NOVA SCOTIA COMES TO TERMS

Kenney Hears Land Minister; Will Help Prince Rupert

Mr. Kenney, minister of lands and forests, reported on some of the legislation put at the last session with special reference to this district. He stated that a larger road maintenance vote, amounting to $120,000, had been secured for Skeena riding. This was in addition to grants for special projects such as the $25,000 for the causeway at the Kwinitsa slide. There was still serious delay, however, in getting delivery of new equipment for the public works.

Mr. Kenney dealt with the new forestry legislation, soil surveys and their bearing on the future of farming, and told of the successful operation of government land clearing equipment during the 1946 season.

He also spoke on the plans for the extension of the P.G.E. to the Peace River district. In speaking of the proposed coast highway route to Alaska, Mr. Kenney stated that a two-way survey had been ordered. Aerial photographs are to be taken of the Hazelton-Yukon route and these will be followed by land reconnaissance indicated from these photographs. P. M. Monckton, B.C.L.S.S., will be in charge of the work.

Within a few days, Mr. Kenney will be speaking in Prince Rupert.

There was a good attendance at the meeting with President George McAdams in the chair. Business taking place included the forming of a special committee to deal with the dust nuisance on Lakelse Avenue and other streets.

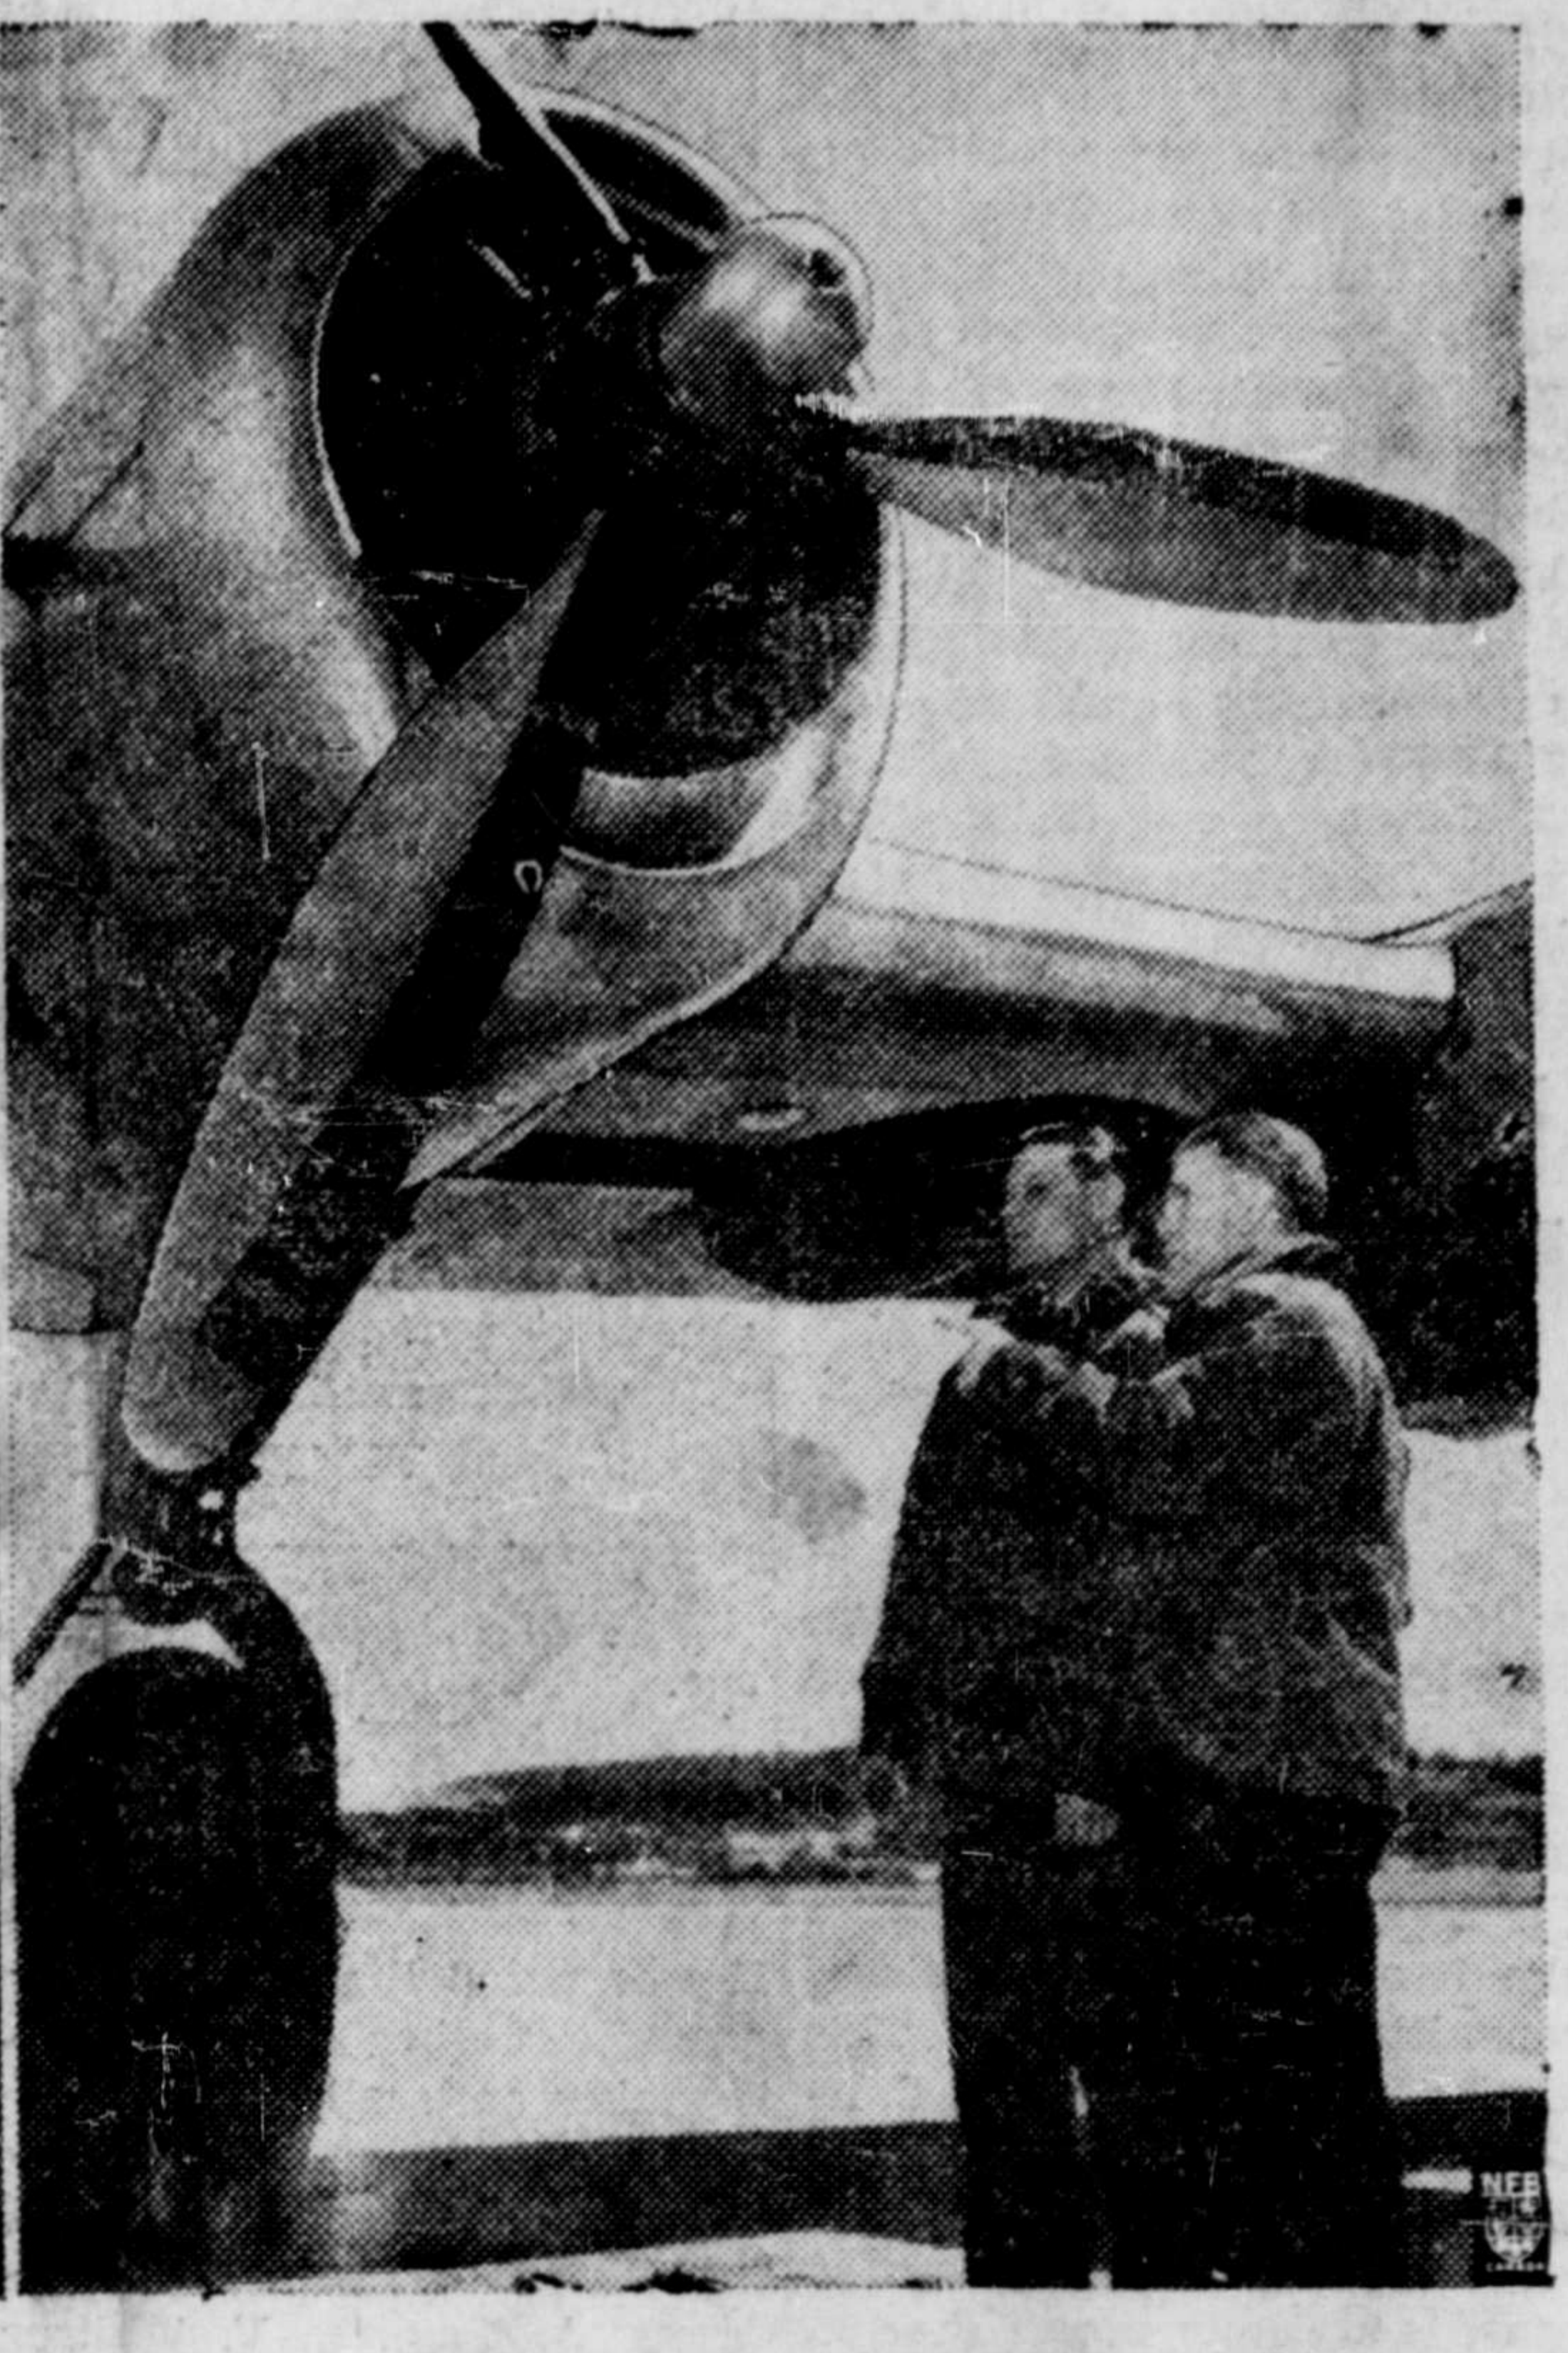

Correspondence was read by the secretary, W. F. Osborne, and the matters concerned were dealt with expeditiously. One of the most interesting letters was signed by the Mayor of the City of Edmonton, other mayors and officials, regarding the advisability of a Trans-Canada highway through Yellowhead Pass. A brief was enclosed with the letter, and this was turned over to the highways committee for consideration and report.

Reports of various committees were heard including radio, C. J. Norrington, chairman; highways, Will Robinson; membership, J. H. Smith; entertainment, Dudley Little; agricultural, Harry King, and publicity, Alf. Yoxall. The latter had a surprise for those present by stating that Terrace would soon be publishing its own newspaper if all went well. Mr. McAdams welcomed special visitors to the meeting, including Miss Cressman, Public Health nurse for Terrace, George Green of Imperial Oil, Ltd., Jack Garrett, provincial assessor, and Hon. E. T. Kenney. Walter Chesher, lately of London, England, was welcomed and voted in as a new member. In introducing the guest speaker, Hon. E. T. Kenney, the chairman emphasized the fact that the Board of Trade, according to its constitution, was non-political, and that members of all parties had always been made welcome at Board of Trade meetings. The Board stood firmly behind the members of either House, in a spirit of team work and co-operation for the common good and welfare of the people.

Mr. Kenney spoke first on the perennial problem of the province, the highways and trails maintenance. He felt that for the first time in his tenure of public office, a sufficient allowance had been allotted for work. Mr. Kenney commended Mr. Walter Wilson of Burns Lake for his untiring zeal in his efforts to obtain the Hazelton-Alaska route. A large amount of money had been voted for work on bridges, new and major construction in the province, also for new equipment and for snow

ROCKCLIFFE ICE WAGON—Courting the worst storms of the airways, fourteen men aboard the Rockcliffe Ice Wagon (upper left), flown and maintained by the R.C.A.F., follow the aid lanes of the continent in scientific search of the answer to "icing." The mission, directed by the National Research Council of Canada in co-operation with the British Ministry of Supply, is headed by James A. Lynch of the N.R.C., shown with Alfred Terry (right), senior British Observer from the Royal Aircraft Establishment in Britain, as they make a tour of inspection. Black areas on propeller blades are electrically-heated carbonized rubber de-icing pads developed by N.R.C.'s aeronautical laboratories. Kenneth Pettit (lower left), Department of Transport meteorologist, operates from a remote-control panel in the nose of the ship a "cloud-drop-let" camera which photographs snowflakes and minute water particles.

But Macdonald Is Not Giving Up Fight For Better Deal at Ottawa

HALIFAX, (Canadian Press) — Acceptance of Dominion government financial proposals on basis of new concessions made by Ottawa and providing the Nova Scotia legislature ratifies the agreement was announced by Premier Angus L. Macdonald in a session-ending speech in the provincial legislature today. But he added a big "But."

One of the three provinces holding out for better terms (the others are Ontario and Quebec), Macdonald made a tough acceptance speech possible in time to have the agreement ratified before the session winds up today or tomorrow.

Critical of the Dominion, the Premier termed the $10,900,000 agreement essentially a financial agreement — a rearrangement of subsidy position — and nothing more.

There would be no further bargaining between Nova Scotia and the federal government until a general conference discussed the constitution question, Macdonald said. He announced his intention of continuing the fight for "just provincial demands and claims" and quoted words ringing of the Scottish war song: "They have not seen the last of my bonnets and me."

Work on Highway

Minister of Public Works Advises What and What Not May Be Expected This Year

Definitely on the program of the provincial department of public works for the coming fiscal year are the partial rebuilding of the Kitsegukla bridge on the Skeena River Highway, completion of the approach at the south end of the Terrace bridge (which work is already under way) and protection of the road from blocking by snowslides at Kwinitsa, the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia has been advised by Minister of Public Works E. C. Carson. These were among a number of improvements to the northern trans-provincial highway which were asked for at the convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia at Terrace last year.

PRICES DROP UNDER FLOOD OF HALIBUT

Week-end halibut landings at Prince Rupert totalled 620,000 pounds, brought in by 29 boats, 17 of which sold over the exchange. Under the pressure of this large quantity prices which last week ranged as high as 18.6 cents for medium, dropped as low as 16.9 cents a pound today. Large and chicken sold as low as 13 cents.

Largest single cargo delivered at the week-end was from the Joanne W. II, which landed 64,000 pounds. Five American boats landed 108,500 pounds, four of them selling at 18 and 14.5 cents and the fifth at 17.9 and 14.5.

OIL TANKER HITS ROCK

The 95-foot Imperial Oil Co. tanker Imperial Namu was placed in dry dock here today to receive repairs to her bottom which was damaged when the vessel scraped a rock in Chatham Sound while proceeding from a fueling station on north Dundas Island to Prince Rupert Saturday.

The Imperial Namu sprang a bottom plate amidships and is expected to be back in service Wednesday, according to a report from the Imperial Oil office here this morning.

Under command of Capt. Douglas Marshall, the Imperial Namu carried a large metal tank on her forward deck, which made handling difficult during a blow in Chatham Sound. She was returning from delivering fuel oil to the company's fishing camp station on the north end of Dundas Island.

Because of the urgent need for oil tankers, only temporary repairs will be made to the vessel so she can get back in service by mid-week.

The 131-ton Imperial Namu is 95 feet long and has a capacity of 1,000 barrels of oil.

P.G.E. and Prince Rupert

THE DAILY NEWS has on various occasions suggested that the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway might be in considerable measure beneficial to Prince Rupert, although, of course, it would be more exclusively beneficial to us if the take-off for the Peace River could be further west along the line of the Canadian National Railways.

It is interesting to see that Hon. E. T. Kenney, minister of lands and forests, shares the view that P.G.E. extension would not be disadvantageous to Prince Rupert. Certainly, Mr. Kenney, with all his political and personal interests at this end of the Canadian National line, would be inclined to favor, if practicable immediately, an even more westerly route.

However, Mr. Kenney now also admits that, from the P.G.E. extension, Prince Rupert can "rightfully expect a full share of traffic." That seems to be a reasonable view of the P.G.E. extension, particularly since there is no immediate prospect of a further west rail connection and the P.G.E. extension is "hot" right now.

ROD AND REEL

HOUSEWIVES WHOSE foresight was not in finest focus last autumn may now prepare for a seasonal test. They are about to be exposed to a series of not-too-patient inquiries as to the whereabouts of certain impedimenta.

The examination will not be so casual as Junior's queries about his fielder's glove or catcher's mask. It will be much less simple than the Springtime problem of locating the slicker, umbrella or rubber boots, none of which get far out of sight.

The first demand will be for the split-cane fly rod — in a hurry, too. Next, for that small can of spar varnish that hasn't been seen for a year. The reel will be easy to locate but there will be trouble about that brand-new tapered line brought home late last summer and never unwrapped. And pray that the moths haven't got at that book of flies!

Fevered days will mark the round-up of these various — to say nothing of rubber waders, landing net, tackle box, the many-pocketed jacket and that battered old fedora.

Follows a period of restless waiting—as nervous as the air in a maternity-ward lobby — through the slow-paced lengthening days of a brightening May.

The trout season opens May 24 in district streams.

EMPLOYING OLDER FOLK

THERE IS NEED for employers, employees, labor and management groups, civic, provincial and Dominion governments to give the problem of employment of persons over 50 years of age serious consideration. There is often the policy among employers to engage only young men and women. It is true that in many heavy industries, young, virile help is needed. But Henry Ford himself said: "You take all the judgment and experience of men over 50 out of the world and there wouldn't be enough left to run it." A partial solution is the need for employers to recognize that the fact of a man's being over 45 or 50 is not in itself a handicap. There is a need also for the implementation of a nation-wide compulsory contributory pension scheme. There is a need for the lowering of the pensionable age. There should be a wider recognition of the situation by the public generally.

COLLEGE FOR ROOKIES

President G. A. Hunter will be in the chair and will be assisted by the vice-president, Dr. R. G. Large, who will introduce the guest of honor. Mrs. Arnold will speak briefly on behalf of the city.

The committee having arrangements in hand consists of J. H. Black, Dr. Jens Munthe, A. J. Dominato and W. M. Watts with the assistance of Secretary E. T. Applewhite.

JOBS ARE DISCUSSED

Unemployment of Men Over
Fifty Years of Age
A Serious Problem

One of the most serious problems in the local labor situation is the large number of persons over 55 years of age who are unemployed, it was revealed at the regular monthly meeting of the local employment advisory committee at the week-end. This is also the case all across Canada and, as such, is a national problem. Over 90 per cent of the local claims for unemployment benefits are from people over 55 years of age. There are no claims from people under 40 years of age. There is little unemployment locally and even university students from outside the city and province find employment here. It was noted that there was a prospect of other apprentices being taken on locally.

Present at the meeting were J. S. Wilson, chairman, J. S. Black, George Anderson, Hamilton Grant, A. Haig, E. V. Whiting and H. F. Whiffin.

LETTERBOX

WHAT IS A BRIDE?

Editor, Daily News:

Your editorial with its thoughtful tribute to Mother for Mother's Day is graciously noted. However, as you did not include the white-haired mother, specifically; I promptly associated myself with the grey-haired mother—believing you would have it that way.

You will pardon my analytical mind and subsequent desire to point out a delicate error, as when you said: "Mother may be a young bride with her first-born."

To illustrate: "I once asked a group of women, 'Just what constitutes the lifetime of a bride?'"

"Until her first baby is born," I was unanimously informed. "I didn't ask what if—there wasn't any first-born?"

If such be authentic, ought you not more rightly to have said, "The mother (presumably young) with her first-born" or "The mother—who but yesterday was seemingly still a bride—we salute you this Mother's Day."

The above are merely suggestions. And furthermore they haven't cost you a penny—the while I've been afforded pleasure.

Thanking you, I am

VIOLET INGALLS.

Last evening the veteran Anglean missionary, Rev. Canon W. F. Rushbrook, occupied the Presbyterian pulpit.

SERVING CANADIANS THROUGH CHEMISTRY

"Chemistry?"

IT DOESN'T MEAN A THING TO ME!"

If YOU WERE a farmer it might seem that way at first glance. But take another look!

Those fine crops, which mean so much to Canada's health and economy, often depend upon chemical fertilizers. Weed and pest destroyers, orchard sprays too, are but a few of the services that chemical research extends to agriculture.

Through good times and bad, the chemical industry plows a straight furrow, ever moving forward to create better things for farm, industry and home. Look to chemistry with confidence for a finer future... and to the C-I-L oval symbol of an organization devoted to serving Canadians through chemistry.

For instance:
HERBATE
Among the many contributions of chemistry to agriculture and horticulture is the killer, "Herbate" that eliminates mustard-weed, dandelions, plantain and other weeds without harming grain or grass. It is a product of Canadian Industries Limited, Head Office, P.O. Box 10, Montreal.

Soloists C. Barker, Harold Ponder and Master Richard Barker, boy soprano, were warmly applauded. Duets by Mrs. M. Hunt and T. Bailey "In the Garden" and "Evening Prayer" were considered the highlights of the evening.

In tribute to the late E. Mustard of Premier and Stewart the choir and audience joined in singing "Abide With Me." A. Teed was chairman, with Mrs. C. Barker as accompanist. R. Sweeney was violinist.

A vote of thanks was offered by D. Macaulay to Mrs. Scamell and the choir. Mrs. T. Thomas

MOTHER'S DAY AT UNITED CHURCH

Good Congregation of Old And Young Turn Out

Mother's Day was commemorated at First United Church in a special Sunday morning service attended by young and old as members of both Sunday schools joined the congregation in worship.

Ken Harding, superintendent of the senior Sunday school, opened the responsive reading with the quotation "A home is a treasury of God wherein purity, beauty and joy are stored for His good purpose."

Emphasizing this theme, Mrs. C. J. O. Olsen, leader of the Primary Sunday school, related the adventures of little Billy who went seeking the most beautiful home in the world and eventually found what he sought when he returned to the love and companionship of his own family.

Rev. R. A. Wilson, in a brief, spoke of the need among parents to seek the more lasting and valuable qualities of life, through God. For "the seekings of the parents become the seekings of the children."

In duet, Mrs. Douglas Gushue and Miss Deshka Penoff sang the hymn, "Softly and Tenderly."

The junior choir, accompanied by Miss Rose Marie Hartwig at the organ, was in attendance.

SHORT SPORT

One of the surprising disappointments in local sports circles is the failure of the football executive to show any interest in their association. Both baseball and football executives have met, teams have been organized, schedules drawn up and a full season's activities planned and so far there has been no lead given by the football association.

Yet there has been much activity among the younger players, and the older ones are still wondering why the chairman of the football association has done nothing. At the High School there are several teams all showing a desire to play Inter-grade matches which have been hard fought and challenges and counter-challenges keep football interest at a high pitch.

Rumor says that Grade 11G is the team to beat. They have lost to Grade 13 and on another occasion drawn with them. In their other matches the Eleven Gee's have won steadily.

At one time football was a feature sport in the city and it seems certain that, if the chairman of the football association called a meeting there would be a lively response. By the way,

SHIPS AND WATERFRONT

Running late again owing to heavy freights for cannery points as preparations become intensive for the opening of the sockeye season a few weeks hence, Union steamer Catala, Capt. Harry McLean, arrived in port at 11 o'clock Saturday morning from Vancouver via the Skeena River and sailed early in the afternoon on her return south. Among her passengers the Catala had a few early season round trippers.

JUMP SCOTCH EXPORTS
EDINBURGH — Seventy-five per cent of Scotch whiskey is to be sold abroad compared with the present proportion of 50 per cent. The additional amount of exports will so far as is practicable be sold in dollar or hard-currency countries.

When was there an annual meeting of the football association? A crowd, 35,000 strong, voiced its approval as the great three-year old, Alsab, came from behind the field to win the 52nd running of the Preakness Stakes at Pimlico five years ago. Al Sabath's $700-colt set a new record of 1:57, which lowered the old record by a second and a fifth.

POLICE WATCH CITY TRAFFIC

A dozen prosecutions and convictions under the Motor Vehicle Act attested increased police vigilance against traffic violations in the city, according to the April police report presented to the civic police committee by Sergeant L. A. N. Potterton at the week-end.

The monthly list of convictions for all types of misdemeanors totalled 60 with two dismissals. Total of fines collected was $725, bringing the fine aggregate for the first four months of 1947 to $2,156. Fines collected during the first four months of 1946 were $3,930.

Monetary loss from criminal code complaints during the month totalled $410, of which $175 was recovered.

There were four reportable motor accidents, during April, one of which resulted in a conviction, and one in an adjournment.

Cost of operating the city jail was $178.

Robins Nesting In Clothes Basket

Word from New Hazelton tells of the plight of pioneer residents who are up against an entirely new sort of problem. During the absence of the householders a family of robins moved into the back porch and built a nest in the clothespin basket. Already eggs have been laid. . . So now, what? Betting gives odds to the robins. Wash day approaches with the man of the house following instructions to hustle out and buy a fresh supply of clothespins.

Reminiscences and Reflections

By W.J.

A nervy young fellow named Clarence Prest was among the first every to fly over Prince Rupert. He came from Las Vegas, Nevada, and had set out to wing his way to Siberia by way of Edmonton. The flight that far north had been without particular incident. But, after leaving the Alberta capital trouble started. The delicate looking little Curtis bi-plane was shipped on a flatcar to Prince Rupert. The lad from the south had contracted with the Fair Board to make daily demonstrations of aviation and, this being Exhibition Week, he commenced forthwith. A landing stage had been built on Acropolis ball grounds (now Roosevelt Park) between tennis court and ball field, and how he, not to mention spectators, escaped destruction or accident remains a minor mystery. There was insufficient space and curious crowds would press too close. Perhaps Prest did make Siberia. He had strength and resolve. Eventually he did fly to Alaska. Ironically enough, he came within a few hours time of alighting in Russia, without doing so. He crashed, landing—imagine it—on the tundra in the very midst of a huge herd of caribou.

Scenery is all very fine, yet there can be moments when one's interest in nature can feel a violent shock. You know, of course, the C.N.R. look-out near Second Avenue and Third Street. Once, on a beaming summer day, a visiting couple strolled the winding pathway to the top. It was noon hour—warm, clear and calm—a moment to pause and contemplate peace and flowers, refreshment and sweet reasonableness. The summit gained, they looked out across a wide, a beautiful vista. . . . That solitary man over there on a bench! They drew nearer. He seemed to be dozing. He was indeed. Self-inflicted death had come hours before. A gun was in his hand and he had but partly smoked a cigarette. Police, investigating, established the fact that he had taken his life, making his own choice as to the best way out.

Prince Rupert's first theatre fire happened handy to where the present railway station stands. Patrons made themselves at home on kitchen chairs and the orchestra consisted of a piano and the late Frank Stevens, whose fortitude and composure never deserted him. Screen humor was not subtle. It was the camera (not pathos) that brought tears to many an eye. There was a smoke scare one humdrum evening. The town's lone reporter witnessed it. Needing copy, he played it up. Next afternoon, in walked the orchestra, the latest issue of the Empire in hand. He was a large, blonde man with an ominous look. Pointing to the fire story, he inquired:

"You write this?"
"Yes."
"Where did you think you were last night?"
"Here. Where else?"
"Sure you didn't fancy you were enjoying the Alhambra or His Majesties? What did you expect to find up here, anyway?"
He stepped to the door and aimed at a wild calla lily. One could almost hear the splash.
Wiping his lips he broke into hearty laughter. "Just got in? I knew it. Come around and see me again. Next show will be a dandy."

RAILWAYMAN IS HONORED

Frank E. Carey, Superintendent of Transportation Retiring

VANCOUVER—A myriad of years of railroad experiences in the west since the turn of the century were heard here Saturday night when Canadian National officials and employees, representing many parts of Western Canada, met to honor Frank E. Carey, superintendent of transportation, British Columbia district, at a complimentary dinner and presentation ceremony. The function marked the forthcoming retirement of the well known veteran who started out in 1901 to be a real estate agent but was "side-tracked" at Lowe Farm, Manitoba, where he wound up as a railway agent for the Canadian Northern.

Prominent out of town visitors were W. I. Munro, Winnipeg, general superintendent of transportation, C.N.R. western region, and Hon. C. C. Williams of Regina, minister of labor and telephones, Saskatchewan, a C.N.R. dispatcher when not engaged in Parliamentary duties.

Apart from being an able railwayman, Mr. Carey has played a prominent role in civic affairs. Before coming to B.C. he was an alderman, trade board council member and Canadian Club director in Brandon.

At Kamloops, where his B.C. service started in 1928, he was director and vice-chairman of the Royal Inland Hospital. A gifted speaker, he often presided at public meetings and addressed audiences on his favorite topic—railroading.

Buys Commissary Building at Dock

Carl Poulsen, Hays Cove merchant, has purchased the dry dock commissary building which was built during the war while shipbuilding was at its height here. He will take the structure down, using the lumber for the construction of apartments he is to build in addition to his present buildings on Sixth Avenue just beyond Hays Creek bridge. Mr. Poulsen also announces that he will erect another building to the rear of the Postal Station, "B" building.
