Vessel Believed Perished-Parliamentarians On Board

ATHENS-A Greek liner struck a mine off the coast of Greece and twenty-five miles east of Athens just before dawn Sunday and more than four hundred lives have been lost. The vessel had left Salonika Saturday for Piraeus with 527 passengers among whom were several men prominent in Greek affairs bound for Athens to attend Parliament. The British government at present has before the security council of the United Nations a complaint against Albania for sewing mines of German origin in the waters off Greece within the past eight months, a charge that Albania has emphatically denied. THE NEW ASSESSMENTS

MIDESPREAD and, in some cases, indignant protests are being heard about numerous increases which have been made in the city taxation assessment for 1947 following the Lafleche revaluation survey of last year. Many say they are going to file appeals to the court of revision to be held early in February and some of the appellants appear to be already resolved that, if they are not accorded relief there, they will carry the case to higher courts.

Unless the mill rate should be lowered later, an increase in the assessment would, of course, mean a proportionate increase in the taxes to be levied. It is to be assumed that increased assessment is the forerunner of increased taxes whether or not the mill rate is lowered this year.

Increases of taxes are, of course, unpopular and are never accepted without protest. Because the increases are unpalatable, however, does not mean they are always unjustifiable.

We have all been clamoring for improvementsvery material improvements-of streets, water system and sewerage services. No matter how we may finance these improvements, by grants or advances we may acquire from the governments, by payments in reparation of war damage, by borrowing or by local improvement imposts—the general taxpayers must expect to pay some portion of the cost. Certain new measures of economy or bringing about better efficiency might help some but still there appears to be no way out for the people who live in Prince Rupert and own property in some measure at least footing the bill involved in the making of essential expenditures. In other words, there is no magic means of avoiding paying for the satisfaction of our wants and desires-even in public financing.

Everyone feels that taxes are already as high in Prince Rupert as we ordinary people feel we can stand. But this has been and is an expensive city to develop and maintain. That is not the fault but the problem of those who have city affairs in charge. Even they are, no doubt, quite as anxious as we are to keep the assessments and the taxes down. But they must fact the situation in a business-like and realistic way.

Of course, glaring inequalities or ridiculously fictitious values constitute legitimate grounds for appeal and correction.

As for straight claims of assessments being too high, there would be few people who would move to underassess the value of their own property even if it might save them a few dollars in taxes.

The city might also explore in further effort to relieve the long-suffering property owners, the possibility of further sources of revenue from those who do not pay property tax.

The Antarctic

ARGARET BAY in the South Polar continent is almost 900 miles due south of Cape Horn and 2,000 miles from the South Pole itself. It is practically on the opposite side to the road to the Pole blazed by Captain Robert Scott and Raoul Amundsen with a few days of each other in 1912. British, American, Russian, Norwegian and other expeditions now on the way, or already established with bases at Margaret Bay, are all popularly supposed to be anxious to obtain a priority over vast mineral depositsrumored to exist beneath some 600 feet of the ice cap which forms the off-shore surface of the continent. Among these minerals uranium, one of the "atomic" bomb components, is advertised as the chief objective. Even if such deposits actually existed, a leading British scientist has pointed out that they would be impossible to mine under the conditions that would have to be faced. But, with scientific developments occurring with such rapidity as they do, who knows but that the possibiliies desolate and inaccessible Antarctic might be capable before so very long of potent

Spiritual Values

"AF ALL THE PROCESSES of rehabilitation that are before the world, the most urgent is that of restoring a recognition of and belief in spiritual values," declares General Osborn, commander-inchief of the Salvation Army. "A renewed moral and spiritual atmosphere must be given to the world before any of the programs before man can be launched with any hope of

"We must, therefore, set out upon a campaign of thought, of prayer, of planning and of action to do our part in an essential redirection and reorganization of human ideas. We must declare that our Saviour, Jesus Christ, has not been out-distanced by man's progress but that He is still in the vanguard of humanity. He is calling us to follow Him into the battle against evil and against the widespread miasma of frustration, fear and faithfulessness which covers so much of the world today."

THE NICKEL WORKER depend on each other

IN ONE YEAR more than 1 77,000,000 board feet of lumber and timber have been used by the Canadian Nickel industry. It would take 4000 freight cars - an average of more than ten every day in the year-to transport this material. Producing this timber means a .lot of jobs for Canadians in the woods and in the sawmills.

The lumber industry, in turn, uses a great deal of equipment containing Nickel. The tractors and hoisting equipment up in the bush; the machinery and equipment in the sawmills; are tough and strong because of Nickel. The purchase of such equipment means jobs for men in the Canadian Nickel mines, smelters and refineries. So the Canadian Nickel industry needs Canadian lumber; the lumber industry needs Canadian Nickel. To some extent at least the lumberman owes his job to the Nickel industry and in turn he helps to keep the Nickel worker busy. No matter how we earn a living, we are all one family, each depending on the Seeds of annual flowers which germinate slowly, or which reproduce flowers, can be started in the house weeks earlier than they could safely be sown outdoors.

Varieties usually given this early start include petunias and snapdragons, which germinate slowly; asters, which flower very late, and such tropical subjects as begonias and salvia. Many cause this disease to appear. quick-growing, hardy annuals are started indoors, when early flowers are wanted. Nearly everyone has a sunny

The guests were then called upon for a few words and ably responded. Peter Van Stolk expressed the opinion that Terrace could expect rapid development in the near future. During the past six years the population had doubled. Quite a few Hollanders could be expected as settlers when immigration made their entry into Canada possible. Mr. Van Stolk, after spending six years with the Netherlands consulate, recently returned to his home here.

First Prince Rupert contributor to the Canadian Aid to China Fund which opened Its provincial drive recently was Ald. A.S. Nickerson. Mr Nickerson's generosity on behalf of Canada's m neighbors and allies across the Pacific, brings the total here to date to over $900.

British Columbia's quota is $250,000 of the national objective of $2,500,000.

Major-General Victor W. Odlum, recently returned Canadian Ambassador to China states the suffering in China today is intense, about one-third of the 500,000,000 population showing the grave effects of malnutrition. Food and medicinal supplies are needed, now, he said.

"If Canada can help, it is Canada's duty to do so; the duty of a rich and prosperous neighbor toward one fallen on evil times. The people of Canada by individual donations toward the Canadian Aid to China Fund,  can show their sympathy and their earnest desire to help alleviate the distress of these galant people.

"This gesture alone will be of great benefit to the Chinese, in that they will see tangible evi dence of friendship in their dire

A portion of the fund is being aside to bring qualified Chinese students to Canada for post graduate study at our universities. Upon their return their knowledge gained can be applied to helping China pregress along the road to democracy. Each student, so trained will also be an ambassador of goodwill toward Canada.

JOB OUTLOOK IS IMPROVED

Situation For Canada Better This Year Than It Was a Year Ago

OTTAWA (P) - Fewer persons were unemployed and more jobs were available at the start of this year than a year ago, the Department of Labor said Sunday night.

Unfilled vacancies were 90,000 as compared with 80,000.

The total number of unplaced applicants for jobs was 165,000, a drop of 26,000.

Only 28,000 women are seeking jobs with 35,000 women sought.

In British Columbia the picture was not quite so rosy with only 3000 jobs against 23,000 applicants, this, of course, being a seasonal condition.
