AN HISTORIC VISIT

DOSSIBLY not without frank significance is President Truman's goodwill visit to the capital o Canada at this time. No doubt the Russian people, at least, will see one kind of significance. In a day or so, most likely, we will hear Moscow interpreting it as more war mongering between United States and Canada.

The defence co-operation of Canada and the United States is becoming less and less of a secret. The candor o the purpose is becoming less veiled every day but, of course, the object is mutual defence rather than intention to agress.

No matter what the suspicious and potential enemy nations may read into it, the visit o Mr. Truman to Ottawa, as a gesture, is timely and re-
