'PHONE STRIKE IS UNSETTLED

Union Leaders Seek "Face to Face" Conference Press On Hand

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Telephone strike leaders yesterday asked for an immediate "face to face" meeting with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the United States Department of Labor with the press on hand. If refused, the Union intended to go to President Truman with "our complete story."

Earlier hopes of federal conciliators for a speedy settlement were dampened last night when the "final offer" of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.'s long distance division got a chilly reception from the policy panel.

J. A. Beirne, president of the Telephone Workers' Federation, said the company proposal covering "long line" workers, only 20,000 of the 320,000 strikers, did not conform with union policy.

SOVIET RUSSIA BLOCKS FRANCE

MOSCOW—Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of Russia has blocked insistent attempts by France to get immediate approval for the foreign ministers' council of an economic merger with the Saar.

He said that the Soviet Union wanted time to consider the proposal of Bideau and also told the council that the Soviet Union was opposed to the French proposal for an independent Ruhr.

LABOR CODE IS ASSAILED

The new provincial labor code was discussed at some considerable length at the regular meeting of the Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council on Thursday night and it was the unanimous opinion of the delegates present that the passing of this legislation was aimed to curtail the rights of labor.

A motion of protest received from the Trades and Labor Council of Vancouver was endorsed.

Delegates reported active organization going on among all unions in the city and that steps were being taken to organize other unorganized workers.

Strong exception was taken by those present to a recent Daily News report that Senator Turgeon had congratulated the city council and one or two others on the success of their negotiations with the Dominion government regarding damage done to city streets. It was suggested that the real fight had been carried on for the city rights by ex-Mayors Watts, Daggett and others.

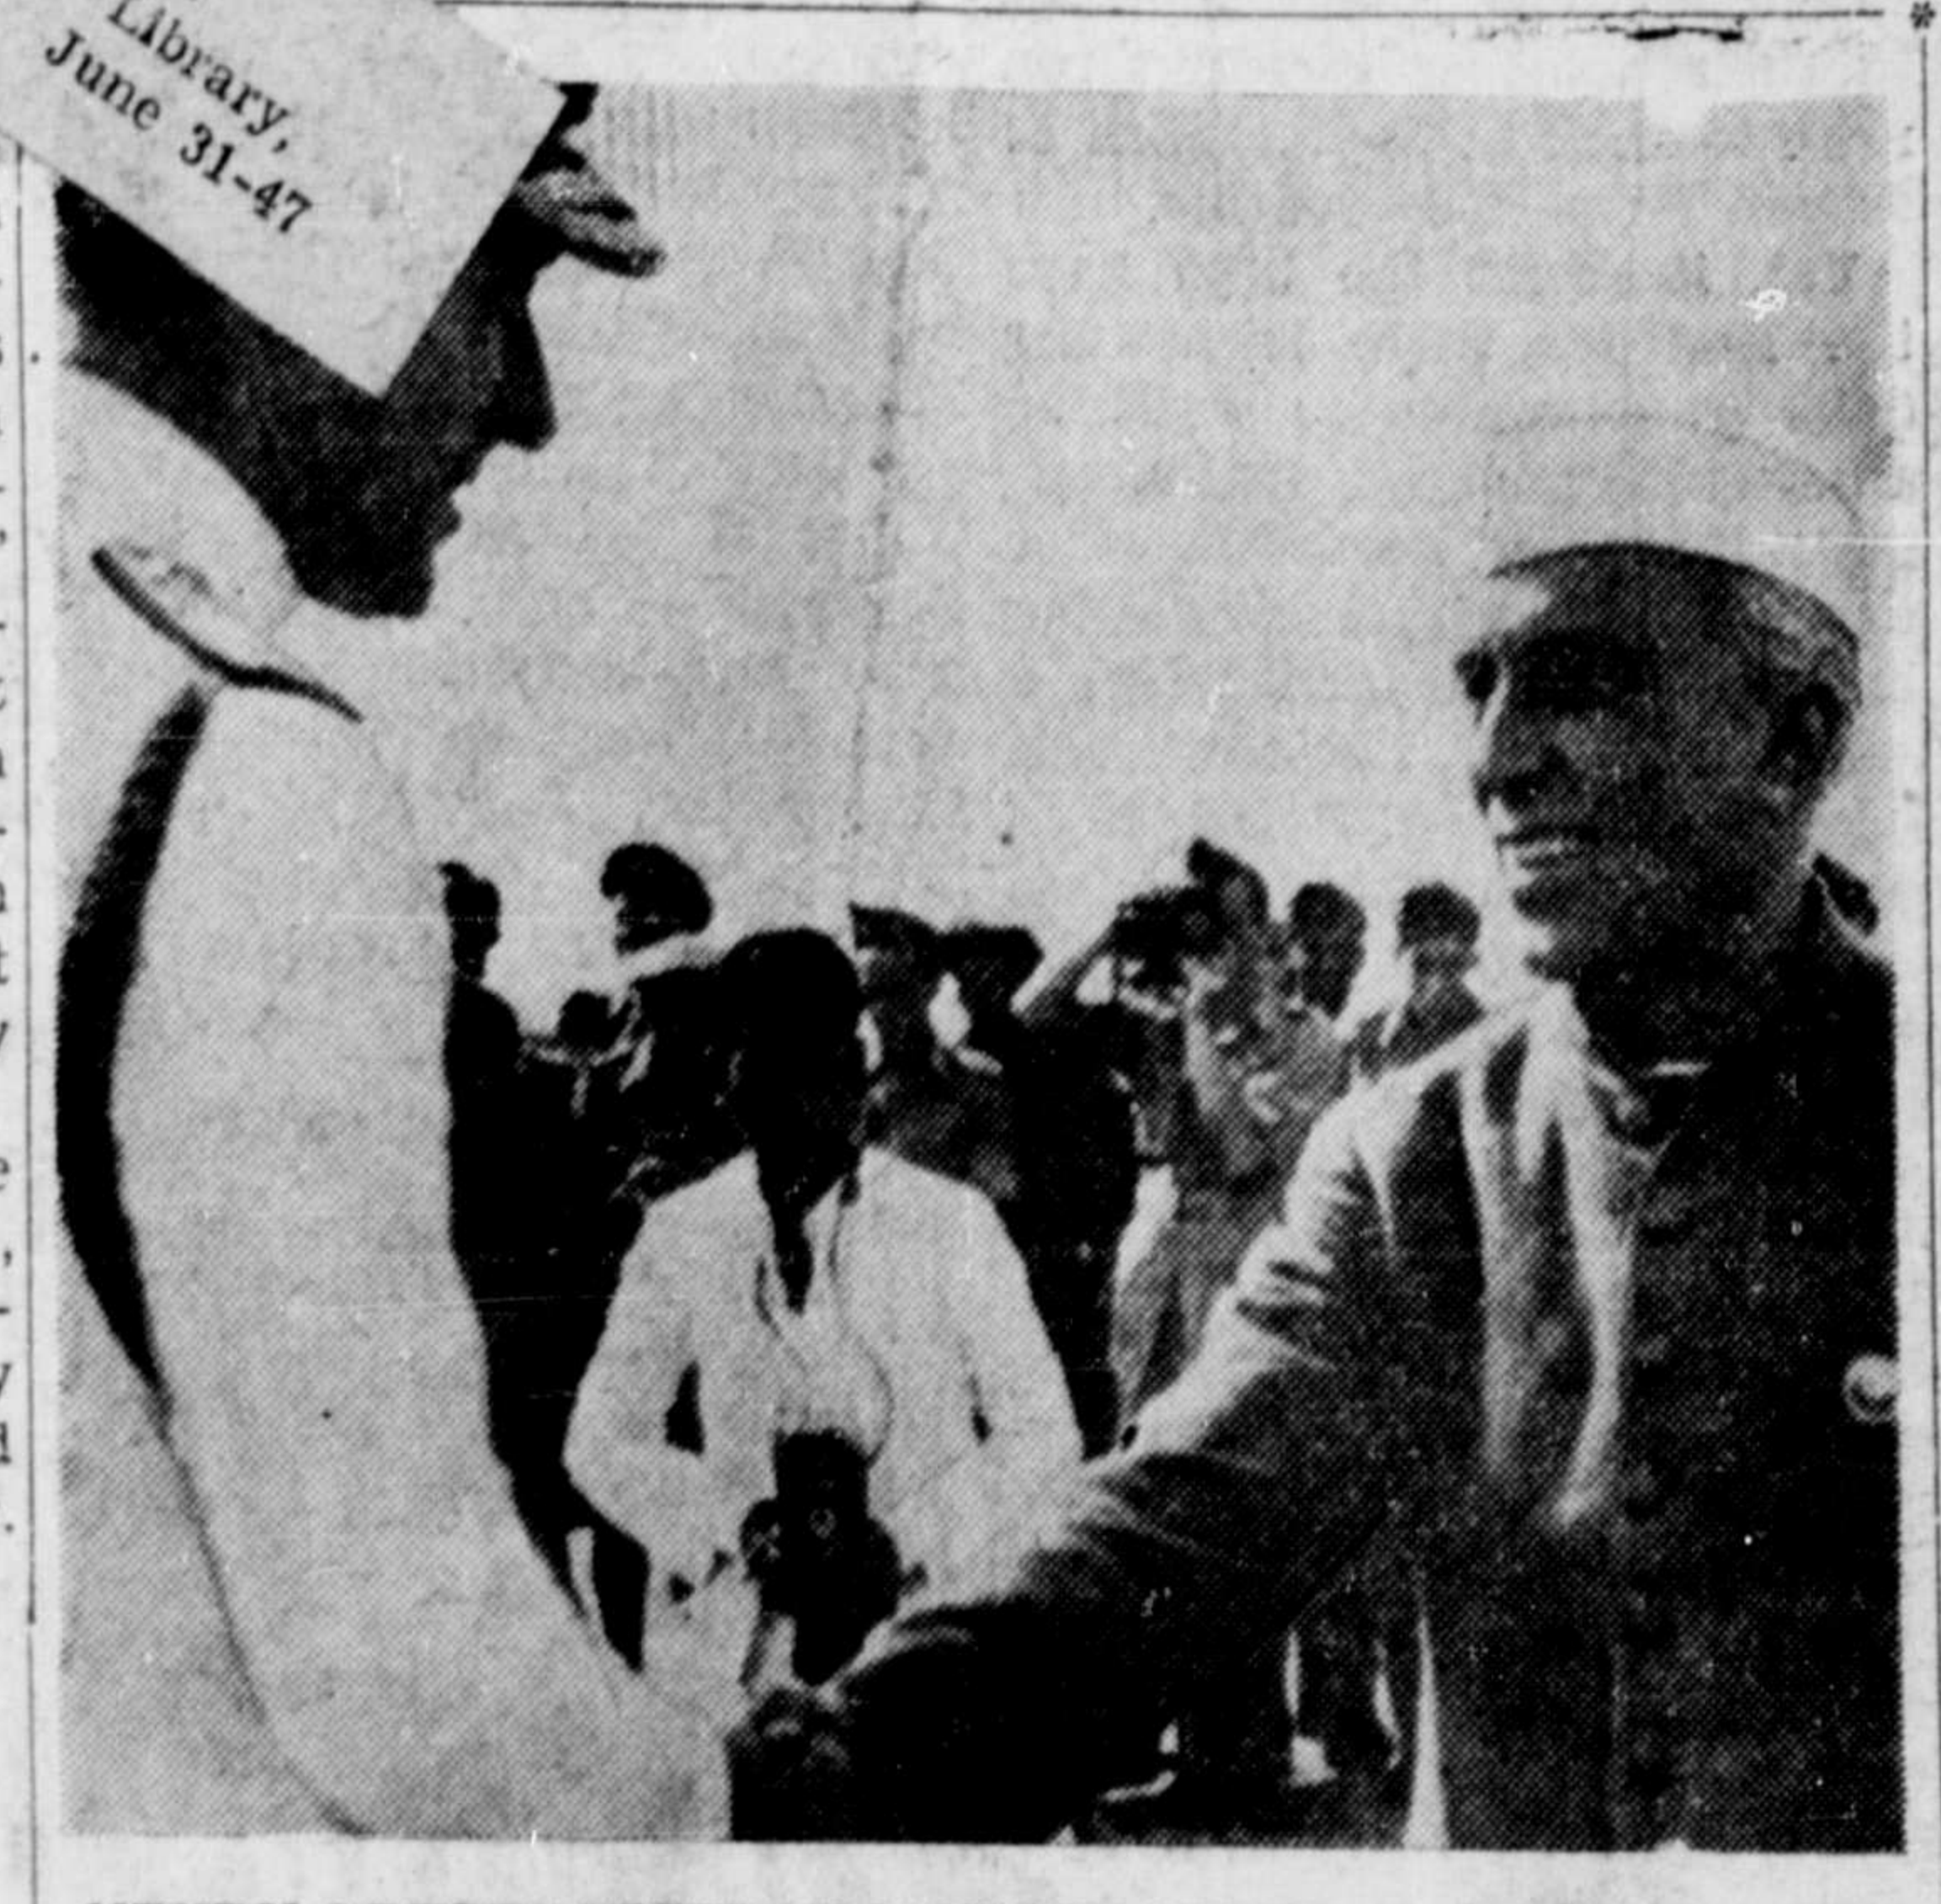

There was a fair representation of delegates. An interesting visitor to the meeting was Johnson Russ of the Native Brotherhood of B.C., who, in an address to the council, outlined the aims and objects of his organization and expressed hope that all workers would see the need for more co-operation.

A letter of support was ordered sent the Textile Workers Defence Committee in Quebec and wire of protest sent the premier of Quebec protesting the passing of oppressive legislation in that province.

SIX INJURED IN COLLISION

VANCOUVER—Six persons escaped death or serious injury in Vancouver Thursday night when an automobile in which they were riding smashed head-on into a street car. None suffered major injuries but all were taken to hospital. Traffic was snarled while police and wreckers freed the partly wrecked car from the street car. No one in the street car was injured.

Highway and Railway Through This Province To Alaska to be Talked

SEATTLE (CP)—Senator Warren G. Magnuson (Democrat - Washington) said here yesterday that there is a strong possibility President Truman will confer with Premier John Hart in Victoria in August on the Alaska highway and railway matters. Magnuson said the visit to Victoria was contingent on the President making a scheduled trip through the Pacific Northwest to Alaska.

Magnuson said the chief executive would discuss the provincial end of the Alaska Highway—the Hart cut-off—a more direct road from Prince George to Whitehorse and the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern to Alaska.

BULLETINS

ON WAY TO WAR
LONDON—Addressing an audience of 3,000 here, former Vice-President Henry Wallace of the United States said the Truman policy would lead the United States "down a new way road to war" and not only war but economic depression.

AT VICTORIA FALLS
VICTORIA FALLS, Africa—The King and Queen and Princesses arrived yesterday from Salisbury to spend three days at Victoria Falls before proceeding to Northern Rhodesia in the course of their African tour.

YELLOWKNIFE TYPHOID
YELLOWKNIFE—Two persons are dead and three are being treated for typhoid fever here. Dr. O. L. Stanton, the medical officer for Yellowknife, says that the outbreak is under control and no epidemic is expected.

FLOOD AT OTTAWA
OTTAWA—The Rideau River is in flood, the level being higher than at any time in 20 years.

SPECIAL U.N.O. SESSION
LAKE SUCCESS—Special session of the general assembly of the United Nations is expected to be called momentarily to consider the Palestine question.

HOUSING FOR HALIFAX
OTTAWA—J. E. Ahearn, mayor of Halifax, after conferring with federal officials here on a rush trip, said he had been assured the government would give immediate help to the building of 3,000 new homes in his city where the housing shortage is acute.

To Paint Equipment With Gloss Enamel
OTTAWA—Army headquarters has announced that gloss enamel in future will replace the expensive wartime "matte" finish on all army vehicles and artillery and engineering equipment. The reasons for the switch are two-fold: enamel is cheaper, will last longer and affords greater protection against weather. Another step in the return to peacetime routine, officials added, will be the repainting of army vehicles according to classification: staff cars, black; engineering equipment, orange; trucks, trailers, guns, gun carriages, etc., olive brown.

Britain Interested In Espionage Report
LONDON—The Canadian Royal Commission report on espionage has proved something of a best seller in the United Kingdom. Glenvil Hall, financial secretary to the treasury, said in the Commons 2,000 copies were ordered by the stationery officer on August 26 and were on sale February 15, the supply being exhausted a month later. Further copies totalling 750 were ordered from Canada. Stationery office officials told an inquirer further supplies from Canada are awaited.

KILLED BY TRAIN
DUNCAN, Vancouver Island—William Thompson, 76, was killed when he was crushed between two cars of a moving freight train here on Thursday.

Heavy, Wet Snow Halts Telegraphs
Six inches of heavy wet snow around Shames in the depth of the lower Skeena Valley brought down telegraph lines during the night and service was still interfered with this morning, delaying among other general communications the normal dispatches from Canadian Press to the Daily News, but the British Columbia Police radio came to this newspaper's rescue in the emergency. Telegraph linemen, following the way freight through, were hopeful of restoring traffic this afternoon.

NEW ENVOY FOR BERNE
OTTAWA—The External Affairs Department Friday confirmed reports that Dana Willgress will not return to his post as Canadian ambassador to Russia but instead will become minister to Switzerland with headquarters at Berne.

Officials said that Willgress' withdrawal from Moscow has no connection with the fact that Russia has had no ambassador in Canada since December, 1945.

Robert Ford, second secretary at the Moscow embassy, will serve as charge d'affaires at Moscow until the appointment of a successor to Willgress.

WARSHIPS LEAVE
Concluding a two-day visit to the port, H.M.C.S. Uganda and H.M.C.S. Crescent warped away from their piers shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon and headed straight for Esquimaux whence, after a brief stay, they will proceed to San Diego in continuation of the present training cruise.

BRITISH HONOR FOR "IKE"—Lord Inverchapel (left), British ambassador to the United States, presents to General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, U.S. chief of staff, the sword of honor of the City of London. The presentation, in behalf of the British people, was made at the British embassy in Washington, D.C.

PRINCE RUPERT 'CONQUER CANCER' DRIVE IS STARTING NEXT TUESDAY

Next Tuesday the "Conquer Cancer" drive, being undertaken by the Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Cancer Society with Mrs. J. D. Fraser as campaign chairman and objective of $4,000, will get under way when canvassers start to work in all parts of the city hopeful of a generous response to the appeal for financial assistance in waging war on the No. 2 enemy of the national health. Various local organizations and individuals are generously offering services as canvassers, more of whom could be used.

Mrs. Fraser announces the appointment of canvassing conveners to date as follows: Business District—Gyro Club and Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Westview—Mrs. E. W. Be. Water Street—Be. Park Avenue, Eleventh Street and Second Avenue to Junction—Mrs. Percy Bond.

First, Second and Third Avenues from Junction to Sixth Street, Fraser Street and Biggar Place—Mrs. Joseph Boutek. First and Second Avenues from Sixth Street to McBride, First and Second Streets between First and Second Avenues—Mrs. Joseph DeLorme.

Borden Street and Fifth Avenue, Fulton to McBride—Miss Alida Johnson. Summit Avenue and Taylor Street—Mrs. T. J. Boulter.

Sixth and Seventh Avenues, Taylor and Fulton Street—Mrs. Dan Parent. Eighth Avenue West from McBride—Mrs. D. Santerbane.

Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Avenues—Fulton Street to McBride—Business and Professional Women's Club. Fourth and Fifth Avenues East, McBride Street to Hays Cove Circle—Mrs. J. C. Gilker.

Sixth Avenue East—Mrs. D. C. Stevenson. Seventh Avenue East, McBride to Hays Cove Bridge—Mrs. Frank Ellison and Miss Marjorie Peachy.

Eighth and Ninth Avenues East—Mrs. C. Wallace. Eleventh Avenue and Sherbrook Street—Mrs. William Rothwell.

Seal Cove Circle—Mrs. Darrow Gomez. Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative Association—Harold Helgeson.

Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co.—Fred Conrad. Canvassers are still required for Ninth Avenue West and the district between Hays Creek Bridge and Hays Cove Circle.

IT ALL TAKES TIME

IT IS JUST A MONTH now since the big announcement of the $15,000,000 celanese pulp mill for Prince Rupert was made. Soon we may expect a commencement on the next step in the project, namely the excavation of the site at preparation to make ready for the start of actual construction.

However, there are many preliminaries to the institution of such a vast undertaking, all of which take time. It might well be a matter of a few weeks before the ground is actually broken.

Meantime, it is noticeable the better spirit that is being sustained locally in view of the certain outlook for the great industrial development which we have so long hoped for. Prince Rupert is now on the make.

ALASKA AND NEWFOUNDLAND

IN THE NEW SCENE of international strategic positions, attention focuses on British Newfoundland on the Atlantic coast and American Alaska on the Pacific. With acknowledgement becoming more open that Russia is the most menacing power of the times as far as aggressive attitude toward international domination and dictatorship is concerned, Newfoundland and Alaska occupy uniquely similar positions.

We talk of the great natural resources of Alaska, the great opportunity of industrial exploitation. That is what we like to think about. At the same time, we realize that Alaska, like Newfoundland, might well be a jumping off place for an aggressor. It might be a buffer of major importance. It is, of course, of the greatest importance from a defence standpoint.

SOCIALIZED FUNNIES

FOR THOSE INTERESTED in idle speculation, a few daydreams are more rewarding than those that revolve around what the funnies might become should a Socialist government find itself in power—for it is hardly likely that such an effective medium of indoctrination, with its cradle-to-grave coverage, would be left long untampered with.

There would be Supercrat, the Man of Paper—the superbureaucrat whose x-ray vision and hyper-regimented mind could spot a statistic at five hundred paces, and reduce it to a Plan For the Average Man in thirty-seven seconds. There would be a new Dick Tracy, spending three hours a week relentlessly tracking down tax-evaders and individualistic mal-contents, and the remainder of his time filling out forms about them. (His two-way wrist radio, presumably, would operate on a wavelength formerly occupied by a private broadcasting station). The Katzenjammer Kids would be officeholders in a Youth Movement, solemnly practising strength through joy.

Many old friends would be missing. Bathless Groggins would be ruthlessly regimented into taking a bath, and it is doubtful whether the old codger could survive the ordeal. Dagwood Bumstead's boss, Mr. Dithers, a capitalistic anachronism, would be among the first casualties. The Lone Ranger would be liquidated forthwith; his very name brands him with anti-social tendencies. But the most tragic loss would be the Yokums. Try as it may, the imagination boggles at trying to fit these determined individuals into a planned economy. Mammy, Pappy and L'il Abner would be under six feet of Dogpatch earth; Salomey would hang in a government packing house, blue-stamped by a government meat inspector; while Daisy Mae would be weaned away from her romantic fixation on L'il Abner by a steady diet of government-approved textbooks on eugenic selection.

Oh, mizzuble Sadie Hawkins Day!

A letter signed "Vet," containing a suggestion with which we agree and for the implementation of which we might be able to obtain support, has been received at the Daily News but there is no name given for bona fide purposes. ## CANCER FIGHT OPENED HERE

Importance of Early Diagnosis and Treatment Is Emphasized by interesting
Speakers

One of the most dreadful things about cancer is the fear of the disease based on ignorance that so often causes people who think they have it to endure terrible and often unnecessary mental strain or fail to obtain early advice and treatment which, if received, might have saved their lives. To educate the people to the vital necessity of early diagnosis and treatment of cancer which can so often result in its cure by elimination is one of the principal aims of the Canadian Cancer Society whose annual campaign for funds opens in Prince Rupert as elsewhere throughout Canada next week. Other aims of the society are to set up more accessible diagnostic and curative facilities and to pursue the research work which it is hoped may soon lead to the finding of the so far undiscovered cause of the malady.

Such was the burden of the messages conveyed to a local audience in the Civic Centre here last night by Dr. John Ganshorn, Vancouver cancer specialist, and Rex C. Mills, executive secretary of the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Cancer Society, whose visit to the city is a prelude to the opening of the local campaign for $4,000. Projection of a sound motion picture, "Time Is Life," dramatized the case of a happy cancer cure, and a question and answer period in which the audience took a keen interest rounded out the useful program. Mayor Nora E. Arnold, president of the Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Cancer Society, occupied the chair.

Physiological aspects of cancer, described as the No. 2 killer in death caused, were described by Dr. Ganshorn who emphasized the high probability of cancer cure if the "gangster cell's" progress could be arrested in time. There might seem to be an increase in the incidence of cancer now but this was probably due to the fact that people survived longer today due to the control of other maladies and the more exact diagnosis. Cancer was a disease that was most incident in people over 40 years of age. In women it most often attacked the breast; in men, the mouth, stomach and male organs.

"The more we know about cancer, the earlier we find it, the easier it is to fight it," Dr. Ganshorn again emphasized. He described the three treatments—surgery, X-ray and radium. Cancer could usually be detected

LIFE in this Prince Rupert by BIDDEE JINKS

When Easter rabbits became almost extinct and their gloriously decorated and abnormally sized chocolate eggs disappeared with them, they left a wistful generation of children in their wake. But, being children, they cannot be wistful long, even after the discovery that in some places these wonders may still be found. When a playmate's auntie sends that playmate a huge chocolate egg—and she won't even give "licks"—certainly a shadow descends. However, after a morose rendition of "What's the good of an Easter if you can't have chocolate eggs?" the whole thing is cast aside in the boiling and coloring of very ordinary hen's eggs.

There are the holidays too and holidays are an event to any scholar but 10 days at the beginning of April are "simply superb but natch!" Nowadays, these 10 days are an established fact to which a pupil looks forward and then backwards, after the first few days of commencement. A few years ago (maybe more than a few!) the length of the Easter recess depended upon whether or not the teacher or teachers went to convention. "Convention" was a word of mystery in itself but, when it meant free days and knowing teacher had ed by regular consultation with the family doctor.

Mr. Mills described the work of the Canadian Cancer Society, the principal function of which was educational by the spreading of local cancer units, showing of films, distribution of pamphlets and general publicity. Individuals could play their part by joining local units and assisting in their work, supporting the campaigns in every way possible, by active assistance and generous contributions.

The question and answer period brought out several specific aspects. Cancer was not a con-

"all that money," we could never understand why they so seldom attended. Thinking back now to the one or two-room rural school, to its many grades, it is quite evident that the overworked, harassed instructors possessed a wealth of patience and endurance only!

That the holidays exist for both teacher and pupil is almost in parallel with a co-operative arrangement suggested by a little girl who exclaimed to a Rupert barber last week: "Isn't it funny how God makes the hair grow—and you cut it off?" Likewise, small boys and teachers are extreme opposites in their point of view but run neck to neck in appreciation of release from daily routine.

Yet, it seems the boys have the lead for there is nothing quite so enjoyable as watching a boy enjoy holidays. One morning a rainy one, he lies in, after raiding the pantry and carrying back to his bed (and book) a supply of apples. The next one, he is up at dawn. There is to be a hike. Bright and early, a friend arrives. Luckily, the rain has abated and the day promises many things in the way of adventure—and weather.

But the latter is forgotten in the excitement of preparation. So is breakfast—but not the tagious disease. It was very seldom found affecting the bloodstream through which, of course, cells could pass to lodge and affect organs other than the original one. Injection and paste treatments Dr. Ganshorn dubbed as ineffective and sometimes damaging. No effective treatment of cancer by medication had as yet been found. The only cure was by complete elimination. "We anxiously await the day when the cause of cancer will be found. Then the present means of treatment will most probably be revolutionized."

CLOTHES THAT WON'T FIT

(By REV. A. F. MacSWEN)

Saul armed David with his armour; and he put an helmet of brass on his head. Also he armed him with a coat of mail. And David said unto Saul, I cannot go with these.

—I Sam. 17:38

There was a war but no one was in a hurry to press for a decision. The Philistines had marched against the Israelites and had caught them at an awkward moment while the new king Saul was trying to accustom himself to his office and the whole nation was in the process of settling down from a nomadic life. But the Philistines were determined to take advantage of their opportunity, especially since they had discovered a champion in their ranks.

Each day this giant, Goliath by name, would go down to the ravine separating the two camps and hurl insults and challenges across to the trembling Hebrews. He volunteered to fight anyone that Israel could produce but, of course, there was no one in his class and the morale of Saul's army grew worse each day.

Just then a shepherd lad came on the scene, by accident, perhaps. Who shall say? He had come with provisions and supplies to his brothers and while in the camp he stayed to look around. He seems to have been present when Goliath came out to put on one of his acts but the boy was less impressed with the giant than he was disturbed by the fear of the soldiers beside him. "Who is this Philistine to defy the armies of the living God?" With boyish enthusiasm he declared that if no one else was willing to accept the challenge he would fight Goliath himself. But first he had to convince King Saul. He did so well that Saul offered the boy his personal armor and David tried it on, no doubt with some pride. The helmet was strongly made to ward off savage blows but it was far too heavy for him. The breastplate and coat of mail offered good protection but he could scarcely stand up in them, and the sword and shield were likewise unwieldy in his hands. So he took them all off and went out with his sling to meet Goliath.

It was a strange match. The tall and rangy giant, with the experience of many battles and the latest devices of war to support him, faced a lad who was not yet fully grown and who knew nothing of the art of war. Everything seemed to be in favor of Goliath, that is everything except the spirit of his diminutive adversary and the presence of that Unseen Hand which has entered the affairs of men at crucial moments and led wise men to say that God and one man always make a majority. And these factors made the difference. The story is well known. You may read it in the first Book of Samuel, chapter 17, in the Old Testament. "And David prevailed over Goliath."

He prevailed, because he was himself, and depended upon the resources he himself possessed. They did not seem very great yet they were sufficient when used with intelligence and faith. His originality and spirit enabled him to win when all the rest had given up in despair. And it is so with each one of us. There are things you can do that no one else can do. There is service that only you can give, as you cultivate the talents and opportunities God has given you.

David resisted the temptation to accept the king's uniform. It was a very real temptation to a young man. We often feel that we could do so much better if we were king or at least in the shoes of some person other than ourselves. The world is full of complaints about injustices and lack of opportunities and he who plays second fiddle is lamenting about his position when he ought to be glad that he is in the orchestra at all.

However, the suit of armor was a protection and source of confidence to Saul but it would have meant death to David. There is a sense in which this is true of our religion. Faith in Jesus Christ, the revelation of God, the same yesterday, today and forever, has always been and still is a shield and buckler to men and women. But life is not static. Man is always growing out of his last year's clothes and we must be continually concerned to understand and express the unchangeable truth and the unsearchable riches of Christ in terms which are meaningful in our time. It is a sad fact that people are content to accept or reject Christianity on the basis of what it has meant to others. Instead of seeking the truth for themselves they are satisfied to pass judgment on the basis of second-hand clothes which never can and never will fit them. Salvation is a personal matter. We must not forget that without the witness and work of others we should not have the scriptures or even the Gospel, but there is a peculiar emphasis in the words of our Lord: "Seek and ye shall find, ask and ye shall receive, knock and it shall be opened unto you."

ARCHBISHOP DERWYN OWEN

Like most men who rise to high respectability by democratic means, the late Primate of the Church of England in Canada was moderate in his views in many respects and devoted much of his time and talent to the bringing together of diverse elements both in the church and among Christian people generally in English-speaking Canada. He was the first president of the Canadian Council of Churches and warmly supported the present movement towards greater co-operation and friendship between the churches. He made a great contribution within his own church as an ecclesiastical statesman. The years of his primacy saw a rationalization of administration and a greater coherence of the church as a whole throughout the Dominion. Along with this came the "Advance" led by the Primate himself to lead the church into a position of greater usefulness and influence in all parts of the Dominion with which she is historically connected.

Archbishop Owen can also be compared and mentioned along with the recently deceased Cardinal Villeneuve. These two Christian leaders spoke with a single voice on the subject of the war against the totalitarian powers. They emphasized the spiritual issues which were undoubtedly at stake and without nationalistic flag waving they set out certain definite issues concerning which no Christian could be neutral. They made in this way an incalculable contribution to national morale during the war and brought peace to many a troubled mind both on active service and on the home front. (Contributed)

MANY ENQUIRE ABOUT RUPERT

Mayor Arnold is receiving a number of requests for information about Prince Rupert from various parts of the continent and this interest, she feels, indicates that the city may have a record tourist season. In the last couple of days Mayor Arnold has received requests for information from people in Seattle and Saskatchewan and there have been several earlier enquiries. "According to this show of interest, we can expect a good tourist season," she said.

Purple Nylons. Blue Lipstick Gotham's Gay

By HELEN BANNERMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK—Gay, daring color is the keynote of smart accessories this spring from festive flowers on hats to sheer nylon stockings to match shoes and costume.

In the hat department New Yorkers have fallen in love with variations on a theme Hattie Carnegie has made popular—a sailor or bonnet of natural straw piled with primary-color field flowers and often completed with a green ribbon tied in a bow at the back. This demure combination has taken the city by storm, closely followed for more formal wear by its dressed-up version in beautiful natural straw lace.

The new stockings in sheer navy blue, purple, green and brown look unexpectedly smart teamed with matching costumes.

For daytime wear dainty embroidered batiste blouses are being shown with lace French slips under them. Pure silk square scarves in solid colors or gay patterns complement daytime costumes.

Important fashion houses are showing young, flat-heeled shoes with closed toes and soaring high-heeled pumps with hand-tooled gold trim. Long, slim French umbrellas with plaid or striped taffeta covers are carried with most costumes.

SATIN BOOTS FOR DINNER

A neat, high-heeled black satin boot with side lacing and cuffs offers drama for dinner and theatre dates while flat sandals of dark alligator and suede are forecast for wear with light summer cottons.

A real color revolution is under way in a new make-up sequence featuring lipstick to match a red-head's hair. John Fredericks of hat fame, the originator of the new facial colors, recommends this lipstick only for red-heads. It isn't intended to be taken seriously but it is a lot of fun.

For brunettes there is warm, rich tan powder with brown lipstick—and dark brown at that. Blondes are offered a flattering pink powder and pale coral lipstick, no darker than normal lips but so startling it stands out in a crowd.

The climax comes in the make-up for the white-haired sophisticate who is offered blue-gold make-up, a pale blue powder and the choice of two lipsticks—vivid blue or pale blue that is just off white. The blues have no hint of flesh tones in them.

While these remarkable facial combinations probably won't sweep the country, they are having a pronounced effect on the colors of handbags, gloves and simulated pearls which are appearing in shades of gunmetal, smoky white and cocoa. As with the make-up, the accessory colors are planned to go with different shades of hair.

CATHOLIC SPRING TEA AND SALE

Delightful Affair Held on Thursday Afternoon in Parish Hall With Many Guests Attending

Ladies of the Catholic Women's League were hostesses on Thursday afternoon at a delightful spring tea in the Parish Hall. Many guests called to extend their patronage to the affair, being received by Sister Superior and Mrs. Leo Doiron, president of the league.

Pouring at the tea and coffee table which was centred with a handsome white linen cloth and decorated with spring flowers were Mrs. E. J. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. J. A. Smith, Mrs. C. P. Balagno and Mrs. J. L. MacLaren. Serviteurs were Mrs. N. R. Young, Mrs. J. N. Forman, Mrs. W. Pierce, Mrs. I. Telseth and Mrs. James Rogerson. Directing the serving of refreshments were Mrs. Joseph Garon, Mrs.

LOVELY STONES FOUND IN B.C.

VANCOUVER—Many beautiful stones are to be found in British Columbia, Jake Treub, who has spent his spare time for 25 years finding, cutting and polishing stones, said here. The "garnette," found near Williams Lake, in the interior of the province, is a nickel ore stone like a green butterfly wing. The opal found near Kamloops is of unusual beauty and the cinnabar from the same area has a grain like maple. Then there are the "dallaste" of Vancouver Island with its dark tracery of veins, the "jaspers" of the Fraser River, and the strikingly beautiful "Tiger's Eye," petrified asbestos.

J. Bouzek, Mrs. C. Schaeffer and Mrs. S. Dickens.

Father MacLean, who is here as chaplain aboard the visiting naval vessels, pronounced a benediction at closing.

Local Fighters Dominate Navy-Rupert Boxing

Some 600 boxing fans last night witnessed a thrilling boxing card in the Civic Centre gym when the two visiting warships and the Canadian Legion Boxing Club mixed it in a series of three bouts that kept them in a state of cheering excitement for almost two hours. Local fighters dominated most of their fights.

One of the show was the fight between welterweight Len Hitchens of Prince Rupert and Bill Aylward of Uganda. Hitchens recently developed tactics paid off in the first round when he landed a decision on Aylward, but no match for the Ugandan.

At the very start, it was Hitchens who had control of the fight. His smooth footwork and well-timed blows, especially his left hook, kept the Ugandan continuously with the fight. Aylward, who had a weight disadvantage, as being slightly shorter in reach, found himself being probed left, which on several occasions, was followed by the local lad's punishing striking to the routine usual of most bouts. Neither fighter was up in the second round. Hitchens still dominated, although Aylward made a strong effort to accumulate points with punches.

The final round definitely belonged to Hitchens. This was the best round of the fight, with Hitchens making strong bids for a knock-out. However, Hitchens' fast hitting and lithe work gave him a clear advantage.

The Hitchens-Aylward fight in the third straight bout in which local fighters defeated the visiting crew men. However, the Ugandan came out with a 50-50 tie in the card. Uganda won two decisions from the visiting crew men, and took a decision from a Legion fighter, thereby winning three out of five bouts.

The first bout saw two mass characters, O/D Miller, of Prince Rupert, and Supply Sergeant George of Crescent. The battle in which Miller was victorious was a unanimous decision from the Crescent crew.

The second bout, one of the best of the evening, resulted in a draw. O/D Hughes of Uganda, 132 pounds, taking a decision over the Bayers of the Crescent. Hughes was obviously a faster and more experienced fighter than the Crescent man.

Jimmy McDougall, a tidy Legion fighter, lost to O/D Rowan of Uganda after putting up a show through three rounds. Rowan outweighed the boy by seven pounds. The only technical knockout of the evening was administered by Ronny Ward of the Legion Boxing Club in his fight with Foote of Uganda. This was the best of the evening and had fans standing in their seats. Ward showed the results of his training in his hitting ability and foot work. He moved on his fast, heavy-hitting punch in the third round, overthrowing him with punishing punches and rights.

Anderson of the Legion was awarded the decision in this fight with O/D Robert-

TELKWAITES FINE HOSTS

Generous Hospitality Was Feature of Trip to Interior

Generous hospitality was a delightful feature of the trip made to Telkwa by local basketball players—girls and boys—over last week-end.

On arrival at Telkwa the teams were met at the train by Art Bates, Dave Hoops and Ray Bussinger who had a great deal to do with the enjoyable stay there.

The visitors were taken to the Cottonwood Cafe where a delightful breakfast was served to all.

After the first games on Saturday evening, a dance was held in honor of the Rupert teams. Sunday afternoon saw two more games and, after these games, a trip to Smithers for supper was enjoyed by everyone.

Monday afternoon there were two more games and then a banquet was put on by the Telkwa teams. During the banquet, Art Bates, president of the Athletic Association, proposed a toast to the Rupert teams, thanking them for coming up and for the way in which they displayed their sportsmanship.

Maurice Teng of Macey's team responded to the toast and thanked the people of Telkwa for the reception and the good time shown the visiting teams. He also complimented them for the way in which they had organized things and hoped that in the near future Telkwa would be able to send teams to Rupert.

Then came the Easter ball which drew a record crowd both from Smithers and Telkwa.

On Tuesday morning the Rupert teams said farewell to all their newly-made friends and boarded the train for home.

SHORT SPORT

New Zealand bookmakers have amazed a royal commission investigating aspects of betting and racing there with statements that their organization—the Dominion Sportsmen's Association—has 400 members while its branches for years supplied results to government-owned radio stations. Although bookmaking is forbidden by law, and bookmakers are liable to a fine or imprisonment, the association has been represented by counsel throughout the proceedings.

At least two of its branches, counsel said, were supplied with a direct telephone line to a government broadcasting studio. The fact that a government department thought it sufficiently important to use the association to satisfy the public demand for the broadcasting of race results justified its existence, he declared. He also disclosed that the organization has throughout the war supplied particulars of race dividends to another government department for dissemination among troops. As the association believed that these dividends could not be required by the troops for other than betting purposes, it drew attention to the unsatisfactory position that arose where one government department condemned bookmaking by forwarding such particulars to troops while another department condemned it by prosecuting those charged with breaches of the law.

The association has urged the commission to permit bookmaking off the race courses. No application has been made for bookmakers to operate on the courses. It estimates that under this system each bookmaker would hold an average of $2,600 in wagers each race day. There would be 500 bookmakers operating in the Dominion and as there are 60 race days a year, the annual betting turnover through bookmakers would be $76,000,000 and the estimated revenue to the state from taxation and bookmakers' licence fees would be $4,272,000.

The New Zealand Racing Conference, the Jockeys' Association and counsel for the Associated Nonconformist Churches have all expressed strong opposition to the licensing of bookmakers. "Bookmaking is anti-social and parasitic occupation," declared A. T. Donnelly, senior counsel for the Racing Conference. Bookmakers had always been and always would be "a corrupt or at least an undesirable influence" on racing, he said.

William J. Broughton, president of the Jockeys' Association, claimed that licensing of bookmakers would mean that jockeys would be asked to do things that should not do. Counsel for the churches, O. C. Mazengarb, said they opposed any request for further facilities for gambling. They urged the government to enforce existing laws and remove from broadcasting the reproach that its services were largely responsible for the inordinate increase in betting in the past few years.

Trolling Season Starting Next Week
—Fleets and Camps Moving Out This Week-End

April 15 approaches and the salmon seining season gets under way as usual. This week-end will see the annual spring exodus of the trolling fleet numbering three hundred boats or so. Also poised to leave are the camps and packing vessels of the three principal buying organizations—John Clausen and son, B.C. Packers and Co-operative Camps.

city this morning aboard the steamer Catala, bound for Sunnyside where he is entering the service of the B. C. Packers. He will receive a hearty welcome back in the north from many old friends.

Delayed by heavy freight for Rivers Inlet cannery points and other calls on the lower coast, Union steamer Catala, Capt. Ernest Sheppard, arrived in port at 9:30 this morning from Vancouver, Ocean Falls and other waypoints, sailing at 11 a.m. on her return south. The Catala had already been in the Skeena River before arriving here but called there again on the way south this afternoon.

Union steamer Cassiar, Capt. Lorne Godfrey, which arrived in port at 4 o'clock yesterday morning from Vancouver via south end of Queen Charlotte Islands, brought in a full crowd of 58 passengers, among them being a considerable number of delegates who visited Skidegate after attending the annual convention of the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia which was held at Massett last week.

Veteran northern cannery official Howard W. Chambers, for many years at Inverness and later manager at Klenmu, having retired from the service of J. H. Todd & Sons in 1941, has returned to the Skeena River for active work. He was in the

PRINCE RUPERT ELEVATOR

Side track's empty—a building stilled—a city passing by. A world en-hungered for lack of bread (ever as you and I). "Bread for China," the plea goes out, and bread we can surely give. It is only fair, and just, and square, that we should live, and let live.

We hear to the south, there are elevators, bulging with golden grain. And ships of every nation—bucking the stormy main. Sailing ships, and water ships, and ships that are driven by steam. Arrive in the port of Vancouver (and anchor for weeks in the stream).

But here in the port of Prince Rupert—across from the Orient shore, A port which has proven its value—its only wish to do more. We long for the day, when we gaze o'er the bay, watching grain ships arrive, And see Prince Rupert's elevator, (not a grave yard for rats), but alive.

GARDEN NOTEBOOK

As all gardeners know, a well-tended, well-fed vegetable plot is a thing of beauty, with its straight rows of upright plants, in varying tones of green. It delights the heart of its possessor to look upon it.

But in the eyes of the visiting friend it may be even more beautiful, if among the vegetable plants and along the paths and boundaries, flowers have been skillfully placed.

Flowers like to grow in a vegetable garden. They like the sunshine, the regular watering, abundant room, the clean cultivation. These are conditions rarely found in crowded borders, too often over-shaded. This is so true that many flower specialists, who start out growing their favorites in decorative borders, for landscape effect, soon abandon this method in favor of straight rows, which are so easy to keep clear of weeds, to water and fertilize, and which insure each plant an abundance of root-room.

Instead of seeking landscape effect, they find their pleasure in perfect plants, and ideal flowers which are usually cut and carried into the house to enjoy. Much the same attitude should govern the amateur who selects flowers to grow in vegetable garden rows. They should be the kind that make fine cut flowers, growing upright on strong, long stems. These will keep their proper place, and will not interfere with cultivating.

On the boundaries of the garden, and bordering the paths, sprawling plants can be grown, but keep them out of the row section. The plan which accompanies this discussion shows an attractive way to lay out the vegetable plot. Alyssum and petunias are used for border planting; bachelor buttons, calliopsis and giant zinnias for row planting. These are all excellent subjects for the purpose, and should be included in any planting, but there are many other annual flowers from which you may choose, in order to adapt the same idea to your own garden.

Smuts To Be Opposed

By A. P. STANFORD
Canadian Press Correspondent
JOHANNESBURG, S.A., (C)—There are signs that General Smuts' United Party will face serious opposition at the general election next year for already a pact has been agreed between Dr. D. F. Malan, leader of the Nationalist (opposition) party, and N. C. Havenga, leader of the Afrikaner party.

South Africa's protagonists of totalitarianism — the Ossewabrandwag and the Greyshirts — have also indicated that they will support the Nationalists in the forthcoming elections.

Dr. J. F. J. van Rensburg, leader of the Ossewabrandwag, said he was particularly thankful that Malan and Havenga had come to an understanding. As far as it lay within his power, he would do nothing whatsoever to disturb any step towards rapprochement between the two groups.

The Greyshirts at their recent Pretoria congress decided to give the Nationalists their unconditional support. Their leader, L. T. Weichardt, said the Nationalist party alone possessed the qualifications for destroying the present government and, in his opinion, the coming general election would be the last chance South Africa would have to see that the country remained white. If they did not make use of this opportunity it would mean that South Africa would fall into a "Communist-Bolshevik jumble."

Although these three parties do not individually present any serious threat to the government—they have no seats in the House Assembly—it is their combination with the Nationalists that constitutes the danger.

The pact between the Nationalist party and the Afrikaner party has caused the most comment throughout the country.

In terms of their agreement the two parties, although maintaining their identities, will co-operate in the next general election.

NO GREAT IMPORTANCE

Commenting on the agreement, the Rand Daily Mail's political correspondent in Cape-town says that no great importance is attached to it in well informed political circles there.

The political correspondent of the Johannesburg Star, says the pact means that the two leaders have, for the time being, agreed not to disagree. "Dr. Malan, whose party desperately needs support, has apparently decided to pay a big price for rapprochement of minor political value," he adds.

It was recalled that in the

ENTERTAINING FILMS COMING

"Club Havana," a thrilling mystery set to rhumba rhythm, and "Song of Old Wyoming," an all color outdoor film, comprise a double bill program coming to the Capitol Theatre here this Sunday and Monday.

"Club Havana" portrays hopes, dreams, tragedies and love affairs of a group of individuals whom fate brings together in a single evening. Margaret Lindsay plays the part of a sophisticated lady who attempts suicide when Don Douglas, her romantic leading man, tells her he loves a younger girl. Tom Neal, as a doctor, and Dorothy Morris, as the girl he loves, become involved when the doctor steps into the emergency and saves Margaret's life. Further complications involve Renée Riano, as a rich woman with whom Paul Cavanaugh is trying to promote a business deal; Isabelita, new Spanish dancing sensation, and Marc Lawrence as a gangster.

"Song of Old Wyoming" is the exciting story of a battle between progressive and reactionary forces when unscrupulous elements run wild without law and order and become rich at the expense of honest settlers. Featuring the singing of Eddie Dean, radio star, the cast also includes Gene Autrey, Judy Canova and Jennifer Holt, the daughter of Jack Holt.

1943 general election the Afrikaner party polled only 14,759 votes throughout the whole of the Union and failed to win a single seat. It polled only 331 votes on the Witwatersrand, 509 in Pretoria and district, 3,109 in the Transvaal rural areas and 10,769 in the Orange Free State. It is doubtful whether the Afrikaner party would command even this total of votes today.

Die Transvaal (now Nationalist) party and Afrikaner party organ in the Transvaal) welcomes the fact that the differences which have estranged the two parties, are beginning to disappear. "The struggle now is against the Smuts government and everything it stands for," said the paper.

Die Transvaal says it is the first time that the United Party has been confronted with a united opposition, and for them it is the worst political news they have had for a long time.
