Running The Local Paper

IKE POLITICIANS, public servants, school teachers and such people, the press is constantly in the public eye. The Daily News, for instance, has several thousand critical observers every day ready to pull us apart for something or other. Observers are always more inclined to be condemnatory than appreciative. They are more vocal about the things they do not like than what they might happen to like. It is human nature to take for-granted the things that are good, correct and pleasing and express ourselves more freely about things which may be unsatisfactory or unpleasant.

Be that as it may, we are always glad to hear the complaints and what people may think our faults are so that we may consider them and make improvements where possible with a view to giving better satisfaction all around. Therefore, it was interesting for us to hear what the "citizens" forum in the Civic Centre had to say about us Tuesday even though that forum might be onesidedly biased in favor of one line of political and economic thought. Nor do we want to blame the people who take part in the "citizens" forum for that but would rather compliment them for taking a continued and active interest in public questions when people of some other colors of political thought are too downright apathetic, self-centred or indolent to do so. Maybe, even, it was our own fault that we were not present at the forum Tuesday night when we were discussed although, in fairness to ourselves, we were not favored with being warned about what was coming up nor were we invited by those having charge of the forum to take part and round out the discussion by defending our own cause.

However, we were criticized generally and haul. specifically so a few observations in explanation might be appropriate at this time and place.

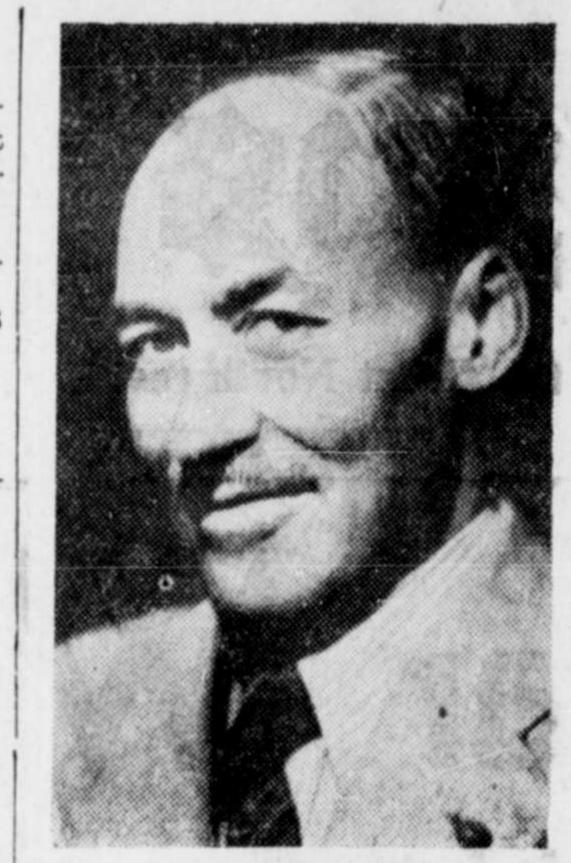

In the first place, as far as the influence of advertisers on our reportorial work or editorial opinions is concerned, it might as well be said at the outset, for we have no fear of contradiction, that, here in Prince Rupert, there has seldom been pressure brought to bear directly or indirectly by any advrtiser upon us to express ourselves on his behalf or any of his beliefs by reason of the business he has given us. There is, no doubt, a belief held by some uninformed fanatics of certain political or economic beliefs that the "capitalistic press" exerts some insidious and nefarious control over those who serve it, particularly in the editorial departments. Of course, when we hear that kind of talk, we know from the start that those who emit it are ignorant of the facts and our only concern is that their vaporizing propaganda might have some effect upon others, particularly if we never even take the trouble to deny such legend ourselves.

Here in Prince Rupert, as far as advertising is concerned, we can assure our readers that there is a minimum of effect on what we may do or say in our news and editorial columns. Threats or suggestions of that kind might come at times but they are never respected. But our advertisers in Prince Rupert are an exceptionally upright and respectable lot after all and seldom try anything like that. On the other hand, we will not say that we have not had aggrieved advertisers whose business we lost because we might have published something to offend them.

We have often wondered if some of those who: essay to question the freedom of the "capitalistic" press have ever thought of how "free" either in presentation of "news" or editorial comment might be the press that caters more especially to their own particular views. To us it has been patently apparent for a long time that they have not been so free for impartial expression.

So much then for the opinion that the local press is "biased in favor of groups of individuals," a statement which is easy to make in uninformed generality but which we challenge any of our critics to prove specifically. As for the Daily News itself, we would like to be shown any paper in the country which is fairer, less biased or more generous in its news presentation than we and that goes for the "socialists" as well as the "capitalists."

The opinion was expressed by some of our friends at the forum that the local press carried an insufficient coverage of news of world-wide importance. As for that opinion we might say that the cost of bringing outside news to the people of Prince Rupert in fees and tolls constitutes a very considerable proportion of our overhead in running this paper, the major expense in which is involved in the maintaining of a quite substantial payroll of very respectably paid staff including a completely unionized mechanical department. Only recently, we had endeavoured to materially increase our coverage of world news but were prevented from doing so by the excessive cost of leasing a telegraph wire-the same difficulty which our government-operated radio station is up against. Of course, the complaint that we "carry items of no interest to the majority of local people" is an ancient chestnut. "Well, there's nothing in the paper tonight" is the old remark that we all say after perusing the paper which we miss so much if the newsboy fails to call or for some other reason we do not get it. Naturally, we try to make our paper as interesting as possible to as many people as we can but everyone must know that it is impossible to interest everybody in everything so we will just go on trying to provide something of interest to everybody with the hope that the percentage of general interest will be as great as pos-

In this chat with our readers, which the comments and criticisms of the forum inspired, we have not endeavoured to discuss the economic aspects of running a daily newspaper in a comparatively small city at reasonable cost to our readers and advertisers. We would just like to ask them if they o not get as good a five-cents worth from us as they do for the five cents they may pay for any other commodity or service. If they just thought that question out, we honestly believe they would agree themselves there is little to complain about. As we said before we are always glad to hear criticisms about ourselves and suggestions as to how we might better our service. Without that assistance, we would be unable to progress. Our own "free" columns are generously and democratically open for such criticisms and suggestionseven from the people who know so much about running a newspaper and, doubtless, think they would be able to do a much better job of it than we, with all our trials and tribulations, are doing.

"We have applied for the export permit and are in a position to supply the quantity of milk required by Ketchikan, Mr. Valentin said this morning. However, I don't know when we will be able to start."

Also involved in the operation would be sanitary inspections by Dominion and United States government inspectors. Mr. Valentin has no doubt that these will cause no trouble.

Municipalities to Declare War on Government if Goldenberg Report Unfavorable

VANCOUVER, (P-The executive of the Union of B.C. Municipalities have reported strong next week. protests threatened by municipalities if the forthcoming Goldenberg report does not provide a fair deal for them. Mayor W. C. Hamilton, union president, says be "Life in the Sahara," "Libincial requirements.

Premier Hart previously announced that the Goldenberg commission report on provincialmunicipal financial relations will be available to the public next week.

Mayor Hamilton said that the creation of a municipal party in opposition to the old line political parties may result from dissatisfaction of the municipalities at the hands of the provincial government.

MINISTER IS AMAZED

VICTORIA, (P - Amazement at the threatening attitude takn by the Union of British Columbia Municipalities on municipal finances before the Goldenberg Comimssion recommendations were seen was voiced Wednesday by Minister of Municipalities R. C. Macdonald. Mr. Macdonald commented on reports from Vancouver which said that Mayor W. C. Hamilton of Union, had talked of "open revolt" by the municipalities if the Goldenberg report, expected to be made public next week, does not prove a fair deal for them. The minister indicated that the municipalities might look for ubstantial" assistance.

MOOSE INITIATE Good Jan. 31 to Feb. 5 Inclusive 27 NEW MEMBERS

At one of the largest meetings of the Prince Rupert Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose held in recent months, 27 new members were initiated into the order by Governor D. G. Wood. About 100 members were present at the ceremonies. Following the meeting, the members enjoyed games in the various rooms of the Moose Temple and concluded the. evening with refreshments provided by the entertainment comnittee under the chairmanship

In tribute to his 34 years of membership in the Moose organization, Gillis Royer was presented by James Bacon with a miniature mounted moose, the gift of Steve Slonski, a former member of the Prince Rupert lodge, now in Fort William, Ontario. Mr. Slonski also presentea the lodge with an action picture of two bull moose fighting in le woods. This picture will be ramed and hung in the Moose headquarters.

According to the publisher of the big Japanese newspaper Yomiuri, "if there had been freedom of the press in Japan, there wouldn't have been any war."

HOOP "SCHOOL" OPENS SATURDAY

Should Be of Great Value in Developing Future Players

A fine opportunity for junior Hockey League fixture. Tonight players and aspiring players to the Toronto Maple Leafs and learn and to develop their skill at basketball is seen by Rup Rec Director Neil Ross in the basketball "school" which he plans to open Saturday morning in the Civic Centre gym.

"It can be the best chance that Prince Rupert youngsters have ever had to learn the game from the ground up." he commented. 'If they take advantage of it it will be a real step in promoting sport here."

The "school," confined to boys between the ages of eight and 14, is designed to teach the rudiments and techniques of good basketball to the large number of boys who so far have had no opportunity to play in any of the league teams. It may result in the formation of one, and CANNED FOOD parhaps two additional junior

Mr. Ross, who with Don Forfard, will act as instructor at the 'school," believes that it may have a profound effect on the quality of future basketball in Prince Rupert.

Despite material shortages and heavy demands resulting from bumper fruit and vegetable crops and from expansions in the canning industry, can manufacturers were able to fill all food container requirements, Gordon Mann, American Can Company general manager, said. The achievement, he added, was made possible by results of the wartime tin conservation program, digging deeply into stockpile reserves and by diversion of metal from other types of containers.
