SKEENA GILLNET FISHERMEN BACK

Week's Non-Delivery Tie-up Comes to End

Spring salmon gillnet fishermen on the Skeena River returned to work Tuesday night after a week's non-delivery tie-up which started when the cannery companies reduced prices of red spring to 16 1/2 cents a pound. Settlement was made at Port Essington Tuesday afternoon on the basis of 17.6 cents a pound for dressed fish.

The fishermen compromised on their original demand that the 21 cent a pound price paid during 1946 be maintained.

The tie-up involved 25 native and white fishermen who had actually begun fishing and delayed another 125 who had been preparing to cast nets into the river.

The offer of 17.6 cents a pound for dressed fish or 14 1/2 cents for "round" fish was made by the cannery companies, and accepted by a joint meeting of the U.F.A. W.U. and Native Brotherhood Fishermen.

This year's run of springs was reported to be considerably better than last year.

JAPS EAST OF ROCKIES

Relocation Being Finished This Year—One Third in British Columbia

OTTAWA, B.C.—The government reported this week there is every reason to believe that the re-location of Japanese-Canadians east of the Rockies should be completed this summer. The Labor Department report said that less than one-third of the Japanese in Canada now live in British Columbia, almost one-third are on the prairies and more than a third dwell in Eastern Canada.

"Present reports confirm that the great majority of those who have moved east of the Rockies have no desire to return to the Pacific Coast" the report said. It showed 20,588 Japanese were in Canada January first this year. Of this number, nearly four-fifths are Canadian citizens, or about two out of three are Canadian-born.

PRINCE RUPERT IS MOST BEAUTIFUL

Toronto Visitor Unable to Find Words to Suitably Express Her Appreciation

"Isn't it just lovely? I never saw such a pretty place in my life," enthused Miss Stella Gardner of Toronto from the steamer Princess Adelaide on showery Monday afternoon for a visit here with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George McWhinney. And Miss Gardner has been ceaseless ever since in her appreciation of the delights of Prince Rupert.

The furthest Miss Gardner had ever been before from her native Toronto was Cleveland. The prairies she found interesting and not at all monotonous. She admitted that she had no words to sufficiently describe her appreciation of the grandeur of the Rocky Mountains.

Miss Gardner will spend a month in Prince Rupert.

Controlling Other Fellow

IN THE FIELD of economics it appears obvious that the essence of democratic planning is, to a very considerable extent, dependent for its implementation upon the willingness of employers and employees to join in working out a plan.

It is an interesting fact that most criticism against economic planning for mutual welfare is really inspired by the same unconscious reaction towards planning: 'You need not worry about me, I will do my bit, so leave me alone, but make the other man do what he ought to do in the national interest.' Employers urge that they should be freed from controls, but that labor should be disciplined. There is a demand for a wages policy, but not for a profits policy. Employees tend to take the view that employers should be strictly controlled in their profits, prices, and so on, but they, the employees, should be left free to bargain as best they can in what is now a sellers' market so far as labor is concerned.

But the crucial and critical question is: How far are we to use compulsion to enforce the carrying out of a plan? Even labor governments in democratic countries have not expressed themselves as ready to compel this or that section of the people to conform in their actions to the national interest. It is here that we believe that clear distinction must be drawn between the lack of control over the individual in the choice of his occupation, on the one hand, and, on the other, the controlled use of those material factors which are necessary for production.

TYRANT'S TOOL

"THE Principle of Lesser Concessions" was the apt phrase applied by Dr. Alfred P. Haake, noted American economist, in a recent address in this province to describe the means through which tyrants achieve power.

Those European nations who found their necks under a dictator's boot did not suddenly submit to that loss of their freedom. Over a period they were asked to give up, one after another, what appeared to be relatively unimportant privileges and in return received ever-widening government participation in their lives and in their means of livelihood.

Under this principle of lesser concessions, the goal of complete domination is finally reached with absolute power transferred to the hands of a few. This dictator group has always over-reached itself eventually but in the process the whole world has been torn with convulsions that have left their mark for generations.

It is, of course, much easier to state facts than it is to present some remedy for the situation. The Principle of Lesser Concessions is effective as it is, precisely because it is so insidious.

NIPS TRAGEDY

LONDON, (C)—Tests with fluorescent lighting in mines proved so successful that the national coal board plans to install them in selected pits. This will overcome danger of explosions that hampered the development of electric lighting in mines.

STUDY AFRICAN FISH

JINJA, Uganda, (C)—A fisheries research laboratory now is being built here. When complete, it will accommodate scientists who will study the best use of African lake fisheries and potential productivity of the various waters.

To Our Fishermen

We've sung our praises to our airman, our soldier and our wren
But seldom do we hear a word about our fishermen.
When we have fish for dinner, whether baked, fried or boiled
Have we ever given just a thought to our fishermen and how they've toiled?

To bring that fish ashore was not a lot of fun,
They have to work from early morn until the day is done.
In spring before they go to sea, their reels of line unwind,
Attaching hooks at certain space, perhaps some flaw they'll find.

There are bells and gadgets and spoons to shine
It seems to me there are miles of line.
They cork and copper paint their boat,
They must be sure that it will float.

They sail away when tides are high
I watch them go as they pass by;
I realize they gamble with their lives
And lucky is the man through storm survives.

When winds are howling wild, the breakers roar,
We who are safe secure upon the shore
Should give a thought to those at sea on ships,
And say a little prayer, a token of respect, upon our lips.

As danger lurks, perhaps some hidden rock or log,
Perhaps, they're driven helpless in the fog,
While toiling near the shore they hit a crag
Or leads and lines may lose upon a snag.

When we sit down to dinner and we have nice fresh fish,
Let's think about our fishermen and make this little wish;
And pray that all their efforts are blessed by God in Heaven
And may they have prosperity in Nineteen Forty-Seven.

—JOSEPHINE McDONALD.

LETTERBOX

REPREHENSIBLE ACT

Editor, Daily News:
I wish to thank you in advance for the use of this space in your paper. As the trout fishing season is about to get into full swing I would like to bring before the public how owners of boats and cabins on surrounding lake waters feel about individuals using their boats without permission. In the past this has been a frequent practice. Most of the blame was laid down to small boys who it was thought at the time caused these deprivations. But there is now good reason to believe that grown-up men have been indulging in similar practice. This kind of action angers and annoys us and we would like to make clear the seriousness of such actions. You might like fishing; so do we. The wily trout to take is free; But when another's boat is used, The law and owner are abused. So be a man and get your own. Or for goodness sake stay right at home.

BOAT OWNER.

Hal's Headless Ann May Haunt Tourists

SEVENOAKS, Kent, England. —Knole House, one of the largest private houses in England, where Henry VIII reportedly courted Ann Boleyn, has been given by Lord Sackville to the National Trust for permanent preservation for the public.

Under terms of the transfer Lord Sackville, whose family received the house from King Henry, will lease a section of it. The 365 rooms, 52 staircases and great hall are packed with period furniture, tapestries, old silver and famous pictures.

Galleries include the Venetian Ambassador's rooms; the King's room, in which are exquisite silver furniture and the state bed; the Reynolds room; the ball room, the Cartoon, Brown and Leicester galleries.

Lord Sackville first offered the house to the National Trust in 1943 and its transfer has been the subject of negotiation ever since.

LONDON, —Gifts from British colonies to the Lord Mayor's Flood Distress Fund totalled more than $4,000,000.

TELLS ABOUT FAR LIBERIA

Discoursing on five years of missionary work in far Liberia, Rev. W. E. Brown of Toronto, travelling evangelist, was heard by a fair-sized and appreciative audience in the Full Gospel Tabernacle Monday night with Rev. John Linney, the local pastor, presiding. Illustrating his address with graphic lantern slides, he told interestingly of the life and customs of the "real" negroes.

Mr. Brown arrived in Canada two years ago after having been held up in Britain for eleven months following his arrival there on the eve of V-E Day from Africa. He is on a tour of Canada and tonight will be proceeding to Terrace and thence to Smithers, Vancouver, Prince George and on to Dawson by aircraft.

GARDENERS IN SESSION

Hear Interesting Discourse by Charles Balagno—Activity Planned

Gardeners who were tempted to remain at home and garden last night but decided instead to attend the monthly meeting of the Horticultural Club held in the Civic Centre came away feeling that their decision was well made and the time well spent. They learned that many of the local garden experts are waiting for warmer weather to set out seedlings and to plant their dahlias.

The president, C. P. Balagno, gave a pertinent talk on "Soil," as pertaining to local conditions and afterwards led a question and answer period on numerous phases of gardening. Mr. Balagno declared that gardening in Prince Rupert has great possibilities and satisfying rewards—referring particularly to flower gardening. Experts from other places, he asserted, usually remark on the true colors, velvet textures and the size of blooms here. There is no bleaching or fading and blossoms last longer.

The drive for more members will continue as it is hoped to reach a total of at least 200. Efforts will be made to revive the annual banquet of the society. It is hoped that films on horticulture can be obtained including some of local gardens.

A collection of dahlia tubers donated by Mr. Balagno as a door prize was won by Mrs. J. A. Rutherford.

At the suggestion of the president, the next meeting, set for the third Tuesday of June, will be in charge of the first vice-president, J. J. Payne.

The content of the discussions which take place at the meetings of the club and gardening facts which are applicable locally will appear from time to time under the heading "Garden Club Notes."

Seasonable Ideas for Housekeepers

The opening of the picnic season is usually May 24, weather permitting, in most parts of Canada. This year as usual the children have been pestering their mothers for several weeks re this grand picnic.

Whether mothers enjoy the picnics as much as the children is another question. They will if they have the co-operation of the whole family. Preparing a family picnic is quite an undertaking unless everyone shares the work involved. This work is often complicated by the varied food suggestions given by Johnny, Mary or Big Sister. The younger ones usually think that without sandwiches, of the assorted variety please, it is not a real picnic. The male members of the family may insist on having hot substantial food such as they would be served if they were having the meal at home.

The first thing to do when contemplating a picnic is to decide where it will take place. Naturally the mode of transportation available is of great importance also, since what one can bring on a picnic depends on whether one travels by foot, by bus, by bicycle, by boat or by automobile. Means must be devised to carry and keep the food hot or cold, as the case may be, in either case thermos jugs or bottles are the answer.

Home economists say that a salad is very nice for a picnic. It has also the added advantages of being easy to prepare and to carry. Sealers with tight fitting lids are just the thing in which to carry the salads. It should be remembered however, that the lettuce should be wrapped separately in wax paper so that it will stay crisp and fresh.

Lima Beans Salad
4 cups cooked lima beans
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
4 tablespoons mayonnaise
1/4 teaspoon curry powder
1/4 teaspoon chili powder
Combine lima beans and parsley. To mayonnaise add the curry and chili powders, blend 1/2 cup chopped green onion
1/4 teaspoon vinegar
Pickles or a small amount of grated cheese (mild) may be added or substituted as wished. This salad gives any number of variations, according to what is used or omitted. Mix with mayonnaise or carry the latter in a separate container and serve on lettuce.

Meat Chicken Spread
1 cup coarsely ground cooked

pork or veal
1/2 cup chopped or shredded raw carrots
1/2 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Yield: 1 1/2 cups. Well. Add to beans and mix together lightly or carry in separate containers to be added just before serving on lettuce leaves. Hard cooked eggs and radishes may also be served with this salad. Six servings.

Vegetable-Meat Salad
2 cups chopped cooked meat
2 tomatoes, chopped coarsely
2 or 3 radishes, chopped
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 cup chopped cucumber

HALIFAX (C)—The old cannon from the British frigate Shannon which stand in the grounds of 130-year old Province House are going to be overhauled. The gun, taken from the Shannon after its battle with the American frigate Chesapeake, in 1813, has been sinking slowly into the lawn for the last 50 years. The Shannon towed the Chesapeake into Halifax harbor after the engagement and presented the cannon to the city. The American man-o-war's master and first officer were killed and were buried in St. Paul's cemetery here. Later, their bodies were disinterred and taken to Massachusetts.

"Why was Chevrolet my choice? Because, like most women, when I shop my one idea is to get the most value for my money—and Chevrolet is the car that gives you just that. As far as beauty, comfort, and all-round quality are concerned, Chevrolet is way up there with the big cars. Yet when it comes to price—well, the price is so much lower it's hardly believable. And another thing I like—the upkeep cost won't strain our family budget! Yes, my choice was Chevrolet, and my husband says I couldn't have chosen better."

LONDON, 17.—Britain's exports for March by provisional estimate were valued at $330,400,000, an increase of $26,400,000 above the figure for February. Low February returns have been explained partly by the shortness of the month, and partly by unusually severe weather.

TIMERS DOWN ROOKIES 8-5

Experience and skill outweighed creaking joints and the onslaughts of youthful adversaries at Roosevelt Park Tuesday evening when Prince Rupert's elders of baseball administered an 8-5 disciplining to a junior aggregation, composed mainly of Savoy regulars.

Perhaps the rookies' coach, Alex Bill, had a foreboding of disaster when, immediately prior to the game, he reserved the right to re-issue the challenge if things didn't go "right" for his team.

Post-mortems found the old timers reprimanding among themselves at the fact that they had "allowed" the rookies to score at all, which can be taken any way one likes. The fact remains, however, that the rookies did not mark anything on the board until the sixth inning.

Stuart Henry, on the mound for the veterans, held the strip-liners hitless until the fourth inning, ending the nine innings with a record of 13 strikeouts with only eight hits against him.

While Henry was performing these marvels, his team mates were building up a score which started in the first inning when Kerr made the circuit on a base on balls. The veterans scored again in the third inning, bringing in three runs from a double by Lindsay, a single by Windle and a triple by Lambie.

Lambie proved that, despite his 40-odd years, there is still power in the shifting arm when he larrupped a three-bagger to right field, the major hit of the game.

The old timers' final scores were brought in during the sixth inning when Minor Simundson, McKinnon and Henry scored off singles and Beynon came home off a two-base hit.

On the mound for the rookies was Jack Sharp, a 'teen-ager of slight build who may turn out to be among the league's best hurlers. He pitched 11 strikeouts and yielded 11 hits.

The rookies garnered three runs in the sixth off singles by Bruce Simundson and Nick Pavlikis. Scherk made the circuit after getting on base by a fielder's error. Gurvich scored in the seventh and Bill in the ninth, both getting on first by being struck by pitched balls.

Spring, so why not Fish Spring Salmon, says Joe Scott

The average man in the sporting goods business find difficulty in recognizing which is sport which is business with consequent damage to enthusiasm for both. Not so with Joe Scott whose experience with his account books was interrupted yesterday afternoon to make talk on fishing prospects.

Joe showed some reluctance in parting with his account books and customers for interview but, when he made a break, an oracular gleam came into his eye and he proceeded to discourse with some fervor on the topic.

At the time of year, Joe said it was time for all members of the cult to eat in order to brace themselves against the strain of the salmon against the line. He disparaged any other hints he had that springs about tops in sport fishing in this district.

He didn't have much to say of the recent steelhead sea-run, from all accounts, stacked up, but his ardor

WOMEN'S LEAGUE GETS UNDER WAY

Hamilton's Orphans and Hardware Girls

The ladies' section of the local League finally got underway last night at the Gyro Park with Betty Hamilton's Orphans taking a well earned 4-1 victory from the Hardware Girls.

The Orphans, who are inclined still minus a sponsor, will have full value for their win.

both at bat and in the field. Betty herself, performing on the mound for the Orphans, was largely responsible for the win as she let the Hardware lassies down with three hits while she retired 10 batters by the strike-out route.

Hedley, on the mound for Gordon and Anderson, also struck out 10 batters but she didn't have the support afforded Miss Hamilton by her team mates.

Francois Lake News

There were 15 members present at the Farmers' Institute meeting on Wednesday evening at the hall. Plans were made for the May 24 celebration here which promises to be a really fine affair with four baseball games, races, bingo and other games. There will be a picture show in the evening and a dance following. The tea set will be raffled at the dance. Mr. Steele's loudspeaker will be on the grounds during the day and will broadcast the dance music in the evening.

It was very windy on Thursday and Friday and the ferry pitched and rolled about.

Harry Bowman of the Colonization Department of the Canadian National Railways, Prince George, was through on business Friday.

There was a full congregation at the service at the church here on Sunday morning. Rev. Atkinson gave a special Mother's Day sermon and there were lighted candles and a large vase of pussy-willows on the altar.

Staff Sergeant G. A. Johnson and Constable Roger Brett of the provincial police sailed yesterday afternoon on the P.M.L. 15 for Butedale where Constable Brett will be posted for the summer months. Staff Sergeant Johnson will return later this week.

OPERETTA AT BORDEN SCHOOL

Raises Red Cross Funds—Singing Cowboys and Indians Entertain

Bronzed and feather-decked, the chief stepped forth with regal stride and raised his mighty voice to the painted mountains behind him. "O-he! O-he! Come oh warriors!"

And they came, not from teepees and forest but from off-stage in the music room at Borden Street School.

This was the opening scene of a lively, well performed operetta presented by grade 4 pupils to an approving audience of parents and friends Tuesday afternoon.

When the Chief's voice produced the desired results, the plot began to revolve around his little son, "Rain-in-the-Face." The wee lad was declared a man on his eighth birthday and promptly went a-hunting with his new bow and arrows. At this point of the story the Indians moved off-stage to make room for the boys of the pony express and the rancher's family.

Rain-in-the-Face didn't get a bear but he did skin a shin and was comforted by the rancher's wife and children. The Indians thought the palefaces had stolen the son of their chief. For a time it looked as though there would be some scalping but in the final scene friendship and happiness reigned supreme.

Tuesday's show was the third performance of the operetta. Friday afternoon it was presented to the children of grades 1 and 2 and 3, 5 and 6. Silver collection was taken at each showing and will be added to grade four's Junior Red Cross Fund.

The scenery was drawn on the blackboard by Arthur Parent and Mary Lou Lunn. Costumes were made up by the children.
