Fierce Fighting Now Going On Forty Miles South Of Provisional Capital

CHONJU OCCUPIED

TOKYO-(CP)-North Koreans today occupied Chonju, 40 miles southwest of Taejon and fifteen miles south of Iria, their previous most southerly penetration, a United States Army spokesman reported.

United Front

ANADA'S major political parties face the increasingly critical international situation with a united front as indicated in statements published yesterday from Mr. Drew, leader of the Progressive-Conservative party, and Mr. Coldwell, leader of the C.C.F., approving the United Nations action in Korea and assuring their support in carrying it out. With the Social Credit party already on record, vious fact that community sia's policies of the past few that makes the whole thing pretty unanimous. That is as it should be and was, of course, to be expected but it is satisfactory, nevertheless, to see everybody on record.

In Britain the Laborites, the Conservatives and Liberals are, of course, in similar accord, assurances along this line having already been made.

Over there, of course, they must still have their little political fun as witness the "peanut division" Tuesday when the Conservatives forced a division group with whom I came in on the government's East African peanut growing scheme which did seem somewhat of an incongrous situation in these serious days.

FAIRNESS

DECEIVING an honorary degree from an American university, Prime Minister St. Laurent took the occasion to make some remarks people have come to the realiabout the public treatment of public men. After saying that one of the most important of democratic freedoms is the freedom to oppose the policies of the administration, Mr. St. Laurent went on to say: days. "But it is quite another thing to attack the good faith, the honesty of purpose and the loyalty to their country of public men, when there is no substantial evidence to support such attacks."

One may agree with the Prime Minister's feeling in this matter and yet feel that he was not addressing the right audience. For the most part, those who are prone to impugn the loyalty and good faith of public men are themselves public men of other political faiths. The Prime Minister's sermon might fruitfully be delivered to his colleagues in the House of Commons.

Some members of all parties have been known to indulge in the cheap demagoguery of attack and misrepresent on motives. Such tactics may gain a temporary advantage for the politician who stoops to use them but in the long run they only discredit the existing political system.

NEW GAME

| ERE is a fascinating game that is not sweeping the country. It is amusing; requires no physical or mental effort; may be played anywhere, alone or or in a crowd; costs nothing; no equipment needed. Nothing is at stake in this game except your life. It is a new game, as so few have played it that it is not worn out at all.

All that is needed to win in this game is to do whatever occurs to you as being the best thing. You will know what occurs to you as being the best, so you are the referee, and you chalk your score up accordingly, one point for doing your best, and one point off for not.

Later on, years later, maybe, you may find that your hunch of what was the right thing to do turns out to have been wrong; but do not count this against yourself. Life will count it against you and dock you for it, if, because of your parents, or your associates, or yourself, or because of plain hard luck you could not know at any moment what was the best course to take. But in this game, which has been played so little it is new, the score goes by whether or not you act on your most exalted impulse. If you do not, you dock yourself and life will probably take off some more points besides. But if you do the best you can manage, you mark up a point for yourself in this engrossing game. And you well may find as the years go on that life, too, builds you up quite a tally of good things.

FALLS LEAP FAILS — An attempt by Major L oyd Hill, 31-year-old Niagara Falls riverman, to go over the Horseshoe Falls in a barrel Sunday ended in failure for him although the barrel completed the trip. This aerial photo shows the chain of events that led to failure. Hill and his barrel were launched above the falls. After going over a small dam, the barrel became caught in the under current and for 15 minutes rolled until it came near a powerhouse sluice gate. Then Hill was removed from the barrel. . It was pushed out into the river and continued its course over the cataract. Hill plans to try again "around Labor Day." (CP Photo)
