Prance To Hold Poll

There will be no Freedom Press, Speech or Assembly Issues

FRANCE — Generalissimo Franco decreed yesterday a referendum on his return to the monarchy but there will be no freedom of press, speech or assembly or other facilities for discussion of questions in connection with the referendum.

The referendum will be on July 6 and will be held in Spain since that country was the scene of the referendum in February 1936 under the same conditions.

The referendum will be on the question of the return of the monarchy. Provision is made for a King or regent to be chosen in the event of the death or incapacitation of the monarch. He is also given the right to name his successor if he dies without issue.

ACTION ON CONTROLS

Government further Worried by Budget—Another Price Trend

OTTAWA — Assailed by critics fearing further devaluation of the family budget and by labor leaders who forecast that new wage demands will be in the offing, Canadian cabinet members are hailed generally by businessmen affected.

Canadian Press survey shows most dealers are agreed to raise prices. Finance Minister Douglas said in announcing a new program of rationing and price control on butter, evaporated milk and preserves that could be without "danger of significant price increase."

Prices on butter and restaurant meals were exceptions. Restaurant meals were removed from the list of rationed goods. Prices on dairy products of all kinds, poultry products, canned goods and salt, hardwood lumber, copper and zinc.

Vancouver dealers predicted a rise of five to seven cents a pound in the price of butter and Montreal restaurant owner forecast an over-all boost of 15 per cent in menu prices.

General rains are expected along the edge of this flow over most of the central and eastern sections of the province. Over the remainder of the province cloudiness is very variable but skies will clear gradually this evening and tomorrow.

CANADA FIRST IN "GROVE OF FRIENDSHIP"—Canada was one of the first nations to be represented in a "Grove of Friendship" to be developed in Exposition Park, Los Angeles, Calif., in connection with Foreign Trade Week, an annual event sponsored by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Two young maple trees, sent from the Dominion Experimental Farm at Ottawa by the Canadian government were planted on May 22 in the grove. It is hoped eventually to have trees planted from many other nations trading in and out of the harbor of Los Angeles, all typical of the several countries, as the maple is typical of Canada. Already trees have been received or are on the way from Guam, El Salvador, Netherlands East Indies and Alaska. Victor Duclos, Canadian trade commissioner, here receives the young maples from Miss Fedatta Huffman, stewardess, on arrival by plane. He was accompanied by Mel Buether, chairman of the world trade week committee, and Rober L. Burns, vice-president of recreation and parks for Los Angeles.

Rupert-Vancouver Scheduled Air Service Starts Next Monday

Prince Rupert and Vancouver will be little more than a routine four hours apart when Canadian Pacific Airlines inaugurate their schedule coast flight service next Monday. The service will be on a six-day-a-week basis with stops at Sandspit and Port Hardy.

According to J. A. Barber, C.P.A. traffic manager, Vancouver, the Canso flying boat which will connect Prince Rupert with Sandspit, is due to arrive here on Friday for familiarization flights prior to the start of the regular service three days later.

Mr. Barber arrived in the city last night on the Princess Adelaide, accompanied by J. M. (Jack) Ferris, who will be local traffic representative, with headquarters at the C.P.R. downtown ticket office. Mr. Ferris is a former R.C.A.F. pilot with rank of flight-lieutenant, having served in India, Burma, Britain and France.

In the city also, is A. E. Schuberg, who will be local operator-dispatcher. Mr. Schuberg will have his headquarters at Seal Cove.

C.P.A. operations here will require a staff of three or four pilots, two mechanics and a maintenance and flight engineer for Prince Rupert - Sandspit flights, Mr. Barber said.

The Canso flying boat will leave Prince Rupert at 1 p.m. daily, except Sunday, to connect with the Vancouver - Sandspit flight and northbound passengers will arrive back here on the same plane at 3 p.m.

The Douglas DC-3, which will operate between Vancouver, Port Hardy and Sandspit will leave Vancouver at 10:30 a.m., arriving back at 6:20 p.m. It is already in operation, making three flights a week.

The company plans to install a low-frequency radio beacon at Prince Rupert, which will guide planes from Sandspit. It also will install its own radio station at Prince Rupert and will operate its own communications system at Sandspit until the Department of Transport takes over.

Third Baby Is Sought

Another Infant Girl May Have Been Slain in Ohio Town

MASILON, Ohio — Prosecutor Deane McLaughlin said today that search was being made for a third baby feared missing from the pediatric ward of the city hospital where their skulls crushed Friday night.

Revising the theory that the baby girls may have been murdered by a demented slayer, McLaughlin discounted the belief that the pair died accidentally. "I can see where an accident might occur at the hands of a child patient or a nurse when one baby is involved but not when two are found dying and a search is being made for a third baby," he said.

STEAMER SINKS; 129 ARE MISSING

SHANGHAI — Tafeng Shipping Co. reported today that the 449-ton steamship Tafeng sank off Woosung during a storm yesterday and that 129 of its 300 passengers are missing. The remaining 161 were rescued.

EUROPEANS COMING

OTTAWA — The passage of an order-in-council for the immediate admission to Canada of 5,000 displaced persons from European camps was announced on Monday by Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of reconstruction. Priority is being given to single persons and those capable of ready absorption into industrial life of the Dominion.

May Declare Siege State

Premier Ramadier Planning To Take Drastic Action In Railway Strike

PARIS — Unusually well-informed sources said today that Premier Paul Ramadier was ready to ask the National Assembly to vote a state of siege in France if parleys with railroad union officials fail to halt by this afternoon the five-day old railway strike.

Ramadier, flanked by Transport Minister Jules Moch, conferred throughout the morning with a delegation of union workers from the state-owned railways, headed by Raymond Tourneville.

Ramadier was insistent that the strikers return to work before the government considers their demands.

Wrangell Cannery Is Destroyed In Three-Quarter Million Fire

WRANGELL (CP)—Fire yesterday destroyed the Far West cannery here at a loss estimated at nearly $750,000.

Almost every man in town turned volunteer to battle the flames and the steamer Grommet Reefer moved from a nearby mill dock to the scene to aid in saving the cannery dock.

Some trap and cannery equipment, a bunkhouse and mess hall were also saved by the large volunteer crew.

The blaze was brought under control within an hour but still was burning several hours later. The origin is still undetermined.

The cannery was owned by Fred Burman of Anacortes, Washington, and A. R. Brueger of Wrangell. (Mr. Brueger is well known in Prince Rupert and at one time purchased fish in this area for the cannery).

START WORK ON ROAD DIVERSION

Construction of Snow Area Detour Near Kwinitsa Commences

Preliminaries to the construction of the causeway which will skirt the Kwinitsa slide area on the Skeena River Highway has begun, according to District Engineer J. C. Brady but continuing high water is hampering major work on the project.

The $25,000 diversion will take about a month to complete, Mr. Brady said. "If we don't get too many other jobs to distract us."

A bulldozer and a new power shovel will be used to place rock in the river bed along the 1,000 foot causeway.

Major hindrance at the present time is high water which, Mr. Brady hopes will drop in the near future. Freshet water running high on the Skeena bank makes it impossible to dump in the rock base of the causeway.

Despite these difficulties, Mr. Brady expressed certainty that the diversion would be ready for use before it is required next winter.

BULLETINS

RECORD HIGH WATER

HANNIBAL Mo.—Flood waters pounding into the Mississippi River, which has already made more than 20,000 homeless and inundated nearly 50,000 acres of farm land in eastern Missouri and west central Illinois appears to have reached a high point. Rivermen and United States Army engineers express that only further rains will aggravate the situation. At Quincy an all-time high of 29.3 feet has been reached.

COUNCIL OF WOMEN

OTTAWA — The Minister of Finance, Hon. Douglas Abbott, said Monday night he believed he could assure the public that the government would not further consider increasing income tax exemptions for dependents this year.

NEW WESTMINSTER

George Makela, 55, was killed late Saturday night while walking on Louheed Highway. The driver of the car, Gordon Hunter of Vancouver, said Makela stepped directly into the path of the car.

FORMER U.S. SECRETARY OF LABOR HERE

Former American Secretary of Labor, Lewis B. Schwellenbach of Seattle, was a brief visitor in Prince Rupert Monday evening, making the round trip on the Princess Adelaide. He was in the city about four hours. His visit here was his second in less than a year. Last summer he stopped here while on an Alaska cruise while still holding his cabinet post.

NEW LABOR LAW IS GETTING TEST

In Strike of Laundry Workers In Nanaimo

NANAIMO, B.C. — Picket lines were flung around the strike-bound Imperial Laundry today in support of 30 employees who walked out on Monday in protest at the dismissal of two women employees. This marked the first test of the province's new labor bill outlawing strikes without arbitration and a government-supervised strike vote.

"We regard it as an illegal strike," said G. H. Osborne, plant superintendent. "They walked out without going to the Conciliation Board as required by law."

The strike forced the plant to close leaving 12 non-strikers without employment.

"The employers provoked the strike by an unfair dismissal of an employee," said Daniel O'Brien, regional director of the Canadian Congress of Labor. One of the girls had left her job to attend a labor meeting in Vancouver Saturday.

Officials In Montreal on Local Deal

Statement by War Assets Official Indicates Continued Interest in Building

MONTREAL (CP) — Negotiations for the sale of the former United States Army warehouse at Prince Rupert are continuing, a War Assets Corporation spokesman said today. The spokesman said that officials from the Pacific Coast interested in purchasing the warehouse were here recently but a deal has not yet been closed.

(There have been persistent reports in Prince Rupert lately of further negotiations on the warehouse and ocean dock but no details have been available).

FIND BODY OF MISSING MAN

Found on the beach a mile north of Porcher Island settlement of Oona River on Sunday, the remains of a man were this morning identified as those of Edward Bennett, of Port Essington, one of those aboard a gillnet boat which floundered in the ice on the Skeena River last January 29.

The body was identified by Lawrence Bennett, son of Edward Bennett, by the clothes and a watch found in a pocket. Identification was made at an inquiry held this morning by Coroner M. M. Stephens.

The elder Bennett is the third of seven victims of the gillnet tragedy to be found. Four others are still missing.

The remains were brought to the city Monday evening by Provincial Police Constable Edward Anderson who went to Porcher Island earlier on the Game Department boat P.M.L. 4.

The body was discovered on the beach by a man named Dixon.

President Truman Is Paying Visit to Canada

President of United States Spending Three Days in Dominion Capital—Accorded Great Reception

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's capital was dressed in its flag-bedecked best today for the first state visit of a United States President. Mr. and Mrs. Truman and daughter, Margaret, arrived late this afternoon by special train for a three-day visit which will include an address to a joint meeting of the House of Commons and Senate and a round of social and state functions such as the capital has not seen since World War II commenced.

Before Mr. Truman's visit, Federal Bureau of Investigation men went over the ground the President was to travel and inspected the buildings he later entered, even Rideau Hall, the official residence of the Governor-General. The Trumans are guests at the stately Government House of the Governor-General and Viscount Alexander.

Meeting the President and his party were Viscount Alexander and Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King.

KIDNAPPED, RETURNED

Another Incident Involving British Officers Near Tel Aviv

JERUSALEM — Two British officers were kidnapped yesterday by extremists but were released unharmed today by the Kiriath Shaul as a British military cordon prepared to search that Jewish colony.

A government announcement said the two men walked toward the British troops after the cordon had been thrown around the colony which is near the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv. A search of the area was carried out as scheduled.

The kidnapped police were Sgt. E. P. Hackett of London and Constable P. C. Ward of Dublin.

A truck in which the kidnappers escaped was found before dawn today a short distance from Hertzlia.

MUST WAGE PEACE

WAR IS NOT YET INEVITABLE. The world is now back to about the year 1935, when war was likely but not inevitable. Peace, if the world gets it, will not come through merely wringing hands and moaning, but through positive accomplishments in decisions, skilful labors and risks. Some of these have to come from Canadians.

Canada must wage peace. Now that we have become a Belgium we cannot avoid war by saying we are neutral or by surrendering or by any other means of leaving it to others. We are forced to accept the risks of war and go on to wage peace.

There is more reason for unity in pressing this policy of waging peace than there was in waging the late war. The French and English here in Canada are going to get smashed without discrimination of race, tongue or creed, if we fail to wage peace successfully. Lying in the ruins, with their clothes burnt off, socialists and capitalists would look much alike. So also would management and their opposite numbers in the trade union leadership. Canadians of all views have the free choice of a common policy or a common grave, if there were anyone around to dig a grave.

The policy is simple enough to state, but to carry it out requires more foresight and less prejudice than we usually manifest. First, we have to fashion this country to be as adequate as possible against whatever comes; second, we have to work through and support the United Nations Organization, as the great avenue towards the brotherhood of man; and, third, and in the immediate future by far the most important, we have to help advance the cohesion and strength of the British Commonwealth and the United States and of any other peoples—France mainly—that have crawled up the farthest from the dim beginnings of life on this planet—from the cockroach level of survival.

HOSPITAL CRISIS

THE Prince Rupert General Hospital is posed with a serious situation due to the shortage of nurses and, unless some way can be found of increasing the staff, there may have to be further curtailment of local hospital facilities, the lady superintendent has informed the Board which held an emergent session at the week-end.

It is a difficult problem and it would possibly be presumptuous, even if we were able, to advise the already perplexed board and administrative staff about what further can be done than is being done.

Nor is the problem just a local one for it has been felt almost everywhere, the shortage of nurses having resulted in drastic curtailment in more than one place.

Adequate hospital service is a vital necessity in any community, particularly one like Prince Rupert which aspires to a position of industrial and commercial importance. It is something in which every citizen is or should be interested. A city without adequate hospital service is under serious handicap.

There is little that citizens, as a whole, may be able to do to increase the supply of nursing service but we may be able to assist in one way or another in curtailing the demands on the restricted services that are available by not seeking hospitalization unless absolutely required and being as considerate as possible under the present conditions. This might be the thought of all who have any call upon hospital staff or facilities.

BUTTER DERATIONED

DERATIONING and decontrol of price in the case of butter has the expected sequel we should have an ample supply of the dairy products which we have had to go sparingly with for so long. A period, possibly short, of higher price may be anticipated and then it should fall back to nearer normal level. Meantime, it will be a treat to be able to spread it on a little more thickly, our conservation being not through the necessity of supply but through cost. Anyway, we will be able to have a little butter fling although a price of 55c or 60c per pound as compared with 25c or so per pound in 1939 may be some deterrent to our appetite.

With only sugar and molasses now remaining, the end of rationing in Canada now appears near.

LETTERBOX

HONEST WAY

Editor, Daily News:
In reading an article in the Prince Rupert Daily News of May 29 under the caption "No, I do not speak English" I realized more fully how little of tolerance or understanding are possessed by many of our self-professed educated scholars of various arts.

How little thought is given to the real knowledge of language and music! I mention the latter art as a mutual relationship because they both require constant and applied study to continue to master and be able to state one is fully qualified in these special arts.

When that so-called "Youthful Babine Indian" stated: "No I do not speak English," he was being quite honest, in fact, more honest than the average individual who claims to do so. His knowledge of the language was so limited that he was unable to state truly that he understood fully—and then be questioned—understand the meaning of the question and still know enough of the language to give the answer in correct English. His mastery of same is very limited.

Personally — I understand French enough to know the meaning of simple questions when they are put to me but my knowledge orally is so limited as not to be able to give an instant reply when spoken to.

We also know people who can read music correctly and still are not able to play any instrument. It takes practice to conquer these two arts and continue to remember.

You can live in different districts and absorb enough of colloquialism to forget in time to speak grammatically.

In any language it is usual to commence to learn the same, to be taught the most often used and necessary questions and answers.

It is of primary importance to the individual of any other tongue to know the meaning of "Yes" and "No." In time they learn the short sentence "I do not, or, cannot speak English." Teachers go out of their way to make this one of the first sentences spoken and understood.

If he had even a little schooling in English, this answer was given in correct grammar, as English is taught. But he has had no schooling whatever. This I know. I have come in contact with these people during their stay in Prince Rupert, for the trial. I have witnessed and heard them, asking each other mean-

NEWS REPORTERS ON CHILCOTIN

Fifty-five passengers aboard Union Steamships' newest coastal liner Chilcotin, visited Prince Rupert Monday afternoon on the first of that vessel's series of summer luxury cruises along the north coast. After a four-hour stop the vessel headed north for Portland Canal and Ketchikan.

Aboard the boat were a group of Vancouver newspaper women and publicists—reporter Evelyn Caldwell of the Sun, Pat Prowd of the News-Herald and Pat Wallace of the Province. Photographers Jack Lindsay of the News-Herald and Richard Colby, assistant photographer for the Provincial government travel bureau carried cameras, both movie and still, with which they busily shot coastal scenery.

Jack Weston, production manager for Stewart-Lovick advertising agency, was also with the group.

While in the city, the passengers were taken on a bus ride to points of interest, returning to the boat in time for dinner.

The Chilcotin, under command of Capt. A. C. McLennan, will make round-trip luxury cruises at regular intervals during the summer.

WEDS AT HOME OF DAUGHTER

Mrs. Wyona Penney and Hugh Miller Principals in Saturday Night Rites

A mother was married at the home of her daughter in Prince Rupert at 8 o'clock Saturday night when Mrs. Wyona Penney, daughter of the late Ephraim Scrimsher and Mrs. Scrimsher of Ketchikan, and Hugh Miller of Newfoundland, were united. The ceremony was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Francis, 418 Sherbrooke Avenue, by Rev. A. F. MacSween, pastor of First Presbyterian Church.

The rite took place under an arch of pink, white and green streamers in the presence of a number of well-wishing friends.

The bride wore a yellow afternoon dress with corsage of carnations. Her daughter, Mrs. Francis, was matron-of-honor and she wore a light blue afternoon dress, also with corsage of carnations.

Harry Menzie was groomsmen. At a reception which followed Thomas Penney proposed a toast to the bride to which the groom responded. "Anniversary Song" was sung as a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Penney. A handsomely decorated wedding cake was duly cut by the bride. Assisting Mrs. Francis in serving were Mrs.

Reminiscences and Reflections
By W.J.

Visitors are finding Prince Rupert, viewed from the harbor, easy on the eyes. They say so themselves. A skyline is developing. Some look at it from the aesthetic side—others from the utilitarian standpoint. The former, where Westview is concerned, agree they feel much happier. Sadness overcame them, years ago, as they contemplated the almost endless acres of newly cleared lots. They could not stand up against such desolating greyness. But today! Sound the loud trumpet o'er Rupert's deep sea. The new growth of young trees has placed a soft verdure over all the scarred landscape and given a fitting setting to many a home. Miles of stumps—and nothing but stumps—had almost given them the jeebes, whatever that is. But, you get the general idea!

A good-natured, sandy-haired Englishman, somewhat below the average height, named George Philpot is believed to have been the first to start a garden in Prince Rupert. And that goes back a long way, probably 1907 or 1908. George's horticultural efforts must have been mainly a labor of love, although it is only fair to suggest that Bacon, the harbor master, might have had a streak of sentiment secreted somewhere and encouraged him. So here, in front of the office and heading the hundreds of gardens destined to follow appeared the pioneer blooms.

Season changed, time marched on, and early in 1914 the railway roared in, but Philpot's blossoms had made a hearty start. There was not a weakling in the lot.

Obviously a stranger to a new town, he stepped from the boat in the real early days and looked at Prince Rupert's only way up town. From behind the jumble of tents and shacks further along he heard a lone voice calling.

It called "Fire! Fire! Fire!" A pause! Then "Fire! Fire!" What fire? He did not see any smoke. But he did notice people running to high ground. And some were waving their arms at him. Why?

The earth trembled. The sky darkened. Deep thunder went echoing across the hills. Forty-seven thousand six hundred and fifty-eight pieces of assorted rocks came clattering back on roofs and muskeg and lanes as well as on the harbor.

Citizens, emerging from their dens on the heights, met the stranger. He asked:

"What was that?"

"Of course, it was one of the big early day blasts."

SHORT SPORT

Sports-page readers are in a dither about the "he will, he won't" stories concerning the comeback of Miller Sydney Wooderson for next year's Olympics. Nearly everyone who can tell the difference between a cinder track and a football pitch speaks in authoritative terms; that is, everyone but Sydney. One sports writer says the 33-year old lawyer will "probably" come out of retirement to represent Britain in the 10,000 metres in the 1948 Games and told his readers that "this is the best bit of athletic news that I've been able to give you in many months." His source was Jack Crump, British team manager and selector, who told him that "we are helping" Wooderson will come back. Wooderson, termed by many experts as Britain's greatest middle-distance runner of all time, announced his retirement from international competition several months ago. He now is training younger athletes, competes only in inter-club events, and adds nothing to his original statement. Maybe someone will pin him down to a straight "yes" or "no" answer. But so far he has outdistanced the plainly-confused reporters.

A few of Britain's diehards may suffer acute blood pressure, but there are suggestions around London that the time has come when women's international track and field contests should be held in conjunction with the men's fixtures. To date, these have been strictly segregated. The idea has been mooted by Cyril Foster of Reynolds News. He apparently didn't want to go whole hog immediately and suggested the boys and girls get together only for international events—"say, the pick of French girls in the less strenuous contests in the annual games between the two nations." To back up his contention for mixed international events, Foster points out women's contests are included in the Olympic Games and that international competitions "before the massed thousands would stand them in good stead for the Olympics." Another point: "The girls have graceful styles and can most certainly awaken a new interest in big athletics."

Sooner can be tough, even for the referees. S. E. Law was handling a recent West Bromwich Albion-West Ham United game when he was knocked out by a powerful shot. He suffered a "slight concussion" and a linesman took over. As the ball conked him out, Law blew his whistle stopping play and then passed out.

Use Fewer Records On BBC Broadcasts

LONDON, 9.—A new agreement reached between the British Musicians' Union and the British gramophone companies provides for less recorded music to be broadcast by the BBC. Officials said the agreement was reached after amicable negotiations and "a mutual recognition of the rights, interests and principles involved." Features of the agreement, which is for three years, are progressive reduction in use of commercial records for broadcasting and payment to the union in respect of revenue derived by the phonograph companies from broadcasting. "Chief purpose of the agreement is to avoid displacement of musician," said F. Dambman, general secretary of the Musicians' Union.

NEW SCHOOL OF NURSING

Primary Object to Determine Training Required for Profession

TORONTO — Establishment of a new independent school of nursing with the help of a $160,000 grant from the Canadian Red Cross is expected to answer many problems facing the profession, a panel discussion under the auspices of the Council of Canadian Women was told by Nettie Fidler of the University of Toronto School of Nursing.

Primary object of the four-year project is to find out what training and education are required to produce a skilled clinical nurse, said Miss Fidler. Jean Masten, superintendent of nurses at the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children, doubted the practicability of shortening the present three-year nurses' course to two years. The average student of 18 or 19 needed three years to acquire maturity and many felt there was too much crowding in the three-year term.

Ethel Crydermen, superintendent of the Victorian Order of Nurses, recommended that the 36-hour week for trainees be shortened and that students be given an opportunity to lead a normal social life.

LITTLE TILLEY GOING STRONG

BRIGHTON, Eng. — Vesta Tilley, idol of Edwardian London music hall audiences and darling of the troops of the First World War, celebrated her 83rd birthday by signing a 40-year lease on a household flat at Hove. "I plan to spend this summer and many others by the sea," she said. "I took a long lease so people would know I hadn't lost my sense of humor." Vesta Tilley retired from the stage in 1920 after 51 years on the boards. In 1890 she married Sir Walter de Frece and they lived happily together until Sir Walter died in 1935 leaving her a fortune of more than £80,000 ($240,000). She first appeared on a Birmingham stage at the age of five.

could make a valuable contribution to the hospital, Miss Crydermen said. At present, with rare exceptions, the superintendent of nurses did not attend board meetings and had no contact with the board, "yet she is the best person to interpret the hospital to the board."

Edna Moore, vice-president of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario, said expansion of community services, especially in the fields of industry and public health, were making increased demands on the profession.

CHILD STAR WILL TWINKLE AS BRIDE—Jane Withers, who attained stardom in the movies while still a child, makes an adjustment in the necktie of producer William Moss at the town house party in Hollywood where they received congratulations of friends after their engagement was announced. Miss Withers reached her 21st birthday a few weeks ago. Moss is an independent producer who hails from Odessa, Texas. The wedding date has been set for St. Valentine's Day, 1948.

HOTELS DICTATE MARRIAGE DATES

CALIFORNIA ADVENTURE

Local Business Man-Student and Companion Assist Distressed Aircraft

At least one exciting adventure occurred for Duncan McRae, young Prince Rupert business man-university student, in the course of a motor trip to Los Angeles and San Diego recently following the close of the term at the University of British Columbia. Duncan returned to the city at the first of this week.

With Roy Bushfield, Duncan McRae of Prince Rupert was on a holiday-jammed bridge near Redding, California when they noticed a tiny two-seater plane circling overhead as storm clouds closed in. The plane was evidently seeking an emergency landing.

The craft circled 50 feet over the bridge in a frantic search for a clearing. Bushfield and McRae pulled to the side of the bridge, sent another motorist to hold up traffic at one end of the span, then went to the opposite end themselves.

By the time the plane had circled again the bridge had been cleared for use as a landing place.

The B.C. boys hearts were in their mouths when a heavy bus broke through their guard and lumbered over the span just as

MUCH INTEREST IN WATCH GAME

Keen interest has been taken in the monster watch game in the show window of Bulger's jewelry store but there is still room for one or two hundred more names of boys and girls. As soon as the five or six hundred blanks around the dial have been completely filled up, the watch will be started up. It will run for about eight days and the name nearest the point where the single hand finally stops will be the winner of a fine 15-jewel wrist watch.

ONE MAN'S MEAT... No two people are alike and what is good for one may be bad for another so it is urged that the family physician be consulted about the type of play or recreation in which one should indulge.

the plane was ready to come in. But the single-engine two-seater with a Tacoma pilot and his sister aboard swooped in for a beautiful three-point landing, hit the bridge about half-way across and skidded to a stop.

With only a half-hour's supply of gasoline left in its tank the plane had been trapped by lowering clouds on a hop down the coast.

"Ma wants to know can she borrow a package of crisp, delicious Grape-Nuts Flakes until tomorrow?"

"Sure thing, Ukuk, we always keep an igloo full of malty-rich, sweet-as-a-nut Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes."

"Brother, we can use that good nourishment in Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes: carbohydrates for energy; proteins for muscle; phosphorus for teeth and bones; iron for the blood; other food essentials."

"Those two golden grains, wheat and malted barley sure are cleverly blended, baked and toasted to achieve that glorious flavor and honey-golden crispness of Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes."

"Know what? We're going to cook up some cookies and muffins too, from those recipes on the Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes package. Better make it the big economy size."

LIFE in this Prince Rupert by BIDDEE JINKS

There is a beginning to things however small. There are endings too abrupt or dwindling ones or the tentative kind. Whichever way we pigeon-hole the "lins" and, how ever apparent is this fact of completion it is still in error. For to the beginnings that mark our life, there are no real endings. Instead, one phase merges into another for stronger purpose or a crumbling structure. And the carry-over is accomplished largely through the instrument—the memory.

This week part, by the regular "Morning Devotional" period, Archdeacon Hodson has addressed Prince Rupert. Throughout, the word was predominant. It "remember." "Remember all ways," he quoted again and again. But he went further than exhortation to give instruction in the memory. In the "how" to remember, "why" to remember and "when" Being a God-given and inborn instrument by its nature, we recall and bring into the present once again those things by which we find discipline, reproof, correction—and thereby we retain all the lessons of life whether they be the three "R's" or the thousands of "don'ts" with as many inspirational "do's" and thereby, the "Class of '47," although having completed their High School curriculum have not finished with this second part of stipulated education. Neither have they done with the first part.

In one of the deep-welled recesses of the mind, tied however fondly with special bow, lies the memory of the first day at school. The morning air may have been quite like any other that morning it was snuffed and eloquent gulps. You were on your way to school. And you were proud of yourself, of new shoes, and of being so big all at once. But it was still good to hold your mother's hand. It was fine to hear her voice hold the same note it always did. All things then, were not changing.

Once in school and seated, it was better. It was very exciting and wonderful but—it would be nice to go home! So you stared hard at some 'kid' you didn't know and made up your mind by exaggerated deliberation whether or not you liked him. If he finally returned your stare and smiled, however fleetingly you liked him. If his round eyes met yours bleakly dropped shyly to your boots and thence to his own you squirmed miserably sought out a new victim—and you didn't like him.

The ending is far more glorious. It is the summing up of the in-between years that involves writing lines, or flipping accurate, sloshy paper-wads. From the days when a holiday was coined by pretended illness, there has emerged an individual who thinks of school not as a wasted day but as a whetstone that grinds off the roughness to sharpen the precepts of our intelligence.

Then comes "Graduation." For a full week, every thought is toward this event. It arrives a day a night of sheathed excitement; flowers and parents; slim-waisted damsels in shimmering white; the teaching staff; tall lads, well creased and sporting a 'button-hole; all are jumbled into one revolving mass, rolling toward the final moment when your name is called. The diploma! That small bit of paper that means so much—that marks the end of to-day and the beginning of tomorrow.

The "Class of '47" is a large one. Thousands of our youth cherishing this proud emblem of a first success. They are the men and women of tomorrow and tomorrow, says Webster, is "the day that follows today."

As we congratulate this group, and particularly those of our own city, we wish them greater success. But we know the while that it lies within their own hands. It is the casting away of lesser things—and remembering to take with them into tomorrow the best gifts of today.

CANADA'S GIFT FROM THE NETHERLANDS—A gift from the Netherlands government to the Canadian People, more than 6,000 ornamental trees and shrubs have reached Niagara Falls, Ont., for planting in a Netherlands memorial garden in Queen Victoria Park, overlooking the Canadian Horseshoe Falls. The shipment is one of Canada's largest single horticultural importations, and was transported to Niagara Falls in four railway cars after a four-thousand-mile ship and train journey.

LOVELY SUMMER FLOWERS CAN BE GROWN FROM BULBS

Summer flowering bulbs, some of which were not obtainable during the war, are again available to contribute interesting flowers to the garden border, and cut flowers for home decoration.

Montbretias, cousins of the gladiolus and in a way resembling a miniature of that plant, have spikes of orange, yellow and scarlet flowers.

The newer named varieties are double the size of the old timers. They show rapid increase and a few bulbs will give a fine stock for another year.

The three-cornered blooms of the tigris or tiger flower in brilliant red, yellow or white with striking spots in the centre of the flower always attract attention with their dazzling display. They are an easily grown bulb that will provide much beauty during the summer.

The summer hyacinth with its huge spike of drooping white bells, catalogued as hyacinthus candicans, is another striking subject of very easy culture that will always attract attention and serve as a focal point.

Another is the Peruvian daffodil, Ismene calathina. It really is not a daffodil at all but is a white lily-like bloom with a green trimmed cup in the centre of the flower, the stalk bearing the cluster of big snowy blooms coming from an ornamental fountain of strap-shaped foliage that is attractive when the plant is not in bloom.

The little fairy lilies that send up 6 to 8-inch stems bearing rose and white blooms can be planted in clumps and furnish a beautiful display all summer. These in the catalogue are sephyranthes, relatives of the amaryllis.

For the finest and most powerful fragrance a few bulbs of the old favorite tuberose should be planted for autumn bloom. This is an easily grown bulb that is always admired and loved for its odor.

The gorgeous tuberous begonias are fine subjects for a sheltered shady corner that you can keep well watered. They give an astonishing display. They are even finer for pots or boxes on a porch but they can't stand hot sun. They come in both double and single forms.

JASPER PARK GETTING BUSY

Mountain Resort Opens Early To Handle Conventions

JASPER—With close to three hundred members on hand the annual meeting of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters marked the official opening of Jasper Park Lodge here today. It was the twenty-fourth season for the internationally known mountain resort and the weather man smiled kindly for the occasion.

The C.A.B. program is an active one with three sessions daily. The meeting will be brought to a close Thursday with a highlight of the week a joint dinner meeting with the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, enroute east after a visit to the coast. At this meeting the guest speaker will be W. J. Sheridan, manager economic development, Canadian Chamber of Commerce, Montreal.

Jasper Park Lodge is in for one of its greatest seasons according to R. Sommerville, general manager of C.N.R. Hotels. The Lodge was opened earlier this year specially to take care of several large conventions and throughout the season the registrations, especially from the United States are very heavy. Prominent among the guests during July will be Lord and Lady Alexander. The governor-general will devote much of his holiday time this year to painting and sketching.

Following the meeting of the C.A.B. this week will be conventions of the National Life Insurance Co.; the Canadian Investment Dealers' Association, and the Great West Life Assurance Co.

Fisheries Research

Twenty-five Men Engaged in Scientific Study of Skeena's Salmon Natural History

Operating out of three bases—Prince Rupert, Lakelse Lake and Babine—three parties of the Fisheries Research Board of Canada, the personnel numbering 25, are now engaged for the season in the further study of natural history, with particular reference to migration, of Skeena River salmon, it was revealed by Dr. A. L. Pritchard, assistant director of Nanaimo Biological Station, before he left last night on his return south after spending the past couple of weeks here in connection with the organization of the work.

Directing the scientific research work out of Prince Rupert is Donald J. Milne. Today the Metlakatla seineboat Lady V. William Leask was taken over on charter for the third successive season to carry out tagging off the mouth of the Skeena River. Five men are engaged in the research work from here.

J. R. Brett is directing a lake and stream survey of the Skeena Valley with parties encamped at Lakelse and Babine Lakes, each 10 men strong. Marking of yearlings is the principal activity at present. A cabin is being built on Lakelse Lake while there are three camps on Babine, at Pendleton Bay, Topley Landing and Fort Babine. There is a counting fence at Babine and one is now being installed at Lakelse.
