B-36 SURVIVORS—Ten of 17 crew members who parachuted from a disabled U.S.A.F. B-36 were photographed at Port Hardy, on the northern end of Vancouver Island, where they were taken after being rescued.

Bad Weather Spurs Search

But No Further Trace of B-36 Crew Members Still Missing

One hundred and fifty Canadian sailors and members of the United States Coastguard went ashore on Princess Royal Island yesterday to continue combing of Princess Royal and Ashdown Islands, ninety miles south of Prince Rupert in search of five members of the crew who are still missing since early Tuesday morning of last week when a big United States Army B-36 bomber crashed into sea or land thereabouts.

Indian trappers, prospectors and fishermen are also joined in the hunt which spread yesterday from Princess Royal to Ashdown Island.

Speed in the search has become more urgent in view of gales and heavy winds which have been sweeping that rugged and isolated part of the coast. It is a race against weather.

Skeena Member Boosts His City And District

Tells Parliament That Government Can Assist Speeding Up Local Destiny—Emphasizes Needs

OTTAWA (CP)—Skeena's member E. T. Applewhite was the follow-up speaker to the four party leaders—Prime Minister L. S. St. Laurent, George Drew, M. F. Coldwell and Solon Low—in the debate in reply to the Speech from the Throne yesterday and he gave a forty-minute speech.

The member for Prince Rupert divided his speech into two parts: 1. A description of parts of Skeena district. 2. A discussion of various items of legislation from the viewpoint of Skeena.

Mr. Applewhite emphasized the confidence the country has in the present government and ways including the important fishing industry, the Columbia Cellulose development and the position of the port as the logical supply point for Alaska.

In connection with Alaska, Mr. Applewhite urged government action to remove foreign trade restrictions. "Nothing can stop Prince Rupert's forward march," declared Mr. Applewhite in concluding this section of his address "but government action can easily help to speed it up."

Parley Welcome Skeena would welcome, Mr. Applewhite said, statements in the Speech from the Throne as to the success of the Dominion-provincial conference in reference to Canada's part in the United Nations and the government's realization of the seriousness of the international situation and also as to the government's intention to work vigorously for greater foreign trade.

The Skeena member also urged a Coastguard service as well as compulsory carrying of full-time radio operators on all ships. A plea was made by Mr. Applewhite for increased allowances for war veterans.

He admitted that the government was not perfect but he stated Skeena would put its confidence in the present government ahead of apostles of gloom and despair who were its critics. Mr. Applewhite closed with a plea to the government and its members to give full consideration to intimate local knowledge which all elected members must have of the problems of their own districts, stating that, if such consideration were given it was established as the terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and as a trans-Pacific port but was now fulfilling its destiny in many other

Amendments Of Non-Confidence

OTTAWA—Two amendments of non-confidence—one by the Progressive-Conservatives and one by the C.C.F.—were offered in the Throne Speech debate yesterday. Finally, M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, accepted the Conservative amendment after suggesting several changes in a sub amendment.

The Progressive-Conservatives, for whom George Drew, Leader of the Opposition spoke, charged the government with failure to preserve foreign markets, ineffectual handling of the unemployment situation, violation of the law in withholding the combines report on the flour milling industry, failure to take adequate measures against espionage in the country and failure to inaugurate a contributory system of old age pensions without a means test.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, charged the government with failure to provide an overall social security program. Solon Low, Social Credit leader, charged the government with failure to face realities in connection with the United Kingdom trade situation.

Prime Minister St. Laurent replied to Opposition attacks by predicting that the future for Canadians was bright and that they can look forward to the future with confidence.

Final Rites In Victoria

Friends from Prince Rupert And Prince George Pay Last Tribute to Arnold Flaten

VICTORIA (CP)—Former Prince Rupert and Prince George people were among the many friends and sympathizers who gathered yesterday afternoon to pay final respects at the funeral of the late Arnold Flaten, retired branch manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, who died in hospital here last Thursday after being suddenly stricken on the street.

Fifty-four years of age, Mr. Flaten had been on leave for the past eight months from active service with the bank after having been for thirty-eight years in various branches. For two years he served with the United States Marines in World War I. He had been a member of the Prince Rupert and Victoria Gyros Clubs and had been president of such organizations in Prince Rupert as the Chamber of Commerce and Red Cross Society as well as being active in affairs of the Prince Rupert General Hospital.

Surviving Mr. Flaten are his widow, two daughters, two brothers and one sister.

Opposed to West Vancouver Line

VICTORIA (CP)—A. R. MacDougall, Coalition member for Point Grey, said in the Legislature yesterday that the government remember there is a definite promise to build a highway from Squamish to Vancouver. He also rapped the deterioration of West Vancouver land values which would result if the Pacific Great Eastern Railway was built through there from Squamish instead of a scenic road.

Mr. MacDougall also said that the British Columbia health insurance plan had been hastily devised. He said this accounted for the position in which it now found itself where premiums would not meet costs. He said that more study should be given before the plan was launched.

JOHNNY'S Jottings

The man sitting opposite me had been an alcoholic. He was not ashamed to admit it and was sincere in his willingness to aid other people who have been grasped by the dreaded sickness. He told me of a patient in a hospital, a nurse, who is nearly at the end of the line and who desperately needed care and friendly assistance from members of Alcoholics Anonymous. Most people know what the AA stands for, but only an Alcoholic can know the torment and mental torture the powerful liquid can produce.

His "rubbie" days began after he passed his sixteenth birthday—drinking a quart of rum per day. Before he reached that age he had been drowning his body in alcohol. The craving for liquor became worse as time passed. His father sent him to Chicago for a cure. But on his return to his home in New York, he was drunk before he arrived at Buffalo.

"Then it all began again," he recalled, "same old rounds of jails, bars—sleepless nights." In 1940 he invested $15,000 in a business. He had been married by this time and acquired a family of three children. Taking to the bottle again, his business took a nose dive. He salvaged $3,000 but lost his wife and children. On the road again he could not hold a job, sold his car and cashed in two life insurance policies. Coming to the west coast, he smiled.

HOW SMALL CAN THEY GET?—Bill Starr, of Mason Mich., stands in the cockpit of the "world's smallest airplane" and spreads his arms to give some idea of the little craft's wingspread. It has a nine-foot wing span and weighs only 398 pounds. It is known as the Sits, Jr., and is one of the attractions at the air manoeuvres in Miami.

Canadians smoke approximately sixteen billion cigarettes a year, and pay $170,000,000 in federal taxes on these cigarettes.

Later he had received unemployment insurance and explained that he lived in the B.C. city during the winter months in a cold damp room on Skid Road and had very little clothing in his possession.

"One day I wrote to Alcoholics Anonymous and soon found a note under my door. I was invited to an apartment. Everybody else was happy and there was me sitting like a tramp in dungarees and an old blue jacket." He added that, if he had continued as he did, he would have walked off he dock in a week.

"I kept attending their meetings, but didn't stay sober." This went on for four months. But now, after 22 years of constant drinking and being inside countless jails and hospitals, he hasn't touched a drop in 3 years. Now he is out to help other alcoholics who believe nothing remains in the world for them.

Yes this man, now respectable and successful, has seen hard times and confessed he is "scared stiff" to think about it. So far, in Prince Rupert he has aided one young man back on the sober road and expects to help a few more. As a matter of fact, a potential customer came up to the booth, hastily damned the service in the cafe, and walked out.

"We'll be seeing him," he smiled.

THE NEW ON-FASHION FOOTWEAR

ing industry during these years grew in importance, providing the main source of industrial payroll which is still the case today.

With the coming of World War II, Prince Rupert played an important role in the defence of Alaska. Our neighbors, the Americans, appreciated their supply lines could be shortened by directing supplies through this city. Existing facilities were improved and the highway was completed connecting Prince Rupert to the Interior highway system. During the war years, a total of twelve and one-half million tons of American war supplies passed through the seaport of Prince Rupert; naval and merchant vessels were built in its shipyard, and the fishing industry kept up its production. The population of Prince Rupert was 6,000 in 1929 and today is about 9,000.

I envision that, when world conditions allow trade to flow between North America and the Orient, the strategic geographical location of Prince Rupert will once more be appreciated through providing the most economical route being two sailing days closer to the Orient than southern seaports.

Value of Fish

Earlier I mentioned the fact that the Prince Rupert area has been dependent on the fishing industry since its early days. Few people realize that 44% of the total raw fish production for British Columbia is taken from the waters of District 2, which is the Northern British Columbia coast. This percentage is based on the 1948 production. In 1948, the total value of raw fish from the Northern region totalled $14,362,254, being the amount paid to the fishermen. The provincial total for the same period was $32,643,500. In 1940, Prince Rupert handled approximately 12 1/2 million pounds of Canadian halibut and 2 1/2 million pounds of American halibut. Prince Rupert is the largest single port in the halibut business in the world and there is more of a concentration of freezer space to handle the products of the sea than in any other city. The Skeena River, 20 miles from Prince Rupert, is a heavy producer of fish products mainly in the form of canned salmon and fillets. Former waste is manufactured into meal, oil and fertilizer.

Mining in the north has greatly increased in importance, particularly in the past few years. The Sibak-Premier Gold Mine, which shut down in July, 1948, commenced reopening in late August, 1949, and shipments commenced in January of this year. At present, 200 men are employed. The sum of $2,000,000 was spent on the Torbrit Silver Mine near Alice Arm to bring it into production. A 400-ton mill is in operation and 300 men are employed—first shipment was made in February, 1948. It is expected production will be two million ounces of silver per annum. The Silver Standard Mine near Hazelton started production in early 1948. The possibilities of uranium in this same area is being prospected. The growing importance of mining in the north is also indicated by the fact that scouts and engineers from all the major mining companies throughout Canada and United States are keeping close contact with prospects and developments in this area. Also, just recently, the Consolidated Mining and Smelting opened an Exploration Office in Prince Rupert which will assist still further the mining activities. It is encouraging to note the re-birth of mining interests in the north country, considerable of which has not been prospected.

The largest of all industries in British Columbia is our forest products and I might say that the northern coast contributes very substantially. There are large stands of accessible timber which is good size and quality, due to the favorable climatic conditions which keep the forests green and tend to reduce fire hazard to a minimum.

In 1948, the Coast section of the Prince Rupert Forest District produced 174,398,000 feet board measure of sawlogs and 71,423 lineal feet of poles, pilings and mine timbers. The combined value from this district amounted to $5,950,000 in the unfinished state. Further, it is estimated that 55% of the sawlog production was shipped out of the northern coastal district for manufacture elsewhere.

Fifty seven and a half percent of the total sawlog production of the coast section of the Prince Rupert Forest District was scaled on the Queen Charlotte Islands. These islands scaled 100,249,000 F.B.M. with an estimated value of $3,420,000 of which 1,601,000 F.B.M. was manufactured on the island, 30,851,000 F.B.M. delivered to the Ocean Falls Pulp and Paper mill and 67,798,000 F.B.M. was shipped out to the district for manufacture. The balance of 328,000 F.B.M. was abandoned in the woods.

It is quite natural to expect that logging operations frequently precede manufacturing operations in an area. However, at the same time, it is quite evident that the industries of the south are having to depend more and more on the forest products of the north.

This is evidenced by the fact that sawlog production in the north is increasing. Yet in 1948 55% of the total production on the North Coast district left that district for manufacture elsewhere. I feel that, under the present attitude of decentralization, forest product industries should be encouraged to establish in the areas which produce the raw product and which would encourage industry to the Queen Charlotte Islands and the northern coast.

The Pulp Mill

Prince Rupert for years had hoped that a pulp mill would be established in the vicinity of that city. I can assure you that it was with great pleasure that the North received the news that a forest industry, a pulp mill, would be established by the Columbia Cellulose on Watson Island just twelve miles from Prince Rupert. I might say that construction during the past year has advanced favorably and in about one year the plant should be in operation. This development represents a twenty five million dollar investment and, when completed, will provide a steady payroll for about one thousand men in the mill and woods.

It is fitting at this time to pause for a moment and pay tribute to the efforts of one gentleman who, I feel, contributed very substantially to the final decision of this pulp industry to settle in Watson Island. Furthermore, his Department's policy of "Forestry Management Licenses" has given a feeling of security to the invested capital. I feel this Legislature is well acquainted with other achievements of this same gentleman—and I refer to the Honorable Minister of Lands and Forests.

This province needs industry, and I feel certain that everyone in this province appreciates the efforts and negotiations which have been carried on by the Honorable Minister in connection with the consideration of the Aluminum Company of Canada to establish a plant for the production of aluminum on our coast. The success of these negotiations to date is shown by the fact that the survey parties and engineers were in the Nechako area during the past year and further work will be done during 1950. Should the Aluminum Company of Canada decide to establish in British Columbia, everyone can appreciate the effect it will have on our industrial outlook.

Furthermore, should the best holes being drilled on Queen Charlotte Islands by Royaltie prove that oil in quantity is available—it would be a bonanza to this province—oil available at tide-water. Besides being rich in material natural resources, Northern British Columbia possesses another natural resource, and I refer to the natural beauty attractive to the tourists. Tourists arrive from all parts of North America to partake of the scenery of Northern British Columbia with its snow-capped mountains, green timbered slopes, lakes

NEW FASHION—That sockerino Coach Charlie (One Punch) Conacher of Chicago handed to Detroit Writer Lew Walter seems to have started something in quiete. United States with Alaska using the Cariboo Highway to Prince George—then Highway 16 west to Prince Rupert with a ferry service operating between Prince Rupert and Alaskan ports. At Haines, Alaska, contact would be made with the expanding Highway system of Alaska. The Commissioner for Roads for Alaska, to co-ordinate his plan, needs the co-operation of our Government in establishing this ferry service—and further, the co-operation of our provincial government is required in putting Highway 16 in first class condition, thereby completing the Alaska to United States route which, apart from industry, would draw thousands of American tourists into the north country.

In the past, possibly the traffic did not warrant anything different but the time has now come that the Government would be warranted in making appropriation for the strengthening, re-locating, as necessary, and black-topping of the highway east of Prince Rupert. Furthermore, industry will require an open road summer and winter.

British Columbia is a maritime province with a rugged 7,000 mile coast line, most of which is accessible only by water. Gales and storms which are not always predictable frequently lash at our coast. With increasing traffic there has been a definite increase of shipwrecks and loss of life at sea. In view of the fact that our B.C. coast is the highway of trade to the north and south—the carrier

The highway east of Prince Rupert, pushed through as a war emergency, is fast becoming an industrial artery, particularly in view of the pending logging operations along the Skeena River required to supply for the new pulp mill.

"Task Force" Action Saga

"Task Force," a drama of naval carrier aviation from its earliest days until World War II when it played an important part in the Allied victory, is the feature picture for this Wednesday and Thursday at the Capitol Theatre. Starring Gary Cooper, the film follows the story of a naval officer, one of the early few who sought to advance carrier-based operations by air as a necessary war weapon. His faith in the value of carrier planes is finally triumphantly justified. Thrilling actions in the Pacific during the war are graphically depicted.

A tender love story forms a major part of the film as Jane Wyatt, sweetheart and then wife of the stalwart and tempestuous naval officer, waits at Pearl Harbor for him to return from a cruise on the famed Enterprise when the Japs strike. Scott had earlier been one of the intrepid

First Avenue Main Broken

Early this morning, the First Avenue water main near the Canadian Legion broke again. The main has run into difficulty previously and the new Canadian Legion building under construction has been without water on many occasions. It was reported this morning, that water level at the Acropolis Hill reservoir is over eleven feet.

pilots on the Langley, a small converted standard ship, the Navy's first carrier. How he went on fighting apathy against carrier aircraft forms the exciting background of the film subject matter.

Wayne Morris, who actually was a carrier plane pilot during the war, and Walter Brennan have principal supporting roles.

HUNGER OVERCOMES DEER'S FEARS—Rocky Mountain deer, unable to dig through the deep snow left by a series of blizzards, are appearing in the prairie farmlands and towns searching for food. Here Alberta resident George Delany feeds one of the starving animals by hand from the door of his store.

TELEVISION COLOR ADAPTERS FOR $5—Frank Gambuzza, of Brooklyn, N.Y., is shown measuring the size of a video image on a television tube, as he holds the three-color wheel he has developed. Gambuzza's system is the same as that worked out by Forrest W. Kelly, of Roselle, N.J., who started engineers by informing them that he was receiving their color transmissions. It had been thought that President Truman and a few television officials were the only ones receiving the experimental transmissions. But Gambuzza claims that he too has been receiving the transmissions and he expects to be ready to market his adapter within a very short time. He also claims his ridiculously inexpensive adapter will sell completely installed, for a maximum of $5 and perhaps as little as $3.

Seen At... Civic Centre
Art Club

The February meeting of the Art Club will be held on Thursday in the Ladies' Lounge of the Civic Centre. The program from the January meeting, which was cancelled due to the power shortage, has been saved for the coming gathering. The time has been used to invite visitors, many of whom it is hoped will become permanent members. It is felt that there are many people who do not necessarily wish to draw but would enjoy the Art Club. They could help with advice about the pictures done by others, suggest places in the vicinity that would make good pictures, loan objects for still life studies and join with the others in the enjoyment of the lecture on Art.

Miss Faure has, after requests, extended her talk on prehistoric art to include work found in the caves of Spain as well as those in southern France. These places have been visited by her and she has a number of sketches of them which should prove interesting.

The members and visitors who wish to draw the living model are to come at 7:30 if possible, while those who wish to just hear the talk and see the pictures done by the club members during the last while need not come until at hour later. It is hoped that the visitors will find the evening pleasant enough to make them decide to come again.

Double Crossing And Dishonesty

DISS, Norfolk—A Conservative candidate, Peter Baker, speaking here declared the British Government's dealings with the Canadian government and merchants amounted to double crossing and dishonesty. He called Socialists "Men of straw blown by the stormy winds of ideology."

SAYS URANIUM WENT TO RUSSIA FROM CANADA—Dr. Philip L. Merritt, who was in charge of procurement for the U. S. "Manhattan Project," which resulted in the first atomic bomb, is shown as he testified before the House Un-American activities committee in Washington in connection with alleged shipments of uranium to Russia. He said that the sale of 1,000 pounds of uranium compounds to the Soviet in 1943 was made by an agent who was aware of the U. S. A-bomb project. Merritt identified the agent as Boris Pregel, sometimes called the uranium king, who at the time had sole control of the Canadian uranium and radium corporation. Dr. Merritt said Pregel had a contract requiring him to offer all uranium supplies from the Eldorado mines in Canada to the Manhattan project, but that to his knowledge this was not done with the 1,000 pounds in question.
