New Brunswick Breaks Off With Ottawa

PRESIDENT TRUMAN APPEALS TO REPUBLICANS FOR CO-OPERATION

WASHINGTON, D.C.—In his address to Congress today on the "State of the Union," President Truman appealed to the Republican-controlled legislative bodies for co-operation so that the welfare of the nation might not be endangered. He put forward a four-point program for the elimination of strikes and called for an investigation of labor-management relations.

Mr. Truman turned down a Republican proposal to reduce the personal income tax. The President advocated universal military training as the only fair plan.

BREAK HALT'S WIRE SERVICE

Telegraphic communication between Prince Rupert and Vancouver was disrupted this morning by a break in the main trans-continental wire line just west of Jasper but was restored shortly after noon. Cause of the disruption was not known at the local telegraph office.

The break did not affect long distance telephone transmission or the radio relay from Vancouver which is carried over the former Pacific Communications system south from Prince George.

Trains on the line out of Prince Rupert are running on schedule, no obstruction to the service being reported.

FREIGHT RUNS INAUGURATED

Scheduled Services Include This Part of Coast:

Prince Rupert is among the northern British Columbia ports which will be served under a scheduled freight operation being inaugurated on this coast by Frank Waterhouse & Co. of Canada Ltd., according to announcement made by T. D. H. Hodgins, traffic representative of the line, who was in the city yesterday afternoon aboard the steamer Coquitlam making the round trip north. The establishment of a scheduled freight service by Waterhouse is co-incidental with improved passenger services which have been inaugurated with their new steamers by Union Steamships Ltd., which controls Waterhouse.

With the steamer Southholm now on her way north, having left Vancouver Friday and being due at Stewart today, Waterhouse starts a regular three freight service, the backbone of which will be a contract for the carrying of Silbak-Premier concentrates from Stewart tram terminal to Tacoma smelter. Calls at Prince Rupert and other points along the north coast will be regulated by traffic offerings.

Another scheduled freight service of the Waterhouse line takes the converted China coaster Chilkoote on a weekly run from Vancouver to Port Alice and around the north end of Vancouver Island with calls enroute at Anglewood, Port Hardy, Winter Harbor, Quatsino and June Landing. The Chilkoote, as she has been doing for some time, will specialize in carrying pulp to Vancouver from Port Alice.

Third scheduled freight run of the Waterhouse line is that of the motor vessel Island King from Vancouver on the logging camp runs with 20 calls as far north as Allison Harbor.

In addition to the Chilkoote, Southholm and Island King on the scheduled runs, the Waterhouse line has the steamers Chilliwack, Eastholm and Berrin available for tramp service.

Mr. Hodgins, the traffic manager of Frank Waterhouse, is no stranger to Prince Rupert. As a light lieutenant with the Royal Canadian Air Force, he was stationed at Seal Cove here for 18 months in the early part of World War II before proceeding overseas.

Chalmers' preliminary trial has been adjourned until January 10.

'FRISCO HAS LARGE FIRE

Thirty-one Firemen Injured as Hensburg Building Destroyed —Arson Suspected

SAN FRANCISCO—Thirty-one firemen are in hospital following San Francisco's most spectacular fire in 10 years which yesterday destroyed the three-story Hensburg Building on Market Street with loss estimated at $200,000. Heavy wind hampered fire fighting operations and made the job of saving adjoining property the more difficult. Arson is suspected, two other incendiary attempts in the immediate vicinity having been foiled only a few hours previous.

VETERANS ESCAPE FLAMING HOSPITAL

Bravery and Calmness of the nursing and hospital staff was credited by patients of the Veterans' hospital at Peterboro, Ont., with making possible escape from the burning buildings of 228 veterans undergoing treatment. Two of the nurses, Leona Shearer, left, and Aline Quigley are pictured with patient D. Whiteside, of Collingwood, Ont., after his rescue.

LIVES NORMALLY AGAIN AFTER HIS HEART STOPPED TWELVE MINUTES

London Sunday Pictorial and Daily Worker Have Something To Say

LONDON—Devoting its entire front page to the subject of the reported royal romance, the Sunday Pictorial urged yesterday that the public should be given a chance to vote on the marriage of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip of Greece. The paper published a ballot form which it asked its readers to fill in and return, considering the matter with "sympathy and understanding."

On Saturday the royal romance received press attention from another angle when the Communist Daily Worker called "the whole thing a plot of Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin to influence relations between Britain and Greece."

Many Italian households have been forced for considerable time to obtain food surreptitiously from the black market.

Local Lad To Go South In Hope That Rare Ailment May Be Cured

Generosity of Prince Rupert citizens has made it possible for an 11-year-old crippled boy to receive the attention of medical specialists in Vancouver, with the consequent possibility of recovery from his condition which has heretofore been believed hopeless.

Leonard Campbell, who is suffering from a muscular condition which prohibits him from standing upright and taking part in normal boyhood life, is going south tomorrow on the Coquitlam for examination on money provided by local subscribers.

Subscriptions to the fund to aid the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Campbell now total more than $665 since it was begun more than two months ago by Thomas Smith with the assistance of Mrs. Ross Richardson.

Leonard is going south on the Coquitlam tomorrow in company of Mrs. Richardson and will be examined by specialists in Vancouver. If it is found that there is hope of correcting his condition, which is unique in medical history, he will be placed in the Vancouver Children's Hospital, where he will receive the most effective treatment possible.

The fund was begun by Mr. Smith after he read an appeal by the boy's mother in the Daily News in which she sought assistance for her son. The appeal stirred a wave of sympathy throughout the city and resulted in contributions from all sections of the population.

Commenting this afternoon, Mr. Smith made it clear that Leonard is not going to Vancouver directly for treatment of his ailment at the present time.

"He is going to Vancouver for examination and observation by specialists there," Mr. Smith said. "If they believe his condition can be corrected, he will remain there for whatever treatment is necessary. I certainly hope that they are successful," he added.

Discrimination in Favor of B.C. Is McNair's Charge

FREDERICTON—Claiming that there had been "gross discrimination" in favor of British Columbia in the agreement recently made between Premier John Hart of that province and the federal government and, in the light of which, terms offered New Brunswick were "entirely unacceptable," Premier J. B. McNair of New Brunswick today suspended taxation negotiations with Ottawa, officially notifying Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of the decision.

If Ottawa was going to make agreements with one province, there ought to be counterbalancing agreements with the others, said Mr. McNair who, however, pointed out that he had no quarrel with British Columbia in getting the best deal it could. Mr. McNair said he saw little hope of a settlement being reached.

Premier McNair said legislation would be immediately prepared to enable New Brunswick to enter the corporation taxation field.

Now we are Canadians

IT WAS A SIGNIFICANT and epoch-marking ceremony in the Supreme Court of Canada at Ottawa last week when Chief Justice Thibodeau Rinfret formally conferred tangible Canadian citizenship on twenty-six representative persons including Prime Minister Mackenzie King himself. For Mr. Mackenzie King it was a culmination of a long ambition to make Canadian citizenship something in name as well as reality as it has, of course, been for many years.

By act of Parliament a Canadian can now be known as a "Canadian" instead of having to describe himself in official documents by racial origin. In other words, "Canadian" is now a racial origin such as it should appropriately be. It is something to be proud of and it is gratifying enough that at long last the red tape which prevented a Canadian calling himself a "Canadian" has been cut away.

Fives and Tens

HUMANITY likes counting in fives and tens. Why the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary should merit a drayload or so of silver while the 24th is lucky if it gets recognition, or why the fiftieth should get marked by gold watches and such, while the fifty-first goes unwept, unhonored and unsung has never been adequately explained—but there it is, mankind likes the anniversaries that end in five or zero.

threatening to withdraw advertisements unless the editor adopted a point of view more favorable to their advertisers' policy.

Freedom of expression is the life-blood of a free society—and unless there is freedom of the press—freedom from government control, freedom from commercial domination—there can be no real freedom of opinion.

If people are not allowed to read all sides of a political argument, then they are not fully equipped to play their part as responsible citizens.

Freedom of the Press

THE FIRST ESSENTIAL freedom for the press is that there shall be no government censorship, dictation, or control. No newspaper shall be compelled to say only what the government says it must say. That would be dictatorship, and Canadian as well as other democratic people do not want their newspapers dictated by the government, no matter how good or popular the government may be!

The second essential freedom the press is concerned with is something quite different. As we all know, newspapers depend for a large part of their financial support upon advertisements, which bring in money to the newspaper proprietors.

Now it might happen that certain business people might try to exercise some control over the policy of a paper by

Highway or Steamers

THE KETCHIKAN Chronicle says that it won't be long until tourists will be driving over the Cariboo-Skeena roads and the Alcan highway, which they would much prefer to steamer travel, because of the chance to stop over and to travel more reasonably, plus the opportunity to explore as they go. We still believe that to change the Jones Act so Canadian ships could handle our passenger business and part of our freight cargo, then to let American freighters handle the remaining cargo, would be the wisest and most economical policy. Alaska is under no obligation to support the steamship lines in the style to which they have been accustomed, or to be used as a bludgeon over the U.S. congress for the purpose of extracting shipbuilding subsidies.

LIFE in this Prince Rupert

by BIDDEE JINKS

At exactly 12 o'clock midnight December 31, I received a visitor. He was a stranger to me, yet I knew he would arrive at that moment. He was a buoyant fellow, very charming, but, as he stepped across the threshold, an old and weary gentleman slipped noiselessly out through the back door.

The old man left with an agility and punctuality that belied his appearance for he was stooped and feeble, as if he had borne many cares. His eyes held a sombre quality as though they had seen much of sorrow, yet—there lurked a twinkle that spoke too of joy. His cheeks were sunken and furrowed and his brow heavy. Not entirely responsible for the trouble and crisis of conference or labor, yet he had borne them for a year. And until the last moment he had kept them his own. But now, without so much as a sigh of regret or of satisfaction, he left them all to his successor, the young chap with the smooth brow, the lad who as yet did not know the name Molotov or Gromyko.

He had stretched a kind hand in my direction, that old man. To most of us in this hemisphere, his rein had been good. Thinking of this, I remembered an old philosophy that said: "If all the cares and sorrows of the world were gathered together and then evenly distributed, the majority would receive more than hitherto." Knowing full well that was true and might apply to me, yet standing at that moment between the old and familiar and the new and untried, I saw one going never to return—but involuntarily my hand went out to the new! The newcomer was young—and he was radiant, in reflection of the gladness with which he had been greeted from place to place across the world. Whether in cottage or castle, hospital bed or ballroom floor, he is received with joy. Perhaps not hilariously, but reading the warmth of a heart, he is glad. And even as he came to us, a bell tolled in rhythmic chime:

"Ring out the old, ring in the new,
Ring happy bells across the snow;
The year is going, let him go;
Ring out the false, ring in the true."

At that moment, I tried to conceive what a New Year would mean to the millions of the world. In reality, it is just one day following another. In hard facts, it is only the calendar that makes it different—yet who can explain the mixed feelings of wistfulness, joy, exhilaration that fills the soul of us all when we enter, have entered the vast unknown of a year?

So much has been changed in the last year, so much will be different in a year's time. To some that thought brings the sadness of loss, to others it sounds hope, the signal for greater effort.

Nor would we wish it otherwise. Somehow, the shedding of the old year sheds a certain lethargy of spirit. Looking back, we see in true perspective the value of a day or its utter waste. We find in the small deed, or the commonplace, a joy to remember. Thinking of the letter we did not write, or the smile we did not smile, there is a moment of gloom which passes in the light of a clean slate that we may mark this year with satisfaction. Wishing for happiness, but knowing that it is not measured in the things that are cast on our feet, nor in the lack of what we straighten our shoulders, tighten our grip, and with will to do, shout "Happy New Year."

Lantigen

SERIES OF SIX DISSOLVED ORAL VACCINES TO BE TAKEN BY MOUTH

A Colds are due to virus infections. The secondary invasion of bacteria which follows the initial virus infection prolongs and intensifies the symptoms. Lantigen 'A' supplies antigens, not of the virus, but of these secondary bacterial invaders.

B Catarrh, sinus and antrum infections with resultant bronchitis and bronchial asthma are commonly due to a group of bacteria. Lantigen 'B' is a solution of antigens derived from these bacteria.

C Rheumatism, arthritis, and neuritis are believed frequently due to focal infection. Lantigen 'C' contains antigens of the organisms from these foci of infection.

D Pimples, boils, carbuncles and abscesses are commonly due to staphylococci albus and aureus. Lantigen 'D' contains antigens of staphylococci albus and aureus.

E Hay Fever. Lantigen 'E' contains antigens derived from the pollen of grasses and weeds which are the common causes of hay fever in Canada. In addition Lantigen 'E' contains antigens of the bacteria which commonly infect the upper respiratory tract.

F Whooping Cough. Lantigen 'F' consists of antigens derived from the organism of whooping cough and, in addition, the organisms which frequently complicate whooping cough.

Coquitlam Sets New Speed Record—Alaska Motorship In Port

Setting a new company record for a speedy run from Vancouver to Prince Rupert with a mark of thirty-eight and a half hours, Union steamer Coquitlam, Capt. John Boden, arrived in port at 11:30 yesterday morning from the south, sailing at midnight for Port Simpson, Stewart and other northern points whence she will return here tomorrow morning southbound. The Coquitlam this voyage beat her own record for the Vancouver-Prince Rupert run of 40½ hours which she had set up two weeks ago. Henceforth the Coquitlam will make calls alternate weeks at Alice Arm and Kincolith, starting with Kincolith next week and going direct to Alice Arm the week after. Arrangements have been made for Capt. Jens Larsen of Alice Arm to meet the Coquitlam at Kincolith on the off-weeks and exchange Alice Arm mails, thus providing a weekly mail service for that point which is beginning to have a revival of mining activity.

Bringing in a carload of frozen fish for transshipment East over Canadian National Railways, the Ketchikan motor vessel Sydney was in port from 7:30 Sunday morning to 5 o'clock in the afternoon when she sailed on her return north. The Sydney picked up 10 tons of general cargo here for delivery to Ketchikan.

CITY SCHOOLS RESUME TODAY

More than 1,000 school children returned to their classrooms this morning in the city's four public schools after two weeks' holidays following the closing of the schools for Christmas and New Year's on December 21.

Both teachers and students were refreshed by the break in the 10-month term which ends next June and which will be again punctuated by the Easter holidays next April.

Luckiest of all the city's school children are those of the Catholic secular school which does not begin the second half of the term until tomorrow, today being Epiphany, the school remained closed in observance of the religious holiday, allowing the students an extra day of freedom from classroom toil.

SHORT SPORT

League basketball for the second half of the season gets underway at the Civic Centre gymnasium tomorrow night with games scheduled as follows: Senior A, 99 vs. Savoy; Senior B, Co-operative vs. Port Edward; Girls, Peoples vs. Sweet Sixteen; Junior, Grotto vs. Canadian Legion.

British sportsmen have a grouse against, of all things, the grouse. The huntin', shootin' and fishin' fellows are moaning about the shortage of birds. Nobody knows why, although the sportsmen discuss many theories. One is mass-suicide—airmen have reported seeing grouse flying out to sea. Another is that coccidiosis (a parasite disease) is rife among the young birds. It can't be wartime bombing—or the Labor government—because the same shortage is reported from New York State, but whatever the reason it is held to be pretty poor behaviour on the part of the birds. J. W. Fitzwilliam, secretary of the British Field Sports Society, says grouse now are so rare that many of the moors are practically "unletttable."

Is a footballer in order playing with one boot on and the other off? It's a question before the English Football Association, and the ruling body's decision is eagerly awaited. The puzzle occurred in a game between Red Ditch and Moor Green when the Red Ditch centre-forward complained that one of his boots hurt him. With four minutes of the first half remaining, the referee allowed him to remove the offending boot but the opposing captain complained and the poor fellow had to put it back on and finish the game well shod. Worcestershire Football Association members went into a huddle about the incident and agreed to pass the poser to the ruling body. Laws of the game cover football throughout the world. Teams in some countries play without—often against opponents wearing them—and conform with the rules.

Unless the food situation improves before 1943, Britain's Olympic athletes probably will be a scrawny bunch compared to the well-fed competitors from Canada and the United States. The question of assisting the athletes, via honest-to-goodness steaks and fresh eggs, cropped up in the House of Commons but Dr. Edith Summerskill, parliamentary secretary to the food minister, said she "regretted" the ministry is not prepared to increase the rations of people competing in sporting events. Now there's a rumor that the country's standard-bearers for the games will train in Eire, a land of plenty especially in the food line.

"It's the little things in life that tell," said Estelle as she dragged her younger brother from behind the couch.

Poverty-Stricken Areas Made Test Case in Broad Experiment to Aid Dying Communities

By JOHN DAUPHINE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CROMARTY, Scotland, (C)—A plan to make part of poverty-stricken Ross and Cromarty, one of Scotland's biggest counties, a "test-case" experiment in West Highland rehabilitation is put forward by the county council.

Already the health department is co-operating in a survey of condition in the west coast Applecross area with its sparse population and primitive communications. The plan is to extend the study to other mainland districts and try to find a way to solve Highland difficulties.

The dual problem is to overcome congestion in the Isle of Lewis and the population collapse in parishes of the north-west mainland.

Even though the east fringe has fertile soil and some industry, only Dingwall and Invergordon among the four biggest towns have shown population growth during the last 30 years. Cromarty has declined rapidly through the failure of the herring fishery and a strong incliation in Scotland toward economic centralization.

The county council has asked the government to attract new industry into a proposed new town in the Invergordon area and plans construction of new roads, housing, social centres and the herring industry board contemplates making the Kyle of Lochalsh a fishing port.

Lewis has an eye on the great new airport built beside Stornoway for military purposes and already being used by an infrequent civil air service to the mainland.

But most of the enterprises now in sight are completely unrelated and they do almost nothing to meet the land hunger of Lewis and the depopulation of the western mainland.

Congestion is at its worst around Stornoway where the land water and drainage schemes along the eastern seaboard.

Build Generating Station

The north of Scotland Hydro-Electric Board is outditing a big generating station at Loch Fannich in mid-county and smaller units to bring electricity to the western coast. The forestry commission is already establishing housing shortage is so critical that the town council will not consider applications for houses from any outsider.

In contrast, a survey of crofter housing on the mainland showed there are almost no able-bodied residents between the ages of 18 and 50 in the coastal area. One house in five is empty. In all Gairloch parish there were only 30 men of military age when the Second World War began—less than one-quarter of the number who joined the Seaforth Highlanders in one day in 1914. Twenty years ago there were 24 children in the school at Kishorn at the head of Loch Carron. Now there are six.

On Applecross peninsula, 60 per cent of all houses are unfit for habitation, judged by normal municipal standards.

These are the problems which Ross and Cromarty hope can be solved if its "test-case" experiment is carried out.

LOCAL COMPANY CHANGES NAME

Notice is given in the latest issue of the B.C. Gazette, official provincial government publication, that Killas and Christopher Ltd., 628 Third Avenue, Prince Rupert, intend to apply for approval under the Company's Act to change the name of the organization to Killas and Co. Ltd.
