RUSSIA HAS GREATEST SUBMARINE FLEET

Missile-Firing Battleships
Also Being Built By Reds

LONDON (CP)—The Soviet Union is rushing to build a navy "already far in excess of normal requirements of defence," James Fighting Ships says. A 1949 year book says there are persistent reports that the Russians put into service last June 1949 a 37,000-ton battleship with towers for missile launchers. Another type is said to have been launched in March with a main gun under construction. Reports 350 to 370 Russian submarines believed already in service with 120 more building. The objective of 1000 submarines is the largest submarine fleet in history, compared with the United States has 500 in mothballs.

OTTAWA—Voluntary price controls will be discussed by the cabinet tomorrow, C. D. Howe, minister of commerce, disclosed today. He said the government has made no decision on whether to take action calling for an honor system price control on all goods and services.

Up

OTTAWA—Great Britain has decided to consider increasing her rearmament program by the $10,800,000,000 annually allocated for the next three years, an authoritative source said today. The increase in expenditure may be in the direction of labor and materials controls.

Canada and UN—

Special Brigade
Canada's Answer

By H. L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA—Canada in 1950 embarked on the greatest peace-time military program in her history, an effort sparked by the crisis in Korea.

All happened in a short six months. In June, North Korean Communists invaded South Korea and the United Nations intervened. By December, acting in conjunction with her UN partners, Canada had sent three destroyers, a squadron of transport planes and a battalion of troops to the Far Pacific.

At home she raised a special army brigade of 10,000 men to meet international obligations in Korea or elsewhere and set a precedent by labelling it as an international peace-enforcement force.

Canadians were told in effect that the peacetime economy of the last five years was over. Higher taxes were forecast to meet the staggering $1,000,000,000 defence budget necessary to pay for these military moves and for boosted production of jet fighters, naval ships and other weapons of war.

In mid-December the government announced that Canada's 63,000 servicemen would get pay increases retroactive to December 1, ranging from $14 a month upward and averaging $19 for other ranks and $33 for officers.

Sailors and airmen serving in Korea were given extra allowances retroactive to July 5. The government announced foreign allowances "to be paid to sailors, soldiers and airmen serving with Canadian units abroad." The allowances will not be made to officers. They will range from $9 to $16.50 a month.

SACRIFICES NECESSARY

Cabinet ministers told the people they would be expected to make sacrifices for some time to come. They were necessary if world Communism was to be stemmed in Korea and wherever else it might try to advance. They were necessary if a third world war was to be averted. Cabinet sessions in Ottawa were frequent and long as the Korean war ran hot, then cold. (Continued on page 3)

THE WEATHER

Synopsis

The onslaught of Pacific storms against the British Columbia coast is continuing to force the mild oceanic air over the province. As a result, the temperatures which have been for many days above normal values seem destined to reach even higher values. Vancouver was the mildest spot in the province overnight when a low of 47 was recorded. But Lytton equalled this figure early this morning. In two hours the temperature jumped a full ten degrees. Little changes in temperature may be expected in most interior points in the next 36 hours.

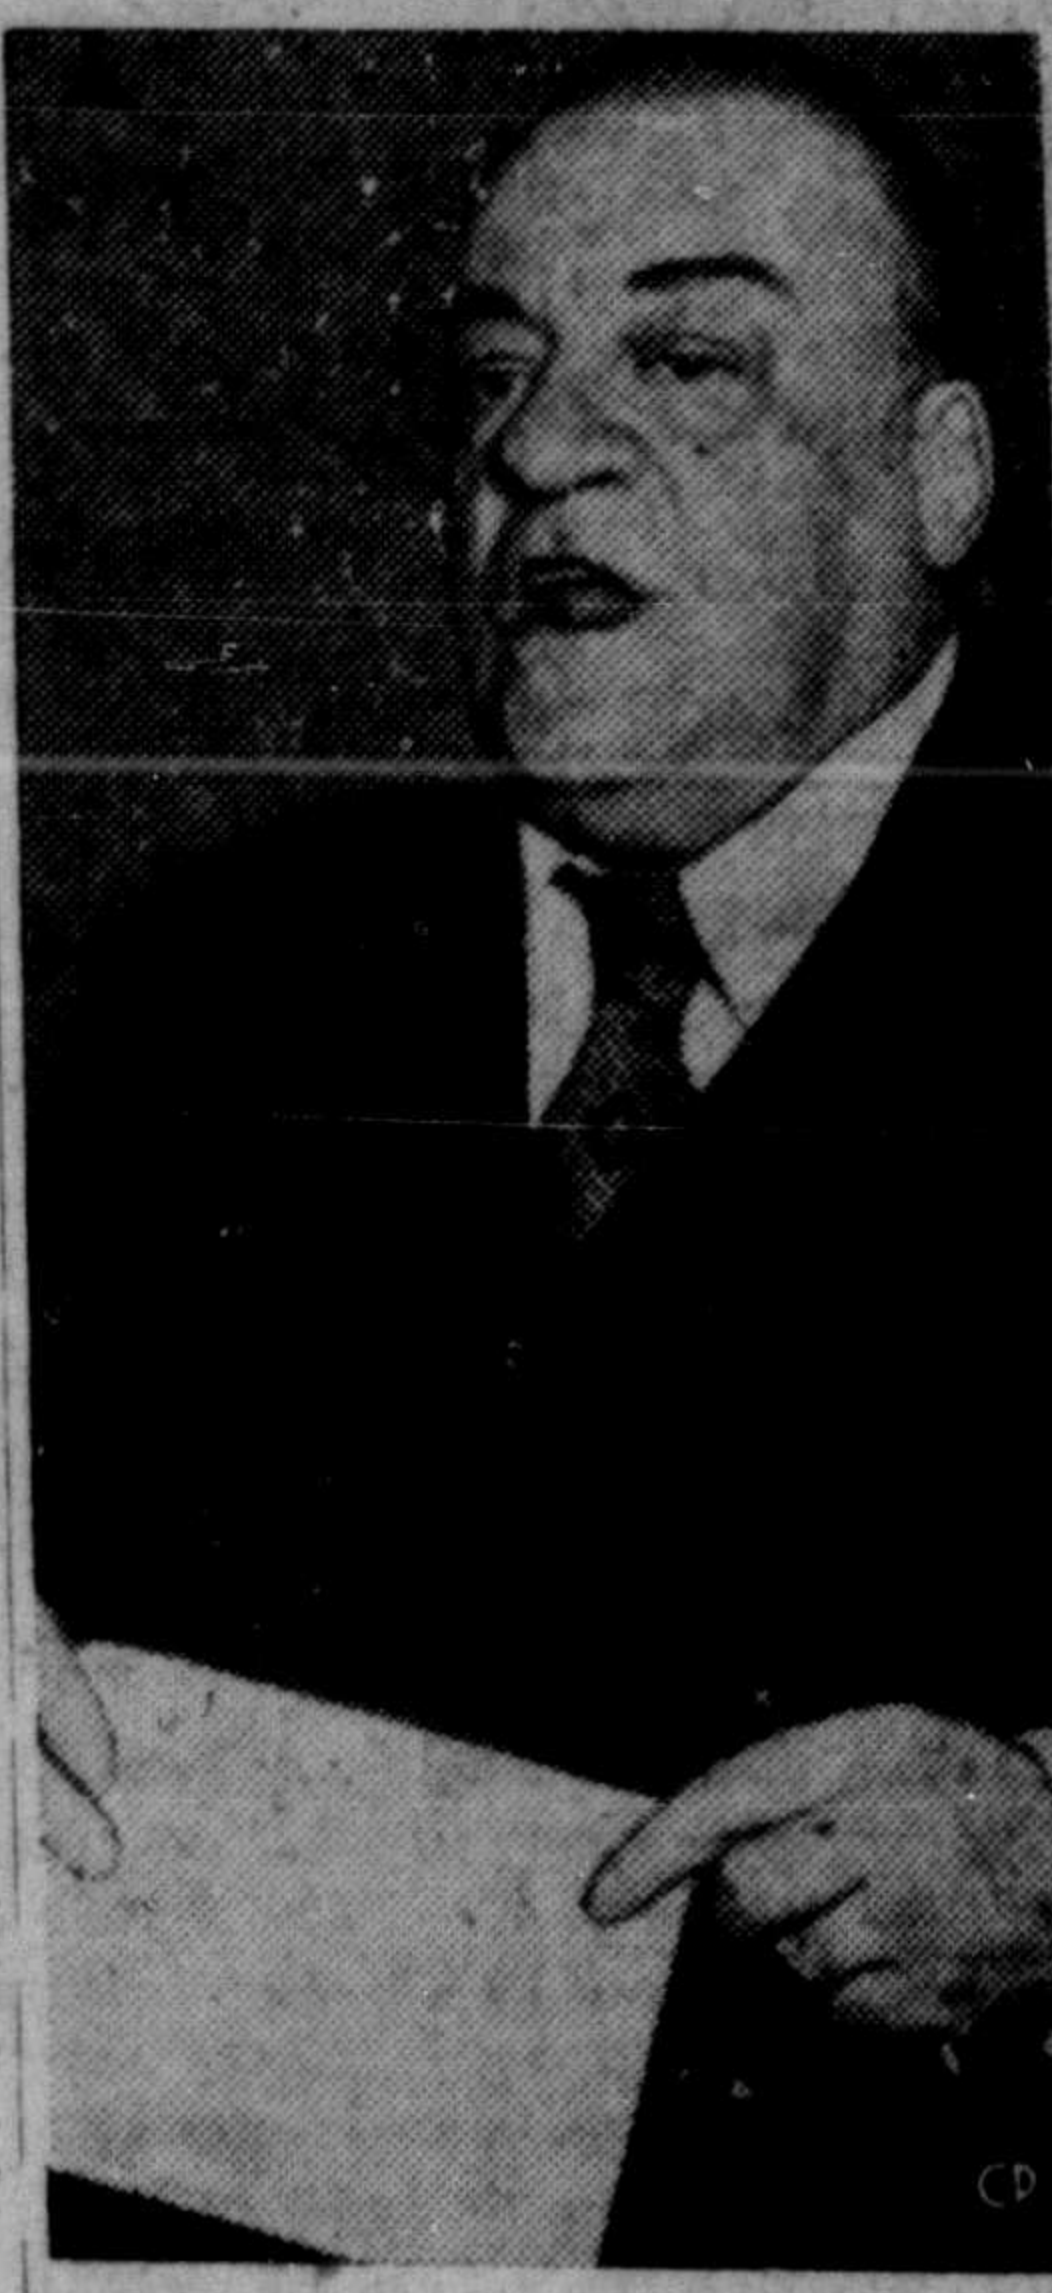

There is no rest from storm activity. With one disturbance hardly crossing the coast, another is forming and is expected to cross the coastline tomorrow morning. This latter one, like that of last night, should bring more rain and southeast gales to the coast and will also serve to maintain the exceptionally mild weather.

Forecast

North coast region — Cloudy with showers today and Thursday. A few clear periods today and again tomorrow afternoon. Continuing mild. Winds—Southerly (20 mph) today, increasing to southeast (35) after midnight tonight and shifting again to southwest (25) about noon tomorrow. Lows tonight and high tomorrow—At Port Hardy, 45 and 52; Sandspit and Prince Rupert, 40 and 48.

SECURITY—

Alaska Bases Blacked Out Now

WASHINGTON, D.C.—A blackout has been imposed on all military bases in Alaska, it was disclosed today. Troop movements in the territory have also been placed under strict security regulations. There is a blackout as well now on the trans-Pacific air lift.

Heavy Snow and Gale
Dashes Ships Ashore in
Maritimes—Blocks Traffic

HALIFAX—Twelve inches of snow yesterday in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island closed highway and stopped trains from running. Communication and power lines came down as high winds developed with the blizzard last night.

A Panamanian freighter nearly was dashed ashore near Sydney. Three Newfoundland schooners were dashed ashore and abandoned off Canada's east coast as the howling winter storm blew itself out over the Atlantic.

Crews of the schooners reached shore safely.

Two other ships battled their way to safety and edged away from jagged rocks off Cape Breton to await a tug.

On land communications are slowly being brought back to normal after being thrown into a jumbled mass of tangled wires when the storm first struck the Maritimes last night.

There are no immediate reports of deaths as a result of the storm but numerous minor traffic mishaps have been recorded.

The schooner Mary H. Hirtle was pounded ashore on Codroy Island but her crew reached the island over a bounding breeches buoy.

Two other schooners—the Sun Crest and an unidentified craft—went aground at Fox Island in Port Bay but their crews also reached safety.

Princess Pats

PUSAN—Second Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, is now established under canvas in this bleak southeast Korean port following their landing yesterday. It is zero weather and they have been issued with sleeping bags in addition to three blankets each. Feeding arrangements in keeping with the cold weather conditions have been arranged.

UNITED NATIONS REDUCING LINES

United States
Wage Ceiling

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The government today promised a voluntary wage ceiling formula "as soon as possible" to match the honor-system price control newly put into effect for all industry in the United States.

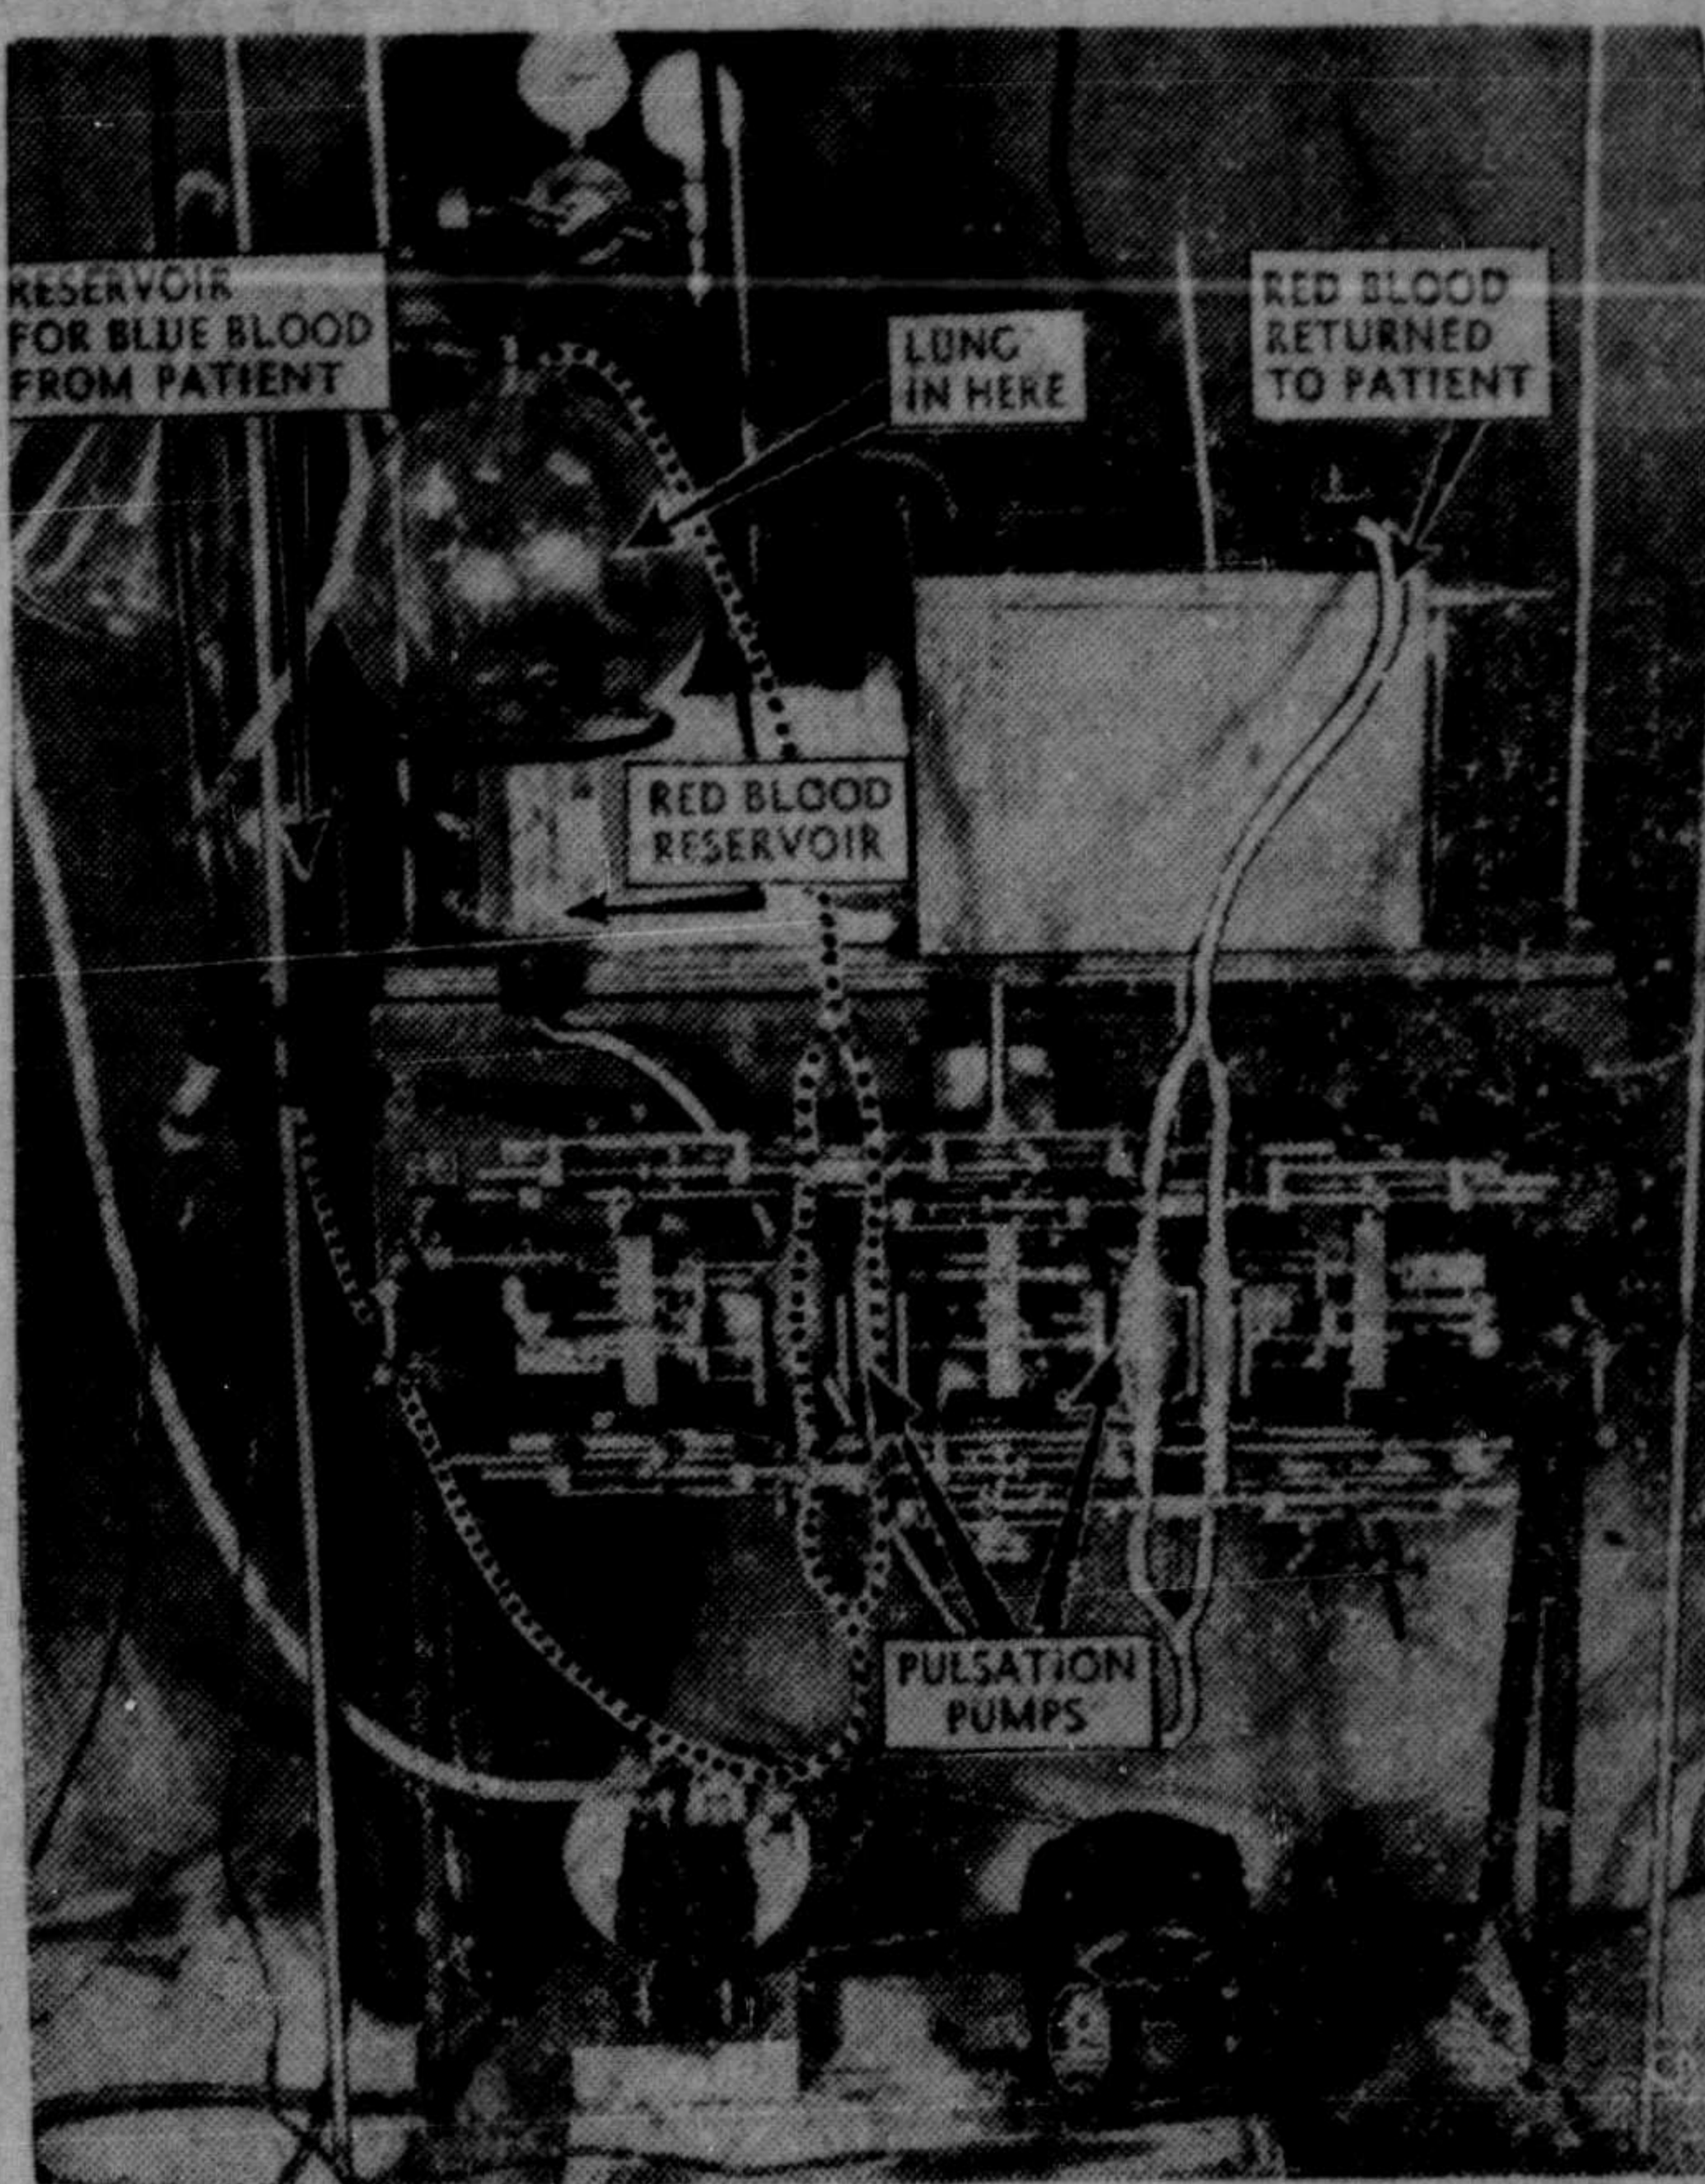

The Economy Stabilization Agency has summoned into meeting here management and union leaders of more than 1,000,000 automobile workers for talks which may provide a clue to coming wage restraints on all labor.

The agency, meantime, hopes for a wave of voluntary price roll-backs—mostly at mill, mine and factory level—in accordance with its new price-profits formula.

Iran Border
Is Alerted

TEHRAN—Iran has alerted guards along the frontier—most of which is with Russia—and cancelled celebrations due next week for the Shah's wedding.

The government says the "extremely grave" international situation is the reason.

To Russia By Big Three

BRUSSELS (CP)—The Big Three western powers today held out new offers of peace to Russia and arms to Germany.

Britain, France and the United States have accepted in principle Russia's proposal for a Big Four conference on the unification of divided Germany.

The three western powers are known to have stipulated, however, that the Russians discuss the whole range of problems that have been causing the East-West friction. Russia proposed a conference to discuss only the unifying and neutralizing of Germany.

The three countries have prepared similar notes to be dispatched shortly to the Kremlin.

Carroll College basketball team of Helena, Montana, still tasting the blood of the 86 to 24 shellacking they handed out to Ocean Falls last night, arrived in the city on the Prince George today in search of new fields to conquer. They play Prince Rupert all-stars tonight.

Coach Johnny Gagliardi was not quite sure what to expect from the local boys but was confident it would be a good game no matter who won.

Their trip started off a bit dismally with a double defeat in two close games against the University of Washington at Bellingham.

However, the visit to Ocean Falls revived their spirits.

Their heavy holiday schedule takes them to Ketchikan, Juneau and Port Simpson before they return here next Wednesday for a return engagement. The team left the college at Helena, Montana, only four days ahead of the Christmas closing. A sharp blow to the team was retention in the United States of some of their star players by the draft board. Those left behind were all seniors and some of their best players.

The game will start tonight after store closing hours.

Miss Donna Kerrighan arrived home on the Prince George to spend the Christmas holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kerrighan.

North Koreans
Cross Border

SEOUL—North Korean forces are now fighting south of the 38th parallel on the western front of Korea and have made some advances. It has been established that there are no Chinese Communists in the new attacking force which is operating fifty miles north of Seoul.

On the Hungnam beachhead, which has been reduced to a depth of two miles and width of five miles, the United Nations forces are greatly outnumbered. However, it differs from Dunkerque in that the Allies have air supremacy.

Beachhead defenders of the United States Tenth Corps were holding the pressing Communist forces at bay tonight all along the line as the Allies deliberately reduced the Hungnam port area in the northeast. Their planned withdrawal was proceeding under protective fire of artillery and guns of warships standing in to the shore. The corps now holds a relatively small slice of land only a few square miles in area around Hungnam harbor.

The big job of keeping the Red troops from massing for an all-out attack on the Americans fell to gunners lobbing tons upon tons of shells at Chinese and Korean Communists trying to push Tenth Corps elements into the sea.

Marine and navy pilots hit 24 enemy troop concentrations and claimed to have inflicted 1300 casualties on Chinese and North Koreans.

Eight thousand Red Koreans have reinforced an estimated 100,000 Chinese swarming down on the beaches.

ON THE WEST
Across the Korean peninsula in the west, United States Eighth Army troops fought minor engagements with North Korean forces weaving across the 38th parallel in a 30-mile spread around Chunchon.

Merry 'Xmas,
General Wu

NEW YORK — Wishing the people of United States a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, General Wu, chief of the Communist China delegation to a recent conference with the United Nations, enplaned yesterday for London enroute home. He and his party were laden with goods such as radios, books and electrical appliances bought in the United States. Wu himself had $1500 worth.

Wu described the "Cease Fire" activities for Korea as treachery and fraud.

China wanted peace, Wu said, but made it plain that the peace would be on Chinese terms.

Destroyer Nootka
Heads for Korea

SAN PEDRO—HMCS Nootka, having come around from the east coast, sailed from here yesterday for Korean waters where she will relieve HMCS Sioux which is returning to base at Esquimalt.

The destroyers Athabaskan and Cayuga will be relieved next spring.

A Popular Win

IT WAS a popular win for the railway workers which Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, as arbitrator whose finding is final, conceded in his report yesterday following the recent dispute which brought transportation of the country to an impasse during late summer by a strike which was terminated only by a special session of Parliament.

His Lordship's principal reasons for granting the railway workers their further increase and the setting of the date for the inauguration of the 40-hour week were sound and reasonable. In fact, everybody knew that the most of the classifications involved in this dispute were receiving wages notoriously incompatible in some cases with those received by other industries.

Concurring with Mr. Justice Kellock's principal primary decisions, we do not lose sight of the fact, however, that, to meet them will put another heavy burden on the finances of the railways, which are already none too healthy from the profit margin standpoint. There will be only one way to meet that condition—in the way of increased rates which come right back to hit the pocketbooks, directly or indirectly, of every Canadian. It will be pretty hard to find argument against such increases although none of us will like them. There will still be good argument, however, for some equalizations.

DEFENCE OF TEEN-AGERS

AS A CLASS, Canada's teen-agers are much stricter in their morals than adults realize. This is the verdict of Love-columnist Mary Lou Dilworth of Toronto, who just graduated from her teens herself. In an article in Coronet, she says that Canadian teen-agers are "almost Victorian in their inflexible code of commandments."

Miss Dilworth, who writes "Cupid's Corner," an advice to the lovelorn column in Canadian High News, believes that social workers or psychologists who sometimes issue alarming reports on high school morals do so because they have studied only abnormal cases. Her own work, answering letters and personal interviews of thousands of average, normal students, brings her to this conclusion: "The world of the 15 to 19-year-old is scarcely the care-free place it is supposed to be. On the contrary, it is a strange, almost frightening world, governed by strict, self-imposed conventions, taboos and brick walls. Far from being loose, the average teen-ager is far stricter with himself, and with his companions, than most adults are."

One of the big faults with high school students, she finds, is their extreme reticence. "Although they can talk endlessly about trivialities, when it comes to discussing their own feelings about important things, they are completely tongue-tied. Their code seems to be that your relationships must be formed and carried on in silence as to your real feelings, for fear of being made a fool of."

This difficulty could be overcome, she states in the article, if parents could establish and maintain closer ties with their teen-age children. One of the most important phases where parents are needed, she believes, is in sex education. Yet most teen-agers are afraid to approach their parents in quest of information or guidance on such moral issues, for fear that their parents would be horrified to have the subject brought up.

NO TAKING TO THE HILLS

THE IDEA, probably held by many Americans, that an atomic attack will be the signal for a mass evacuation of the nation's cities is being vigorously combatted by the Office of Civil Defense. And rightly so. In the event of such an attack nothing could be more useful to the enemy than an unnecessary stoppage of industrial production.

In the case of a direct hit, of course, part of the bombed community will be virtually paralyzed. But the citizens who are unharmed and the people of neighboring cities and towns will remain at work and continue turning out the materials needed by the military establishment. For them to fail to do that would either postpone victory or make it impossible.

Discussing the "take to the hills" mentality which has developed among certain groups, James J. Wadsworth, acting director of the Civil Defense Office, promised that those with priority—children, expectant mothers and the aged and infirm—would be moved to safety in the event of attack. But civilians "with no idea except escape" will be turned back to civil defense authorities.

SCRIPTURE PASSAGE FOR TODAY

As I See It

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

DISPUTES SUN EDITORS

IN RECENT months I have been in general agreement with the editors of the Vancouver Sun. (Maybe one of us is slipping.) Now, however, I am sure they are miles off the beam about the atom bomb.

The Sun editors suggest that if the Chinese Communists expel the UN forces from all Korea the U.S. should atom bomb certain Chinese cities, and so compel the enemy to make peace.

"We hold the stronger hand," the Sun editors argue—why not use it?

I DO NOT contest the morality of that argument. But I do challenge its military wisdom.

Far from having the effect that the Sun editors think it would have, I think it would have the very opposite.

I do not think it would have a snowball's chance to knock China out of the Asian war. What it would more likely do would be to plunge the whole of mankind into world war.

I CANNOT SEE any moral difference between use of one bomb, which atomizes one hundred thousand men, women and children—civilians more than military—and the use of one hundred or one thousand bombs which do the same job by bits.

When the Christian nations once condoned the immorality of waging war against whole populations we set the stage for the use of the atom bombs, bottled germs, and every other killing device that the human brain can devise. It is war itself that is the crime—and so long as human beings tolerate the lawlessness, that is LACK OF WORLD LAW, we will get wars, each bigger and worse.

Granted that there is, as Mr. Pearson recently pointed out, a difference in the minds of the people between the use of the atomic weapon and other weapons.

In my opinion that was not what stopped President Truman from ordering its use against the key cities of China. It was the knowledge that the atomic bomb is the supreme last-resort weapon in the arsenal of the U.S.A.

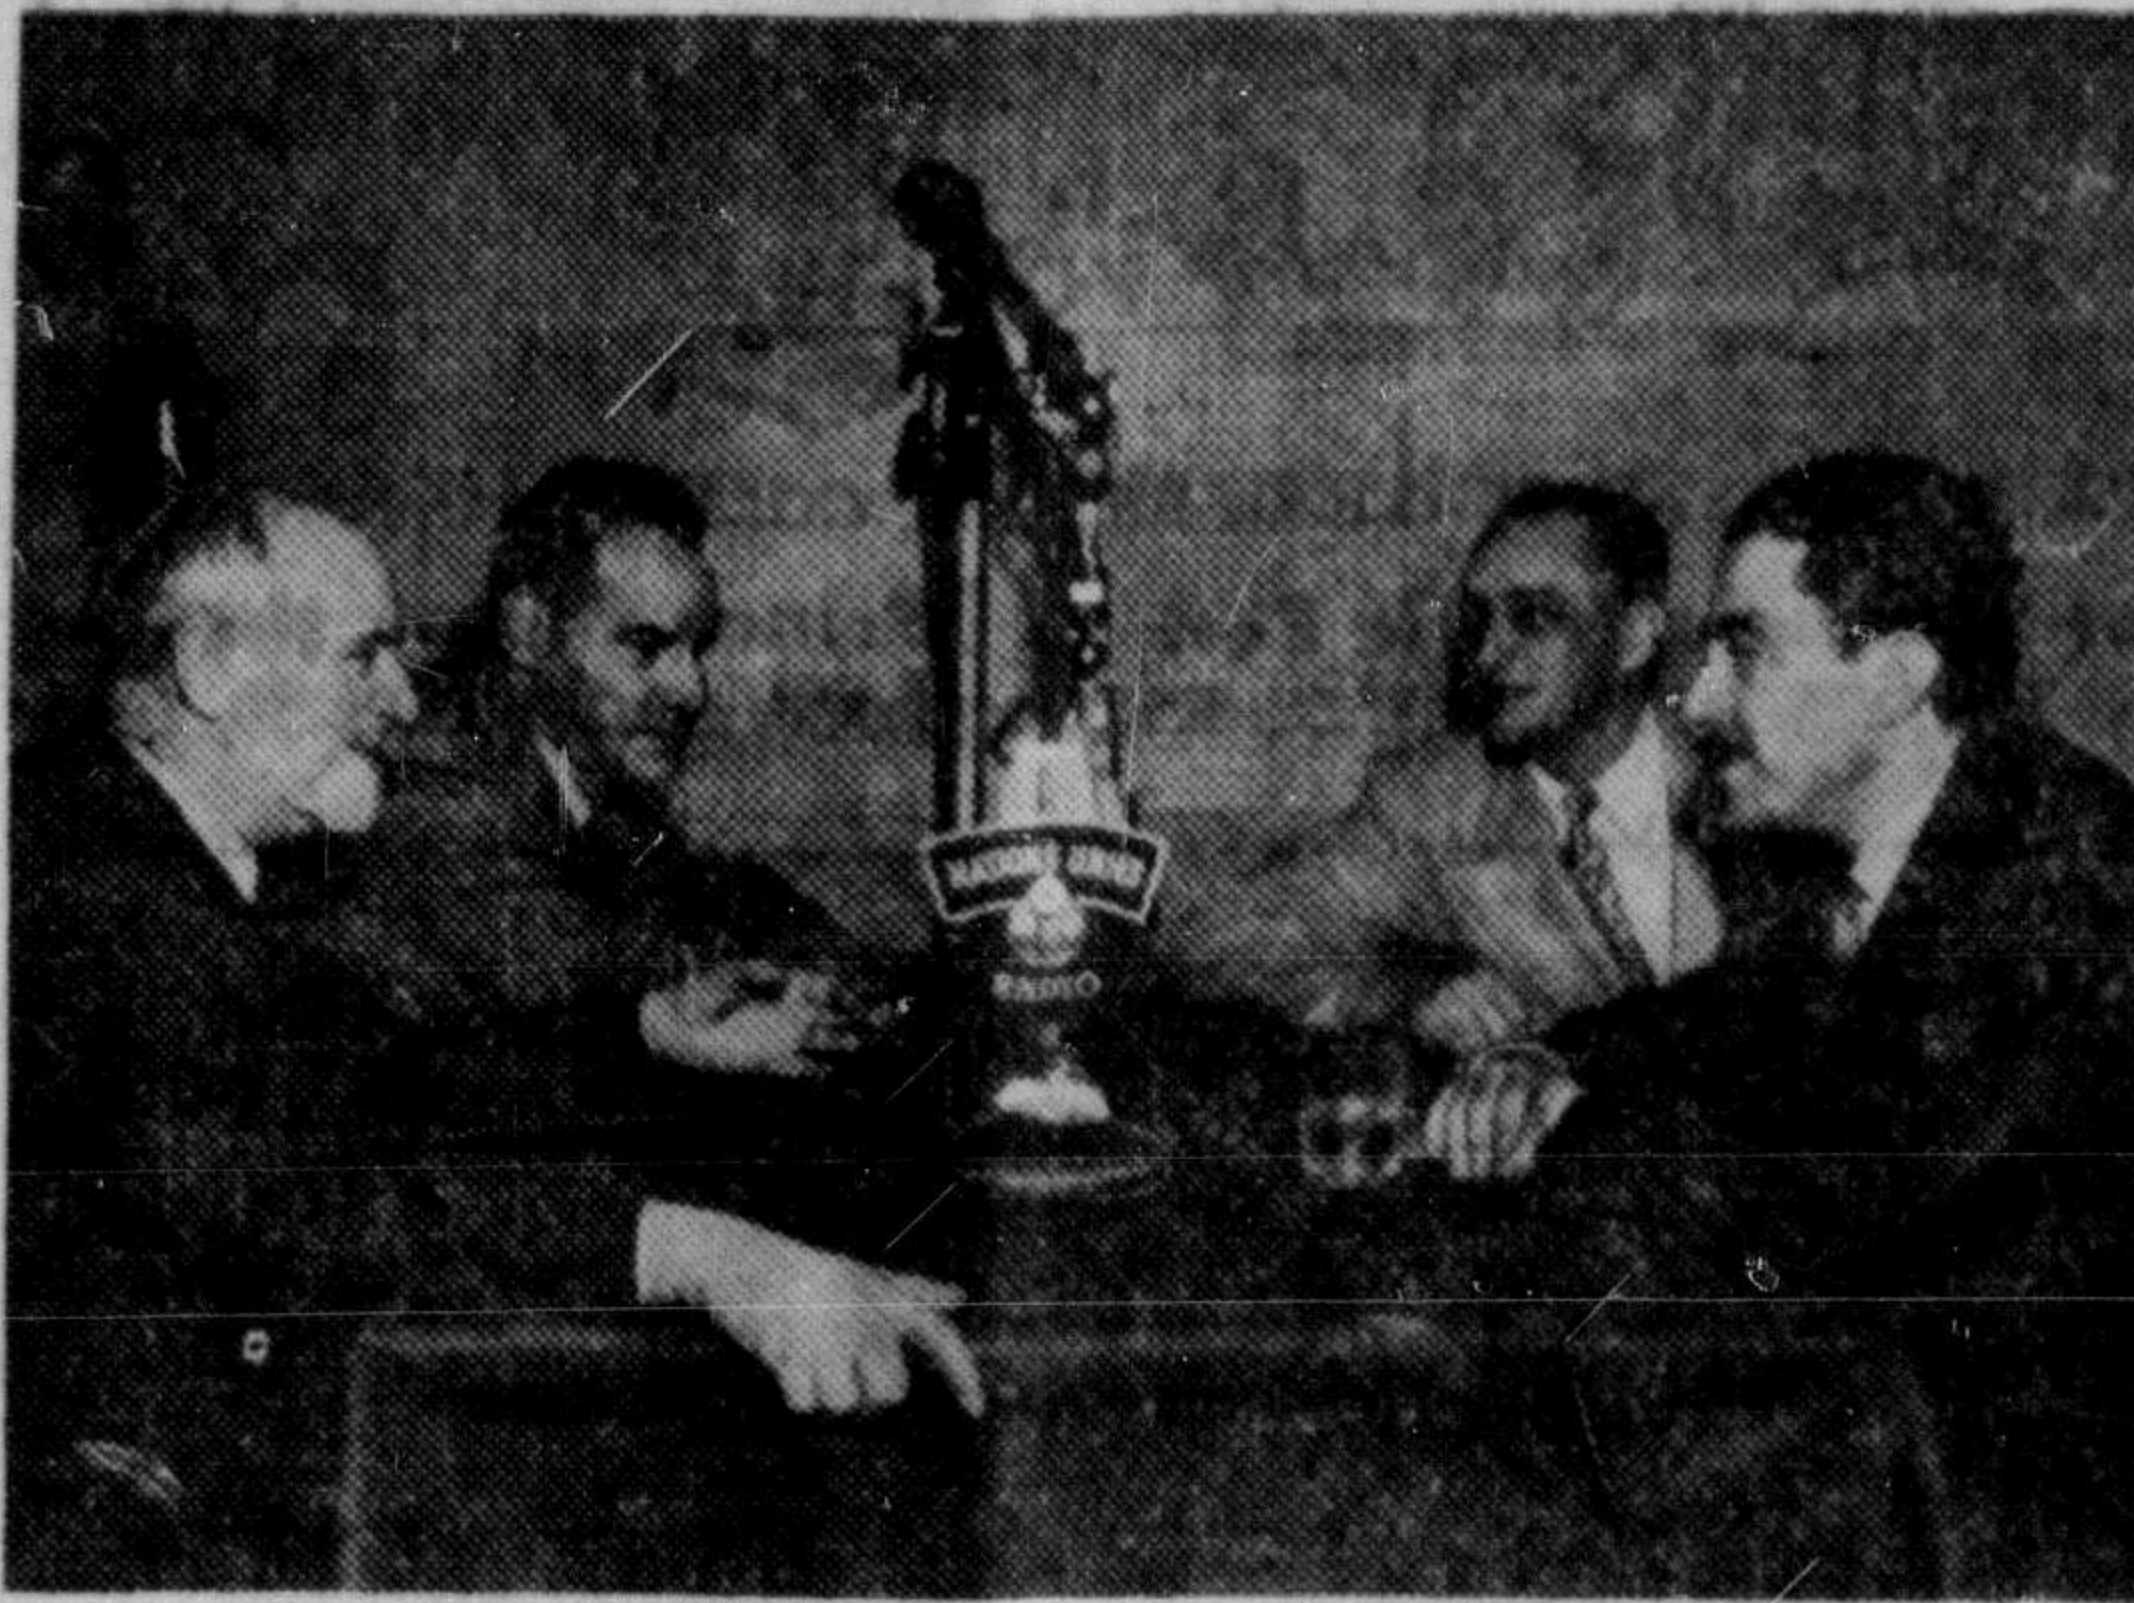

So long as the United States has a great preponderance of atomic bombs the Russian leaders are not likely to give the order for their armies to sweep west across Europe, Asia Minor, and northern Africa. I am not arguing now the question of whether the Russian leaders would want to do so, in any event. But assuming for the sake of the argument that the Russian rulers WOULD give the order to sweep across Europe if they thought they could get away with it. They will certainly never do so if there is a possibility that some 18 or 20 of their key cities might be wiped off the face of the earth soon afterwards.

BUT THE TRUTH is that neither President Truman, nor any military Brass Hat in the U.S.A. OR RUSSIA is sure of what the atom bombs would do. Its military consequences might be minor, compared with the propaganda build-up it has been given.

If the bomb were used, by the United States, and Russia were not thereby knocked completely out of the war the Communists could proceed to take over most

Round Table Discussion Over U.N. Radio

During the Fifth Session of the United Nations General Assembly, listeners in every continent followed the Assembly's debates over U.N. Radio and affiliated stations. ## Women As Politicians

Gentler Sex Steps Into News on Several Fronts

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Correspondent

OTTAWA — Women stepped into the news on several fronts in 1950. They regained a lot of ground in the political field.

Satisfaction was evident on both sides of the fence when Hamilton's Mrs. Ellen Fairclough broke the all-male grip on the House of Commons and became the first woman member since Gladys Strum.

Election of the slim, good-natured Progressive-Conservative in the Hamilton West by-election, May 15, sparked Canadian women to fresh belief in their political powers.

This showed in the municipal elections at the year's end which saw some 20 women taking over a variety of posts in the government of their cities.

Mrs. Marjorie Hamilton, a 51-year-old widow, became the first woman mayor of Barrie, thriving town 60 miles north of Toronto after serving three years in an aldermanic post.

At least eight were elected to their city councils. In Ottawa a nationally-known welfare worker, Dr. Charlotte Whitton, headed the poll for the capital's four-man board of control.

A new honor, "Mother of the Year," was given Mrs. Norman Wilson, better known as Senator Cairine Wilson, one of the two women in the Canadian Senate. Mrs. Wilson was chosen for the title by the National Council of Women. At a ceremony in New York the American Mothers committee awarded her a gold pin.

In more ways than one Mrs. Wilson is "First Lady of the Land." She's the first Canadian to hold the "Mother of the Year" title; the first woman to enter the Senate; the first Canadian woman to be named a delegate of the world, hardly having to fire a shot in Europe.

HENCE TO USE THE atom bomb on China would seem to me to be a blunder of world shaking magnitude.

It would alienate all Asia, including India. Nehru himself has plainly said "Once the atomic bomb is used an agency will disappear from the world."

The Russian armies would sweep west. We might destroy the industrial centres of Russia, but what would we gain if the Russian armies had meanwhile taken over Germany, France, Spain, Persia, half Africa?

ooo

YOU CANT have your cake and eat it. You can't have your atomic bomb, as a deterrent to big aggression, if you have meantime used that bomb without stopping the little aggressor.

Princesses At Tripoli

VALETTA, Malta — The Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret have returned to Malta from a one-day visit to Tripoli.

The Princesses paid a visit to the First Battalion of Grenadier Guards station in Tripoli. Princess Elizabeth is colonel-in-chief of the regiment.

to the United Nations. Finally she is the first woman to be named president of the United Nations Society in Canada.

The mid-century mark was noted by most women's organizations at their conventions in 1950. It was a gala year for the National Council, representing 500,000 women across Canada.

Theme of the council's 57th annual meeting at London, Ont., was "Fifty Years of Progress of Women."

About the same time the 50-year-old Imperial Daughters of the Empire held its "Golden Jubilee" annual session at Montreal.

Biggest undertaking of the year for the IOOE was its purchase of Queen Mary's needlepoint carpet on behalf of the people of Canada. The rug was bought for $100,000 and a national campaign launched by the Order to give the people of Canada an opportunity to pay for this royal treasure.

On the household front the 13,000-member Canadian Association of Consumers kept watch on the sharply rising cost-of-living, drawing the government's attention to irregularities as it saw the need.

For the benefit of its members the C.A.C. surveyed the cause and effect of increased prices of milk, bread, meat and coffee. One of the most important resolutions passed at its third annual meeting was one urging Canada-wide adoption of federal grading of meat.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

Christmas in Capetown is different. The 25th of December is exactly like any flawless mid-summer day in Canada. Christmas in Capetown is a time of warm, brilliant weather, tourists and travellers. Christmas in Capetown is the accepted "Cape season." The peninsula beaches are crowded. So are the hotels. For that matter there is no lack of people any time, with a population of 320,000.

Yes, Christmas in Capetown offers so much that the contrast startsles but does it pleasantly. Table Mountain overshadows the city and all else. Long drives wind through the scenic amphitheatre formed by the peak, Lion's Head and Signal Hill. Silver trees grow on some of the slopes. A silver leaf has the brightness of a newly minted coin and the smoothness of satin.

This is the time the municipal gardens in Capetown look their fairest. Founded centuries ago so that explorers of the eastern seas could eat needed vegetables, the 14 acres have grown into about 8000 different kinds of tree, plants and flowers, many semi-tropical and all beautiful. To provide vegetables for sailors, by the way, was the primary reason for the original tiny settlement on the shores of Table Bay.

There are 250 classified climbing routes up Table Mountain, from the top of which one's gaze rests on the South Atlantic and the Indian Ocean. Today, the Cape of Good Hope, with its hundreds of seaside communities — Muizenberg, Bantry Bay, Simonstown, Three Anchor Point, Bachelor's Cove, Ratel Kip, Wynberg, the Twelve Apostles, Fish Hoek, Hottentot Huisies, to mention but a few — draw the Christmas crowds. Each has its charm. Each is a link with the Cape's historic past.

The Over Seventy dinner to take place tomorrow afternoon is an annual occasion always looked forward to with pleasure and those who are giving it will find much satisfaction in seeing a large attendance. There is an excellent program arranged.

Dr. A. A. Miller left today on the plane for Vancouver. He will continue on to Edmonton where he will be married December 28.

M. G. Gormely and J. P. MacDonald of the Forest Branch returned to the city on yesterday afternoon's plane from a trip to Queen Charlotte Islands on official business.

HOUSEKEEPING

CHRISTMAS COOKIES AND CANDY ARE ORDER OF DAY

With Christmas just a few days away, things are a-humming in most every kitchen as the last of the festive goodies are in the making. Nothing but the best is good enough for Christmas, so no doubt there is an extra supply of butter and other good things on hand for these very special preparations.

Everyone seems to have their favorite recipes which they use year after year as Christmas comes around, and in this respect home economists are no exception. Here is the recipe for two of their favorite Christmas cookies, made with butter, of course, to give that delicious flavor which puts butter-made cookies in a class by themselves.

Hoping that there is still time, energy and enthusiasm to make some candy for the holiday parties. Home economists suggest, too, a Potato Fondant which stays fresh for some time and is so simply made that the younger members of the family, always eager to help get ready for Christmas, might be given a chance to try their hand at it.

POINSETTA COOKIES

- 3/4 cup butter
- 1/2 cup sugar (fine granulated or fruit)
- 2 egg yolks or 1 egg
- 2 cups sifted pastry flour or 1 3/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- Pinch of salt

Cream butter and sugar well together. Add beaten egg or egg yolks. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add to creamed mixture. Roll to about 1/4-inch thickness on floured board, cut with 2-inch cookie cutter. Make four or six cuts almost in centre of each cookie at equal distance. Fold the four points to the centre as a pinwheel. Place a piece of candied cherry in centre. Bake on an ungreased cookie sheet in a moderately slow oven, 325°F., until cookies are delicately browned, about 15 minutes. Yield: 3 dozen.

FANCY BUTTONS

- 3/4 cup butter
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups sifted pastry flour or 1 3/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup shredded coconut
- 1/2 cup shredded almonds

1/2 cup chopped candied cherries.

Cream butter. Blend in sugar. Add unbeaten egg and vanilla. Beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients. Lastly add fruit and nuts dredged with some of the flour. Drop by spoonfuls on an ungreased cookie sheet and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375°F., 12 to 15 minutes or until delicately browned. Yield: 4 to 5 dozen.

POTATO FONDANT

- 3/4 cup hot, freshly mashed, baked potato
- Few grains of salt
- 3 cups icing sugar
- 1 teaspoon of flavoring, almond, peppermint, orange or vanilla.

Have potato thoroughly mashed. Add the salt, then the icing sugar, a little at a time, until mixture is stiff enough to knead. Add flavoring, then knead in remainder of sugar. Divide the candy into several lots. Leave some as it is, to other lots add green food coloring and to some red food coloring. Shade as desired and dip in melted chocolate or roll in chopped nuts or in coconut which has been tinted with food coloring or browned. If the family is fond of spicing some of the fondant balls might be rolled in cinnamon. Yield: about 30 bonbons.

Timely Recipes

NUTTY RICE CASSEROLE

- 1 cup diced bacon
- 1 good-sized onion, diced
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 cup uncooked rice
- 1 cup bouillon or consommé or chicken broth
- 1 cup water
- 1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts (English); if black walnuts are used, 1/2 cup is enough
- 1 teaspoon salt

Method: In frying pan, cook bacon until grease is almost cooked out. Drain off fat. Add butter and onion, cooking until onion is transparent. Add rice and allow to brown. Rice will look somewhat like nuts. Butter casserole and pour in bouillon, water and add salt. Add rice mixture and nuts. Bake one hour in 350°F. oven. This will serve 6 persons.

BOTH VICTORIOUS—Two women graduates of Queen's University tossed their hats into the municipal election ring for the first time this year and both won. Dr. Charlotte Whilton, right, nationally-known welfare worker, not only was elected to Ottawa's board of control but headed the polls as well. Her friend, Dr. Eustina Kelly Cook, Sudbury, Ont., physician, became one of that city's two women aldermen. (CP PHOTO)

SPECIAL BRIGADE

then hot again as Chinese Communists entered the fray near the close of the year.

Within a few weeks of the Korean outbreak the government announced the dispatching of the destroyers Cayuga, Athabaskan and Sioux from the west coast to join UN naval forces in eastern waters.

A short time later—in July—Canada sent No. 426 Transport Squadron of the RCAF from Montreal to join the Korean airlift flying supplies from McChord Field at Tacoma, Wash., to Tokyo. The Canadian end of the line has since been built up to a dozen big North Star transport planes and given authority to fly right into Korea if necessary.

Early in August, Prime Minister St. Laurent, in a historic broadcast to the nation, announced formation through voluntary enlistment of a special army brigade of 10,000 men. It was to be the first such international force of its kind. In a few weeks the necessary manpower was raised and Brig. J. M. (Rocky) Rockingham, veteran Second World War commander of the Highland brigade, was chosen to lead it.

The next step was the dispatching of a 345-man force of the special brigade to Pusan as an advance party to prepare for arrival of Canadian combat troops. For many weeks it was not known if a combat force actually would be sent, but late in November the 2nd Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry was detached from the special brigade and dispatched to the Far East. It has just arrived in Pusan.

WINTER TRAINING The rest of the special brigade, built up to full strength again with formation of a 3rd Battalion.

War, Rail Strike, Topped Busy Year, Ottawa House

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA—Canada's political pulse quickened in 1950. Parliament met twice, once in the regular spring session and again in a special emergency session called to settle the domestic railway strike crisis and to authorize the raising of troops for Korea or elsewhere.

Four major federal-provincial conferences were held, three in Ottawa and one in Quebec, as representatives of Canada's 11 governments wrestled with the tough economic and constitutional problems facing the country.

Nine federal by-elections called during the year resulted in the loss of four Commons seats for the Liberals. Two went to the Progressive Conservatives and two to the Independent Liberal column. At the year end, the house standing is:

Liberals 169; Progressive Conservatives 43; CCF 13; Social Credit 10; Independents, five; Independent-Liberals, four; vacancies, two. Total—262.

The contests were in the ridings of Halifax, Annapolis-Kings, Montreal St. Mary, Montreal Cartier, Rimouski, Joliette-L'Assomption-Montcalm, Toronto Broadview, Hamilton West and Welland.

The two vacancies still unfilled in the Manitoba riding of Brandon and the Prince Edward Island seat of Queens, were created by the deaths of the sitting members, both Liberals.

SENATE APPOINTMENTS
There were three Senate appointments, leaving 14 vacancies at the year-end. The new senators are Dr. Vincent P. Burke, educationalist from St. John's, Nfld.; Gordon Ismer, Halifax merchant and former Liberal member of the Commons for Halifax, and Charles B. Hawkins, lumberman from Milford Station, N.S.

Cabinet changes were relatively few. Veterans Minister Gregg was appointed labor minister to succeed Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, who died suddenly in August. Mr. Gregg's portfolio went to Solicitor-General Lapointe and Justice Minister Garson assumed the solicitor-generalship. Hon. George Pinham of Edmonton West entered the cabinet in place of Hon. J. A. McKinnon who had been minister without portfolio.

The spring session of Parliament, running from February 16 to June 30, generally featured domestic legislation and a federal budget which left taxes pretty much unchanged.

Then came the worsening Korean situation and Parliament met again from August 29 to September 15 to approve the raising of the special brigade, authorize new defence expenditures, boost taxes and grant the government certain emergency powers in the defence production field.

The federal-provincial conferences dealt with domestic issues. Three of them—two in Ottawa and one in Quebec—were aimed at devising a satisfactory method of amending the Canadian constitution, while the fourth, in Ottawa, dealt with financial relationships between the federal and provincial governments.

Embroidery Used In Paris Styles

By ELCENICE MILLS

PARIS (AP)—Party dresses designed for the festive season by French couturiers vary a lot in style, but all have one thing in common—plenty of embroidery in every shape or form.

In addition to the usual sequins, pearls, jet beads and mock diamonds, two extra novelties have been introduced this winter—embroidery with wool and tufts of fur.

Schiaparelli places tufts of grey squirrel fur all over a light fitting jacket made of champagne-colored satin which has a fluted peplum extending into two ground-length tails at the back. She speckles the fur tufts with pearls and sparkling rhinestones and smoothes the space between the autumn leaves embroidered in silk and gold thread.

Jacques Griffe goes in for wool flowers. He makes a strapless number in smoke grey tulle, which has about a dozen circular skirts piled on top of each other and veils the whole affair with white shadow lace spattered liberally with black rhinestones.

Both long and short evening dresses are popular this winter but both are split into two distinct classes—those with clinging or bouffant skirts that eat up yards of material and those with straight skirts that unimpeded movement and show off the faults of a slimmer.

GLASS BEADS USED
Tulle, taffeta and satin are the main materials used, except for occasional lame or tulle, in the main the luxurious look is in the embroidery more than in the material.

One of the most spectacular creations is shown by 25-year-old Alwynn, who wears a black and white horse blank check wool with glass bead and jet stones. He uses it for a tight-waisted evening coat with a skirt big enough to fit over the white tulle crinoline set beneath it. The bold check wool is also used for the crinoline bodice.

Another fabulous creation by Alwynn is a white satin strapless sheath which has so much bead fringe and chunks of glass dangling from its bodice it looks like a walking chandelier.

Jacques Griffe uses shaded chiffon for a knife-pleated number which starts lime yellow at the waist and ranges through green and peacock blue to petrol at the hemline. Another called "noel" is in thin grey lace and the term of Viscount Alexander as Governor General was extended for another year. His five-year term was to have expired in the spring of 1951.

has its bouffant skirt overlaid with shaded old gold and turquoise chiffon.

This designer also creates a snaky looking dress in rustling black tulle and emphasizes its leanness by balancing a gigantic two-foot long bow on one shoulder and another on the opposite hipbone.

Lose Spirit And Lose All

Warning against people becoming too engrossed in their homes and business, which might be lost, at the expense of appreciation of higher values was sounded by Rev. E. A. Wright at evening service in First Presbyterian Church. Dr. Wright advocated a simple faith in God and obedience to his will as exemplified by the prophet Abraham who had been ready to offer up his only son, Isaac, as a sacrifice. The senior choir sang an acceptable anthem.

IN THE BASKET

I saw a great show last night—more laughs than an "Our Gang" comedy and more action than the charge of the Light Brigade. Produced by Don Forward and directed by Angus MacPhee and Doc Montgomery, it starred one Donald Scherk as leading point-getter and Vernon Ciccone and Bill Davidson as referees. Fans who were confused first of all by reports that Brownwoods and Gordon and Anderson were to play were more confused to find Co-Op taking the place of Brownwoods but little did they know that by the time it was all over, they'd be still further confused trying to decide the name of the game. A helter-skelter battle all the way with some clever line plunging and other football tactics, it paved the way for some choice remarks that I believe deserve publication:

TED ARNEY: "I don't mind a guy grabbing at me but he insisted on shaking hands all the time."

Arney again, when arguing with Syd Woodside after the game: "No wonder G. & A. beefed about Brownwoods roughing it up with them. You have to rough it up to protect yourself."

VERNE CICCONE: Drifting over to Co-Op bench during a time out and addressing MacPhee: "Mac, try to get your fellows to smooth it out a bit." Don't know whether he asked Montgomery to do likewise out if he did his words were lost as soon as "Commence Fire" was sounded.

To give air of how confused the Co-Op club was at times, MacPhee was caught with his players down by picking up a technical foul for having too many players on the floor at once. Too bad they didn't blow the whistle and get the fun started.

If they had I am sure the extra man would have never been noticed. Another time Mickey Webster, after having been given strict instructions to check Eddie Ciccone, spent a good ten minutes looking for him before drifting back to the brain trust to report that Ciccone was on the bench. And ask "Whatama gonna do now?"

On the serious side, Don Scherk was spectacular and it is hoped that the game last night will have no effect on his showing this evening against Carroll College. Don seemed to be enjoying the fun more than most of the lads and made the best of his opportunities.

Jim Flaten and Rupe Holkestad were as usual the backbone of their team, ably assisted by Ed Ciccone.

If it were not for the fact that most of our crew put in such a tough session last night, I'd pick them to take Carroll College this evening. Condition might tell, however, and I am of the opinion that this factor should have been considered when billing last night's game. These college lads will be in top condition save for the off-form situation that presents itself when a travelling team plays on a strange court. However, as the pups said when they first opened their eyes, "we'll see!"

Co-Ops Down Hardware Men

Co-op 47, G. & A. 37
Merchants 56, Thunderbirds 36
High School 49, Manson's 11

Last night was the last league session before the holiday and the crowd that saw Co-Op win over Gordon & Anderson by a 47 to 37 score was the smallest of the season. Most of the usual spectators may have been home getting ready for Christmas so as to be free tonight for the long-awaited Carroll College series.

The senior game was a rough and tumble affair with both teams playing a sub-standard type of ball. Gordon & Anderson started well and went into the second period with a slight 11 to 10 lead. Co-Op came back strong in the period to take over at the half 26 to 20. In the third period the hardware men again made a bid for the lead but were able to cut it by only one point at 35 to 30. Co-Op, playing with only seven men stripped, put the pressure on in the final period which they took 12 to 7, winning the game by a tidy 10 points.

For Co-Op, only four players got in to the score column. The Scherk brothers put on a shooting demonstration that netted 40 points, brother Don getting a whopping big 22 and Syd a smart 18. Arney scored six, and Davis sneaked into the scoring with one lone foul converted. Gordon & Anderson didn't have any big scorers on the team but once again it was a team effort, with every player getting in to the scoring parade. Co-Op moved ahead in the league top-spot, with Brownwoods now trailing by two games after breathing hotly down the necks of last night's winner until Co-Op came through with their victory.

Regular league sessions get under way again on January 9 with a full program of exhibition basketball slated for the next two weeks.

INTERMEDIATE

The Merchants played their best ball of the season to win over Thunderbirds 56 to 36. Parnell, Wesch and Christoff teamed together to rack up 46 points—Christoff high man with 18, Parnell getting 15, and Wesch 13. Wesch was swishing them in from way out in the corners, and Parnell was making his from just outside the key. Christoff piled up his total on hook-shots. Thunderbirds are happy over their new player Dudward who scored 19 of their 36 total. It was his first game with the team and they have served notice that, with this added player, things are going to be different from now on. It is to be hoped they are, as the boys are trying hard and deserve to get into the win column.

JUNIOR

The High School Juniors disposed of Manson's by a 49 to 11 landslide. The winners had a fast break which Manson's couldn't stop. Ron Ciccone spirited the ball away from Manson's time after time, and helped set-up team-mates Christensen and Mathews, who scored 16 and 10 respectively. Larry Mathews was very good. For the losers, Anderson played an outstanding game, but the team just didn't have a clue.

High School, were without Dan McAfee, who has a thumb fracture, and Henry Blackaby, still away at Ketchikan. They used two players from the juvenile division—Strand and Mah.

JUNIOR

Joe Louis began training eight years ago for the 20th defence of his world heavyweight boxing crown. It was a second fight against Buddy Baer and a second knockout victory for the Brown Bomber on Jan. 9. Louis is still fighting as an ex-champ since he lost the title to Ezzard Charles.

John Henry Lewis, light-heavyweight champion, knocked out Coleman Jones in the second round of a non-title bout 15 years ago. Lewis then defeated Dutch Weintr in another non-title tussle. He resigned the title in 1938 to enter the heavyweight ranks.

Barney Ross, the former welterweight and lightweight champion, was named boxing's "Man of the Year" eight years ago by award of the Edward J. Neil trophy at New York. Ross was honored because of his exploit on Guadalcanal, where he fought off Japanese attackers while protecting three wounded comrades of the U.S. Marines.

Port Alfred, Que.—unloading bauxite

Port Alfred—loading aluminum

... add a pinch of bauxite"

It is a recipe for a bigger, richer, more comfortable Canada.

The "pinch" is scores of shiploads of the red earth—bauxite—from British Guiana. A three-thousand-mile ocean journey ends at Port Alfred on the Saguenay River. Then the bauxite goes by rail to the electrical "kitchen" at Arvida a few miles away.

There aluminum is refined from the bauxite by using electricity provided by harnessing the same Saguenay.

You see, the Saguenay provides two essentials for making aluminum—deep water for cargo ships and cataraacts for power—within a few miles of one another.

Standing on the dock at Port Alfred, you see something unique. You watch freight cars filled with bauxite disappear over a hill and return with shining aluminum. The process of turning bauxite into aluminum has added Port Alfred and the city of Arvida to Canada's living space, and opened new opportunities for thousands of Canadians.

Donald Gordon's 'Xmas Message

25 Years Ago

December 20, 1925

MONTREAL — "Although this year we shall be observing Christmas in an anxious mood, that fact, in itself, should help to make the true meaning of the season clearer to all of us," said Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, in a special message today to all officers and employees across the system.

"Christmas is much more than a time for exchanging greetings and presents. It is the annual rebirth of a great promise, the promise that good upon this earth will prevail.

"So it is that I wish all of you a very merry Christmas indeed and hope that you will not only enjoy the happiness and blessings arising from family reunions and other traditional observances of this day but that you will find also, within the deeper meaning of Christmas, the strength and the confidence to face the future in the fullness of faith.

"As we approach a new year in which we may have to make great and grave decisions, it should be gratifying to all of us to know that in every possible way the Canadian National system is in better condition to serve the nation than ever before. We are well manned and we know how to do our job. In that fact we can take pride and the nation find heart. It will make the new year happier for all of us."

Ald. McKennie has the contract for the new gymnasium for the United Church at the corner of Seventh Avenue and Donald Street. The building will be 35 feet by 45 feet and will have a clear interior floor space of 35 feet by 40 feet.

As its share in the profits of the provincial government liquor business and the tax on the pari-mutuel system for race track betting, Prince Rupert gets $9,600 and a check for that amount is now being forwarded to the city treasurer.

There seldom has been anything just as attractive as the "bare" dance at the Elks' Home last night, given to raise money for the Christmas Cheer fund.

10 Years Ago

December 20, 1940

The Junior Chamber of Commerce radio auction for the Salvation Army Christmas and winter relief fund came to a rousing finish about midnight last night. Bids for the whole broadcast totalled $486.20 of which $427.05 were filled.

At the final pre-Christmas meeting of the Boy Scouts last night, Clifford Wanamaker was presented by Scoutmaster Ernest Meadows with the first class Scout and cadaver's badges.

REQUIRED DRESS—Skull caps are required dress for all school-age children in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., these days as medical authorities seek to curb an outbreak of ringworm in the city. The outbreak started last summer and spread to epidemic proportions. Progress is being made combatting the fungus disease but skull caps are still being worn to keep down the spread of the disease through bodily contact. (CP PHOTO)

Blackwood On Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

The important thing about an overcall is that the trump suit itself be strong. In this hand, Miss Brash had almost enough in high cards for an opening bid. But she wasn't the opening bidder. She didn't have a strong enough heart suit for an overcall at the two level. If her heart suit had been K Q J 10 2, instead of what it was, she would have been much more nearly justified.

The bidding:
East 1H South 2H West Dbl. North Pass

Mr. Champion opened the king of spades which held. He followed with the nine of spades, the ten went on from dummy and Mr. Dale won with the queen. He returned the eight of trumps which declarer and Mr. Champion ducked and dummy's jack won. Next came the nine of diamonds from dummy and Mr. Dale, fearful of an end play later, put up the king. Miss Brash won the ace and led another diamond. Mr. Champion won the queen and came out with the ten of hearts, thus preventing a diamond ruff in dummy and retaining his ten-ace over declarer's trumps.

Miss Brash won this trick with the queen of hearts and was helpless to avoid the loss of two more diamonds, a club and two hearts. Down 500 points.

What do you think Miss Brash should have done over the opening bid of one spade? She should have passed. Her right hand opponent had shown strength and her partner's holding was unknown. He might hold a complete bust. In addition, her heart holding wasn't good enough to be sure that a heart would be a favorable opening lead for Mr. Abel, in case West played the hand. Of course if Miss Brash had passed, West had passed and Mr. Abel had bid, then some positive action should be taken on the South hand. But only then.

Can you think of another reason—and an important one—why Miss Brash should have passed? It is this on her right hand was a sound bidder and a good defender; on her left was a brilliant player and a quick doubler.

New Royal Color At London Show

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

Canadian Press Correspondent

LONDON — At a London display, Two Hundred Years of Fashion, showing 153 dress designs of other eras, the coat and dress that caused most comment were worn by a member of the audience—Princess Margaret.

The Princess wore a new color, the audience found it difficult to describe.

"Burgundy-red," said a textile designer. "Liver-sausage pink," said a fashion writer.

"Copper red," was the verdict of a well-known fashion designer, who was given the last word. "And thank goodness for the change from that eternal royal blue."

The Queen and Princess Margaret were attending a display given by Mrs. Doris Langley Moore, London's authority on period costume. Well-known actresses of stage and screen displayed the fashions of two centuries, from gorgeous cinolines and sedate bustles, to the earliest tennis and cycling outfits and the uniform of the Edwardian suffragettes.

Today's popular double-purpose designs were seen in a mid-Victorian croquet dress of silver-grey silk, looped over a frilled petticoat of ankle-length and topped by a loose, hip-length scarlet jacket. Loosen the petticoat ribbons, remove the jacket and the result was an elegant full-length, low-necked ball gown.

TOO GAY FOR CHURCH

The present tartan race also had its predecessor in the Victorian 1870's. A vivid scarlet and black tartan dress of the period was described by its owner, as: "A little too gay for church-going."

Mrs. Moore pointed to the first omission of gloves in the 18th century costume and the continued use of the parasol up to the beginning of the First World War.

The Queen is an up-to-date devotee of the parasol and carries one at all royal garden parties. This year, a number of the style-conscious guests carried gay, new parasol fashions.

"One of the strangest fashion changes," said Mrs. Moore, "is the fact that once silk was the luxury material, now wool is the most luxurious and expensive material of all."

"If the display proved anything," said Helen Williams of the Yorkshire Post, "it proved that dresses for gala occasions have always been beautiful, excepting perhaps the ugly chemise-styles of the mid-20's."

For summer vacations in December Brazilians frequent Paqueta Island off Rio de Janeiro.

'Xmas Cheer Pot Is Lower

Captain Paulton reports that the results of the first day of the collection by the "Cheer Pot" on Saturday was $89.40. This was somewhat less than last year's first day and may reflect the absence from town of the Columbia Cellulose employees.

The following donations were also received:

M. M. Stephens ..... 25.00
Rotary Club ..... 25.00
Capitol Barbers ..... 5.00
Dr. Munthe ..... 10.00

The "Cheer Pot" will be on the street daily from now to Christmas Eve.

Heavy Problem At Fire Hall

A weighty problem at the Fire Hall was solved quickly yesterday when the heavyweights of the department stepped on a bathroom scale brought up from downstairs by Chief Earl Becker. Bob Parks, at 217, lost his bet that he was less than four pounds heavier than Jack Furness, who weighed out at 207. The chief himself ran a close third at 204.

Pocahontas' Bones Perilled By Plan

GRAVESEND, Eng. — The last resting place of a north American legend is in peril. Orders are awaited to demolish St. George's Church where the body of the Indian Princess Pocahontas was buried 333 years ago. The church is in a poor state of repair, and the church of England commissioners put St. George's on their "condemned" list in 1948.

Every Sunday the few remaining worshippers walk right over the bones of the beautiful Indian girl who, so the story goes, saved Captain John Smith's life from the tomahawks of her father's tribes at the risk of her own. The bones of Chief Powhatan's daughter lie in a vault beneath the aisle.

The Rev. Richard Dauntont-Pear, Vicar of St. George's, says there is not the slightest doubt that the bones are still there, despite the passing of more than three centuries.

OPPOSES MOVING

The vicar does not want to see his church torn down. Apart from the church itself, he thinks it would not be fitting for the bones of Pocahontas to wind up under the foundations of a factory or apartment dwelling.

He estimates it would take about $300,000 to reconstruct the church and make it a shrine for Americans, especially those from Virginia. Many indignant Virginians have called on the trans-Atlantic telephone to harass the vicar for not doing something about Pocahontas. Hundreds more have written letters.

Pocahontas married colonist John Rolfe and came to England with him and their son early in the 17th century. Beautiful daughter of a native chief, she made a great splash in court circles and was received by Queen Anne.

MA. 11, 1617, the Rolfes started the long ocean voyage from London back to America. Aboard ship, Pocahontas fell ill. Taken ashore at Gravesend, she died.

Electric Iron Starts Fire

A forgotten electric iron Monday afternoon was the cause for a fire alarm at the home of J. Lewtyler, 72 Biggar Place. The fire department was called to the residence at 4:10 and found an electric iron still on. The handle had been burned off completely and the table top and table leg burned. No other damage was caused.
