Keep Up the Good Work . . .

From the small meeting of several dry dock workers and mighty few local business men which several weeks ago initiated the idea of sending a delegation to Ottawa to press for post-war industrial and commercial activity has developed a strong movement for the sustained promotion of the future development of Prince Rupert. A high point in evidence of a new community unity and interest was reached last night at the public meeting called to receive the report of the delegation which finally was dispatched East and has now returned.

The delegation might not have had anything very tangible to report but it is fully evident that it succeeded in drawing a large measure of attention to Prince Rupert down east in governmental, industrial and business quarters. The delegation, no doubt, succeeded in focussing consideration on various matters vital to the future development of Prince Rupert. Most important, too, was the publicity value of the mission.

And apart from all that, however, the undertaking has had the effect of bringing together, in mutual effort towards community development and welfare, interests that had never before co-operated so fully in a single project. The sending of this delegation and the various affects incidental thereto constitute, undoubtedly, one of the highlights of community activity for the year in Prince Rupert. The big meeting last night wisely enough resolved that the work so well begun should be the basis of sustained and continuing activity toward the realization of the desired ends.

Why No Wheat Moving Here?

Prince Rupert people will wonder and rightly why five and a half million bushels of wheat can be shipped in a recent six weeks from Vancouver to Europe, Australia, South Africa and South America while the elevator at Prince Rupert, most strategic Pacific coast port, remains idle with no sign of it being emptied of the grain which has filled it to near capacity for years so that way may be made for the new season's crop.

With the countries of the world desperately in need of Canada's grain food, we would like to hear some satisfactory explanation made of why Vancouver can move wheat readily while almost a million bushels remain immobile in the local storage house, blocking the natural movement of northern grain over the northern railway and through the northern port and its splendid facilities. It seems to be one of those unaccountable discriminations such as we have so long suffered.

Mr. Boshier's Letter . . .

Stanley Boshier takes considerable for-granted in implying in a letter to this paper that the Daily News "approves" or "relishes" Mr. Fester or the "Labor Leader." An editorial he complains of was re-printed because we considered it an interesting expression of opinion. For the very same reason Mr. Boshier's letter in reply is published.

The Daily News is inclined, however, to agree with Fester who says in the editorial complained of that there is to be "an era of hard work" which "will call for the best in all of us and at moderate returns for both labor and capital," that all of us must adjust ourselves to peace-time conditions and that "it will test the genius of labor, capital and management to the utmost."

Possibly, Mr. Boshier takes exception more to Mr. Fester and the Labor Leader than to the subject matter of the particular editorial in question. And possibly we do not know so much about the "Labor Leader" and Mr. Fester as Mr. Boshier does.

If "Labor Leader" is not published "in the interests of international trade unionism," that, at least, is what it claims for itself under its own caption.

LETTERBOX

OBJECTS TO EDITORIAL

Editor, Daily News: Labor in Prince Rupert will take strong exception to your editorial in Wednesday night's paper entitled "A Labor Leader Speaks." In it you quote a paper known as the Labor Leader, which you say is published at Toronto "in the interests of international trade unionism." Your statement is misleading in that this paper is not in any sense of the word a labor paper but is a bosses' paper, financed and published in the interests of that section of Big Business in Canada today which is sabotaging reconversion by its attack on the labor movement.

The Labor Leader's editor, Mr. Fester, whom you quote with such approval since his ideas coincide with those you expressed not quite so openly two weeks ago, is a man to lend a front to this publication. While he was still in the labor movement he served as a Canadian tool with a section of the American A.F.L. leadership which has been mainly responsible in recent weeks for Canada's own Trades and Labor Congress not being represented at the current world-wide trade union gathering in Paris.

The essence of the paragraphs you quote is that "Labor must adjust itself to peacetime conditions. Some of its present efforts to shorten hours and inflate wages have no sound economic basis. . . ."

In other words, Mr. Editor, you believe that prosperity, and everything Canada has fought for in this war, can be built by labor working long hours at sweatshop wages. This is a pipe-dream which could only lead to a worse depression for the sake of superprofits for Canadian finance-capital.

Without a rising living standard for Canadian workers the home market will collapse, and there will be no development of industry in Northern B. C. such "as you advocate in other editorials. No matter how much "booster spirit" we develop (and it is a good thing) there is no prosperity for Rupert without prosperity in Canada. And there is no prosperity in Canada without full employment and shorter hours and higher wages. The labor movement will fight to the

WILSON HEAD OF TEACHERS

At the annual general meeting of the Prince Rupert and District Teachers' Association, held this week at Booth Memorial School with a large and enthusiastic attendance, J. S. Wilson was elected president.

The retiring president, John Henry, welcomed the new members, and a number of those present spoke on the professional, economic and social benefits that come from membership in the B.C. Teachers' Federation. The Prince Rupert local expected to achieve 100% membership this year in order to back demands on the provincial government for legislation ensuring automatic membership in the Federation, as already in force in most Canadian provinces.

The election of officers for the coming year was held and results were as follows:
President, J. S. Wilson.
Vice-President, J. Clark.
Secretary, Bruce Mickleburgh.
Treasurer, Mr. McLean.
Past-President, J. Henry.
The remaining executive membership is to be elected by the teachers of Conrad Street School. Committee Convenors were chosen as follows:
Salary, T. L. Davies.
Education and Democracy, A. Bate.
Public Relations, D. O'Neill.
The incoming executive was instructed to bring in recommendations regarding Education Week which will be held Nov. 11-18.

Following the meeting refreshments were served. Last ditch for these things, as it is doing at Windsor against the giant Ford corporation which more than likely has a financial finger in the Labor Leader pie you relish so well.
Thanking you for your courtesy, Mr. Editor, in publishing this criticism of your views, I am,
STANLEY BOSHER,
Chairman, Prince Rupert Labor-Progressive Club.

BIG GLOBE AT CHATEAU
World Sphere Returned to Ottawa Hotel After Being Borrowed by Government

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—The world has come back to the Chateau. For ten years before the war a big terrestrial globe stood in the lobby of the Chateau Laurier and guests of the hotel frequently twirled it and studied it. Two years ago His Majesty the King, represented by the minister of national defence, asked Robert Sommerville, general manager Canadian National Hotels, if he could borrow it for the duration of the war. Now it has come back.

In a letter to Mr. Sommerville, A. Ross, deputy minister of national defence (army), said: "Owing to the cessation of hostilities this globe may now be returned as it is no longer required for the valuable purposes it has served since you so generously loaned it to the department. As explained to you at the time, articles of this nature were in short supply and an urgent need on the part of the intelligence directorate of this department was evident. Your recognition of the department's requirement as well as your generous co-operation in making the globe available has been very much appreciated."

SHORT SPORT

In Britain, professional soccer players, at present limited to £4 ($18) per match, may have their wage maximum set at £8 a week. The Football League, which set the £4 rate, is reported willing to reconsider the question and the management committee has issued a notice that another meeting is warranted. League games draw upwards of 500,000 spectators a week. Attendance figures are soaring and the Players' Union feels that the members should share more fully in the big gates. The clubs are reported ready to accept the new proposal. Meanwhile, football clubs in Eire are being accused of "poaching" players by offering them more money and without paying transfer fees. But Mrs. J. Cunningham, a director of Shamrock Rovers, has a word to say about that. "It is not unsporting to take English club players without paying transfer fees. Irish clubs have lost many first-class men to English sides without ever having received a penny."

English football directors, wondering how Shamrock Rovers—with average gate receipts of about £400 ($1,800) a game—can manage to offer such attractive pay to tempt football stars across the Irish Channel, think they have found the answer. Two large, licensed bars in the Rovers' grounds, well patronized every game, are thought to produce enough profit to pay the players' salaries and overhead expenses.

The first post-war championship for one-armed golfers will be played on the Old Course, St. Andrews, on May 27 to 31, the One-Armed Golf Society has announced. George Wilde, well-known one-armed golfer, was enthusiastic about the revival of the championship. "Several hundreds of us have from the last war played golf with one hand—of necessity—and enjoy it. If anyone talks of gadgets and forward tees we just smile tolerantly and hit them down the middle—200 to 230 yards. My friend Henry Cotton and I had planned a match and several other leading professionals, together with eight one-armed players in 'mixed' foursomes. However, it got a bit late this year so we are all looking forward to a battle some time in April."

"My wife," said Mr. Henpeck, "kisses me every time I come into the house."

VICTORY MUST NOT BE IN VAIN!

NOW that the war is over and the world is at peace, it's a time for rejoicing, thanksgiving and of gratitude. Rejoicing because victory is ours; thanksgiving to God; and gratitude to our service men and women. All of us owe a great debt to these men and women who gave up the best years of their lives that we might be free. Money can never repay this debt we owe. But money—and the things money can buy—will provide them with medical care and attention, educational opportunities and a new chance in a world at peace. Your purchase of Victory Bonds in the Ninth Victory Loan is your opportunity to show your appreciation and gratitude to Canada's gallant service men and women.

53,073 Canadian service men and women were wounded in the war. More than 9,000 others were prisoners-of-war. Many of these will need medical care for a long time. Your purchase of Victory Bonds will help these men and women along the road to recovery.

Thousands of Canadian boys went direct from school into the fighting forces. Today these young men must be trained in peacetime occupations and equipped to compete with more experienced workmen. We owe them the opportunity of a fresh start in life.

Nearly 38,000 Canadian service men made the supreme sacrifice that we might enjoy freedom—and our way of life. Today Canada asks you to lend your money to help dependent wives, mothers and children by the payment of pensions.

Many of our service men and women want to be independent—to be in business for themselves. Today, your country needs your extra dollars to pay these men and women gratuities with which they can establish a business, buy a home or own a farm.

With Paratroopers Overseas, Returning To Port Essington

LOCAL GIRL IS SOLDIER'S BRIDE

Miss Eileen Hemmons and Cpl. Albert Lucas are united. Another interesting international wedding took place on Wednesday evening at the United States Army chapel on Acropolis Hill when Miss Eileen Hemmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Hemmons, became the bride of Cpl. Albert Lucas, United States Army, son of Mrs. Marie Lucas of Kansas City. Chaplain Robinson of the United States Army officiated.

The pretty bride, who has lived in Prince Rupert practically all her life and is well known and popular, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a green tuxedo-style suit with squirrel trimmings and brown accessories. Her flowers were a corsage of gardenias.

The bridesmaid was Miss Ethel Hemmons, sister of the bride, who wore a blue suit and had a bouquet of white carnations. The groomsmen were Fletcher Hemmons, Jr.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents, 815 Alfred Street, where fifty well-wishing friends gathered to offer their best wishes and congratulations to the couple who received felicitations under a white wedding bell with pink streams.

Arthur Thompson proposed a toast to the bride to which the groom responded.

The bride's table, decorated with carnations and stalks and white tapers, was centred with a handsome two-tier wedding cake which was duly cut by the bride.

Cpl. and Mrs. Lucas will reside in San Francisco.

MISSIONARY FROM PALESTINE IS HERE

Since last Wednesday Rev. P. S. Jones, district superintendent of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada, and his son-in-law, Rev. John M. Watts, missionary from Palestine and Trans-Jordania, have been conducting a Bible and prayer conference at the Full Gospel Tabernacle, of which Rev. John Linney is pastor.

A number of Prince Rupert people, together with Rev. M. T. Stronstad of Smithers and Rev. V. Graham of Terrace, have been in attendance nightly to hear the interesting messages of Mr. Watts, who comes with a full knowledge of Oriental customs, literature and people.

Mr. Watts recently returned from a ten-years' residence in Palestine and Trans-Jordania.

Modern Etiquette
BY ROBERTA LEE

Q. When an introduction is forced upon you, and you know from things you have heard that you will not like this person, can one show her feelings by the manner of acknowledgment?

A. Never. An introduction will not obligate you to further recognition.

Q. What is the correct wording for a letter of invitation for a visit?

A. There is no exact rule. The letter should be friendly and sincere, and the reason for the invitation is usually stated.

Q. Is it all right for a saleswoman to call a woman customer "dear" or "honey"?

A. No; while this is often heard while shopping, it is not good form.

HOW CAN I ???
BY ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make better baked potatoes?

A. Rub the skins with butter or bacon fat before baking; this prevents the skin from breaking and also imparts a delicious flavor. As soon as baked, prick the skin to allow the steam to escape and prevent soginess.

Q. How can I smooth a rough iron?

A. If the iron is a little rough, or perhaps soiled, try sprinkling a little salt on a newspaper, then rubbing the hot iron over it.

Q. How can I remove castor oil stains?

A. To remove these stains from washable fabrics, try dipping the goods in alcohol before laundering.

TEX GUINAN IS SCREENED

Story of Noted Entertainer of Twenties Shown in "Incendiary Blonde"

The remarkable life story of Tex Guinan, who started off her career as a girl broncho buster in western rodeos and, under the tutelage of a rambling reporter, became one of the biggest stars of the variety stage in the twenties, is depicted in technical color in "Incendiary Blonde," feature picture which is billed for next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre.

Betty Hutton takes the title role and seems equally at home bucking bronchos as the rodeo girl and hoofing it with wild abandon as queen of the niteries and variety stage.

Barry Fitzgerald is the improvident Irish father of Texas. Charles Ruggles is the rodeo operator who loses his show to the gambler, Arturo Cordova. Bill Goodwin plays the part of the reporter.

The picture is replete with spectacular production and includes Wild West shows, Broadway musical extravaganzas and night club revues and a line of beauties doing favorite songs.

Authorities say the difference between husky children and those who are poor eaters, underweight and nervous is often simply a matter of proper nourishment, especially an adequate supply of vitamins.

But vitamins alone are not enough. For authorities now agree that vitamins do not work alone. They work as a team with certain other food elements.

So, if your child is thin, nervous and not developing properly, why not turn to Ovaltine as thousands are doing. Three normal meals plus two glasses of Ovaltine a day give your child all the extra amounts of vitamins and minerals needed for health and top vitality.

For this reason, thousands are switching to Ovaltine. Unlike mere "vitamin carriers," Ovaltine food beverage contains not only extra vitamins but nearly all the precious food elements needed for health and top vitality. These include Vitamins A, B1 and D, the important minerals calcium, phosphorus and iron, high quality proteins and quick energy fuel-food—a combination of food elements authorities agree are needed for best results.

what he might have thought about the possibility of repairing railway locomotives at the dry dock. Later, after meeting with Mr. Walton at Montreal, he also felt like apologizing for suggesting that box cars might be repaired at Prince Rupert.

If Mr. Devenish at Winnipeg was not much interested in ships and shipbuilding, that attitude was not shared by Mr. Walton of Montreal who had said: "By all means we should build ships." Mr. Walton was obviously fully aware of the good job of wartime shipbuilding which had been done at Prince Rupert.

Then at Ottawa, the minister of reconstruction, Mr. Howe, had declared: "The C.N.R. is a shipbuilding concern and will remain such."

Minister of Transport Chevrier had promised that he would ask Mr. Vaughan, the president of the railway, to hurry up the new program of railway company shipbuilding.

Mr. Howe had declared unequivocally that ships for the Canadian National would be built in Canada.

As for the immediate replacement of the burned steamer Prince George, Mr. Howe had brought forward the suggestion of a frigate being converted, something which was later taken up with Mr. Devenish.

Speaking of dry dock work generally, Mr. Nicoll repeated the suggestion of Mr. Howe that the C.N.R. should get out and hustle for work.

Later in Winnipeg, Mr. Devenish had been obviously impressed with the idea of converting a frigate for use as a coastal steamship as a temporary measure pending the obtaining of permanent vessels to replace the Prince George and Prince Rupert.

Concluding, Mr. Nicoll revealed that even now Mr. Walton was on his way to the west coast to look into the question of Canadian National coast steamships.

Discussion of the report of the mission as far as dry dock activity and shipbuilding was concerned brought out the fact that Mr. Devenish already had in his files plans for new coastal vessels 350 feet long with 300-ton freight capacity and 1700 feet of space for automobile carrying.

Development of Port, Shipping

W. M. Watts, at the outset of his report, acknowledged the valuable services of Harry Archibald, M.P., in arranging interviews and appointments.

"We gathered from Mr. Howe," said Mr. Watts, "that the government of Canada is out of the shipbuilding business and it is up to the management of the Canadian National Railways as to whether or not ships are built in the company's yard here. If the railway company is not prepared to do so, it is my opinion that the yard should be put in the hands of interests who will compete for shipbuilding."

As for a federal subsidy for steamship service from Prince Rupert to the United Kingdom, the minister of trade and commerce had indicated that his department would give serious and prompt consideration.

At Winnipeg Mr. Devenish and Mr. Horn were definitely interested in the institution of such a service from the standpoint of revenue it would bring for the railway.

Mr. Devenish had given assurance of full co-operation and assistance in representations regarding aids to navigation and changing of load line regulations which would result in lowering of marine insurance rates for the port of Prince Rupert.

Radio facilities for the north had been the subject of a brief which had been presented to Dr. McCann, the minister of national revenue, who had promised to take up at once with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation the requests that the CBC purchase and operate the local radio station, establish repeater stations in the central interior and maintain two channels on the local telegraph lines for servicing of the Prince Rupert radio station.

Mr. Watts touched on meetings in Montreal with executives of important financial houses which were definitely interested in the Prince Rupert area and its development.

Concluding Mr. Watts said: "I think the contacts we made show that this community is alive to the future and is on its toes. I suggest that a permanent committee be formed to follow up the representations that have been made and further that the co-operation of the provincial Department of Trade and Industry be obtained."

A question from the meeting as to whether highway matters had been taken up brought the statement from the mayor that Mr. Devenish said there was no objection to the highway being on railroad property.

At the suggestion of the mayor and on motion of Bruce Mickleburgh, the meeting expressed appreciation by resolution of the assistance that Harry Archibald, M.P., had been to the delegation on its visit to Ottawa. Mr. Mickleburgh also acknowledged the good work of the delegation and moved that a continuing committee of seven be appointed to follow up.

J. S. Wilson urged that Prince Rupert forget its defeatist attitude and get together in unity and community pride to do a little "grabbing" of its own instead of sitting back and kicking at the "grabbing" of other communities.

Appreciation of the work of the delegation formed the basis of a vote of thanks offered by L. M. Felsenthal.

As the meeting concluded, the mayor told of a dinner of the executive of the Canadian Association of Mayors and Municipalities which he had attended in Winnipeg, others present including the mayors of Vancouver, Edmonton, etc. He had extended an invitation to delegates to the annual convention of Mayors and Municipalities to be held in Vancouver next year to travel this way.

As for a balance of $100 to $125 which would be left over of the fund which had been voted to defray expenses of the delegation on its trip East, the meeting decided that this should go back to the city to help pay the expenses of the mayor.

Waterfront Whiffs

Co-op Extending Fish Handling Facilities—New Ice and Storage Plant—All Salmon Fishing Over.

A special meeting of the membership of the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative was held on Thursday afternoon in the Oddfellows' Hall to give approval to the construction of an ice manufacturing and storage plant adjoining the Co-op's new cold storage and fish plant on the Westview waterfront.

Approved by the membership, the new facilities eventually will manufacture ice in sufficient quantity to meet the most of the organization's needs. The storage plant will have a capacity of 3,000 tons of ice. At present the Co-op has ice houses on the shore of Lake Kathlyn at Smithers and the need for these may eventually be eliminated as the new ice plant gets into its stride.

Site of the new ice plant, preliminary work on which is already begun, is just across the railway tracks from the other Co-op installations and will be joined to them by an overpass above the railway. Construction of the new ice factory will assist materially in easing ice shortages which sometimes occur in the height of the fishing season. A highly valuable commodity when fishermen are bringing in thousands of tons of halibut and salmon in warm summer weather, ice is used lavishly for preserving the fish in the holds of vessels, in the fish plants and canneries.

Closure of the Queen Charlotte Islands area to salmon fishing on October 12, as set by the Fisheries Department, will bring to an end all salmon fishing in the Prince Rupert fisheries district for this season. The closure actually touches only a few trollers still fishing off the Islands, remnant of a large group of fishermen who enjoyed a successful season this summer. Fishing in all mainland areas of the district was terminated by the Fisheries Department last month. The district will remain closed until the end of the year when it will be re-opened for spring salmon fishing on January 1. However, since few salmon frequent coast waters for the first three months of the year, the bulk of the salmon fishermen will not start going out after springs until April.

Final halibut catch of the 1945 season to be brought in by a vessel of the Prince Rupert fleet arrived in port Thursday afternoon when the Lois N., Capt. Ben Petersen, docked here. The Lois N. sold 40,000 pounds of Area Three halibut to the Co-op.

Alaska Sees Benefit From Prince Rupert

Editorializing on Prince Rupert's fight to have a subsidized deep sea steamship service out of this port, the Ketchikan Chronicle is quick to foresee the benefits, direct and indirect, which might result for Alaska. The indirect benefits would result from the precedent of a subsidizing policy for Canada's northwest port which Alaska could hold up to Washington in its claims for assistance. Mentioned specifically is the Alaska railway, which has long been under standing orders to pay for itself. "However, if congress decides to give Alaskans a break in freight rates, the break might as well be general and apply to steamers as well as the railroad."

"If Prince Rupert is given a subsidy on foreign cargoes it may well be able to handle some freight out of Alaska on a favorable basis," the editorial continues. "The time might well come when barges from Prince Rupert might come to Ketchikan to load fish into refrigerator cars at terminal rates. This would save the costly longshoring cost now involved in loading fish ashore at Prince Rupert. It might also cost Prince Rupert its present favorable position in the fresh fish market. And it might bring into Ketchikan a double buying system with Canadians competing with Americans for fish caught by both Canadian and American fishermen." Thus, the Chronicle hopes fondly, Ketchikan may become the "Canadian frontier for halibut."
