Slowdown In Ottawa On Atlantic Pact

CONSERVATION MEASURES SALMON ARE URGED IN REPORT

Annual report covering the first five years of the River salmon investigation has been completed by Dr. A. L. Pritchard and associates of the Biological Station of Nanaimo in which programs and results achieved have been outlined on the basis of the annual expeditions to the spawning grounds and control points along the major salmon river.

The studies have covered nearly all phases of salmon production and propagation, including the history and trends of from early years up to 1948, the behaviour and movements of the adult salmon, the location and effect on migration of obstructions and hazards, the extent and influence of the native Indian fishery, the size and distribution of spawning escapements, the condition of spawning grounds and lake nursery areas, factors relating to the predation and competition by other species of fish and other animals.

As a result of the analysis of data collected, several conclusions, suggestions and recommendations are offered in the report. Since the information and conclusions are the result of the initial phase of a continuing investigation of a subject that is of first rate economic importance to the Prince Rupert district and since they concern a subject which many fishermen have studied in their occupation for many years, it is likely that some of the recommendations will be criticized, especially those which might have a restricting influence on established methods of operation.

Since the salmon fishery began, there has been an appreciable and fairly gradual decline in the sockeye salmon population of the Skeena system while the pink salmon has suffered a more sudden drop in recent years. The spring, coho and, since 1935, the chum have maintained their abundance.

The decline in the sockeye is attributed mainly to the commercial fishery which has increased in efficiency over the years. In the case of pinks, the major blame has been placed on weather conditions, as they produce adverse effects on spawning and incubation. In both instances, says the report, the decline, once started, has undoubtedly been furthered by other factors including Indian fishery, and predation. Any corrective measures should, therefore, be designed to remedy all conditions and should be implemented concurrently.

For sockeye salmon, consideration should be given to building up all runs by increasing the escapement but more particular attention should be applied to the seasons of low productivity which recently have occurred twice in each five-year period.

In 1949 and 1950 when the runs are expected to be high or medium, it is suggested that fishing open earlier, June 15 to June 19 and be definitely closed by August 10. It is also suggested that the northern ocean boundary of the Skeena gillnet area be drawn in to Point Ryan, where it was in 1935 and that 12 hours be added to the present weekly closed period, making 60 hours in all.

These changes would permit more even exploitation of the populations, in that the early-year river runs and the five-year-old males will be more heavily fished and the four-year-old fish going up-river will be protected. It will also enable the separation of the Naas and Skeena fish in that there will be a distinct gap between the two areas.

In 1951, when a low run is expected, the river boundaries should be moved down stream and full-week closed periods should be implemented.

PARCEL RATE TO BRITAIN LOWERED

New slightly lower rates on gift parcels to Great Britain have been announced by the post office here, effective April 1. The postal charges on parcels up to five pounds weight will be 50 cents, up to 10 pounds, $1, up to 15 pounds, $1.50 and up to 20 pounds, $2.

KILLED IN JET PLANE

R.C.A.F. Machine Crashes Into Ground at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Flying Officer Vernon Bastable of Winnipeg was killed yesterday when a jet-propelled plane hurtled into the ground near here. The mishap took place while Bastable, aged 34, was on a routine training flight.

Royal Canadian Air Force officials said the cause of the crash was not known. They are investigating.

Bastable served as a bomber pilot in the recent war and was awarded the Military Cross for work with the Czech underground after he been brought down.

UNION STARTS "CANNERY RUN"

Union Steamships' present coast steamer service will be augmented by an additional boat on the "cannery run" after April 19 while, on April 15, the weekly Vancouver to Prince Rupert sailing of the Coquitlam will be speeded by the elimination of two down-coast ports of call. Company Agent Frank Skinner said this morning.

Returning Sunday from a visit to Vancouver where he attended a company conference on summer schedules, Mr. Skinner said that the Catala, which is now on the Vancouver-Prince Rupert-Stewart run, will be switched to the "cannery run" on April 19. It will serve Smith's and Rivers Inlets, the Skeena canneries, Watson Island and Vancouver on a Tuesday to Friday northbound schedule. It will sail from Prince Rupert southbound at 5 p.m. Fridays.

It will be replaced on the Stewart run by the Camosan, which operated in that service until a fortnight ago.

The Coquitlam, which arrives here Fridays at 1 p.m. and proceeds to the Queen Charlotte Islands, will eliminate two ports of call on the Vancouver-Prince Rupert passage. However, an additional port will be added to the regular schedule.

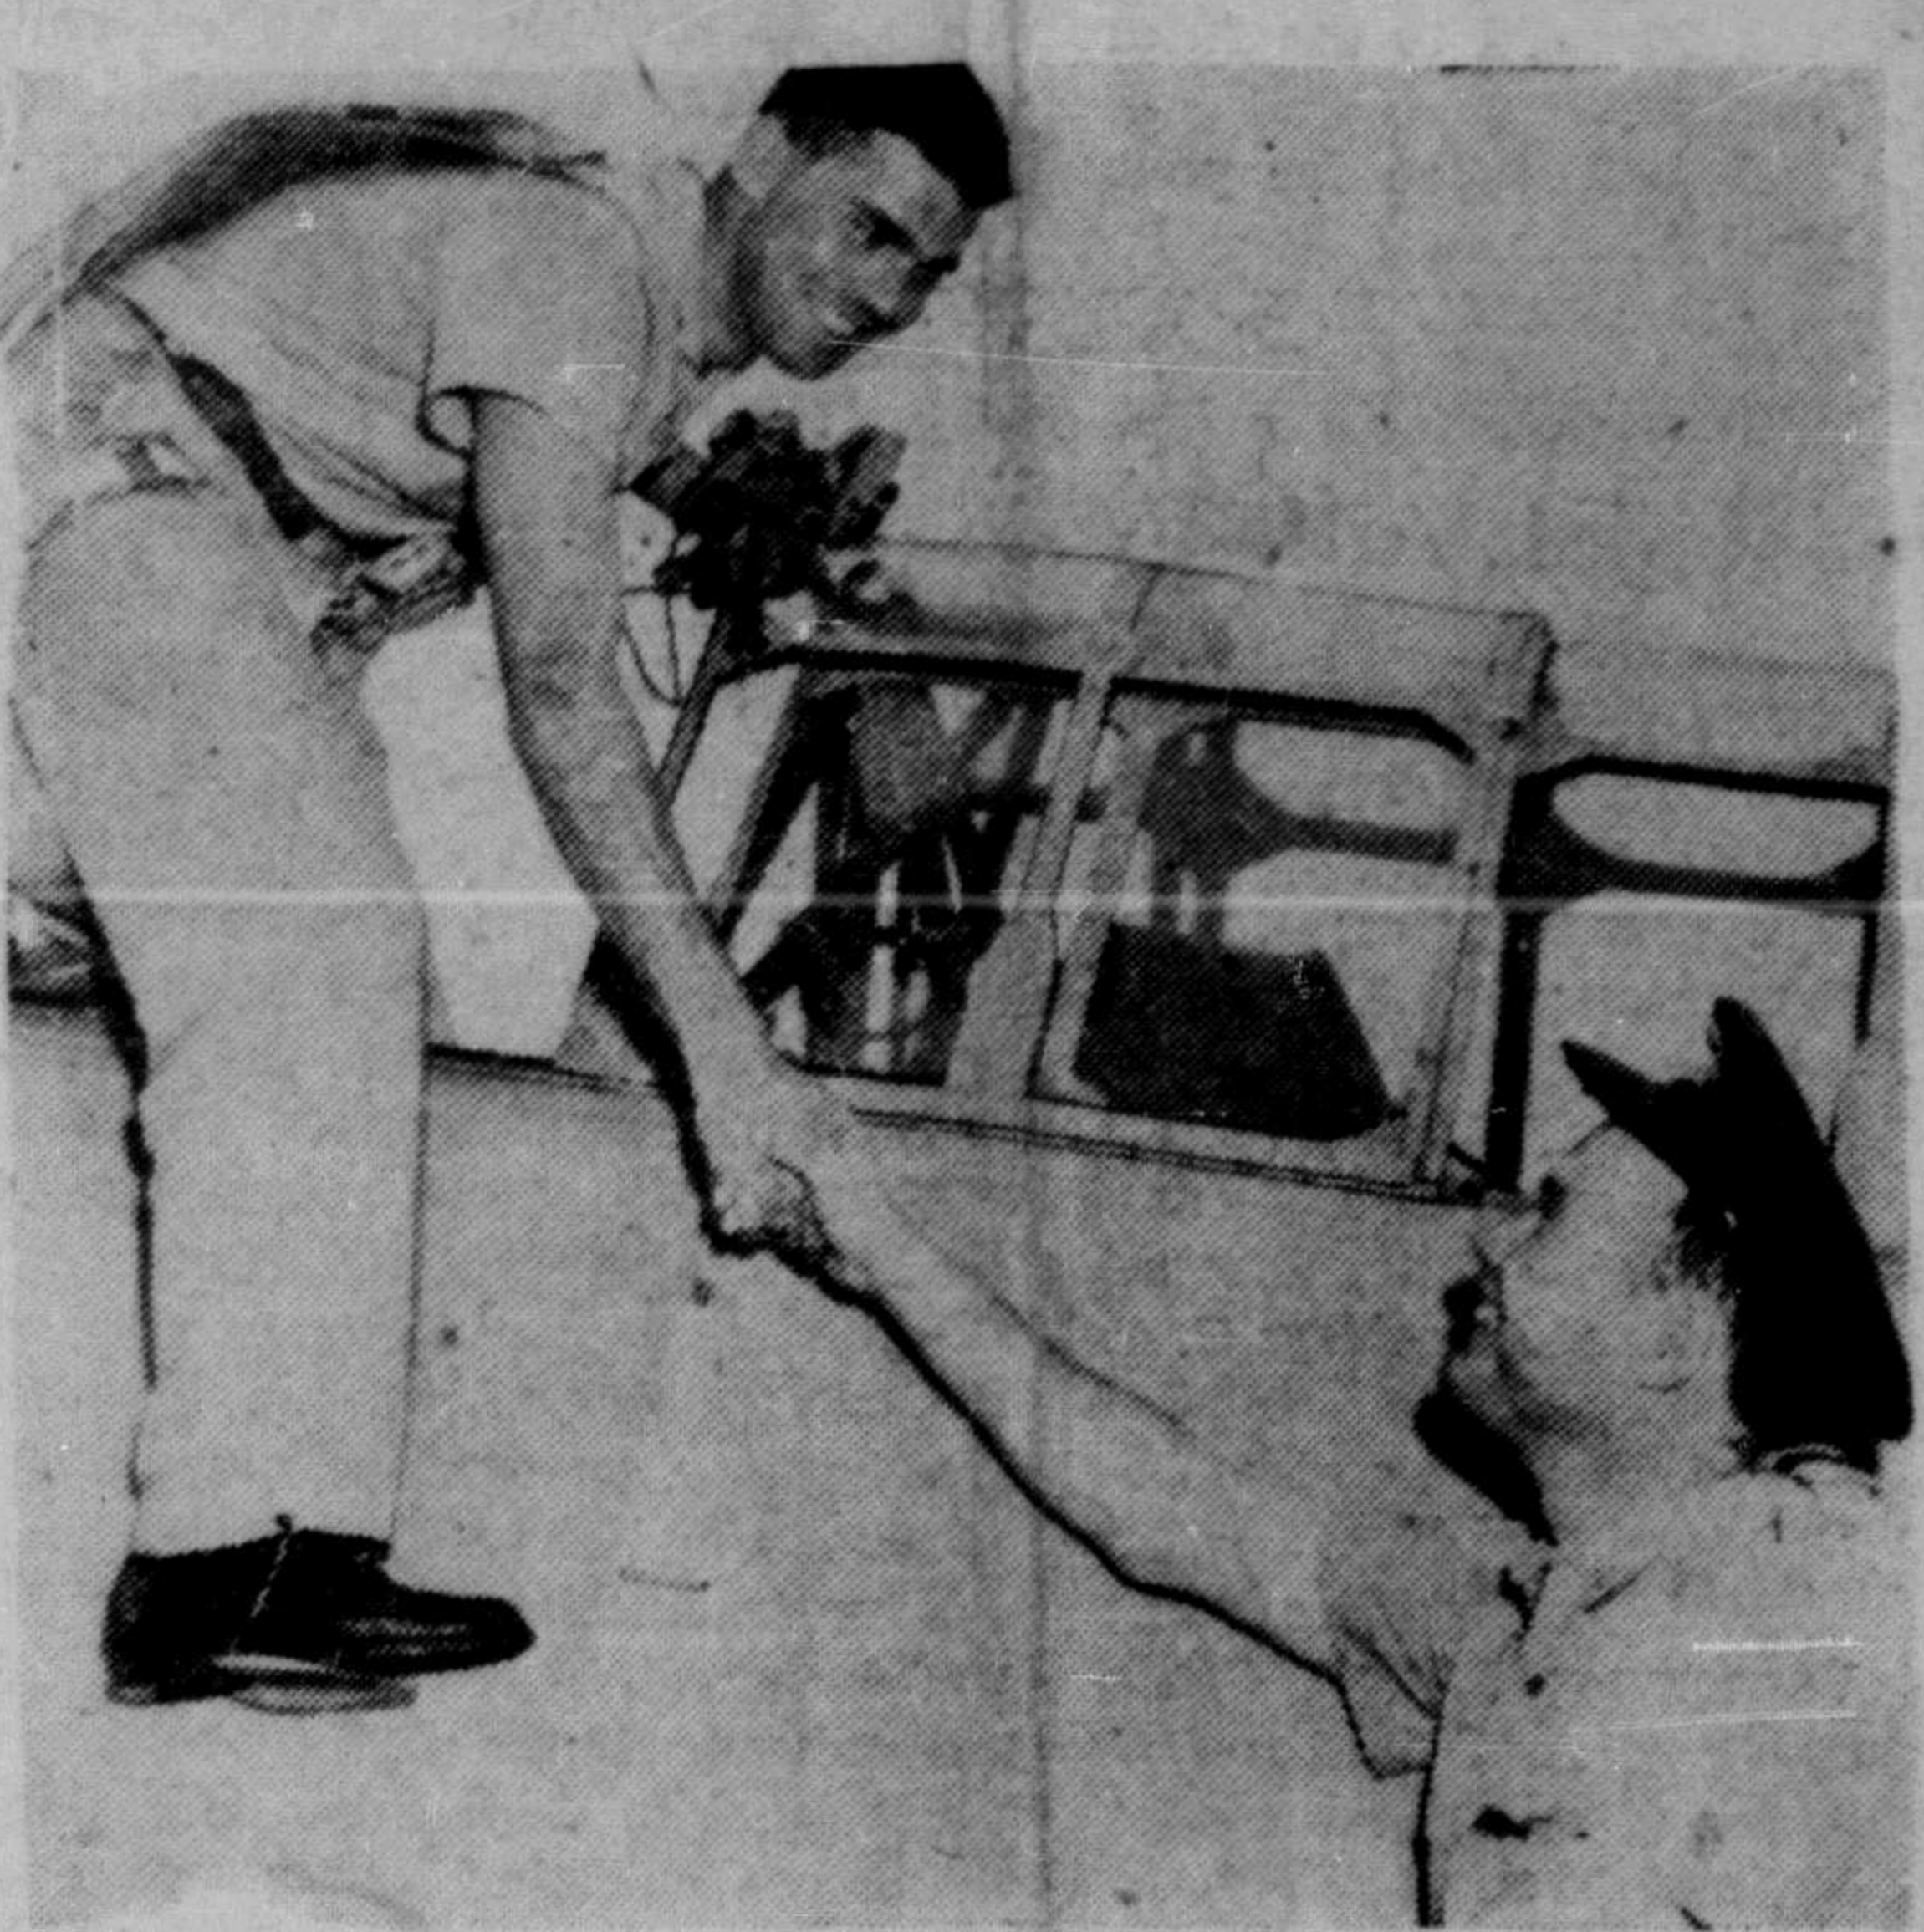

At present the Coquitlam stops at Westview, Namu and Butedale on her way to Prince Rupert. Butedale and Namu will be passed up, but Watson Island will be added to the regular calls.

Link With Past Dies

One of the last links with the early history of the north coast was severed this morning with the death at Prince Rupert General Hospital of George Cunningham, 83-year-old trader and collector, whose colorful personality built up a legend during the late nineteenth century days when Port Essington was the regional metropolis.

A large and interesting man, Mr. Cunningham was known throughout the area as a trader, sailing to all the settlements, first with his father and then on his own, trading with the natives for half a century. Born on the Skeena, either at Port Essington or at Inverness, then known as Woodcock, he was the son of Robert Cunningham, who came to the Skeena from England, as a missionary and remained to establish a

AIR FORCE HAS BIRTHDAY—The peacetime R.C.A.F., 25 years old today, is busy training new pilots and other aircrew members. Here is a young flight student being congratulated by his instructor at R.C.A.F. station after his first solo flight. The flight cadet is one of the many young men having begun their service careers since the war. Another big peacetime task is covering Canada by aerial photographs, and silver Lancasters and Dakotas are being used, together with long-range Canso amphibians.

The R.C.A.F. has chalked up a splendid record of saving life since the war through its peacetime search and rescue organization. This Dakota is shown at Arctic Bay, in northern Baffin island, picking up the seriously-ill wife of a department of transport official.

Spring and Flaten Win Player Awards

Rupert Finishes Third In Provincial Inter-High School Basketball Series

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Vancouver College won the provincial inter-high basketball title here Saturday, defeating New Westminster's Trapp Tech by a score of 45 to 42. Prince Rupert grabbed third place with a 35 to 23 win over Pentiction. Victoria was fourth with a win over Duke of Connaught.

Prince Rupert controlled the game with Pentiction from start to finish. Displaying smooth ball-handling, the Booth Memorial School boys outplayed and outclassed their interior opponents. Prince Rupert led 8 to 2 at the quarter and stretched the margin to 16 to 5 at the half-way mark. The third quarter ended 27 to 15. The northerners just coasted in the final quarter.

Pentiction's Drossos was the outstanding individual, capturing the most valuable player award. Spring was selected as the outstanding forward for second place. Flaten received the Duke of Connaught High School Boys Hi-Y Trophy, emblematic of third place in ceremonies during and after the game involving the three top teams.

MIDDLE OF ROAD WINS

PARIS (CP)—The middle-of-the-road coalition of parties that governs France won almost seventy percent of the offices at stake in yesterday's council elections, final returns of which were disclosed last night. The government of Premier Henri Queuille found that the opposition represented by

ITALY OKAYS DEFENCE PACT

Parliamentary Approval Given to Atlantic Alliance
ROME (CP)—The Italian Senate last night gave the government full authority to join the North Atlantic defence alliance. Ending fifty hours of stormy debate, the Senate voted 188 to 112 in favor of the treaty which the communists fought tooth and nail. The Chamber of Deputies had previously approved the bill 342 to 170. The Foreign Minister will go to Washington to sign the bill with other nations Monday.

Full Dress Debate In Parliament this Week

OTTAWA (CP)—Final showdown on the Atlantic alliance in Canadian Parliament will come later this week when Parliament will be asked to approve the pact's text prior to a conference in Washington next week when signature is scheduled by the participating nations. There is nothing definite as yet as to the day when the matter will come before Parliament. There will be a full dress debate which, it is expected, will lead to a unanimous or near-unanimous approval although there have been reports that a few recalcitrant members might stand out against it on the grounds that it would provoke Russia to war.

Fish Workers Talk Markets

Urges Change In Policy to Commonwealth—Inadequate Coastguard Scored

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four of five officers of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union were re-elected at the week-end at the annual convention. The new appointees are Harold Smith as second vice-president. Re-elected are President George Miller, Vice-President H. Stevens, Secretary-Treasurer Homer Stevens and Business Agent Alex Gordon.

The convention decided that development of British Columbia wealth markets will solve British Columbia's fish crisis. A special committee's report urges the federal government to call a conference of Commonwealth countries to seek long-term export agreements covering fish, fruit and other products. A report noted that a major tariff reduction to Great Britain would be a great stride forward. It said that fifty percent of British Columbia's annual salmon pack could be marketed in Commonwealth countries if the government changed the present policy.

The delegates also scored the "niggardly" attitude of the government in providing only two small vessels to inaugurate the "British Columbia Coastguard."

HAS LOST HER CITIZENSHIP

That is One of Penalties For "Axis Sally" War Time Traitor

WASHINGTON (CP)—Loss of citizenship is automatic on conviction of treason for Mildred E. (Axis Sally) Gillars last week. She was sentenced to ten to thirty years in prison. Federal judge Edward M. Curran also fined her $10,000. She could have been sentenced to death.

Miss Gillars, 43-year-old Maine-born woman, was convicted on March 10. Sentence was delayed until her attorneys could argue motions for a new trial.

She broadcast the "Axis Sally" programs from the Nazi radio during the war. The treason conviction was based on the broadcast of one propaganda drama entitled "Vision of Invasion."

CONTROL IS CONSIDERED

OTTAWA (CP)—The House of Commons last night completed study of the government's emergency control legislation and Monday will return to normal afternoon and evening sittings. Throughout this week the members had met three times a day to discuss five control bills due to expire before the end of the month.

Using Dry Dock

PRINCE RUPERT'S dry dock was originally conceived as being part of a world plan of British Empire defence. In the event of war in Pacific it was to be used as a Pacific Coast repair base for the Royal Navy. The first big repair and overhaul jobs it did, as a matter of fact, were of a British auxiliary cruiser and big transport ships during World War I.

Towards the end of World War I it was used to build freighters for use in transporting war supplies, although the war was over before they were completed. After that war, the plant lapsed into years of near complete idleness. World War II brought it into a period of feverish activity as it did a good job in producing small naval vessels and large ocean freighters. Cessation of war brought the fine local plant back into relative inactivity except for the work it is doing in connection with the servicing of the local fishing fleet and the odd incidental ship repair job arising in contiguous waters.

Canadian National Railways has been in possession of the yard for some years now but does not even use it for the carrying out of repairs to its own vessels. Nor—if it bids very often at all—does it seem able to compete with other coastal shipbuilding yards for such new ship construction that might be going. Certainly the railway management does not seem to be very enthusiastic about its plant here. High railway officials have even gone so far as to state that they see no particular future for the plant in the way of functioning as a building yard, although suggesting it might be used to some extent for ship repairing—even though the railway company does not use it for its own ships.

Possibly, it might be well to suggest that the Prince Rupert dry dock revert back to the government with the object of using it for what it was primarily intended, a repair base for naval and government vessels. The present international situation, with its important bearing on the Pacific arena, would suggest the wisdom of such a course, particularly since the railway company seems to have so completely lost interest and not being, as it has suggested itself, in the shipbuilding business anyway.

Under the government aegis, the local plant could still carry on all the work it is now doing and would be available for other work as suggested.

Letters to the Editor

ALD. WHALEN'S STAND

Editor, Daily News:
I would like to reiterate my stand on the telephone system.

Regarding Alderman Casey's latest proposal that a second plebiscite be held on the following:

1. That the city install an Automatic Telephone system at a cost of $550,000.
2. To extend, renew and repair the present system at a cost not exceeding $150,000.
3. To advertise the existing plant for sale or lease, together with a twenty year franchise, for the operation of the system.

The people of Prince Rupert have already voiced the opinion that they were in favor of installing an automatic system. Why should the city be faced with the cost of a second plebiscite?

As a layman, I can rely on the expert advice, given by four of the foremost telephone companies' electrical engineers, namely, Northern Electric Co., Automatic Electric Co., B. C. Telephone Co., and the latest advice, last week by Mr. Scowcroft of the General Electric Co. of England. All these experts unanimously agree that our present system is hopelessly antiquated and liable to a major breakdown at any moment. They all suggest that automatic equipment would be the best solution to our problem. Mr. Kempton, our local assistant telephone superintendent, in his published report, also made the above suggestions. Being a business man, engaged in the trucking business, Mr. Casey's suggestion would be comparable to me to buying a horse and wagon to enter the cartage business.

How could the people of Prince Rupert, with the future that is promised, possibly afford to dispose of a source of revenue, such as an up to date automatic system could provide? We definitely must retain public ownership of this utility. Would any individual, or company offer to purchase either the system or franchise, if there was not ample remuneration involved?

Prince Rupert must either progress or regress. Which is it to be? Let us be proud to own one up to date public utility, and look forward to the future with courage.

Thanking you for your space Mr. Editor.

ALDERMAN H. S. WHALEN.

GROWING BEARD NOW WORTHWHILE

When bearded Prince Rupert men, and their number is now legion, parade at the big Gyro Club Klondyke Night on May 6, they will compete not only for the club's $50 and other cash prizes but also for a cup being put up by Jerry Lemire as a permanent annual trophy. Donation of the cup was announced at the last Gyro luncheon. Also Mr. Lemire's offer to shear the beards after the contest is over and an offer from Photographer A. Van Meer to take photographs of the hairy-faced gentry.

Meanwhile the list of entries at Jack Guthrie's Capitol Shop continues to grow with nearly forty now entered.

At Wednesday's luncheon Gyros, some of whom are not doing so well, were presented with bags of chemical fertilizer to aid them in the nurturing of their beards. The gift was from Rotarian James Thompson as a gesture of good fellowship and inter-club felicity.

Latest entries in the beard-growing contest are Norman Haywood, Boyo Gurvich, Kai Longwill, A. McLeod, Malcolm Finlayson, Clarence W. Dixon, Harold Ponder, E. Czepl and B. J. Scharffe.

Borden Street Raises Large Sum at Week-End Affair

Another very successful Junior Red Cross Sale was held at Borden Street School on Friday afternoon when the sum of $104.12 was raised towards the Crippled and Handicapped Children's Fund and the National Service Fund of the organization.

Included in the sale were pyrex, aluminum ware, pot holders, hosiery, mouth organs, softball bats and silverware obtained as premiums in return for coupons collected by the pupils of the school. Since the reopening of school in September the pupils have collected over fourteen thousand coupons. On sale too were over fifty gliders made by the boys and girls of Division One. These met with a ready

What's happening in Alberta is good for everyone

What's happening out in Alberta these days? Plenty! New oil is being sought and found. Money's flowing faster. There's lots of activity, lots of opportunity. And as a result all Canadians are better off.

For instance, oil from Alberta's new wells is expected to save 68 million U.S. dollars this year! That's one of the big reasons for Canada's better trade position, one of the reasons we are able to buy more U.S. goods.

The new discoveries have meant lower cost operation in Alberta and Saskatchewan for farmer and industrialist, and this must ultimately benefit all of Canada.

Then, too, it takes a lot of money to find oil and lots more to develop a field once it's found. Two million dollars a week is being poured into oil exploration and development in Alberta today. That spending creates new markets for the things the rest of Canada has to sell.

And finally let's recall that in the war years—and after—we were dependent on foreign oil for roughly 90 per cent of our supplies. This year prairie production should exceed prairie demand. With continued effort and reasonable success it is not too much to hope the men who search for oil will make Canada self-sufficient in petroleum in years to come.

Everywhere in Alberta you hear about new oil discoveries—all the more because they followed the long years when nature baffled the oil seekers. Years when men drilled holes two miles deep and found only water. Years of million-dollar disappointments.

In 1947 the tide turned. First it was the Leduc field . . . then the Woodbend field . . . next Redwater . . . now, still untested by time, other discoveries give new promise and the hope of still greater benefits for all Canadians.

IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED

If you're interested in facts . . .
Consumption of oil in Canada is the second highest in the world on a per capita basis. United States alone is higher.
Canadians are using twice as much oil as in 1939 and more than three times as much as in 1932.
At the beginning of 1949 Canada was importing 84 per cent of her oil.
During 1948 Imperial Oil drilled a total of 138 wells in its search for oil and in developing the new fields of Alberta.
The oil industry is spending more than $100 million in exploration and development in Alberta this year.
Bringing you oil is a big job—and a costly one

B. SIMUNDSON BILLIARD WINNER

The fourth handicap English billiards tournament ended yesterday at the Canadian Legion Hall with Bruce Simundson, who had led practically throughout the 200-point match, winner by only three points.

Alex Harvey, who was playing minus 20 and conceding his opponent a total of 55 points, was very slow in getting started and Simundson soon had a substantial lead over his veteran opponent. Simundson passed the first century (108) with Harvey (53) still 55 points, the amount of his handicap, ahead. At 131 Harvey was 56 points behind and when Simundson was only 50 points from his goal, Harvey had lost an additional 10 points. It looked as if Simundson was going to be victor by a substantial majority. From then on, however, Harvey played more true to form, although he was not seen at his best during the game, and when he had passed his first century (106) he had reduced Simundson's lead to 47.

A well-played break of 19 by Harvey brought him within 39 of his opponent, and when Simundson only wanted 14 points to win, Harvey was still 32 points behind him. In spite of several visits to the table Simundson was unable to increase his score and Harvey gradually crept up, the scores finally being tied at 186-all. Harvey led momentarily at 197 with his opponent 2 points behind but the score was again tied at 197.

Both players showing evident signs of nervousness and two errors in judgment by Harvey in the final play nullified his splendid efforts in the final stages of the match.

SAVOYS, STONES WIN SATURDAY

Four city hoop teams, doing a bit of post-season experimenting Saturday night, met in inter-league combat with the result that the older team, in both cases, affirmed the ancient adage that age and experience will tell.

What it told was that in the main fixture of the evening, the bottom team in the Senior League still had a bit to teach the top-place aspirants in the Intermediate League. Savoys, who hold the cellar spot among the seniors, whipped Fashion Footwear, of the Intermediate League, by a score of 55-38.

First half of the game was fairly even, although Savoys held a 12-point lead at the half-time bell. Fashion then whittled the lead down to eight points with a couple of counters in the third quarter but then retired into a strictly defensive attitude for the latter part of the game.

Fashion Footwear Coach Bob Menzies took to the floor himself, but found himself benched for fouls before the game was over. This was in itself a highly unusual occurrence, since Mr. Menzies is noted for a clean style of play.

In the curtain raiser, Stone's of the Intermediate League whipped the challenging North Star team of the Junior League by a 20-point margin.

HIS SECOND TRIP NORTH

Kenneth Spencer Was in Alaska Year Ago

The forthcoming concert at the Civic Centre by Kenneth Spencer will mark the second trip that Mr. Spencer has made north of the Canadian border in his interesting musical career.

In January 1948 he visited Alaska and his arrival at Anchorage was a totally new and thrilling experience for music lovers in the Alaskan Territory. Spencer, who was invited by the Little Theatre Society of the northern town, was the first negro artist ever to appear in recital in that region. An interview with Governor Ernest Gruening, Governor of Alaska, a warm welcome by his sponsors, and a round of receptions by the people of Anchorage and the soldiers of Fort Richardson made Mr. Spencer's visit to Alaska a memorable one.

A brand new Steinway grand piano was purchased by the citizens of Anchorage for the concert was flown by plane and arrived on the day of concert. It was the first concert grand piano ever to be flown into the Territory, and marked the inception of a new era of musical appreciation for that country.

Spencer and his accompanist, Willard Owens, were guests of honor at Fort Richardson, and gave a concert to the men of the Aviation Squadrons and the Engineers camped there. The next night, in the Anchorage Little Theatre, a capacity audience greeted the singer with warmth and responsiveness. A second engagement was immediately booked for the following night, following which Spencer was engaged for the next season of 1949.

64 Entries In Festival

The Prince Rupert Music and Drama Festival Association has received sixty-four applications for entry in the May Festival which means there will be several hundred participants contributing to the two-day program. The introduction of instrumental classes and vocal classes will give greater variety and length to the program this year.

The number of entries in the drama classes have increased from five to eight this year. There will be three plays in the senior section and five in the junior.

Hazelton High School, whose Geraldine Martin won the best junior actress award in the 1948 Festival, will be the only outside entry in the drama classes.

In the music division of the Festival the pianoforte class has 19 entries.

Thirteen choirs will participate in the junior choral classes—10 from the elementary schools, one from the high school and two in the class open to junior choirs other than those con-connected with a school. There will also be an entry in the senior choral class.

Thirteen entries have been registered for the various junior vocal solo classes. In the piano duet class there are six entries while there is one in the junior violin solo class and one in the instrumental class. So far there is only one rhythm band entered.

At a meeting of the Prince Rupert Festival Association in the Civic Centre President Richard Cleland expressed gratitude for the fine response shown by the large number of entries. Terrace has shown keen interest in the Festival from the beginning and plans to have 27 entries in the music division. Correspondence from Masset and Ketchikan at earlier dates indicate they would like to participate in the Festival but no confirmation has been received by the local Festival Association.

MONTGOMERY IS HONORED

Old Basketball Boys Gather in Vancouver to Welcome Former Coach

While in Vancouver last week on his way home to Prince Rupert after a trip to his native New Zealand, Dr. Garnet Montgomery, local dentist, was tendered a dinner in the Point Grey Golf Club by several of the "boys" whom he once coached in basketball in Vancouver. Several of those present were once listed among the basketball "greats" as members of champion basketball teams. They included such noted players as Bob Osborne, Don Ellis, Jack Gordon, Jack Edmundson, George McConnell, Doug Craig, Ian McLeod, Jack Purves, Cy Lee and Jim Pratt. Dr. Montgomery arrived in Vancouver from "down under" on the Aorangi last week. "The Doc" and several of the old boys are pictured in the Vancouver Province of last Thursday.

A Spot of Comment..

by Wallace

The front pages of North American newspapers carry much black-face type headlining the increase in unemployment. The trend is more noticeable since January 1.

Many readers will recall that little over a year ago we were subjected to a deluge of fact, figure and fancy, purporting to prove that fear was the basic cause of past depressions.

Many of us took this seriously enough to give it considerable study and assigned it a large proportion of our available reading time. The writer has little doubt that it contained a great deal more than just a grain of truth.

But to carry the theory to the extent of refusing to recognize facts; of failing to heed the operation of the basic law of supply and demand, which law, theory-sodden socialist governments have failed to legislate out of existence; would be to blunderingly court a worse disaster than temporary depression.

Sound reasoning demands, then, not just a blind refusal to recognize and heed fear. Rather it prompts us to seek behind it for cause and, finding it, to compensate or strengthen those basic conditions whose ill-balance spawned the first tremors of apprehension.

It takes no ponderous economic phrases to point up today's danger signals. We can plainly see that unless factors that are badly out of balance now are corrected without delay, we are headed for serious depression with our eyes wide open.

Two significant inequalities most noticeable are felt by all of us every day:

1. The appalling gap in income levels between individuals composing pressure groups; such as labor unions; and those in unorganized classifications like office workers, technical personnel, operators of small business, pensioners, etc.

The pressure groups have, in the majority of cases, been guilty of opportunism in forcing their demands beyond the bounds of reason and to the point where they have contributed heavily to the high-price structure that is choking the life from the other, less fortunate, groups. That they are guilty of doing this knowingly and willfully is apparent to most of us.

2. The terrible price jump in some basic commodities when compared with the average increase. We cannot but consider many of the increases unwarranted. Compare, for instance, the jump in meat and butter prices to those of sugar and salt. This clearly indicates that another group, equally as avaricious as the pressure groups and much more unprincipled, have been making unethical hay.

The end-result of each of the foregoing conditions is higher prices and lowered buying power for all of us, the buying public, thus generating the first germs of fear in a cross section of the population that is of high economic importance.

Those individuals whose income has not kept pace with other indices cannot now buy anything but bare necessities—nor all they need of those. What they cannot buy constitutes the first unsaleable surplus—which necessitates the first cut in production and the consequent lay-off of labor, who are the first unemployed. Fear in this group, with reason behind it, grows apace.

And so we arrive at the point in the spiral of prosperity where it swerves sharply downward to enter the old vicious circle, somewhere in which a depression occurs.

By heeding fear at this point and taking corrective action toward removing the cumulative effect of the economic inequalities, we stand a good chance of allaying fear and stopping depression in its tracks.

What weapon have we that is sufficiently potent to effect this balance without delay? We have that vague but very effective bludgeon—public opinion—created by:

A concerted and repetitious expression of our indignation of the course persisted in by minority groups—mainly the labor unions.

Outspoken and general denunciation of those industries maintaining unwarranted high prices.

By using this weapon without mercy we can be assured that labor, industry and politics will quickly feel the pulse of public indignation and hastily move to correct conditions in their respective fields.

INDIAN FISHERY

The whole question of Indian fishery should be reviewed in the light of findings with a view to stating clearly and enforcing the regulations under which salmon fishery is carried out. Injurious methods of catching and practices of bartering and sale must be more rigidly controlled, the report states.

An additional fishway should be installed at Morjietown Falls to ease the passage of all salmon and open a large expanse of spawning ground for pink salmon. The upper Bulkley should be cleared as the first step to re-establishing a run there. A thorough and continuous program of stream improvement should be commenced to lessen the effects of weather conditions and to remove all obstructions to migration. Engineering surveys should be made in certain areas, especially Babine to determine the best methods of expanding the spawning beds. Reduction in numbers, or elimination, of the harbor seal in the lower Skeena area should be continued and encouraged.

In addition to the Dominion Department of Fisheries and the Fisheries Research Board, which are primarily responsible for the project, the B.C. Department of Fisheries, Provincial Game Commission, the federal Department of Indian Affairs, the fishing industry and the fishermen, all of whom will be vitally interested in the recommendations of the report, might profitably be allowed to enter discussions according to their interests.

With completion of the report, the Fisheries Research Board of Canada has discharged only the first portion of its responsibilities and should continue an additional two-point program:

1. An applied phase in which scientists, now familiar with the area and its problems, advise as to the proper method of rehabilitation, generally supervising work and checking results.
2. A research phase, which scientists, working in a selected area, such as Lake Lakelse, can investigate in more detail the propagation, predation, competition and stream improvement.

Spencer will state that he is now under contract to the B.C. Department of Fisheries and the Fisheries Research Board, which are primarily responsible for the project, the B.C. Department of Fisheries, Provincial Game Commission, the federal Department of Indian Affairs, the fishing industry and the fishermen, all of whom will be vitally interested in the recommendations of the report, might profitably be allowed to enter discussions according to their interests.
