Water Here May Be Used Again This Winter

Prospect for Air Field Looks Promising but Skeena Member Not Very Hopeful About Warehouse

There is a definite possibility of the Prince Rupert air field being used again this winter, reports E. T. Applewhite, M.P. for Skeena, who is back in the city attending the recent special session of Parliament in Ottawa. "If the crop is as large and as low as expected, some grain through Prince Rupert... Mr. Applewhite said that the air field... was going into the... project... "The air field... in the bag," said Mr. Applewhite, "but the outlook is... for a commercial... project..."

Truman Hopeful— Sees Peace After Talk

ST. LOUIS (AP)—President H. S. Truman held out hope today that he and General Douglas MacArthur may find a way to counter the explosive threat to communism in the Far East. He contended that free countries are "making progress toward peace" in spite of conditions which are prevailing in the Far East.

Out of this week-end's conference in the Pacific the President predicted, may come some contribution to the peace of the world. There is still considerable speculation as to where the conference may be held. One report is that it may be in Wake Island.

Flash Naval Bombardment May Prelude Fresh Landings

Port of Chongjin, on Far Northeast Coast, Subjected to Heavy Attack—Canadian Vessels in It

TOKYO (CP)—Big guns of the battleship Missouri with other Allied warships, including British, Canadian and Australian, and naval planes set fire today to Chongjin, far northern port on the east coast of Red Korea. The industrial city of 194,000 is 34 miles southeast of Red China's Manchurian border, 49 miles from Soviet Siberia and 220 miles from the coast from nearest Allied and South Korean ground troops at Wonsan.

U.S. Raises Bars— Tighten On Immigrants

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP)—United States officials today ordered the suspension temporarily of passport visas issued to aliens—including Canadians—planning to come to the United States. The suspension order went out to American officials all over the world in a move to permit a re-check of individual records because of the tight new internal security laws intended to screen communists and those who may have been identified with totalitarian parties in foreign countries.

Canada Not Interested

OTTAWA (AP)—Canadian and United States officials conferred today on possibilities of surveying a route for a proposed rail link to British Columbia and Alaska. There is no sign that the Canadian government is interested in backing its share of the costly project at this time.

May Price Itself Out

TORONTO (AP)—John A. Marsh, president of the Canadian Exporters' Association, said Wednesday there is danger of Canada's goods becoming too expensive for other countries. Addressing the Purchasing Agents' Association here, Marsh said: "Our cost of living has gone steadily upward to an all-time high of 168.5. I do not think it is true that higher and higher wages and costs help everybody as one sometimes hears it said."

Chris Vokes Coming West

OTTAWA (AP)—Colorful Major-General Chris Vokes was put in charge of Canada's vast western command yesterday while two other vital army staff changes were announced. Major-General Howard D. Graham leaves the job of vice-chief of general staff to succeed Vokes as head of the central command.

Canada and So. America Trade Agreements Are Already Paying Off

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's drive to strengthen her trade relations with South America are paying off. Already a new one-year special commercial agreement has been signed with Venezuela and indications are that trade arrangements with such other Latin-American countries as Colombia, Ecuador, Costa Rica and Honduras.

Forced Landing—No Casualties

An emergency plane landing at 9:26 a.m. today in a mud-bank opposite mile 51 on the Canadian National tracks east of here failed to cause damage or injuries to passengers. A private plane, piloted by Jack Browne of Kitchikan, arrived at Prince Rupert at dusk last night and obtained a cruising permit from the local customs office. It took off this morning to continue its trip.

French Retire In Indo-China

SAIGON, Indo China (AP)—Battered French troops on the north frontier braced themselves today for new onslaughts by reinforced communist-led Vietminh battalions. Weakened by rebel annihilation this week of the bulk of 5 1/2 crack battalions in a jungle trap, French border positions are buckling under new enemy pressure. Fresh assaults are anticipated.

ILO TABLET—The Minister of Labor, Hon. Milton F. Gregg, V.C., recently unveiled a tablet at McGill University, Montreal, to mark the location of the wartime headquarters of the ILO at the University. In the photo the Minister of Labor stands immediately to the reader's left of the tablet, as he draws the veil. At the right of the tablet is Principal F. Cyril James of McGill University. Others in the picture (l. to r.) are V. C. Phelan, Director of ILO's Canada Branch, Ottawa; L. Mayrand, Assistant Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs, Ottawa. Past Dr. James on the right are Sen. L. Trochet of Belgium, Chairman of the Governing Body of ILO., and C. W. Jenks, Assistant Director-General of the ILO, Geneva.

Over Million Dollars of Building Here This Year

Over $1,000,000 worth of building has been undertaken in Prince Rupert in the first three quarters of 1950. That figure includes over $700,000 for New Booth and King Edward schools for which no building permit has yet been issued.

City Management

THE FAST-TRAVELLING city manager plan, which Prince Rupert city council is investigating, is headed for a milestone marked 1000.

The manager form of local government has been adopted by 986 communities in the United States and Canada—345 of them in the last five years.

Clarence E. Ridley, director of the International City Managers Association, says:

"I wouldn't be surprised if it reached the 1000 mark late this year or early in 1951."

The manager plan, in its bid for public favor, has been competing against two older types of municipal government. One is the familiar mayor-council type. It dates back to colonial times.

The second is the commission system. Under this set-up, a city is run by a group of men elected by the voters. It was introduced in 1900.

The council-manager plan, as it is formally known, usually works this way:

Citizens elect a city council on a non-partisan basis. The council hires an experienced administrator as city manager. The council sets up the budget, enacts laws and determines the policies to be followed.

The manager takes it from there. He appoints department heads, supervises city employees and directs the day-to-day operations of the city government.

The first municipal use of the title "manager" was in Staunton, Va. The office of "general manager" was created there in 1908. Sumter, S.C., adopted the manager system in 1912 and it began to spread.

Among the larger centres that have had managers for 15 years or more are San Diego, Miami, Kansas City, Mo., Cincinnati, Rochester, N.Y., Dayton, Oklahoma City, Fort Worth, Dallas, Norfolk, Va., Oakland, Sacramento and Grand Rapids, Mich. The system has also spread to Canada.

"Cities grew during the 20th century," Ridley says. "Activities of local governments have more than doubled. Government became big business. The many activities of cities required co-ordination. The manager system offered a simple method of bringing about this co-ordination."

The National Municipal League says that at latest count—July 28—986 places had the council-manager form of government. The total includes villages, towns, cities and counties in the United States and 42 communities in Canada, Alaska and Puerto Rico.

(The International City Managers Association is an organization of city managers. The National Municipal League is an organization of citizens which advocates the manager plan.)

There have been losses as well as gains. So far, the council-manager system has been abandoned by 46 cities. Among them are Cleveland and Akron, O., Houston, Tex., and Hot Springs, Ark.

As I See It

By ELMORE PHILPOTT
SHAW FOOLS US

GEORGE BERNARD Shaw has done it again. He has fooled the world in general and the newspapers in particular. All the press services of the world (including even Russia's) had their obituary stories of the famous playwright up to date and all ready to print at a moment's notice.

But the 90-plus-year-old man has fooled us all. He has recovered from his accident, recovered from his two operations, recovered from the numerous washings to which they subjected him night and day. He has gone home.

THE LITERATE world has argued about Shaw for half a century and more. They will argue about him for centuries to come.

Here is my two-bits worth: I regard Shaw as by far the most influential writer of this period. In fact, my guess, for what it is worth, is that Shaw will emerge as the most-studied playwright since Shakespeare.

That is partly because of the sheer brilliance of the man; partly because he has a genius for making himself a storm centre of public controversies of the particular type which newspapers love to print in their front pages. But, above all, Shaw will loom larger and larger in future centuries because he has expressed judgments upon just about everything under the sun. He did that, not only in his plays and books and articles. But above all he did it with clarity in the introductions he wrote to his plays.

MANY PEOPLE think Shaw was, and is, a failure. He was a lifelong socialist and radical. Yet the welfare state, with its thin top layer of state-capitalism, is poles apart from the system of complete equality for which he stands. Moreover, it is doubtful if Shaw's expressions have ever had much short range effect. That is partly because the Irish genius can be quoted against himself on just about every current question. In later years he has said kind things about Stalin. He backed Konni Zilliacus, who was snowed under in the latest British election. But some people remember that Shaw also condoned Mussolini's invasion of Ethiopia; also his predictions that the second world war was not inevitable.

MY OWN CONCLUSION is that Shaw deliberately withdrew from the day-to-day political struggle and concentrated on creations which he believed would have more lasting benefits for the human race. He was certainly a deep enough student of history to know that the writings which have the most profound effect are those which take a long time to "hatch out" so to speak. If I recall correctly, Adam Smith wrote his famous book THE WEALTH OF NATIONS in 1776. But the free trade and free enterprise he advocated did not win out even in Britain for about 75 years. Karl Marx wrote his Communist Manifesto about 1848. It was not till 1917 that any great nation went Communist.

What Shaw taught and advocated, therefore, will have a far greater long range than short range effect. For it is long range writing.

SHAW HAS MADE a vast fortune by ridiculing and even devastating most of the illusions and even institutions which his rich paymasters hold most dear. Some will say the English (and Americans) were too dumb to know what the witty Irishman was selling them. But his entire fortune goes to promote the idea of one world through one alphabet. Suppose YOU were worth a few million dollars—and genuinely wanted to help future generations. How would YOU spend your millions?

CANADA'S COMPETITOR Norwegian lumber production for the 11 months ending July 1, 1950, totalled 24,500,000 cubic feet.

School Tag Days Planned

Disapproval was expressed by Trustee Bruce Brown at last night's meeting of the school board that a student organization had asked permission to hold a tag day for a school activity and that it had been granted. He said young healthy students should be able to raise money in other ways than by begging for it.

Trustee Mrs. E. W. Becker said she disagreed with Mr. Brown on the point.

Mr. Brown said the student council had other activities they could use to raise funds when necessary. One suggestion he made was to put on a concert.

It was decided unanimously that the board notify the principals of the various schools that they are opposed in principle to canvassing the public for money or merchandise and to holding tag days to raise money for school activities.

Press More Democratic
By RONALD PRESTON

BELGRADE. (Reuters)—The press in Communist Yugoslavia is becoming more democratic.

A radical transformation in the spirit of the press here has been taking place, especially during the last nine months, as a result of Premier Tito's break with Russia more than two years ago.

Yugoslav newspaper men have moved away from Soviet Models of writing toward something nearer western ideas of objective reporting.

Much more space is being given by all newspapers to foreign news items, especially proceedings at the United Nations.

The news is often given as straight quotations from foreign—especially western—news agencies without political slant or official comment U.N. and North Korean war communiques, for instance, are regularly given in this way side by side.

One purpose behind more foreign news in the Yugoslav papers and on the radio, one Communist official of the Belgrade radio says, is to discourage people from listening to foreign broadcasts, which many of them do regularly.

Newspaper criticism of how

Yugoslavia is being run, especially in the economic sphere, is also increasing.

A landmark in these developments is seen here in "A letter from London," a regular feature contributed to the government-controlled Belgrade Newspaper Politika by its London correspondent, Miroslav Radiochich.

When two years ago Yugoslav comment on the British scene was almost entirely critical, there now is greater objectivity and even friendliness and praise.

Radiochich admires the discipline and politeness of the British people, the efficiency of London transport, the way rationing is organized; but disapproves of the "sensationalism" of the British press and of inequalities in housing.

Politika's correspondent disapproves of British newspapers which though "technically" unsurpassed in the world, use "cleverly striking, suggestive headlines above a text which is often unimportant and even means nothing."

A notice signed by City Clerk E. F. Jones, appearing in the paper advises that so far as the labor market in Prince Rupert is concerned, it is fully supplied with labor and that Prince Rupert is a very undesirable place for persons to come to at present for the purpose of obtaining work.

HELP PREVENT TOOTH DECAY!

BEFORE IT STARTS... INSTEAD OF AFTER IT APPEARS

AMMONIATED LISTERINE TOOTH PASTE
...designed to help prevent decay 3 ways!

You've undoubtedly read about this great new anti-decay formula in your newspapers and magazines. It's the famous formula, developed by the University of Illinois Foundation, that caused such a vast interest in dental circles because of its promising method of attacking tooth decay by means of the chemical action of the ammonium ion.

In preliminary tests conducted at the University, case after case of reduction in the incidence of tooth decay was reported. Now the manufacturers of Listerine Antiseptic make this same formula readily available to you and to your family with the introduction of Listerine Ammoniated Tooth Paste.

Start in with Listerine Ammoniated Tooth Paste today. Use it regularly, as directed, morning and night and immediately after eating. Notice its delightful, tangy, refreshing flavor. You'll like it. Your children will like it. Lambert Pharmaceutical Co. (Canada) Ltd., Toronto, Ontario.

1. Chemical action reduces mouth acidity. Mouth acidity encourages decay.
2. Mechanical action cleans surfaces as teeth are brushed—helps break up and remove decay-breeding deposits.
3. Chemical action checks acid-forming bacteria—a major cause of decay.

Ben Parker and Jack Lindsay are heading up the committee. The street teams will be: Katen Hardware corner—Joe Scott, Allan Armstrong, Charlie Balagno, C. C. Mills, Jack Bulger and W. Cruickshank.

Watts & Nickerson corner—W. F. Stone, James Field, Rupert Fulton, Mark Gormely and C. G. Ham.

Orme's corner—F. J. Skinner, G. A. Hunter, Cy Kellett, N. R. Young, George Dawes and Duncan McRae.

Members were urged to support the forthcoming campaign on behalf of the National Institute for the Blind.

HOUSING PROBLEMS

Frustrated rent payers in Helsinki recently threw stones through the windows of the rent control board on three separate occasions.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

Victoria police constables want rubber raincoats and decline to take no for an answer. It had been thought they would be content to continue using rain capes. But there is a distinct difference between a cape and a coat. Victoria has been called the Los Angeles of Canada which may be an accurate enough comparison. But it should be remembered that police constables cannot go indoors every time weather becomes disagreeable—even as it will do in Victoria some times.

Blackie, owned by Noel Jones, newsstand pioneer here, has finally gone the way of all dogdom. For more than a week Blackie had not barked and the choicest bone was without appeal. One afternoon Mr. Jones noticed him go to the front of the house in Water Street. Then he looked back to give the boss a long, steady look. At last he walked away, to be seen no more. Since then, Blackie was found in the neighborhood.

A minute or two of time may appear of small consequence but where it concerns broadcasting, it means a lot. Two minutes is exactly that. And the same reasoning applies as you go along. There are doubtless numerous folks whose only connection with the radio is to listen and to be "on the air" for the individual is highly interesting as well as informing.

A natural curiosity exists, as to just where President Truman and General MacArthur will meet. There was a similar feeling when Churchill and Roosevelt conferred off Newfoundland during the war. The approaching discussion between two top figures in today's affairs, somewhere in the Pacific continues to arouse wide speculation. Some are even saying it may not be aboard a warship at all. That sounds like just another guess. Anyway, from the standpoint of Washington, the less publicity the better.

There seems to be a gradually increasing tendency to shorten time at social events, with the possible exception of dancing. The average banquet once would run to all hours but the drift today is to assemble earlier and feel the benefits the following day. This is worth it.

Of the 111 applicants for housing under the plan evolved as announced at the last council meeting, 57 were prepared to buy. That's a little better than half. People have been heard to say it's cheaper to rent than to build. To say, today, that either is best, is to risk argument. For there must be a difference.

The Canadian National Railways magazine, in its current issue prints a list of the names of railway veterans in whose favor pensions were approved at the August meeting of the Pension Board. These include H. Lincoln, clerk, and H. Skatzebol, operator, both of Prince Rupert.

Mrs. E. Hodson returned recently from a two months' holiday visiting different points in the south, going as far as Cranbrook at which point she was marooned during the recent railway strike.

Handicraft Course Drawing Students

Twelve students have been enrolled in each of four handicraft classes under Miss Jean Travis at the Civic Centre this week and next. The classes started Tuesday.

In the afternoons this week, instruction is in stenciling. Next week it will be in lino block printing. On alternate evenings both this week and next, instruction is in practical design and fundamental leather work. One of the foremost handicraft experts in the province, Miss Travis began organizing teaching of leather work at the Civic Centre in 1948. She has been sent by the University of British Columbia. The object of the stenciling class is to create original designs for cloths. The lino blocks are for printing. From here, Miss Travis goes to Masset, where she will continue her courses.

More Manitoba Floods Feared

WINNIPEG—A possibility of more floods was acknowledged in Winnipeg Wednesday, even in admitting the effectiveness of measures that have already been taken to cope with the damage and loss suffered in the Red River valley last May and to prevent recurrence.

Today, there is a heavier flow noted in the Assiniboine and Red

Rivers and across the American border the present watershed situation is being studied. Conditions, for the better, may change before next spring, but the outlook now cannot be said to be promising.

The Experts Say . . .

VERSATILE APPLE—For the modern housewife, the apple evidently is becoming one of the most "versatile" of foods. She still can bake it in a pie, or turn it into sauce for pork. But there are other uses too—she will try it in a stew and an apple with some ham is about the finest dish what am.

Seriously though, home economists recommend apples baked with ham as an ideal meat course.

Ingredients: One slice of uncooked ham (about 1½ inches thick; one teaspoon dry mustard; two teaspoons vinegar; two apples; one-half cup brown sugar; one teaspoon butter.

Trim rind from ham. Mix mustard and vinegar together and spread on ham. Slice apples thin and spread in layers of ham. Sprinkle with brown sugar and dot with butter. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) until ham is tender—about 45 minutes.

These food experts recommend adding a half cup of grated raw apple to beef stew or chicken soup. They say it adds a new and interesting flavor.

Apples also have gained favor in salads and pickles and, of course, it's hardly necessary to mention that they're still popular in pies and desserts.

Another agriculture department recipe is steamed apple pudding—an ideal cold weather dish.

Ingredients: 1½ cups grated apples; one cup carrots (grated); one cup chopped raisins; 1½ cups sugar; 1 cup chopped beef suet; two cups flour; one teaspoon soda; one teaspoon cinnamon; one-half teaspoon ground cloves; one-quarter teaspoon salt.

Mix all ingredients together sifting soda and spices with flour. Pour into large buttered mold and steam three hours individual molds require 1½ hours steaming. Serve with hot pudding sauce.

Recent suggestions that cheese and apple pie be served tourists as Canada's favorite dish finds the agriculture department with a recipe for apple-pie with cheese crust.

Line pie plate with pastry and cover with layer of thinly sliced apples. Allow about two tablespoons of sugar to each apple, sprinkle sugar, mixed with
