RUSSIANS REFUSE TO LIFT BLOCKADE

Soviet Marshal Refuses to Yield to Western Demands

BERLIN CRISIS IS STILL AT IMPASSE

BERLIN (CP)—An official American spokesman announced tonight that Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky had refused to give any assurances to commanders of the western powers that the Russian blockade would be lifted. The spokesman made the announcement following a conference of western power commanders with the Soviet representative.

TRAVELERS HIT

The provincial three percent sales tax has hit coastwise steamship travel. According to instructions received by steamship offices, tax is to be applied to meals received while on board ship and is roughly applicable to 25 percent of the total fare. As a result, travelers now have to pay an additional 33 cents on one-way first class tickets to Vancouver and 12 cents on tickets to Ocean Falls. The tax levy is double on round trip tickets.

UNIONS GROWING

OTTAWA HOPEFUL
OTTAWA—Canadian government sources yesterday termed Russia's blockade of Berlin as potentially "critical and dangerous" but said they believed it would be settled in short order.

YugoSlav-Albanian Quarrel

Sharp Notes Are Exchanged—Tito Threatens 'Consequences'

LONDON (CP)—YugoSlavia yesterday accused Albania of "offensive acts" to destroy YugoSlav prestige and warned of consequences should this continue. It did so in three sharp notes handed the Albanian embassy in Belgrade. The notes charged that Albanian authorities had insulted YugoSlavia, had cut exports to her and stopped construction of a railroad to the border. Albania was reminded of her economic dependence upon YugoSlavia.

TRAIN CRASH

The passenger train, running nine hours later after a delayed start from Vancouver, had stopped to repair a coupling between two front-end cars when the freight rammed into its rear.

The accident occurred near Tivers, Manitoba.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis

Clear skies and light winds across southern British Columbia give promise of pleasant weather during the week-end. Afternoon temperatures are expected to reach 80 to 85 over the interior and 65 to 70 near the coast. A westerly flow of moist Pacific air entering the northern coastal areas is causing some rain over the Queen Charlottes and northern mainland. Cloudiness extends into the northern interior with showers expected during the day. There is little indication of much improvement in these regions in the next 48 hours.

Forecast

Queen Charlottes and North Coast—Overcast in the northern area today and Sunday. Occasional light rain. Cloudy in the southern area, becoming overcast with rain this afternoon. Cloudy during the night and on Sunday. Winds light except northwesterly 15 mph in the exposed areas. Little change in temperature. Lows tonight and highs Sunday: at Port Hardy 50 and 60, Massett 50 and 58, Prince Rupert 50 and 57.

GOT $4000

But Vancouver Bandits Missed $20,000 Payroll

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Two jumpy gunmen escaped with four thousand dollars from the Denman Street branch of the Royal Bank of Canada yesterday but missed $20,000 contained in a payroll in the second teller's cage.

The bandits entered at noon and herded 15 customers into a corner as they held the staff at gunpoint.

The bank manager, John Currie, defied one gunman and ran into the washroom, jumping through a window and calling the police.

As the bandits fled in a stolen maroon auto, they fired a shot at A. B. McPherson, ex-police-man, who trailed them until they became lost in heavy traffic.

The bandits are believed to be the same duo who staged seven bank hold-ups here last winter, escaping with $15,000. The winter bandits used maroon cars and wore coveralls and goggles. Yesterday's men had the same dress.

Arabs Reject Peace Plan

COPPERS SCARCE

Brown Money in Demand To Make Change in New Sales Tax

Coming into effect of the new provincial three percent sales tax has brought copper money back into use and demand for changing purposes and many retail houses were crying for one-cent pieces this morning as the banks ran short of this form of coinage. J. Harry Black, manager of the Capitol Theatre, also found himself short and was among those in the market.

CONTRACT LET

Contract for repairing the exterior of Booth Memorial High School was awarded this week by the Prince Rupert and District School Board to the firm of Greer and Bridden for slightly more than $11,000.

Included in the repairs will be renewal of cornice work, repair of windows and doors, waterproofing the roof of the auditorium and the east wall of the building. An inside stairway also will be strengthened. Not included in the contract were the plastering and stuccoing of approximately 800 square yards of surface where the original surfaces have been ravaged by time and weather.

The Board called for tenders early in June for the outside of the building in order to seal it against the weather to permit rehabilitation of the interior. The Board anticipates spending about $38,000 on the school over a period of three years.

Department of Education grants cover half the cost of putting the school back into condition. This summer's work is expected to be completed by the time the school term begins in September.

The Board hopes to add some additional fluorescent lighting fixtures as well this summer.

WOULD AVERT STRIKE

OTTAWA—A high ranking government official said last night that the government was doing everything possible to avert a threatened railway strike and negotiations were continuing. In event of a breakdown, however, it would be childish to think the government would provide other facilities such as Royal Canadian Air Force transport for country wide transportation. Nor would the government take over the railroads.

The Canadian Spirit

AS A NATION, Canadians are shy people, often accused of suffering from an inferiority complex. Like shy people everywhere, we are wont to depreciate our accomplishments and be extremely embarrassed when any visitor praises our achievements. Yet we feel a warm glow of satisfaction and pride in the light of that praise.

If it can be said that a people achieves nationhood, then it can be safely added that we have achieved ours almost by default. We are too prone to stress our differences rather than to consider how much alike we all are. Most of us, gradually realizing that we are not completely British, nor American, nor French, have awakened to the fact that there is a distinct Canadian identity. We are much more alike than we realize.

That distinct identity can be recognized by people in other countries. Our service men and women who were overseas during the war years were often surprised to find how readily they were identified as Canadians, even though Britons could not tell whether they came from the east, or the west, or the centre of Canada.

There is great need for all of us to think in terms of that Canadian identity. Our different cultural and racial backgrounds can be sources of real strength to Canada. Racial, regional and religious differences do exist. They can lead to dissensions or they can be lively sources of national strength. We get nowhere by dwelling on those differences. Let's be different and thank God that we are. At the same time, let's work together to bring about mutual respect and trust in one another.

We can make a real contribution to Canada by working for national understanding and unity, based on the tolerance and co-operation of those Fathers of Confederation who first sought to draw together the diverse elements which make up this country. There is the true spirit which must imbue us—respect for the right to be different and confidence that, apart from those healthy differences, there is a broad area of agreement on which to base real national understanding, trust and unity. That is the true Canadian spirit.

NEWSPAPERS BEST

THE president of Robert Simpson Co. Ltd., Edgar G. Burton, it may be conceded, is a shrewd and discerning businessman, also knowing something about effective salesmanship. If he was not he would not be the head of such a successful business concern which worries almost every business in the country through its aggressive and market grabbing tactics.

Mr. Burton made out a strong case for newspaper advertising in speaking before a recent gathering of newspaper advertising executives in Quebec.

The development of his own company from a small store would not have been possible without close co-operation with many Canadian newspapers, Mr. Burton said, continuing:

"Newspaper advertising continues to provide the best media for moving goods off retailers' shelves in quantity. Magazines, radio and even television have their part to play, but for consistent daily results the newspaper ad delivers the goods."

Newspaper advertising is specific, and being in type can be referred to, again and again, or kept indefinitely. An article is described, often illustrated, and priced. The reader sees where it is to be found, is persuaded to come and buy, or order. In short, the prospective purchaser is fully informed.

And yet even here in Prince Rupert there are some business people who are satisfied to try and get by without using the best medium for moving goods—advertising in their local newspaper. And, strangely enough, the worse things get for many of them, the less they use advertising which is the thing that would sell their goods.

HARVEST EARLY

Suggestions About Getting In Central Interior Hay

In Central British Columbia where the Prince George Experimental Station is located, weather plays an important part in harvesting the hay crop, says F. V. Hutton. If the weather is suitable, however, the following points should be kept in mind:

Harvest grasses as soon after heading as possible and clovers in the early bloom stage.

Grasses should be harvested early, as though the tonnage may increase somewhat for a week or more after heading, the palatability will decrease. The real food value decreased also and if grass is allowed to stand until nearly ripe, it is little better than straw.

Clovers also are at their best in available food value and palatability in the early bloom stage and should give a profitable yield at this time also. Mixtures of grasses and legumes should be harvested when the grass is ready, as the loss will be greater, if the grass is left, than the gain made in waiting for the clover.

Weather permitting, early harvest of the hay crop is strongly recommended both for quality and economy.

When an eastern firm received word that one of its salesmen had been found dead in San Francisco, it wired:

"Send samples back by freight, search body for orders."

CHURCH

SATURDAY SERMON

THE MISSION OF MAN

(By Capt. Earle Jarrett, The Salvation Army)
"Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" —Acts 9:6.

This question was asked by Saul of Tarsus at his wonderful meeting with the Lord Jesus on the road to Damascus. The question intimates at once that, when the Lord saves a person, he does so for a definite purpose. Thus saved ones have a mission to perform for the Lord. This mission is certain and may be found, accepted and carried out for the Lord Jesus.

ENGINEERS RETIRE

Eight of the senior engineers of the British Columbia Department of Public Works retired at the end of June. They include the Deputy Minister, A. L. Caruthers, W. M. Ramsay, district engineer at Kamloops, H. L. Hayne, locating engineer for the province, W. P. Beavan, surfacing engineer, A. F. Duckert, district engineer, Revelstoke, John Taylor, general foreman at New Denver, J. C. Brady, district engineer at Prince Rupert, and Hugh McDonald, the general foreman at Stewart.

Lord will always reveal His will to those who seek Him sincerely. And yet again man's mission in life may be accomplished because the Lord will not impose an impossible task on any Christian. I Cor. 3:9 tells us "For we are laborers together with God." Our God is all powerful and will use this power to accomplish His high and holy will through each Christian. It is said of the early disciples of Jesus: "They went forth, and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them and confirming the word with signs following." —Mark 16:20. It is suggested that we find our task, accept it, prepare for it, and do it for the glory of God. If each Christian would accept the will of God as it is revealed to them, saying this to themselves: "This is the task that the Lord has assigned to me. I will accept it and get ready to do it. It is my own personal work for the Lord. I will do it for His glory." Then, the cause of Christ would advance and men would be delivered from their sin.

Reminiscences and Reflections

By W.I.

It's all very well to be designated an "agent of the Crown" but it does not butter any parsnips. However, for a merchant to be known as that, is a necessary part of this sales tax business and he has to take it and like it, if that's possible. It does not add to, or detract from his dignity. All it actually does is give him another headache.

This year's Civic Centre carnival will have on display something never seen here before, yet representing an advance in city development, long and earnestly hoped and striven for. Both the invitation to utilize space, and acceptance by a huge industrial concern comes as a most happy gesture. There will be seen tangible realization of the approach of an enterprise that means work and wages.

Comes word that an Oregon man has eaten pancakes every morning for twenty-five years. The theory is he believed that one good turn deserves another.

Speaking on behalf of fellow physicians at the Civic Hospital in Ottawa, a doctor said to nurses: "With medical practice

FUNERAL TODAY

Final Rites For Late Hugh Richmond in Vancouver

Funeral took place from Center & Hanna's funeral chapel in Vancouver today of the late Hugh Richmond, a former resident of 30 years' standing in Prince Rupert, who passed away on Wednesday in the southern city. He had been ill for a short time and confined to a private hospital.

Mr. Richmond was caretaker for many years of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station while it was located here. During the war he joined the dry dock staff and left there in 1946 to take up residence in Vancouver with his niece.

Deceased was born 72 years ago in Glasgow, Scotland, and came to Canada as a young man. Surviving relatives include the niece in Vancouver, Mrs. Henrietta Ardagh, and a nephew in Glasgow, Dr. Primrose. The late James Richmond, who many years ago was in business first at Hazelton and later at Terrace, was a brother.

MRS. XENAKI DIES

Had Resided in Prince Rupert 18 Years

Mrs. Katherine Xenaki, a resident of Prince Rupert for 18 years, died at Prince Rupert General Hospital Thursday at the age of 69 after an illness. She came to Canada from Greece.

She is survived by her husband, Stamatios Xenaki, a former fisherman, now living in retirement at the family home at 735 First Avenue West and two daughters, Mrs. George Christy, of Prince Rupert, and Mrs. George James, formerly a city resident, now on her way west from her home at Toronto. A niece, Mrs. J. Furiotis, also lives in Prince Rupert.

Funeral arrangements have been held back pending the arrival of Mrs. James.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Harvey and family left on Thursday for Lake Kathryn to take up residence for the season in their summer home.

Mrs. G. R. S. Blackaby and sons, Alfred, Henry and William, are leaving by car on Monday for Lake Kathryn to take up residence for the season in their summer home.

R. D. Cleland, vice-principal of Booth Memorial High School, left by train this week for Dawson Creek, Alberta, where he will visit relatives during the summer holidays.

Rt. Rev. James B. Gibson, Bishop of Caledonia, and Mrs. Gibson left on last evening's train for their summer home at Shandilla near Kitwanga to spend a three week's holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Haiford W. Stevens and daughter arrived in the city Friday on the Prince George. Mr. Stevens is here to assume the position of district Public Works Engineer. Mr. Stevens was formerly assistant engineer at Kelowna.

BIG DANCE

Four Hundred and Fifty Persons Wound Up Dominion Day at Civic Centre

A big dance in the Civic Centre Thursday night was a fitting culmination to the Dominion Day celebration renewed in Prince Rupert this year with such marked success by the Canadian Legion. No less than 450 persons were in attendance. Music was by Andy McNaughton and His Four Dukes Orchestra. Feature of the proceedings was the presentation by Mayor Nora Arnold of awards won earlier in the day in the track and field meet.

Passengers arriving in the city aboard the Prince George at noon yesterday included Mr. and Mrs. W. Hardy and D. E. Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Montaldi of Burns Lake sailed last night on the Catala for a trip to Vancouver.

A. Victor Burns, traffic representative, Canadian Pacific Airlines, arrived in the city Friday on business with the company's local office. He left for the south again by air today.

In a single issue of the Vancouver Sun last week appears a list of no fewer than 22 applications for divorce, all of which were granted. There is no mention of Prince Rupert as place of residence in any of the names involved.

A study club under the auspices of the Vancouver branch of the General Accountants' Association of Canada was formed at an organizational meeting of the General Accountants' Association held in the Civic Centre on Wednesday evening. ROYAL COUPLE—Ex-King Michael of Romania and his fiancée, Princess Ann of Bourbon-Parma, are shown as they arrived at the Beurivage hotel in Lausanne, Switzerland after their marriage took place in Athens and was attended by members of the royal families and Greek premier, Themistokles Sophoulis, and foreign minister, Constantin Tsaldaris. The Experts Say

Larger Shoes
With peeping toes disappearing from shoe styles, milady might as well realize that larger shoes are necessary if she wants foot comfort along with that "all-closed" look. In open models the big toes could come right to the edge of the sole, but the Shoe Manufacturers' Association of Canada warns that in closed shoes the wearer should allow at least one-quarter to one-half an inch between the end of the foot and the end of the shoe. The reason is that when you stand the foot naturally spreads and the toes thrust forward. Thus a woman will take a larger size in a closed shoe than in an open one—but since the long tapered look is fashionable, this should not worry her unduly. Experts of the S.M.A.C. offer the following advice on correct fitting:
1. See that the clerk measures both feet, as one often is longer than other—the longer foot should determine the shoe size.
2. When buying shoes be sure that the large toe joint, where bunions usually occur, fits into the part of the shoe where the sole begins to swing under the arch—in other words the widest part of the foot should coincide with the widest part of the shoe.
3. The shoe should hug the foot closely around the heel. Shoe experts explain that the three weight-bearing points of the foot are the area under the big toe, the area under the little toe, and the area under the heel. If these key points have adequate freedom and support, the weight of the body will be evenly distributed. "Breaking in" is described as a painful process in which the feet make more adjustment than the shoes—in correctly fitted shoes it should not be necessary. VARIETY IN COLOR

Freed from wartime restrictions, Canadian tanners have gone in for a variety of colored leathers. "Just like a painter, the chemist at the tannery must exercise great care in mixing his colors and pre-testing them on various types of leather," says the S.M.A.C. Delicate pastel shades, grey, bronze, cocoa, already are popular shoe shades. Pine Green and Fiesta Wine will be the chosen colors this autumn. As for the fall shoe fashions, the S.M.A.C. reports that new lasts have been designed for that "all-closed" look, and advance fall showings by Canadian manufacturers feature variations on the opera pump theme. Faced with the problem of designing an all-closed shoe which does not look heavy, the manufacturers are making use of such devices as multiple cut-outs on the front of the shoe and below the ankle—the object is to avoid dense, solid color, particularly black and Town Brown, both of which will be popular shades next season.

HONOR MEMORY

Canadian Graves In England Kept Impressively
An eastern daily prints the letter of a woman recently returned from a visit to England. She had, at the request of an Ottawa mother, gone to Brockwood cemetery to see the grave of her son. "That visit," she writes, "was a revelation to me. Never had I dreamed that such loving care could be given. Colonel and sapper, major and private lie side by side; here rank does not count. At the foot of each man is a root of purple heather, a root of white heather and a rose bush in the centre. Here, at 9 every morning the Canadian flag is hoisted and here at sundown it is lowered. Here, British loving hands have placed fresh flowers, here young maple trees are truly a part of the land these boys loved so well. Here, too, is the Memorial Chamber. Here, on the table lies the Book of Remembrance, giving each man's name, rank, date of death and number of his grave. The spot itself lies in that beautiful part of Surrey where Nature is at her prettiest. Shadowy trees, honeysuckle, roses and peonies bloom in profusion. The caretaker of the Canadian section has been handpicked for the job. He spoke softly, even reverently, and you felt as though he must have known them personally. We watched him, in the lovely English twilight as he lowered the flag, and as he stood on the mound at the foot of the flagpole and looked all around. It seemed as if he was saying goodnight."

GIRLS' INDECENCY

WHEELING West Virginia—Bishop J. J. Swint announces he will excommunicate any Catholic girl of the Wheeling diocese who takes part in a beauty contest. He called modern beauty pageants "totally pagan and absolutely immoral." Protesting what he called the indecent exposure of girls' bodies before the public, he told the press: "How any girl can submit herself to that ordeal is beyond me."

Personalities Of Early Days

S. M. NEWTON

It was in the early summer of 1909 that S. M. Newton arrived in Prince Rupert, a city in which he was destined to spend the rest of his life. He was a man of purpose and individuality, not easily persuaded if he happened to hold other opinions, clear and candid in his expressions of them, and, at heart, eminently fair and generous. He was born at or near Newcastle On Tyne (England) and lived to be about seventy.

Mr. Newton's father was an Anglican missionary in the early Canadian North West who died in Victoria not many years after his son settled in Prince Rupert. "Sam" came here from Kingston (Ontario) where he published a daily paper and, previous to that, had lived in a smaller city of the same province.

Everyone in Prince Rupert called him "Sam" but that was not his real name. It was Seville Martineau Newton. During his residence in Eastern Canada he had been afflicted with asthma, something he frequently mentioned. It had been his happy experience, he used to say, to move from Kingston to Prince Rupert to discover himself rid of asthma. He found in Prince Rupert, "the place where it rains all the time," freedom from a troublesome complaint and few could better champion than himself the city's good points as a place of residence.

He backed his faith in a prompt and tangible way, not only buying out the late John Houston but losing no time in building an office on Third Avenue, and a comfortable residence for himself and family on Fifth Avenue. Each was among the first erected on either street and both are still standing. Third Avenue, when the Empire was first seen there, was little better than newly cleared land.

Mr. Newton was a man of average height and figure, with a deep resonant voice, smooth shaven, thoughtful in countenance, and with heavy black hair.

His interest in public affairs was deep and abiding. Particularly was this true of local matters. Prince Rupert had not been incorporated more than a year when he ran for the office of alderman and was honored with election. He served frequently as mayor. He was a forceful and effective campaign-er and an excellent platform speaker.

He spoke with deliberation and his views were invariably clear and positive. Certainly, there was never any obscurity, or anything indefinite. Through those early and, at times, strenuous years there were hundreds of meetings—some political, some municipal and some social—and his was a familiar figure at most of them.

He was a poor subject for the heckler. He would pace slowly back and forth, carefully following the thread of argument, and making but few gestures. He was always calm. If there should be interruptions that persisted he would pause and the silence would be profound. His "comeback" reminded one of a waterfront blast, on a minor scale. The heckler might be seen at subsequent occasions, but if he talked, it was not with "Sam." Prince Rupert, in that early day, was headquarters for thousands of railway laborers who were known as "bohunks."

Here was a word Mr. Newton always pronounced "hobunks"—not that it made any particular difference. "Bohunks, Sam, not hobunks," his friends (and they were numerous) would call out to the speaker on the platform. "I'm sorry."

He was one of the men who contributed to laying the foundation of this city "as it was in the beginning."

SHIPS AND WATERFRONT

Operating on a speeded up schedule now that she has been relieved by the steamer Cardena of calls at Ocean Falls, Bella Coola and other points on the lower coast, Union steamer Catala, Capt. Ernest Sheppard, arrived in port at 5 o'clock last evening from Vancouver and cannery points and sailed at 6:30 p.m. on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.

OLDER WORKERS

Finding jobs for older workers has become something of a job for the Employment Service of Canada because of an apparent prejudice on the part of employers against men over the age of 45, E. V. Whiting, regional Employment Service Officer, said in an address to the Prince Rupert Rotary Club Friday afternoon.

Mr. Whiting deplored this attitude because, he said, experience has shown that older men have not "slowed down" as many believe but are more steady and often more open to new ideas than younger men. Their experience is an advantage that many employers overlook.

Mr. Whiting outlined the background of the unemployment insurance idea which began in Parliament in 1911 after the United Kingdom had begun such a scheme. After 30 years of legislative effort, a plan was introduced in 1935 but was disallowed by the Supreme Court of Canada after the provincial governments had tested it as an encroachment on provincial rights.

After consultation with provincial governments, a non-compulsory insurance plan was begun in 1941. In March, 1942, because of the intensity of Canada's war effort, it was made compulsory. "Even after seven years of administration the purposes of the act are not fully understood by the public," Mr. Whiting said. "Social insurance should not be confused with social assistance, the indigent relief and public welfare services."

He outlined the machinery for refugees and for local advisory committees, purpose of the latter being not administrative, but to advise the Unemployment Insurance Commission on ways of carrying out the purposes of the employment service.

The local employment advisory committee, made up of citizens is doing an effective continuing job, Mr. Whiting declared.

Chairman of the Rotary Club meeting, which was held on Friday instead of Thursday because of the Dominion Day holiday, was D. C. Stevenson, newly installed president.

TEACHERS RESIGN

Eight members of the city public school teaching staff of more than 40 had handed in their resignations to Schools Secretary Mrs. M. M. Roper at the completion of the school term at the end of June. Only one teacher of the four rural schools has resigned.

In the elementary schools, two teachers have resigned, Miss Freda Hall of Conrad Street and Miss E. C. Spence of King Edward, while six have terminated their connection with Booth Memorial High School. They are Miss Lee Gidney, John Church, John Kenny, Mrs. N. Moses, Alfred Williams and Mrs. Doris Cobb.

So far, only one of those leaving has been replaced. That is Mrs. J. Guillet of Digby Island rural school who completed the term for a former teacher. The new teacher is to be R. W. McInnes, of Vancouver.

All the other rural teachers have signified their intention of remaining. They are Miss Evelyn Moret of Port Edward, Miss Jane Common of Port Simpson and Miss Ellen Olynk of Port Essington. Size of the enrollment at the Port Essington school, where native and white children study together, has made it necessary to employ a second teacher there. No appointment has yet been made.

EVERYTHING HASN'T RAISED IN PRICE . . .

It may surprise many but 1847 Rogers and Community Silver Flatware is the same price as before the war.
And as the tax is now off it should be doubly attractive.
Bulger's always sell standard goods at Canadian advertised prices even though express charges are more than those of places nearer to the factories.
For instance a Big Ben clock or set of silver sells for the same price as in Ontario where it is made.
A large part of our stock is made up of standard advertised goods and we try to keep the balance in line with the prices of other cities. And we guarantee the satisfaction of our goods.
Something from Bulger's is always something worth having.
