Rent Control In Canada To Be Continued

MORE MEN NEEDED TO RETAIN NAVAL DIVISION IN THIS CITY

Naval headquarters in Ottawa are hopeful that response to the current recruiting campaign will be sufficient to warrant H.M.C.S. Chatham being retained on a permanent basis as a naval division at Prince Rupert, it is stated by the commanding officer Lt. Cdr. J. D. McRae, who returned to the city this week from a conference in the capital. The strength should be at least sixty. Recent recruiting interest has brought it up to forty. The campaign, it is hoped, will see the further necessary accomplishment.

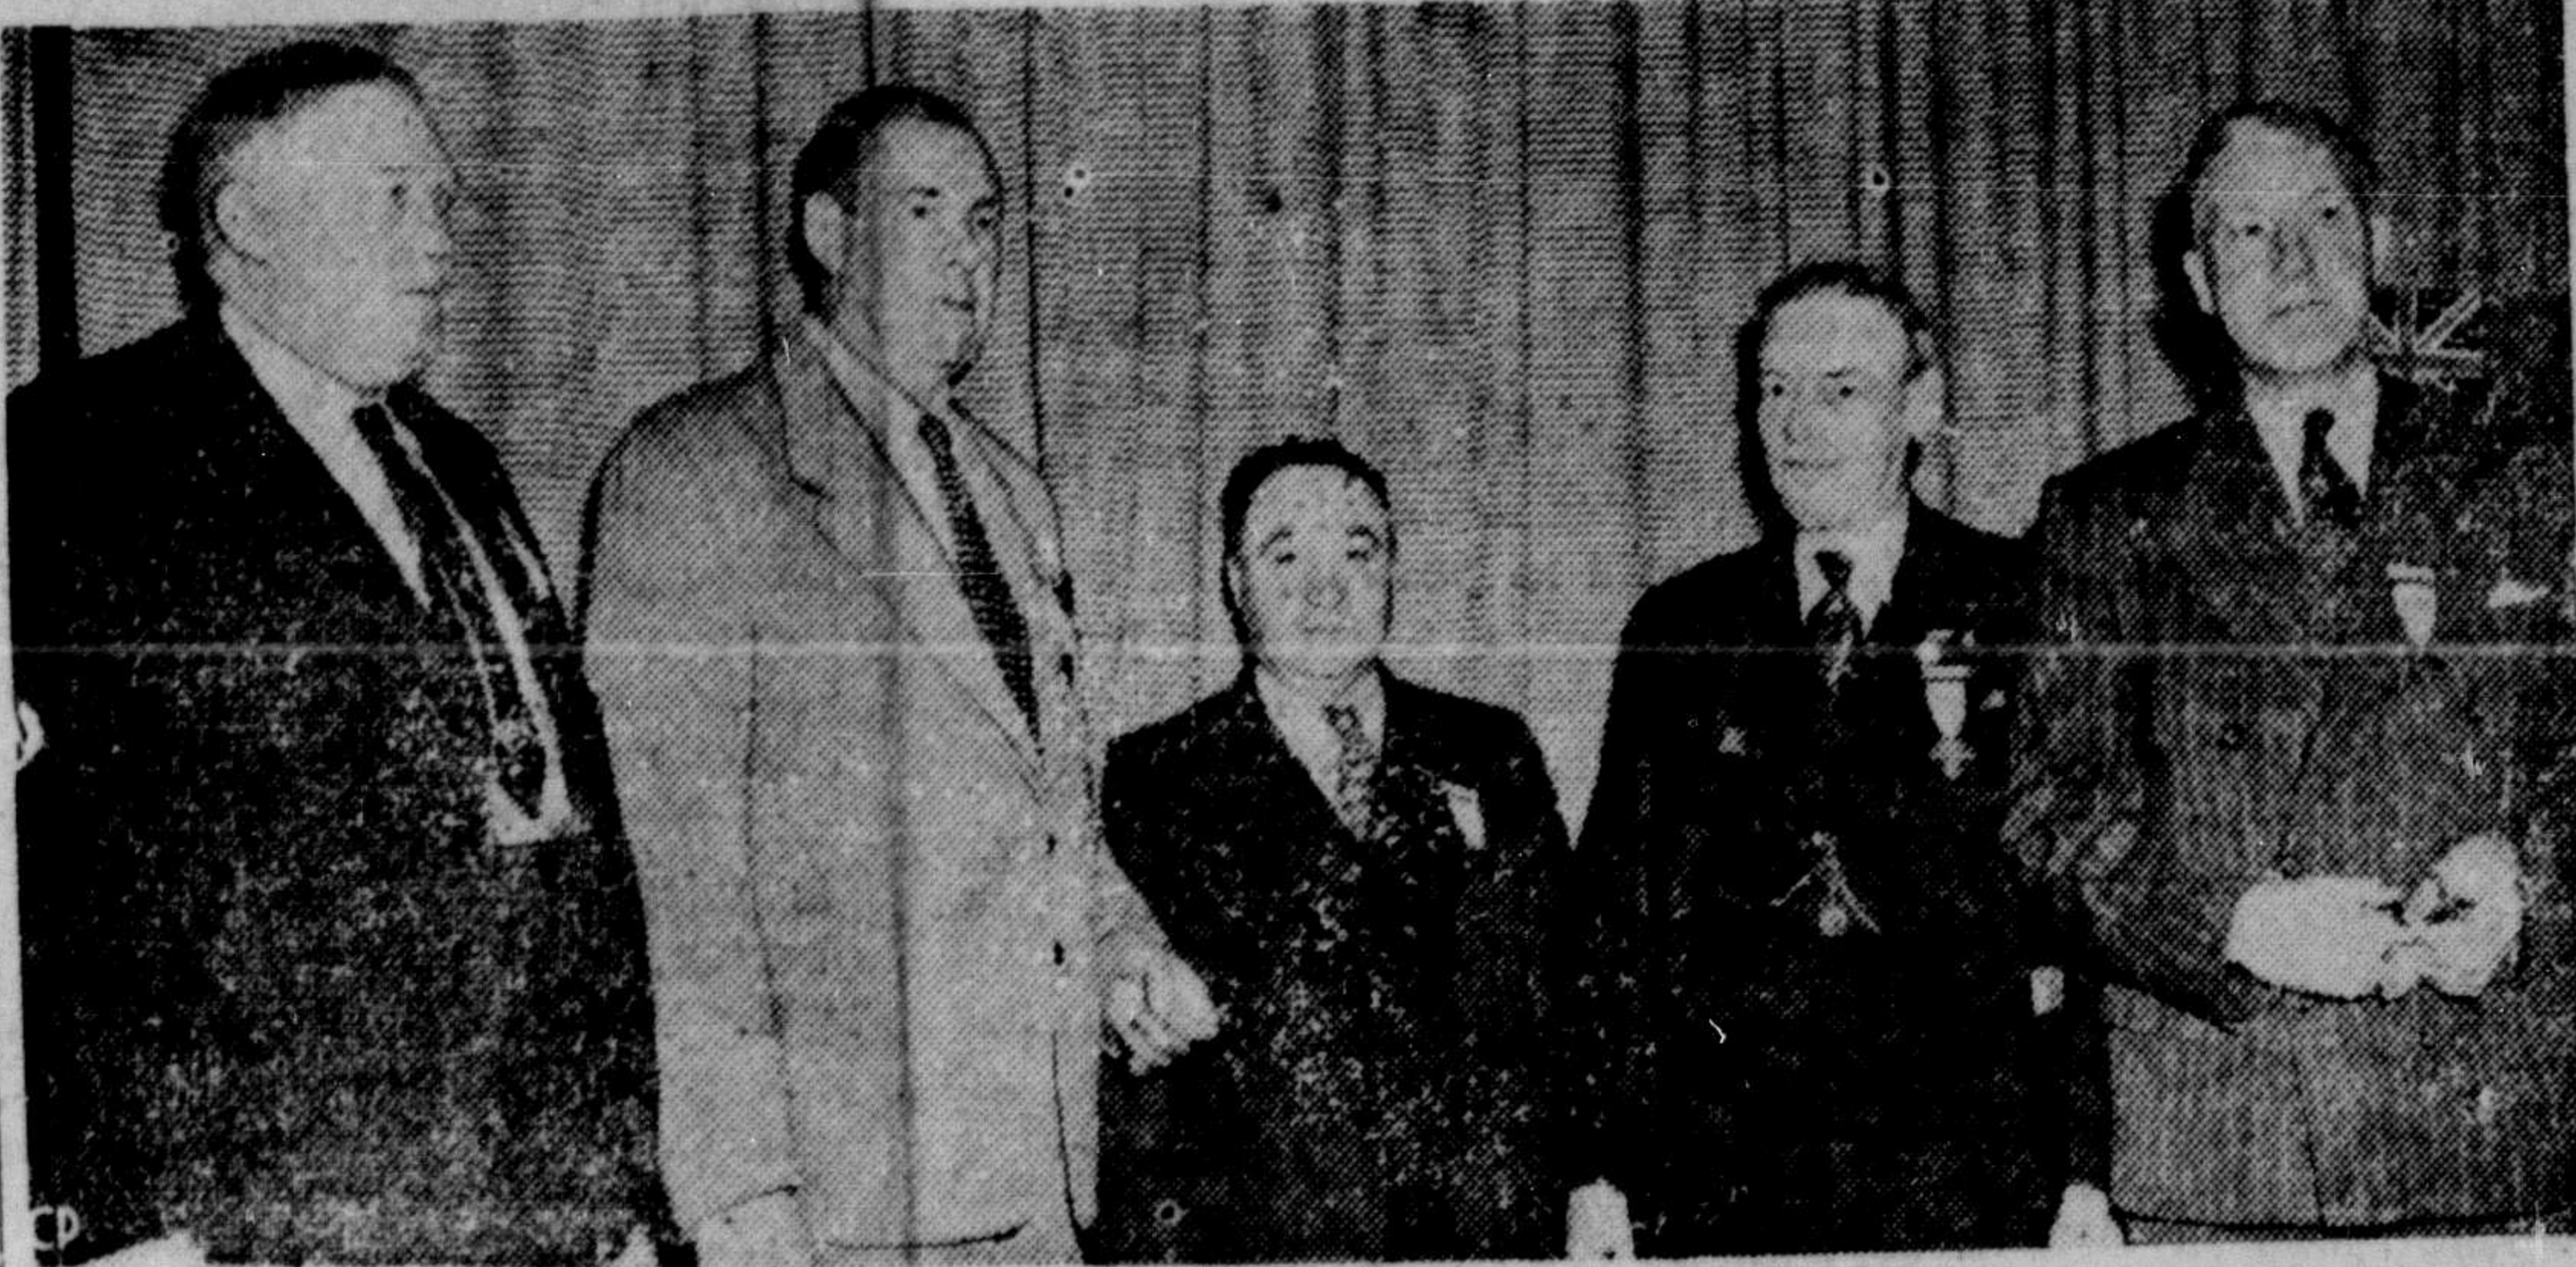

As a part of the campaign, H.M.C.S. Chatham will have an "Open House" tomorrow afternoon when the public is being invited to "go aboard" and see the equipment and training procedure.

In defence quarters in Ottawa, Lt. Cdr. McRae found emphasis being laid on the necessity of immediate and effective measures for preparedness and defence. The minister of defence, Hon. Brooke Claxton, was quite emphatic in the belief that, in another emergency, there would be no long period for organization and arming.

The whole training organization of reserve divisions across Canada was reviewed at the conference which the local commanding officer attended. The procedure is for various divisions to specialize in certain subjects. In Edmonton, for instance, it is to be gunnery; at Vancouver, torpedo, and here at Prince Rupert, communications. This, of course, does not rule out basic rudimentary naval training for which the division is already equipped and organized, the only need being for the men to avail themselves of what is being offered.

Incidentally, Prince Rupert is the smallest city in Canada which today has a naval division.

The minimum age for enlistment has been reduced from 17½ to 17 years. All personnel under Petty Officer are to be put into seamen's rig now.

Limited Increases To Be Allowed, However

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Douglas Abbott announced today that domestic rent controls will be continued another year after next March 31 but ceilings will be boosted at November 1. He said that a ten percent increase would be allowed on houses on which landlords have not taken advantage of earlier authorization calling for two-year leases. A further five percent increase will be permitted on the same type of housing where heat is supplied by the landlord.

The new increases apply to housing generally except rooms, shared accommodation and certain accommodations where rental has been fixed on a fair rental basis.

The minister said that at November 1 all accommodation, except rooms and shared accommodation, "which may become legally vacant from time to time, will thenceforth be decontrolled."

While the government intends to keep federal control for a year after March 31, 1949, the present expiry date, it will vacate the rent field to any province that will undertake control.

Any landlord who bought a house after November 1, 1947, will be able to evict a tenant on six months' notice if he declares he needs the accommodation for his family and undertakes not to rent or sell the house before April 1, 1950.

ALUMINUM COMPANY SURVEYS POWER; PLAN 50,000 COMMUNITY

Preliminary surveys are now completed at a cost of $125,000 for a huge hydro power development proposed on the B.C. coast by Aluminum Co. of Canada Ltd. This disclosure was made recently by McNeely Dubose, vice-president of the company. An engineering report will be ready in March, Mr. Dubose said.

Possible sites of the power project are Chilco Lake, near Bute Inlet; Eutsuk Lake, near Dean Channel, and Tahtsa Lake, near Gardiner Channel. About 1,500,000 horsepower can be harnessed by linking these three lakes.

This combination project would require high dams to raise water level of Whitesail Lake at 2,694-foot elevation and Tahtsa Lake at 2,783 feet to the level of Eutsuk Lake at 2,817 feet.

The company's big problem is lack of suitable level ground at tidewater for a townsite, near the three-lake system, to accommodate 50,000 people.

Only two valleys, head of Bute Inlet and at Kitimaat, head of Douglas Channel, have been sighted.

If the March report is favorable to any site, an engineering survey will be made in 1949 and 1950 at a cost of $1,000,000, Mr. Dubose stated.

FIRE FREEZES SWEEP MONEY

So Nick Fiorante Returns to Vancouver Without Collecting

VANCOUVER—Nick Fiorante, who won $40,000 in an Irish hospital sweepstake, has returned from overseas and is back at his shoe shining stand.

He had gone to Ireland to collect the money. He collected it all right, three months ago, but the Eire government would not allow him to take it out of the country—that is, not for a while. The money is "frozen" in a Dublin bank, he says.

There is no immediate hope of a change until Britain's blocked pound sterling is freed.

Nick went by air to see his parents in Italy for the first time in 25 years. He says that in Rome and Naples the people are hard at work and there is no lack of food.

GREECE NEEDS FURTHER AID

Will Certainly Have To Be Given, United States Says

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP)—Officials said yesterday that the United States military aid program for Greece will certainly have to be extended for another year. It would mean the asking of Congress for new funds to finance a second Greek offensive against the country's Communist-led guerillas. It would consider a need of about the same amount as last year.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis

A relatively dry air mass lay over most of southern British Columbia this morning, giving promise of pleasant weather during the day but an increasing southerly flow of moist Pacific air should bring some cloudiness to the south coast regions during the next 24 to 48 hours. Fog, which is present in the low lying areas near the coast and a few interior valleys, lifted during the morning.

Little change is expected over the southern interior. A very weak disturbance moving into the vicinity of the north coast will bring light rain to those areas during the day.

Forecast

Queen Charlottes and North Coast—Cloudy on the Charlottes and over the entire area this afternoon, tonight and Saturday. Intermittent light rain or drizzle on the Charlottes and occasional rain over the northern mainland tonight. Winds light, increasing to southerly (20 m.p.h.) this afternoon. Little change in temperature. Lows tonight and highs Saturday—Port Hardy 48 and 54, Massett 43 and 50, Prince Rupert 43 and 50.

ERRONEOUS BELIEF

Ancient Greeks believed that it grew warmer and warmer as you went south, and that if you went far enough you would die of heat.

Car Crash Kills Four

Two Men and Two Women Lose Lives Near Hope

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four persons, three of Vancouver, were killed early today when an automobile in which they were going hunting crashed through a bridge a short distance east of Hope, 100 miles from here. They, apparently, died instantly when the car struck a rail, bounced over the other rail and plunged 150 feet to the bank of the Fraser River below.

The dead are: John Oliver, Vancouver, who operates a taxi business on Yukon Street.

Clark R. L. Greenaway, 40, prominent Cloverdale farmer and member of the marketing board.

Betty Rouck, about 20, Vancouver.

A woman identified only as "Sandra."

The tragedy, at 1:30 a.m., was discovered by a nearby farmer who investigated after hearing two "explosions."

Bulletins

BERLIN DEBATE ADJOURNED

PARIS—At the request of Andrei Vishinsky of Russia, the Security Council debate on the Berlin crisis was adjourned until Monday. Meantime six "neutral" powers on the Council today called on Russia to lift the Berlin blockade at once. Today's meeting was delayed for an hour in starting by a last-minute conference among Big Four delegations directly concerned. Acting Chairman Dr. Juan Atilo Bramulgia agreed to adjourn the debate to give the Big Four more time to consider the "compromise" resolution more fully.

PALESTINE QUIET AGAIN

TEL AVIV—Fighting has ceased in Palestine again. Both Jew and Arab forces started respecting the United Nations cease-fire order some time before the deadline which had been set at 4 a.m. today. The Israeli government ordered its troops to cease fire in the Regev Desert at 8 a.m. Pacific Standard Time. Egyptian artillery pounded Israeli-held roads in a last-minute blow, the Jewish Army said.

TREASURE IN PLANE WRECK

PRESTWICK, Scotland—Police said last night that a $40,000 shipment of diamonds had been recovered from the wreckage of the Netherlands air liner which crashed in early morning fog yesterday, killing 39 of 40 persons on board. The diamonds were in a tin can. Ownership was not traced immediately because of destruction of cargo records of the burned plane.

CONFERENCE CLOSED

LONDON—The Prime Ministers of the British Commonwealth pledged all appropriate measures to deter and resist aggression today at the close of their eleven-day conference on defence and economic problems.

U.S. ENVOY TO RUSSIA REPORTS TO TRUMAN—Lieut. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, U.S. ambassador to Moscow, gives a personal report on the Russian situation to President Truman, left, aboard the latter's presidential campaign train en route to Bonham, Texas. Smith, who flew from Washington to deliver the first-hand report, declared that U.S. relations with the Soviet Union had never been more "critical" than today.

REGISTRATION ENDS OCT. 30

Very Few Getting On List As Deadline Approaches

Deadline for registration of new names on Prince Rupert's civic voters' list this year will be October 30 and both the city and the Junior Chamber of Commerce plan to remind eligible citizens of the final registration date.

So far, although the registration sheet has been available at the city hall for the last month, only four new names have been added.

Normally, the deadline is October 31 but, since that date falls on a Sunday this year, the period closes one day earlier. However, according to City Clerk H. D. Thain, the city hall will remain open on Saturday to receive registrations. Ordinarily, the city offices are closed on Saturdays.

As part of its Get-Out-The-Vote drive this year, the Junior Chamber of Commerce plans to publicize the registration deadline and urge unregistered citizens to get their names on the voters' list. A. E. (Ted) Smith is chairman of a committee for this purpose.

The city, too, plans a routine advertisement reminding eligible people who are not registered to do so. Property owners or householders who were on last year's voters' list are not required to register providing their status is the same as last year.

The 1947 voters' list contained 2,345 names. Size of this year's list will not be known until after the registration date.

Civic election date this year is December 16.

Republicans Confident of Winning Two Campaigns

Foresee Victory In Presidential Vote and House of Representatives—Not So Sure of Senate

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON—The Democrats are given a fair chance of regaining control of the Senate in November's elections, but the Republicans are as confident of regaining their majority in the House of Representatives as they are of winning the presidency. Democrats expect to win back the Senate with a gain of only four seats.

Republican-controlled Congress during the last two years.

Forty-nine Democratic candidates have no opposition and are sure of their seats. Another seven have the nomination of both Democratic and Republican parties.

Five Republican candidates are without opposition and nine in California are endorsed by both major parties. The Democrats are virtually certain to elect their candidates in more than a dozen states particularly in the south. The Republicans have numerous northern and midwestern districts in which victorious.

In the 1936 elections the Republican House strength fell to 89, lowest since 1893. It jumped to 169 in 1938, back to 162 in 1940, up to 212 in 1942, back to 190 in 1944 and up to 245 in the 1946 Congressional elections.

There are 936 candidates for the 435 seats and all but 173 are either Democratic or Republican. Of the 173, Henry Wallace's new Progressive party has 75, plus the support of 35 American Labor party candidates in New York.

The Socialist party whose perennial presidential candidate is Norman Thomas, has 25 candidates. There are 22 "Prohibition" candidates, two Socialist Labor, seven Independents and a number under odd labels including one "Abolish Legislators' Re-election."

On Taking Good News

YESTERDAY was one of those more cheerful kind of days the like of which we have been getting all too few the last little while. The front page of the Daily News, the gloominess of the news on which in the international scene has been getting us down a bit, reflected it. The United Nations Security Council (and we hope everything will not be changed today) seemed to be getting somewhere. With the Kremlin's last word still, of course, to be heard, there seemed some hope, even if it leaned on a weak reed, for a new compromise on the Berlin dispute. Here in Prince Rupert we were reporting the speech of an important British official who expressed his belief that, if we held firm, there might soon come an upward rather than a downward trend in the field of international relations.

We need some cheering news once in a while. It does us good although we should be careful about getting lulled. It is not any time to forget or let down on the campaign of preparedness. The surest way, it would seem, to assure good news is to arrest the circumstances which make the bad news possible.

EXTENDING TOURIST SEASON

FOR SOME REASON not yet clear there seems to be an impression that tourists should not visit Canada earlier than June or later than August. The twelve weeks have been tacitly accepted as "the tourist season." The whole thing, of course, invites explanation—that might not convince. A cramped and crowded "season" surely! Come up and see us, any old time, in May or June, or September or October. There are plenty glad to sojourn a while in Canada in the depths of winter to enjoy sports and scenes that enliven and stimulates. They may not think of themselves as tourists, yet they are.

WHY FREE ILSE KOCH?

THE UNITED STATES commander in Germany, General Lucius Clay, has investigated the case of Ilse Koch, wife of the former commandant of the Buchenwald concentration camp. She had been found guilty of horrible practices against prisoners and given a life sentence. Now, this sentence has been commuted to four years. If all goes well, Frau Koch will be free before long.

Today, the question is being asked that if the damaging evidence was accepted at the original trial, why is it rejected now?

WHY READ?

ARE PEOPLE today making the most of their reading opportunities?

Dr. Johnson, the Titan of 18th century English literature, disposed of non-readers in a single scathing sentence: "Those who do not read can have nothing to think, and little to say."

This judgment seems harsh today, and perhaps it would be more accurate to say that for those who read life is richer, more prosperous, and altogether more enjoyable... a belief which thousands of Canadians hold.

No statistics are available as to the exact number of books sold last year in Canada, but the general picture of mounting sales and larger editions is an indication that reading is becoming increasingly a habit in this country.

Why do people read? What are they reading? And what do they hope to find? The four main reasons are: to increase general learning; to add to knowledge of a specific subject; to impress others (a lesser reason, but still a motivating one); or for pleasure.

Whatever the reason may be, in reading books people find a magic carpet that can transport them to new fields of adventure, science, history, business achievements and romance.

Reminiscences and Reflections

By W.J.

A good-sized black bear has been actually shot in Prince Rupert, having been killed to the rear of a residence out on Eleventh Avenue. The incident is most unusual and interesting. In the past, there have been occasions when bull shooting was reported within the city limits but this is the first time a creature from the wilds, such as a bear, has been slain so far within town.

A highway from coast to coast, to point at with pride, is being urged. Presumably, it would be a job for the federal government. But even at this early stage, certain groups, instead of getting together, are widening their differences, and that can mean no road at all. The Trans-Canada—if it ever is built—may have to be put through by some authority supremely indifferent to what people say, or think.

It takes a party convention to have people renew handshakes for the first time in generations. For example: J. E. Merryfield, old timer of Prince Rupert, was in Ottawa recently and came across a man named McLeod from Prince Edward Island. The last time he'd seen him was half a century ago in Mount Lehman, B.C.

A Vancouver citizen who won $40,000 in an Irish Hospital sweepstake last summer, is back from Dublin. He had gone to collect the cash but returns empty-handed. The money is in a bank. It's his, all right, but he can't take it out of the country until Eire gives official permission. A nuisance, of course. Next time he hears "Come Back to Erin" he'll be tempted to do that very thing.

If a program of house construction were to begin in Prince Rupert tomorrow, next summer would in all likelihood, see a population of 12 or 15 thousand people. By the middle of 1949 building of the cellulose plant at Port Edward should be well advanced with expanding activities in other ways, all along the line. This is all very well and has such a pleasant sound. Still, programs have been known to be delayed.

Wolves have become so serious a threat against the game animals of Alaska that the government will increase the strength of professional wolf hunters, and supplement the number of guns and traps as well as making use of 26 small airplanes. In other words, the wolves are going to have one --- of a time keeping the men away from their doors.

Reports from Seattle indicate that stiff fishing restrictions will be felt in southeastern Alaska next year. The deeply disturbing suggestion is heard that there may not be enough fish to go around. There may be some truth in it, remembering the shiploads discharged at Prince Rupert a few weeks ago.

"The world cannot afford a third World War" comments a high-browed student of the times. A lot of folks, it might be said in passing, hold the notion that the world was plain crazy trying to afford World War No. 1, let alone No. II.

MORE NEEDED IN BRIDGE CLASSES

There have been many enquiries about the bridge course being given at the Civic Centre but, unless more people turn out for it by next Tuesday evening, it will be discontinued.

This course, it is explained, is not designed for beginners although it can be taken by them. It is being offered chiefly for those who desire to brush up on their bridge and the players are surprised to find out how much there is to learn. The course is as advanced as the bridge of the participants will warrant.

An expert at bridge, Garnet Hull, is giving his time and should the group grow so the course can continue, he will be assisted by Mrs. R. E. Moore.

Sport Shots

Few things could be more ironic to English cricket than the fact it appears to have waited for the discovery of the one real and unmistakable chink in the armor of Australia's batting king, Don Bradman, till his last season of big cricket. Since he burst upon the cricket world just 20 years ago Bradman has been the biggest problem bowlers have had to meet. Cricketers have combined their knowledge and perception to find his weakness. Now the combination of Alex Bedser and Len Hutton has exposed the Don's vulnerability. It has been proved to be exactly what was always regarded as his supreme strength.

Like nearly all Australian batsmen, Bradman scores most of his runs on the leg side, and more often than not he will play a ball pitched on his middle and off stumps in the direction of mid-on—contrary to general accepted principles. Out of this analysis came the first idea to attack him on his middle and leg stumps to a packed leg-side field including a leg trap. Result is that Bedser has claimed Don's wicket in three successive Test Innings.

FIRST CURVE PITCHER DIES

LOS ANGELES—George McConnel, said to be among the first pitchers to throw a curve ball, is dead, at the age of 93. A couple of months ago he broke his hip in a fall.

Many years ago in Yreka (Calif.) he concluded that the English "put" on a billiard could be applied to a baseball. This idea he perfected, through hours of throwing against a barn wall. Later he organized a team in Oregon and for years his puzzling pitches kept his team undefeated.

LEGION BILLIARD PLAY IS CLOSE

With one exception yesterday's play in the Canadian Legion Handicap Billiard tournament was marked by particularly close games. George Abbott and R. E. Benson, who was spotted 10 points, played a close game throughout, only one point separating the players on many occasions, Abbott finally ran out with a score of 150 to 143. R. Marshall, allowing Vic Duncan a similar handicap, won a hard-fought match by 150 to 140.

In the second round, R. Marshall, with a handicap of plus 30, continued his victorious career defeating W. Strachan, plus 20, by a score of 150-103.

Four more matches remain to be played in the first round of this tournament by the weekend.

CHRISTIANITY PROMISE FOR JAPAN

Rev. Lorimer Baker Tells of Life in Manchuria Under Nipponese Oppression

"A Canadian missionary who at times lived in an opium den, dodged bandits' bullets and at all times maintained a firm, but tactful opposition to the Japanese overlords of Manchuria for nine years told of his experiences to the Prince Rupert Rotary Club Thursday afternoon. Rev. L. G. Baker, who saw the oppression and degradation which the pre-war Japanese forced on their then colony of Manchukuo, has opinions about the salvation of the defeated Japanese nation but he doesn't think that current occupation policies will provide the answer. The occupation policy of eradicating Shintoism from Japan he believes, is an erroneous one which will bear evil fruit when the occupiers leave the islands. "I have always believed and I still believe," he told the Rotarians at their Thursday luncheon meeting, "that the eradication of any religion by force is an act of folly. I have fought Shintoism and have been fined for publicly criticizing it but I believe that the Japanese are only waiting for the United States to move out in order to revive it."

Mr. Baker asserted that the salvation of Japan would lie in a "wholesale" movement of missionaries to the country to replace Shinto with Christianity. Suppression of the nationalistic religion merely makes a vacuum which will be filled with the same substance when the pressure is released. "There is no greater challenge to Christian missionaries today than to go to Japan," he asserted.

During his missionary service in Manchuria before the war, Mr. Baker saw and experienced the effects of the Japanese occupation on its people. "I'm afraid I cannot find many kind things to say about the Japanese administration," he said. "It was efficient but it was very oppressive."

Corruption of the people through the encouragement of the use of opium was probably the greatest crime perpetrated by the Japanese, he intimated. In some cities, between 70 and 80 per cent of the adult population were addicts. Because of the shortage of housing, Mr. Baker was forced to take a room in an opium den for a period in one of his journeys. Here, he saw not only adults, but young children buying and using the drug. "I have seen the opium traffic at first hand for years and I have fought it in every way I knew, including turning in reports to the League of Nations. The Japanese tried in every possible way to dominate the Chinese and subjugate them to the imperial interests."

Mr. Baker recounted instances of mass slaughter of slave laborers who had constructed army cantonments and of students who had resisted the degradation imposed on them. Currently, he said, he is out of touch with conditions in Manchuria, but he understands that, in spite of political difficulties, Christian field workers are still in action without molestation.

Mr. Baker was thanked for his address by D. C. Stevenson, club president. Guests at the meeting were John Denholme, Ocean Falls; C. V. Evitt, Departure Bay; B. R. Dodds, Terrace and William Trotter, Prince

CREDIT UNION

Within the past year, assets of the local group have increased from $250,000 to $650,000 while its membership has more than doubled and is now about 1,100, it asserted. In addition to being the largest in British Columbia, it also is the second largest west of Ontario.

Based on the savings of individuals, all relatively small, the Credit Union movement provides a secure repository for savings and at the same time was a source of credit for its members.

British Columbia's 186 credit unions, with a membership of 40,000 and assets totalling $6,000,000, had let out more than $12,000,000 in loans during its 10-year history, he said.

B.C. Credit Unions now are helping to finance the fishermen's co-operatives with which they are closely allied, as well as looking after the credit needs of their individual members.

George. Tony Christie and James Rogerson were welcomed into the club as new members.

All loans made by the credit unions, Mr. Burns said, are insured up to $10,000 against death of the borrower. Should the borrower die, the loans are automatically written off, leaving the dependents under no obligation.

Since its founding in Germany a century ago, the movement has spread to all corners of the earth. In Canada alone, it has 2,700 groups with membership totalling 800,000 and $250,000,000 in assets.

Under the British Columbia set-up, the groups maintain their own auditors elected by the members. These audits are checked at least annually by a government inspector.

Alex Nicoll, the B.C. government's assistant inspector of Credit Unions, briefly outlined to the gathering the methods by which the government assures the soundness of the credit unions. He congratulated the Prince Rupert group on the sound development of their organization.

Chairman of the banquet was Oscar Peterson, president of the Prince Rupert co-operative educational committee. He welcomed the gathering, expressing pleasure at the number present.

Prior to the dinner and following it, accordion selections were played by Mike Colussi on the accordion. The gathering then enjoyed two humorous films.

At the dance which followed, music was supplied by the Four Dukes Orchestra and by Mike Colussi.

PUBLICITY GROUP SEEKING FUNDS

Prince George Tourist Agents Laud Activity of Body

Prince Rupert Public Relations Council plans to embark on a fund-raising drive in the near future, similar to one three years ago, to provide finances to carry on its publicity work for the next period of years.

Decision to initiate the drive was made at a meeting of the Council last night at which Secretary E. T. Applewhite announced that past donations had been used up. The drive likely will start early next year following the appointment of a special committee.

Mr. Applewhite suggested that a "strong" committee be set up for the purpose and that the drive begin early in 1949 following the election of new officers.

Guests at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Robertson, of Prince George, operators of Robertson's Agencies tourist bureau. Mr. Robertson congratulated the Council on its activity, which he said, has been of definite value in making central British Columbia known to tourists. Accurate information provided by the Council has aided the Prince George agency in helping an untold number of travellers, Mr. Robertson said.

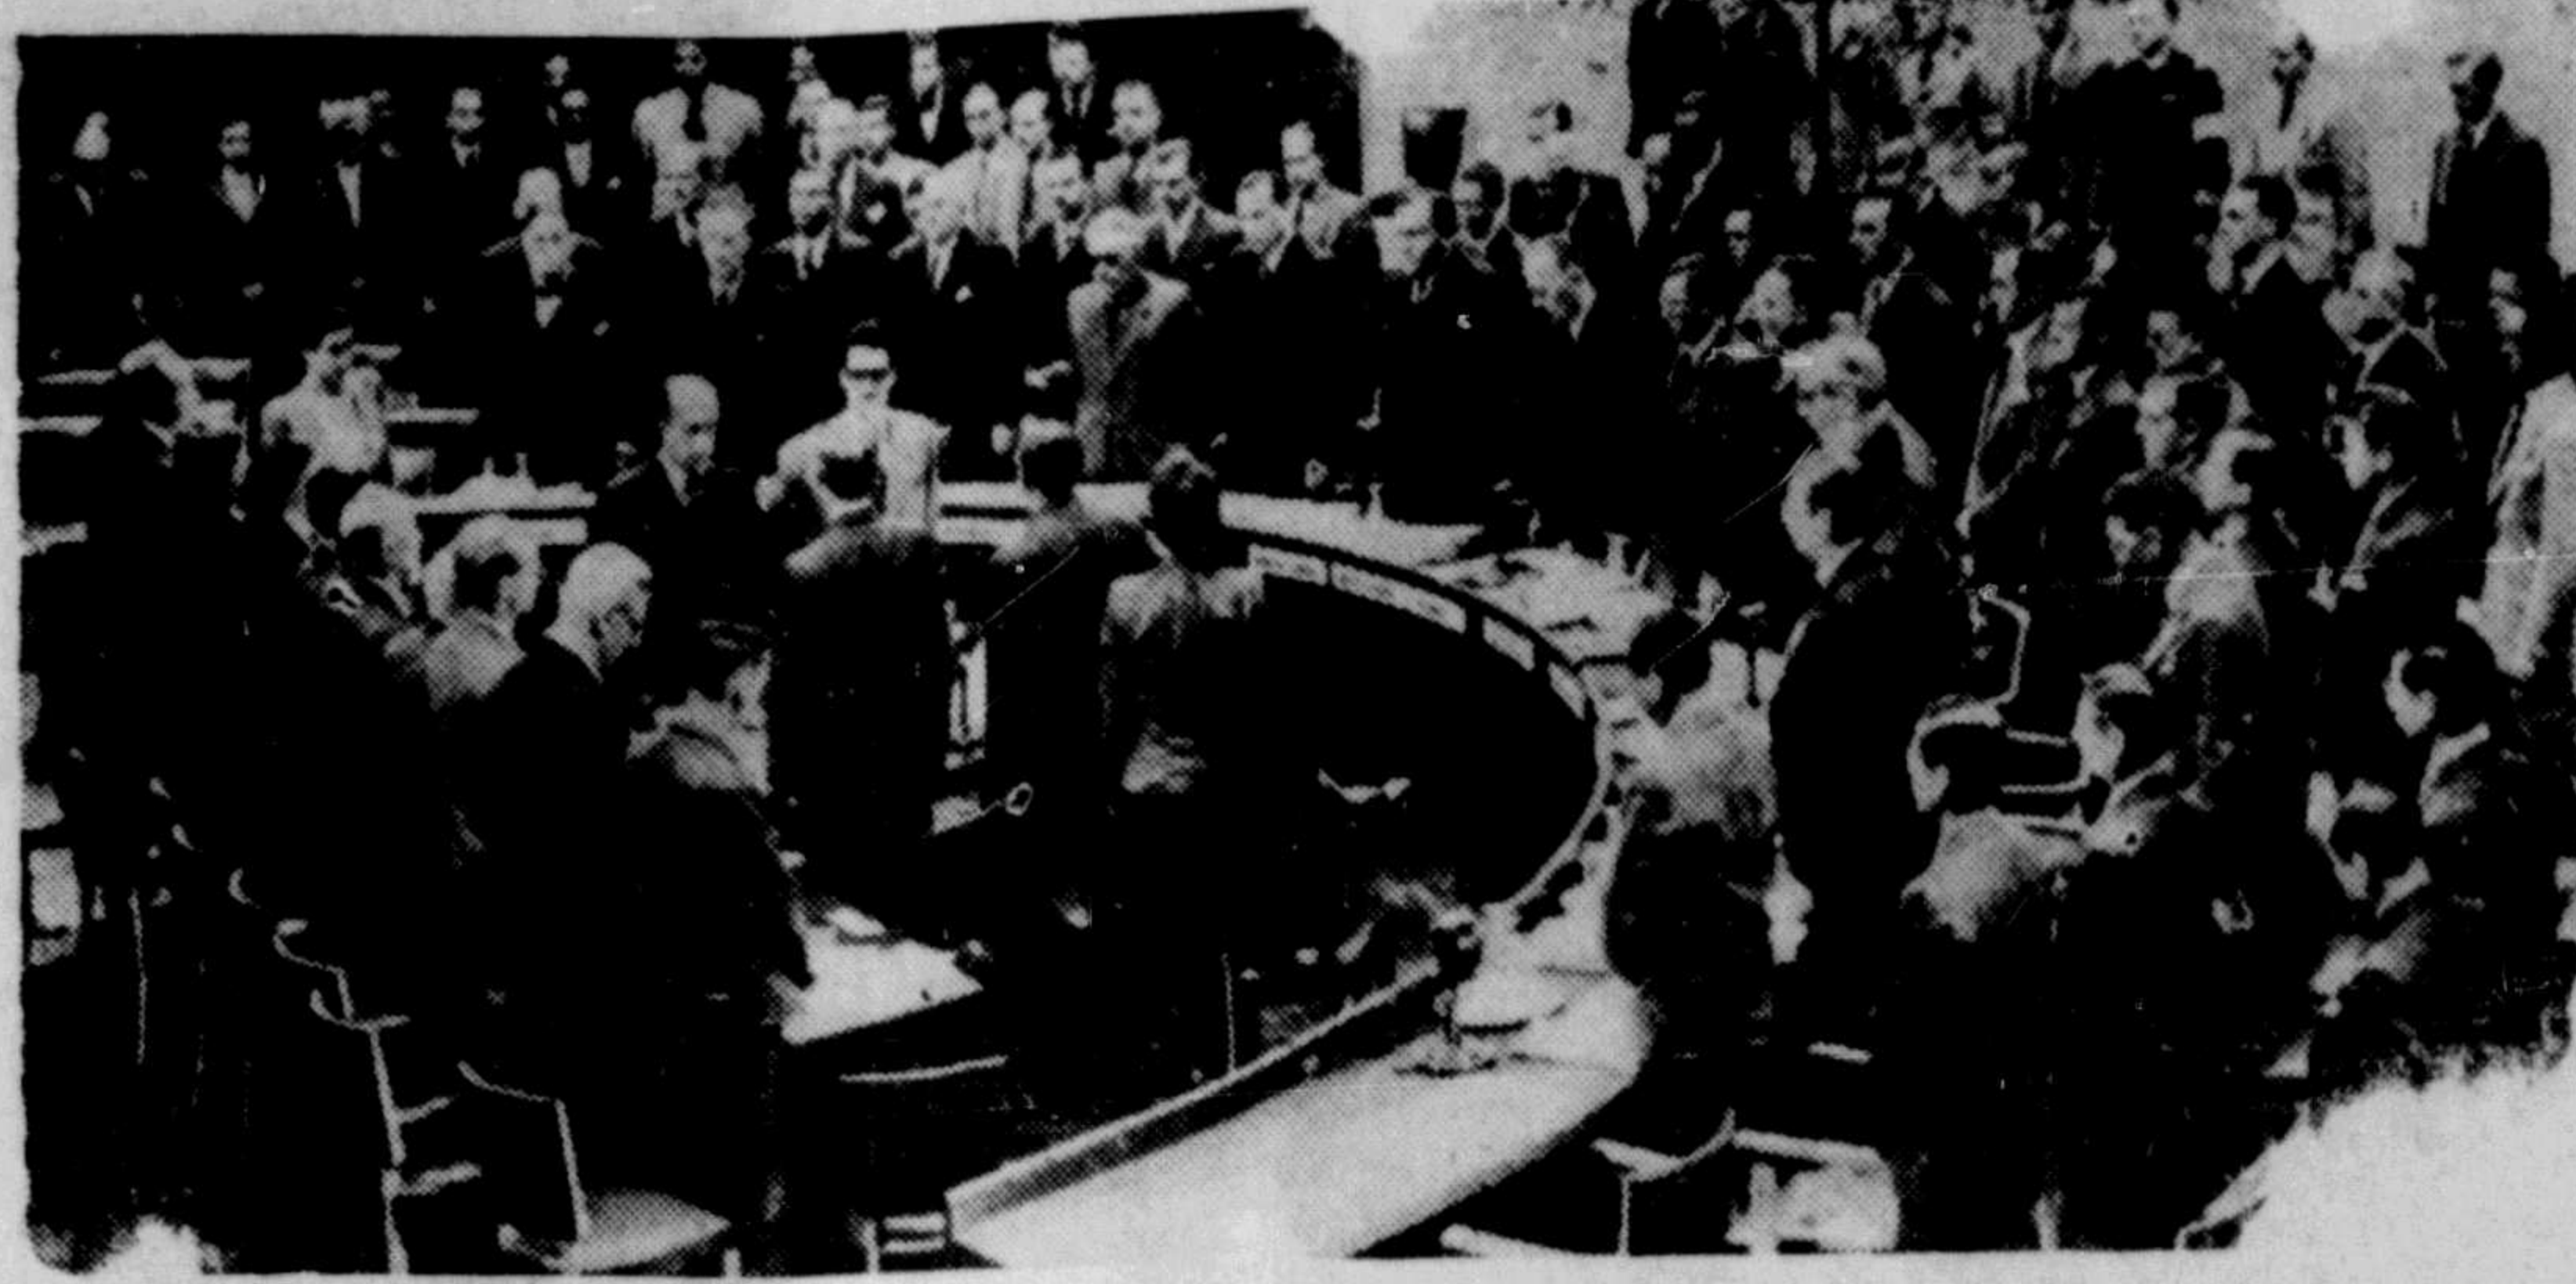

Completion of the Hart Highway, 50 miles of which is yet to be finished, will be of great value to the whole of central B.C., and regional groups should press the provincial government for its completion in the shortest possible time, he said.

Inaccurate tourist maps originating in the United States have given travellers the impression that the Hart Highway already is finished and some have motored to Prince George in the vain hope of driving to Alaska.

Mr. Applewhite suggested to the council that, among its future projects, it should consider publication of a pamphlet of industrial and technical information which would be of value to prospective industries in the region.

Members at the meeting were President Honora Silversides, Secretary E. T. Applewhite, H. M. Daggett, J. E. Boddie and J. K. McLeod.

AMBLESIDE, Westmorland, England (C)—After hearing a councillor say, "There seems to be a crowd of evil spirits butting in on us at every turn," Lakes urban council here recently adopted his suggestion of prayers before meetings.

U.N. COUNCIL'S TRIBUTE TO MURDERED MEDIATOR—Members of the United Nations Security Council and their aides are shown standing for a minute of silence in a tribute to the memory of Count Folke Bernadotte, U.N. mediator, at the special meeting called in Paris shortly after the news of the assassination was received. Secretary General Trygve Lie and Sir Alexander Cadogan of Great Britain current chairman of the council, are in centre of the curved table.

Francois Lake News

The Schroeder family left on Wednesday evening for California by car. Their sale was well attended and their effects brought good prices.

Kip Routley has been to Williams Lake with an 18-month old registered Hereford bull for the bull sale. He took the animal down by truck. It was one of the Herefords raised by Shaffer and Routley.

Cecil Carter and R. Bedford of the Shantymen's Christian Association of North America showed an interesting collection of films in the Hall last Friday evening. Some of the pictures showed the west coast lumber camps where the work of the Shantymen's Association is carried on in the loneliest places. The boats come into the camps and services are held for the men and their families. Some pictures were shown of places inland, near Prince George, and one of the Francois Lake ferry with Capt. MacKinnon and his dog "Chum" taken two years ago. Cecil Carter explained the pictures in an interesting and amusing way.

Harry Guss launched a 20-foot cabin boat for the Forestry Department. It had come from Prince Rupert. It will be used on Francois Lake by the Forestry Department.

A government engineer has been taking measurements and depths of water before deciding exactly where the new ferry will be assembled.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Bedore and Sharon have moved into the Robert Jeffrey cottage.

The church service on Sunday morning was well attended. The last roses of the season were placed on the altar.

James Newman has moved into the W. Jeffrey cottage for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. John Keefe have their two small grandchildren staying with them, also their parents. Edith and Dick Bond and little Alice came up from Vancouver by car on Tuesday evening and Marion and Bill Mummery and small Gary to meet little Alice.

A study in agricultural methods old and new was afforded when two farmers adjoining were harvesting grain. On one side of the fence Reg Partington cut his wheat with a mower and tied it into sheaves by hand with its own straw. Yield was 46 bushels to the acre and oats 100 bushels to the acre. Over the fence Clarence Snyder was harvesting with a modern combine.

The weather continues dry and pleasant with warm sunny days and cold nights.

Engines from P.R. to Jasper

Larger Locomotives On Run Make More Efficient Operation

Passengers who rode Canadian National Railways trains between Prince Rupert and Jasper this week, probably have not been aware of it but the engine which pulled them out of either station remained with them for the whole trip—a situation which never occurred before as a matter of routine.

Since the beginning of the week, the company has been using the large Pacific type "5100" series of engines in passenger service on the line, enabling it to employ the same engine for the whole of the 720-mile haul.

Previously, the trains had changed engines at each division point—Pacific, Smithers, Endako, Prince George and McBride.

While the new feature does not speed up the passenger train schedule, it does provide the company with more motive power which was the reason for putting the main-line "5100's" on the Prince Rupert-Jasper service. Now, one engine does the work formerly done by six.

Because each of those six engines had a 12-hour lay-over at the divisional points, they were, in effect, out of service for that period. Now, however, they are available for use elsewhere on the system to handle the autumn rush.

The "5100"-type engines have been in use on the Jasper-Vancouver run for years.

WHEN YOU BUY A WATCH

Keep this in mind—you mustn't expect to get something "high grade" unless you pay a decent price.

By a "decent price" we don't mean that you really must pay a lot of money.

Watches haven't advanced as much as other things.

At least ours haven't—we bought the best of our stock quite a while ago.

Railroad watches have actually been selling low as before the war.

But for a reliable watch it isn't safe to buy below $30.00 to $40.00.

If you come here that much will get you a watch good for 15 to 20 years.

If you've been thinking of watches even a little bit, it's time you called on us.
