reedom of the Press hat precisely is meant by that familiar phrase, 'freedom

undamentally it is not a special privilege reserved for newspaper publishers. It is rather a phase of a much larger freedom - the freedom of all men to speak their minds openly and without fear. The press claims no right which should not belong to every citizen in a democracy, but freedom of the press is an all-important part of this larger freedom; because, under modern conditions, the press is the principal agency by which the ordinary man receives the information he needs to judge the actions of his rulers and make up his mind on public issues. Without newspapers, or with only gagged and blindfolded ones, he is in the dark, and helpless. An unfettered press is therefore one of the essential bulwarks of a democratic world.

f any proof be needed, it is provided by the record of the Fascist and Nazi dictatorships. Rigid control of all sources of public information, and especially of newspapers, was the corner-stone upon which those regimes were founded. Without it, they could never have held power. With it, they could do as they pleased, to the eventual ruin of their own peoples as well as much of the rest of the world.

his disastrous chapter of history should provide a warning against any attempt, by governments or by private interests, to restrict the essential freedom of the press. A free people must stand on guard not only against direct censorship, but also against more insidious encroachments. Nominal freedom is not enough. The only truly free press is one which can record the news faithfully and comment on it frankly, without fear of direct or indirect punishment. Neither the press nor the public is safe with anything less than this.

Il liberty, of course, involves obligations. The obligation of a free press is to be truly free. It must be thorough, accurate and unbiased in its reporting, sincere and thoughtful in its editorials, and resistant to all outside pressure. It must be both cautious and bold - cautious until it knows all the facts, bold when it is sure of its ground. It must, above all, be inspired by devotion to the public welfare as its staff understands it.

uch a newspaper is worthy of the privileges which the English-speaking peoples have traditionally granted to their press. Such a newspaper is also the best guardian of the liberties of the people.

THE DOMINION OF CANADA was officially formed on July 1, 1867. Suggestions have been made in Parliament that the designation of July should be changed to "Canada Day."

It would seem that the more important question is what we do with it or how we celebrate. To a great many, July 1 marks the beginning of the summer holiday season, the exit from city streets to summer cottages. To others, it is a great day for play - baseball, racing, tennis, picnics, and other forms of sporting events.

To the Fathers of Confederation it was the mark of a great dream come true. It was the birth of a nation. It consummated a political union of the northern half of a continent.

This year, no matter how we celebrate, should we not pause at some significant moment to say to ourselves "We have a great inheritance, we will strive to keep it strong in honor of our forefathers, and for our children and our children's children?'

SUMMER COOKING.

OFOR NON-SOOTY, NON-

. FOR SUPERB COOKING RESULTS

Need we say more? Except of course that you'll have more time for other work or for leisure. With electric cooking constant potwatching and testing are eliminated. Thermostatic control guarantees unvarying heat upon which you can depend for all your cooking. Less water need be used to cook vegetables and other foods, thus retaining more of those precious vitamins usually lost in cooking. Next time you're shopping, examine the new electric models now on display.

Now FACIAL-SOFT

Having completed the construction of our new plant and the installation of new paper-making machinery . . . an overall $2,000,000 expansion programme . . . we now have pleasure in presenting a New Bathroom Tissue in advance of anything offered heretofore in Canada.

The New Purex is vastly improved. Soft and silky as the most refined tissue handkerchief, it still maintains exceptional strength and absorbency. This product is offered in fullest confidence that it will meet with unqualified approval. Your dealer has ample supplies.
