LADNER HAS GARAGE FIRE

LADNER () - The Ladner Motors garage, containing two trucks and three cars, was destroyed by fire here last night with loss estimated by the proprietor at $30,000.

The volunteer fire department, unable to save the garage owing to a stiff southwest wind which made fire fighting difficult, concentating on saving the adjoining government liquor store and a barber shop which were somewhat damaged.

Cause of the fire is unknown.

Would Ask Truman to Include Prince Rupert On Alaska Cruise Itinerary

Reports from Seattle that President H. S. Truman of the United States may include Alaska in a cruise aboard the presidential yacht at the end of June led to the suggestion today that the chief executive be invited to include Prince Rupert in the itinerary. The idea will be brought before the city council at its meeting tonight by Mayor Nora Arnold and the invitation will probably be made jointly by the city and the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce.

Governor Walgren of Washington said yesterday in Olympia that Mr. Truman, accompanied probably by Mrs. Truman and daughter, Margaret, would be in Olympria and Seattle and would proceed north from Puget Sound in the presidential yacht to Juneau and Anchorage, also visiting Fairbanks and Nome.

Secret Strike Ballot

IA/HATEVER views may be entertained on some VV of the aspects of the Labor bill at present before the provincial Legislature and coming up for second reading and debate this week, the provisions providing for secret ballots (under government supervision, of course), on working agreements and strike calls should meet with general approbation.

The secret ballot has long been accepted as one of the essentials of democratic procedure and no one would think of its abolition in national, provincial and civic elections. Without it, as has been amply demonstrated, there would be coercion and intimidation.

Continuation of the open ballot in labor polls is, of course, to be desired by the labor bosses and dictators who, without it, would have lost much of their power to keep their followers in line and preserve their own power and easy jobs.

Had the ordinary working folk been able to express themselves secretly and without fear of pressure from their leaders, some of the recent abortive strikes might have been averted and a lot of misery and suffering saved workers who, had they not been fearful of the reprisal or ridicule of their dictators, might have expressed themselves differently on a secret vote than they did when they were forced to choose publicly and before the labor bosses.

GIVE TOURISTS VALUE

MALE HAVE BEEN devoting a lot of thought and YV energy to getting tourists to come to Prince Rupert but have been giving little enough consideration to what we are going to do with them when they come. With every indication now that Is Successful on Planned Basis electric power project to ease there will be tourists this year and in succeeding years in numbers limited only by the facilities to bring them by rail, by steamer and by highway, we would be well advised to think more seriously of what we are going to do about making their stay with us interesting and entertaining — in short making a favorable impression upon them.

What Austin F. Cross of the Ottawa Citizen staff told a recent conference of the Canadian Tourist and Publicity Bureau in Ottawa gives cause for timely thought. Canada must build better roads, provide proper accommodation for visitors and enforce a high standard in restaurant facilities if the national tourist industry is to prosper and expand during the coming years, Mr. Cross

"Sooner or later we are going to lose a lot of our tourist business if we don't give our visitors better value for their money. I am now talking about our pre-war accommodations in a post-war age.

Then turning particularly to roads, Mr. Cross

"Our roads are a disgrace. Indeed it took a war to get us the TransCanada Highway. But today, only those that want to eat their peck of dirt all at once, think of taking the TransCanada Highway to the west."

"Surely for national defence, if no other reason, we should have had a paved highway clear across Canada. The money we lose every year in Canadians going via the States to reach different points in their own country, and in Americans that will never come at all, would, I am sure, pay for the pavement in a short time."

"Let's admit, then, our roads are a quarter of a century behind the times, and say that we'll never be a first rate tourist country until we get first rate roads."

BARS TO COMMUNISM

THIS NEWSPAPER has frequently urged to be on guard against the infiltrations of Communism. We have also warned against calling everybody a "Red" who is less than completely satisfied with things as they are. We are happy, therefore, to see both points stressed by so able and experienced a defender of civil liberties as former Senator Robert M. La Follette, Jr.

Writing in the current Collier's, he points to the necessity for spotting Communists and fellow travelers-particularly in unions and in the staffs of Congressional committees. He names specific unions and committees where Communists have been particularly active. He tells how they can be identified by typical methods - bald-faced lying, seeking to sow confusion, and trying to capture worthy movements. He calls for more vigorous efforts to weed them out of government service. But he adds:

Supression is no answer to these tactics. Suppression may involve serious infringements on the civil rights of innocent people. Suppression would only force Communism further underground.

We agree. Yet there are forms of "suppression" that do help. One of the ways to choke weeds out of a lawn is to feed the good grass. To encourage a just and prosperous democracy is the best way to starve Communism. Conservatives might well remember that. And Liberals can exercise an effective suppression by alertly rejecting association with or support from left-wing advocates of dictatorship.

Here again eternal vigilance is the real price of liberty. The first place to exercise vigilance is in individual thinking and in those close-to-home organizations which the citizen can influence even more directly than he can the government.

Gaelic "Degraded" In Dail, Savs M.P.

DUBLIN (Reuters) - Gaelic, ancient language of Eire, is being "degraded and demeaned" in the country's own legislature, says Opposition Leader Hugh Mulcahy. Gen. Mulcahy complained in the Dail of members who were unable to speak extemporaneously in Gaelic and ministers who read their statements delivered in Gaelic. Another "degrading" feature was the shortage of Parliamentary reporters capable of transcribing speeches in Gaelic. When a member chose the national language in the bilingual Dail he ran a risk of being misquoted in the newspapers.
