Government Gets Confidence Vote

OTTAWA, (P) - Political observers saw no particular significance in the fact of Progressive Conservatives, C.C.F. and Social Credit parties voting together in the House of Commons on a non-confidence motion Tuesday night.

An Asinine Situation

There was irritating illustration yesterday of the effect upon Prince Rupert of a completely asinine customs situation whereby Massett and Tulsequah are the only original ports of entry or departure for foreign aircraft on the British Columbia coast north of Port Hardy. Believe it or not, there persists a regulation that prevents foreign aircraft from legally entering or clearing the country at Prince Rupert unless by special permit which, as in the case yesterday, had to be secured by wire from Ottawa.

How such a ridiculous regulation ever came into being is difficult to understand. How it is allowed to remain is beyond all comprehension.

It is not necessary to labor on the inconvenience that is imposed on aircraft from Alaska, for instance, which, if they want to come to the important city of Prince Rupert, must do so by way of Massett, where there is a part time customs officer under the local office, and, likewise, on leaving, have to go out by way of Massett. Its utter ridiculousness is apparent. Nevertheless, there it is. Fortunately, the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce is on the job and it is to be hoped there will be no delay in having the stupid state of affairs rectified at once.

The illustration yesterday was that of the aircraft of a newly-established air service at nearby Hyder, Alaska, having flown in here unaware of the regulation requiring the entry at Massett, and being held up here for several hours awaiting a special permit, because Massett was blanketed with fog, when it wanted to get back with an important mining man on board.

The inconvenience and delay is what we have mentioned thus far. There is also the possible factor of danger of having to hop hundreds of miles around the coast for no other reason than to satisfy a foolish government regulation which no knowing officials could possibly have been responsible for and who, we are confident, will never permit it to continue once they do know about it.

TOURIST SEASON

AILEAU:

THE THOMPSONS are busy as bees, getting their place in shape for the tourist season. This year, with three more cabins, electricity and a modernized kitchen, they hope to do even better than before.

They were able to make these additions because last fall Mr. Thompson drove to town to see his bank manager. He knew about the nice little business the Thompsons had built up; a bank loan was quickly arranged.

Now the Thompsons can handle more tourists and increase their income. At the same time Canada will benefit from the extra tourist dollars they take in.

part of our lives." In conclusion, those present were called upon to remember that in a time not far distant the British Empire was saved from destruction when armed forces a variety of flowers in their lowest state. Only the living faith warious hues. A large flag fell in of many who remembered The All-Powerful in that day were able to understand why the enemy did not sweep forward.
