he got an idea—an idea for a better fly-rod lure—a better lure than he had ever used . . . and he had used almost every kind that existed.

Edward Ferguson came home in a hurry—got busy working out his new lure. He began operations in his father-in-law's garage.

He soon decided he needed some money to carry his idea into production.

That was when he came to see us. Enthusiastically he told us of his plans. His proposition appealed to us and we lent him the money he wanted—$150, on a note endorsed by his father.

That was 14 years ago. Today, Edward Ferguson has a business worth more than $50,000. He makes all sorts of artificial bait, fishing rods and other items of fishing tackle, and during the war he has, besides, been making equipment for the R.C.A.F.

Edward Ferguson is still a customer of ours . . . and we are proud of the share we have had in his success.

THIS true experience is typical of thousands of customers' dealings with the Bank of Montreal. The Edward Fergusons get on in life because of their determination, enterprise and self-reliance. It is they who have made Canada what she is today . . . the third greatest trading nation of the world.

If you need a loan for the better operation of your business, or for assistance in your personal affairs, we will be glad of the opportunity to discuss, in confidence, your plans and problems with you.

Question Europe blazed through- out the early months of 1940, political question here about the third administration had no leader who ob-better spirits than at his semi- weekly press conferences which were enjoyed both by himself and the press. They were noted for their informality. At times the President would tell ques- tion-firing reporters where to get off describing some queries as "silly," "ifey," or "too gen- eral."

When he had no news on a subject and reporters got too persistent, he would say: "Really, if I had to write a story on that I wouldn't know what to say."

Sometimes he would suggest what the newsmen should em- phasize in their "lead." He very seldom got angry.

He showed his appreciation of a good story or joke by re- marking with a broad smile: "I love it, I love it."

He enjoyed teasing people in their presence, but one day the laugh was on him.

"When are you going to make your first report to Congress un- der the lend-lease (British aid) act?" he was asked at a press conference.

"I'm not going to make any," was the serious reply.

"The law says you must make a report every 90 days," the re- porter came back.

"Oh, I believe you are right," the President replied, surprised, and turned to a secretary to have a report prepared.

The blue and gray suits the President wore hung loosely on his big frame. He rarely wore a vest. He disliked the confin- ing formal dress of officialdom.

Ships and Stamps

Collecting ship models and na- val prints and stamps were other hobbies. He had about 80 ship models scattered around the ex- ecutive mansion and at his other homes. Twelve of them brightened the rounded walls of his Presidential office. Hanging in between were 24 time-stained prints of Hudson River scenes. The President derived great personal pleasure from his stamps. One of the best collec- tions extant, they numbered around 30,000. His specialties were those of North and South America and Hongkong.

Read Few Books

The President's principal read- ing matter was newspapers and magazines. He rarely had time for whole books unless they were short ones. When he did he read history, mostly naval, and some mysteries. His collection of naval and other books and pamphlets numbered around 16,000.

Most of these, together with his own writings and private and public papers and speeches have been placed in the Hyde Park library he had constructed on his mother's estate to be turned over to the government on his death.

After a few years practicing law, Franklin, at 28, was elected to his first political office, the state senate, in 1910. He was the first Democrat to carry his assembly district in 30 years. This, combined with his name and the fact that he challenged Tammany on a United States senatorship and later at the 1912 national convention in sup- porting Woodrow Wilson, tagged him as an "upstate" leader. That won for him the post of Assistant Secretary of the Navy in 1913.

Roosevelt remained in the navy job almost through the second Wilson term, resigning in 1920 to run for Vice-President on a ticket led by James M. Cox. The Democrats who had campaigned that year on the unpopular League of Nations and Versailles peace treaty ratification pro- gram of Wilson, were badly beaten by Harding and Cool- idge, 404 to 127 in the electoral college.

Smith later prevailed upon

Roosevelt to forget his physical disability and run for governor of New York to strengthen the national ticket for Smith in the Empire State. Smith lost the state and Roosevelt just barely carried it. Two years later, in 1930, Roosevelt won re-election with a plurality of 750,000 com- pared with his 25,000 in 1928.

It was during Roosevelt's first term as governor that the first of two attempts was made on his life. In April, 1929, a bomb addressed to him was found in the Albany postoffice. A por- ter accidentally kicked the pack- age causing it to set off a sput- tering fuse. It was dropped in a pail of water and failed to go off.

In February, 1933, Roosevelt, as President-elect, visited Miami, Fla. Giuseppe Zangara fired five shots at him, but they killed Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chi- cago instead.

The President's evaluation of his three terms divided the ad- ministrations into peace and war periods. The first he described by what he considered the pri- mary objective of "making Dem- ocracy work." The second he categorized under another pri- mary objective, his opinion of which he made clear when he was inaugurated for a third time on January 20, 1941.

"In Washington's day the task of the people was to create and weld together a nation," he said.

"In Lincoln's day the task of the people was to preserve that nation from disruption from within."

"In this day the task of the people is to save that nation from disruption from without."

"I feel like talking ... got a moment?"

My name's Jim. And maybe I won't have the chance to chat with you again. I was wounded in Italy—been in France since D-Day. I've seen men die ... men who were my friends.

Sometimes I get wondering about the folks back home. I picture my wife holding the son I've never seen—and telling him about his Daddy. I imagine Mom doing her knitting, Dad digging his garden, the fellows at the shop washing up for the day ...

Then I can't help thinking: "Can they, snug in their homes, realize what war is like?"

Can they realize the endless days of cold and wet and mud ... the deafening roar of guns ... the nights when you sleep huddled against the wind ... the longing for hot food, a warm bed and no more worry about hidden mines or booby traps?

Just as you would be, we're weary of war. That's why we're anxious to get the job over—to lick the Nazis, then clean up the Japs. We need plenty of tanks, guns, planes, shells ... everything. And remember ... the money you salt away in Victory Bonds helps build these things.

So keep up the good work, you folks back home! And if you hear anyone saying, "Oh, I'm tired of buying Victory Bonds, I've done my share," just ask him or her how they'd like to trade places with me—for just one day.

EIGHTH MAKES SURPRISE MOVE TO NAZI REAR

ROME, April 13 (AP)—A surprise move by British troops in Italy has landed Eighth Army forces behind the German lines along Lake Comacchio. Other British units have reached the Santerno River in a lightning advance from the Senio River, where Allied forces had been held up throughout much of the winter.

This morning, British Eighth Army forces have pushed on through stiff enemy opposition to cross another barrier thrown up by the Germans.

At the other end of the front, American troops, assisted by Italian partisans, have captured the town of Carrara.

PLENTY OF CHANGES

ALVECHURCH, Worcestershire Eng., (AP)—When a councillor suggested the name of "Residence Lane" ought to be changed to something more pleasant, the townsfolk objected. "It goes back to the Black Death and we're proud of it," the said—and the name stays.

TANK BATTLE NEAR VIENNA

MOSCOW, April 13 (AP)—The occupation of Vienna is just about complete. Red Army infantrymen have driven the Nazis from nine-tenths of the city. A tank battle is in progress northwest of the capital where the enemy is making a desperate attempt to hold open a secondary rail line to Czechoslovakia. Other Soviet tanks driving west of Vienna are one hundred and fifteen miles from Hitler's hideaway, Berchtesgaden.

Moscow says that some Austrians have finally taken up arms to help bring about their own liberation. Some former members of the Nazi Home Guards are helping the Red Army forces.

The Experts Say - -

By HELEN BANNERMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Spring brings spring fever... it also brings to workers the urge to spend lunch hours in the sun in a neighboring square, on a cathedral lawn or outside the door of a country school-house... the next step is to take a lunchbox out into the sun with them.

Besides sandwiches—mainstay of any lunch—add a crisp fruit or vegetable salad packed in wax paper, a fruit tart, milk pudding or custard for dessert and cold milk to drink. If you are tired of the usual cheese or ham sandwiches, here is a hearty type of filling suggested by the home economics at the Agricultural Department Consumer Section.

WEINER SANDWICH FILLING: To make 2½ cups of filling you need ½ pound of weiners, one-third cup of pickles or relish, ½ cup of mayonnaise, one tablespoon minced onion, ½ teaspoon spicy meat sauce and three chopped hard-boiled eggs. Grind the weiners and combine with the other ingredients.

From the doorstep to the ice-box in a jiffy! That's the way to save riboflavin, the vitamin in milk which helps to build up resistance to disease and makes for general good health and vitality. It is destroyed by light. Experiments indicate that more than half of the riboflavin content of milk may be lost in two hours if it is exposed to sunlight in a clear glass bottle, even on a cold day. However, if milk is stored in a dark room at room temperature for as long as 24 hours the precious vitamin is not destroyed even though the milk may turn sour. Milk is the best known source of riboflavin and that is the reason the Nutrition Division of the Health and Welfare Department stresses the need for milk every day. In Bulgaria, where the people are outstandingly healthy and long lived, mainstays of the national diet are black bread and sour milk, both of them rich in riboflavin.

Vanilla, chocolate and strawberry—"Big Three"—of the flavoring world—are easy to handle in cooking. When making cakes and cookies add the flavoring to the fat while creaming it. This results in more even and lasting flavor because most flavoring extracts contain essential oils which combine with and are held by the fat. On the other hand, when flavoring gelatine and custard desserts, add it last, so that as little as possible of the flavor will escape.

EGGS A LA KING—To make six servings you will need three tablespoons mild-flavored fat, two tablespoons minced onion (optional), four tablespoons flour, two cups milk, one egg yolk, one cup drained canned peas, six hard-cooked eggs, salt and pepper to taste. Cook onion in fat for five minutes, but do not brown. Blend in flour. Add hot milk, stirring constantly until sauce thickens. Season. Pour some of the sauce over the beaten egg yolk, then stir it carefully back into the rest of the sauce. Add peas and hard-cooked eggs, cut in quarters. Reheat over hot water and serve on toast or crustades.

WAR ON MOSQUITOS

CAPE TOWN, (AP)—Measures are to be taken against the breeding grounds of the malaria mosquitoes in the Northern Transvaal and elsewhere. The department of defence has lent the necessary transport and the mosquitoes will be attacked by health department officials.

HEAT-TREATED FOR Easier Digestion

Yes... it's true... heat-treatment makes Carnation Milk easier for babies to digest—one of the biggest reasons why millions of babies get Carnation Milk in their bottles. There are other reasons, of course—it's completely safe, convenient to keep and to use in baby's formula, as nourishing as milk can be. And Carnation provides extra "sunshine" vitamin D, needed for bones and teeth.

Carnation is just good, whole milk with part of the natural water taken out, homogenized, sterilized, and enriched with "sunshine" vitamin D. Write for free, authoritative book, "Your Contented Baby", Carnation Co. Limited, Vancouver.

ROTARIANS BAG USEFUL IDEAS IN PROJECT HUNT

Prince Rupert Rotarians went on a project hunt at their weekly luncheon meeting Thursday and bagged a host of ideas which will be carefully examined for practicability before one is chosen to be put into effect by the club.

Members who felt that the Prince Rupert Rotary club should support some further civic enterprise were given free rein in presenting their conceptions of what projects ought to be adopted. Practically all the ideas were connected with youth work.

The fund of ideas will be considered by the club executive which will report back on what it considers the most acceptable. Martin Stewart suggested that Rotarians equip and support a children's ward at the Prince Rupert General Hospital.

A school library, created on a long term basis and with books selected under the guidance of qualified educators, was the suggestion of Alex McKenzie.

B. R. Dods felt that the Rotary club should take leadership in instituting a community chest in Prince Rupert.

A suggestion by A. D. Ritchie that the club sponsor the tabulation of prospective blood donors whose blood types would be recorded at the hospital, thus making available for immediate usefulness in emergencies, received the professional blessing of Dr. W. S. Kergin, who said that while at the present time there is sufficient blood and plasma available, a change in conditions might cause a shortage.

Mr. Ritchie also brought forward the idea that the club might sponsor the purchase and operation of a battery of sun lamps for use by city children.

T. Norton Youngs brought forward the suggestion that the Rotary club might support a unit of Air Cadets as Rotary clubs do in some other centres.

Harry Black suggested a 'teen town organization where young people would operate an organization patterned on civic lines, thus learn values of practical citizenship.

Support of children's summer camps in the interior or on the islands was advocated by G. R. S. Blackaby.

Dr. W. S. Kergin proposed that the club put its effort behind the establishment of nursery schools which, he said, have proved popular and useful in many communities and for which an opportunity exists in Prince Rupert.

The matter will come up for further discussion at the next meeting of the club.

A. S. Nickerson was chairman of the meeting, and guests were Capt. D. Hanna, Archdeacon E. Hodson and George Bolton, Col. C. V. Evitt, a former member, now living in the south, was present.

SECOND SECTION FLOOR HOCKEY

At a meeting of the Area Floor Hockey committee yesterday, it was decided to start the second section of the league tonight with Fortress meeting the Soo Suds, at the "Y" Gym at 7:30. The second game will be played at the R.C.A. Rec hall next Tuesday between the R.C.A. and the Navy at 7:30.

These first two games will be watched very closely by the experts as they will be played partially on an experimental basis. The teams have reduced their players on the floor to five instead of six. This should tend to speed the game up even more and allow for more passing plays.

Navy and Soo Suds finally met last night in their basketball grudge game and Navy got the nod. Suds had the misfortune to have absent two regulars, Larkin and Perimutar but filled the gap with "Y" staff Selyan. He was on for five minutes, took five shots and hit the backboard once. Final score, Navy 44, Soo Suds 32.

"GRUDGE GAME" IS VICTORY FOR NAVY HOOPSTERS

What is heralded as a "Grudge Game" proved to be just another easy victory for H.M.C.S. Chatham's basketball team as the sailors defeated Soo Suds, 61 to 35, in the Y.M.C.A. gym last night.

The Navy eagles grabbed the lead right at the beginning and at no time did they show any signs of relinquishing it.

Carter and Sisler each secured 14 points to top the winners' sniping efforts, while Weaver headed the losers with 13.

The Suds had only five players, so they found it necessary to use Ed Selyan, the "Y" sports director, as a spare. The director was held scoreless, incidentally.

Lineups for the teams follow:
H.M.C.S. Chatham—Carter 14,
Miller 7, Sisler 14, Thorlun 9,
Barker 10, Preston 7, Harvey,
Monseau—61.

Soo Suds—Lativovitch 5, Weaver 13, Bingham 8, Goldman 9, Augustini, Selyan—35.
Referee—Willoughby.

N.H.L. Stars In Sports Overseas

WITH THE CANADIAN BOMBER GROUP OVER-SEAS, April 13 (C)—Goalie Jean Louis Dion of Sherbrooke, Que., was mobbed by his perspiring, gleeful mates after he scored a shutout against a crack team that included three National League stalwarts. Jean's team, batting terrific odds all the way,
had scored three goals and won the Canadian Bomber Group hockey championship.

The 3-0 triumph gave Dion's club, from a station commanded by Group Capt. J. B. Mil-ward, D.F.C. and Bar, another Sherbrooke luminary, the best-of-three series by two games to one. They won the opener 3-2 but took a 7-1 bashing in the second. The losing finalists, from a station commanded by Group Capt. Harold Miles, D.F.C. and Bar, Toronto, won the title last season.

It looked mighty grim for Milward's men because they started the third game without their ace forward, Alfie Pike, formerly of New York Rangers, who was hit in the face by a puck in the first match. Prospects became more grim when Jack Cain of Lindsay, Ont., outstanding forward and team coach, limped off with a leg injury midway through the second period. Up to then there had been no score.

But the lighter Millward club backchecked tirelessly, smashed attack after attack led by the "big three," Milt Schmidt and Roy Conacher, former Boston Bruins, and Jimmy Haggerty of Montreal. When opposing players managed to get in on goal they were outsmarted by Dion, playing the game of his life in the nets.

Deadlock Broken

Then, halfway through the final period, Rearguard Jimmy Colfer of Hudson, Ont., broke away from an enemy ganging attack and beat Coaler Len Pinkey of Ottawa with a low drive from close-in.

It seemed certain that the Miles outfit, led by the three professionals, would at least present City Engineer. He said that the Mayor had appeared agreeable to the suggestion. The meeting adopted a motion by Mr. McCarthy that the Junior Chamber write a letter to city council urging that a young man be employed.

The meeting adopted a motion that the Junior Chamber seek representation at the meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade at Vanderhoof on May 2 and that it accept a proposal by Dr. R. G.
Knip that the delegates take part in the activities of a public health caravan on their return from the interior town.

A letter from the Soviet embassy in Ottawa, forwarded by Mayor H. M. Daggett, sought information on the port of Prince Rupert, and Rev. E. W. Scott suggested that the Canadian National Railways be informed of the Russians' lack of knowledge of Prince Rupert's port facilities.

"Apparently they knew of our dry dock, and I think that the railway could inform them of other port facilities and future possibilities as well," Mr. Scott said.

even the count when Cpl. Ted Redmond took a two-minute penalty for elbowing. Dion kicked out pucks from all angles and Redmond returned to score his team's second goal—a long drive which Pinkey let slip through.

The final tally came on the slick manoeuvring of Lloyd Gronsdal, former Boston Bruin from Kelvington, Sask., who broke away alone in the final minutes and drew Pinkey out of the nets before pushing the puck past him.

The game was on an outdoor rink in Northern England and despite a few puddles, it was considered the best of the entire season. Ft.-Lt. Stan Helleur of Montreal, R.C.A.F. public relations officer who knows his sport, said that "given a Maple Leaf Gardens or Montreal Forum setting, it would have been a corker."

Among the winners were Jay Harrison, Rimouski, Que.; R. G.
Johnson, Vernon, B. C.; Bill
Smith of Toronto; and H. W.
Higgins, Stellarton, N.S. The losing lineup included W. R.
Helgason of Winnipeg; H. M.
Salls, Gull Lake, Sask.; and P.
Vicary, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.
