C.N. Steamship Service

THE STATEMENT of Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, regarding the situation of the company's steamship service on this coast in view of the impending retirement of the veteran steamer Prince Rupert, indicates the possibility of a change of policy in respect to service. Mr. Gordon suggests the abandonment of "part of the service," without elaborating upon the nature of such abandonment.

For some time it has been apparent that the day was not far removed when Canadian National would be left with only the one ship on this coast. Various suggestions have been heard—one that a sister ship to the palatial Prince George be built, another for one or more smaller vessels, combining somewhat less passenger accommodation with substantial freight carrying capacity to make for more economically operated year-round service.

As Mr. Gordon says, there is a question whether there is sufficient traffic—doubtless he meant year-round—to warrant a duplication of the Prince George, the finding of adequate use for which vessel itself during the winter has already been found to be a problem.

What Mr. Gordon might have been hinting is that Canadian National is thinking of getting out of the steamship business altogether on this coast—a sad and disturbing thought in Prince Rupert where the service between here and Vancouver has been a traditional complement to the railway service.

If the hard-headed Mr. Gordon curtails or abandons the already comparatively meagre steamship service on the coast, what might be his further move because of insufficient traffic?

EXPENSIVE FRIENDSHIP

IT IS REPORTED that United States has formally proposed to Britain and France that they accept western Germany as a friend, ally and co-belligerent in the war with Russia which now seems to be accepted as inevitable. The people of western Germany are not really distinguishable from those of eastern Germany; both followed Hitler. They have long been regarded in the English-speaking world as inherently possessed of certain undesirable characteristics, to put it mildly. This concept of the Germans as an unusually loathsome variety of the human family did not begin with the war of 1914 and its tale of atrocities that earned them the epithet of Hun. The Romans were so sure they had distinguished a special quality that they gave it a name, furor teutonicus, when the remnants of their legions returned from the black forests of defeat.

If this is all wildly erroneous, if Germans are actually no different from other people embracing the usual mixture of good, bad and indifferent, what a lot of "history" will have to go down the drain. But if it is all true, the proposed friendship may prove in the long run expensive indeed. In the homely phrase used by Joe Chamberlain, you need a long spoon to sup with the devil—NEW WESTMINSTER COLUMBIAN

NEW DOMINION'S PARLIAMENT BUILDING—Above is the modern, two-storey building which houses Pakistan's Constituent Assembly, the Cabinet Secretariat and the Ministry of Finance. Built originally for the legislature of the Province of Sind, whose capital was Karachi, it was taken over for the national assembly on Pakistan's creation. Canada's guest at the end of May, Prime Minister Jaganath Ali Khan has a seasonal office in this edifice.

By ELMORE PHILPOTT
Dear Young Wan Lee and Pong

KAMLOOPS: DEAR Young Wan Lee and Pong Che Yue: The public letter which you addressed to "respected Canadian Citizens" from your hiding place in Vancouver gave me a real thrill as I read it on the CPR train. I know of your thrilling last minute escape, just before your deportation ship sailed for Korea, I figured too that you must be hiding out in Vancouver, where you have so many friends, and where all three newspapers have appealed to the Canadian government to allow you to stay in Canada as students.

But not until I read your own letter did I realize how well you have grasped the essentials of democracy.

YOU ASK THE PEOPLE OF Canada to persuade the Minister of Immigration to allow you two boys to go to Ottawa to plead your own cases in person. Surely that is a reasonable request.

If the Minister gives that permission I will do what I can to help raise the money to pay your fares.

I am sorry only for one thing—that you did not think of this plan before the other two Spanish refugees sailed for Guatemala.

As you boys know, the two Spanish lads were deserters from the navy of Franco Spain. That is, they were fugitives from the fascist tyranny in that unhappy country of Europe. You boys are fugitives from what you describe as the harsh Communist dictatorship of Northern Korea, in Asia.

Had you four boys appeared in a group, before a Committee of our parliament, we would have had a fine example of the terrible plight of some much of the human race. That might have made some of us Canadians ashamed of our indifference.

And I feel sure that if you do get to Ottawa, to plead your cases in person, that you will completely shatter the impersonal attitude from which so many public officials suffer in Canada, and other democracies. For my bet is that when the Minister himself sees you, or when a Committee of Parliament sees you face to face, the same thing will happen as happened in Vancouver. More folks will get to know you and—know—help you.

It is a small thing that you two boys ask—to be allowed to stay here as students. Friends have already guaranteed your keep and your tuition.

But it is a big thing for Canada—the answer to that small question. For it will show whether not humane principles do apply.

JUST ONE LAST WORD. Korean friends. I think you are wrong—quite wrong—when you suggest that if you are caught and deported you will take your own lives "by steel or water" rather than go back to Korea.

We have an old motto "never say die while there's a shot left in the locker."

Organize For Flood Relief

Mayor Named to Head Local Campaign Which is Getting Under Way at Once

With Mayor G. W. Rudderham appointed to assume the active leadership, Prince Rupert's campaign in aid of the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund will swing into high gear at once on the assumption that every citizen of this city will be ready and willing to make contribution to the succor of the victims of the national disaster.

At an organizational meeting yesterday afternoon in the city council chamber, a citizens' committee was appointed to take over. City Clerk H. D. Thain was named secretary-treasurer and other members of the central committee are Ald. George B. Casey, Ald. James Forman, Ald. H. F. Glassey, James Rogerson, P. M. Ray, Jack Ewart and G. A.

Don't give up hope, no matter what happens. We will do our best for you in Canada. Just as you escaped in the nick of time, so more such miracles could happen again even if the worst seems to come to the worst.

BUT I DON'T THINK THE worst will come to the worst. I think our government will give you permission to stay in Canada temporarily as students, especially if you are able to go to Ottawa in person and plead your own case.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

Some countries would have known what to do once the Doukhobors started removing their garments. They would not have seen their clothing again for weeks or perhaps months. Nudity can be extremely uncomfortable sometimes and in some places.

In the year 1949 Scotland exported 8,521,000 gallons of whisky and Canada and the United States drank 70 per cent of it. Solicitor General Lapointe says the curse of heavy drinking is a leading cause of law-breaking. Much of the law-breaking, say the authorities, is restricted to youth. Youth is exposed to temptation, congested home life, unhappy examples! Where is the real starting point of "juvenile delinquency" so called? Is youthfulness such an evil thing, in itself?

A candidate in the recent Toronto by-election suggested the Manitoba floods were due to indifference and incompetence of "the two old parties. He forgot something. He neglected to make any mention of the unusual depth of last winter's snowfalls, the incessant rains and partial destruction, by fire, of two cities in Quebec. It's deplorable what "old parties" can do—once they get out of hand.

Motorists have been discovered who confess, at last the highway between Prince Rupert and Terrace is in excellent shape. It's smooth and an occasional pothole is almost unknown. It's fine to hear an admission like this because year after year complaints and criticism could be looked for a matter of course. Perhaps there were sound reasons, but anything heard in the way of encouragement and approval came so grudgingly. Now, drivers are saying, straight and simple, the highway is all right. Not an if or a but in sight.

Doris Roper, eight year old colored child, sits on Premier St. Laurent's knee, at Dresden, in Western Ontario, and each appear interested in discussing school. "Uncle Tom," the original of the central character in the famous novel is buried in the little girl's home town. Refreshing, for a change, to get away from Moscow, air crashes, prospective strikes and singing Doukhobors.

Dr. H. Speechly, chairman of the Manitoba anti-mosquito campaign, says the floods are almost certain to breed a record number of the pests. It is greatly to be hoped he is dead wrong. He may be, at that, for living in Prince Rupert are former residents of Winnipeg who say that in recent years a system of mosquito fighting has greatly reduced the number. May it be effective enough to cope with whatever develops this summer. Manitoba has more than enough, in the way of calamity without the winged plague.

Crime comics, imported into, and distributed in Canada and not long ago formally banned by parliamentary enactment, continue to flourish. Canada's action was born dead. Some Canadians had objected to the alleged comics but not with enough force to get anywhere. Possibly some of the readers on this side of the line are not juveniles, and have a taste for "literature."

Independence Day Marked

Norwegians Of City Celebrate National Birthday

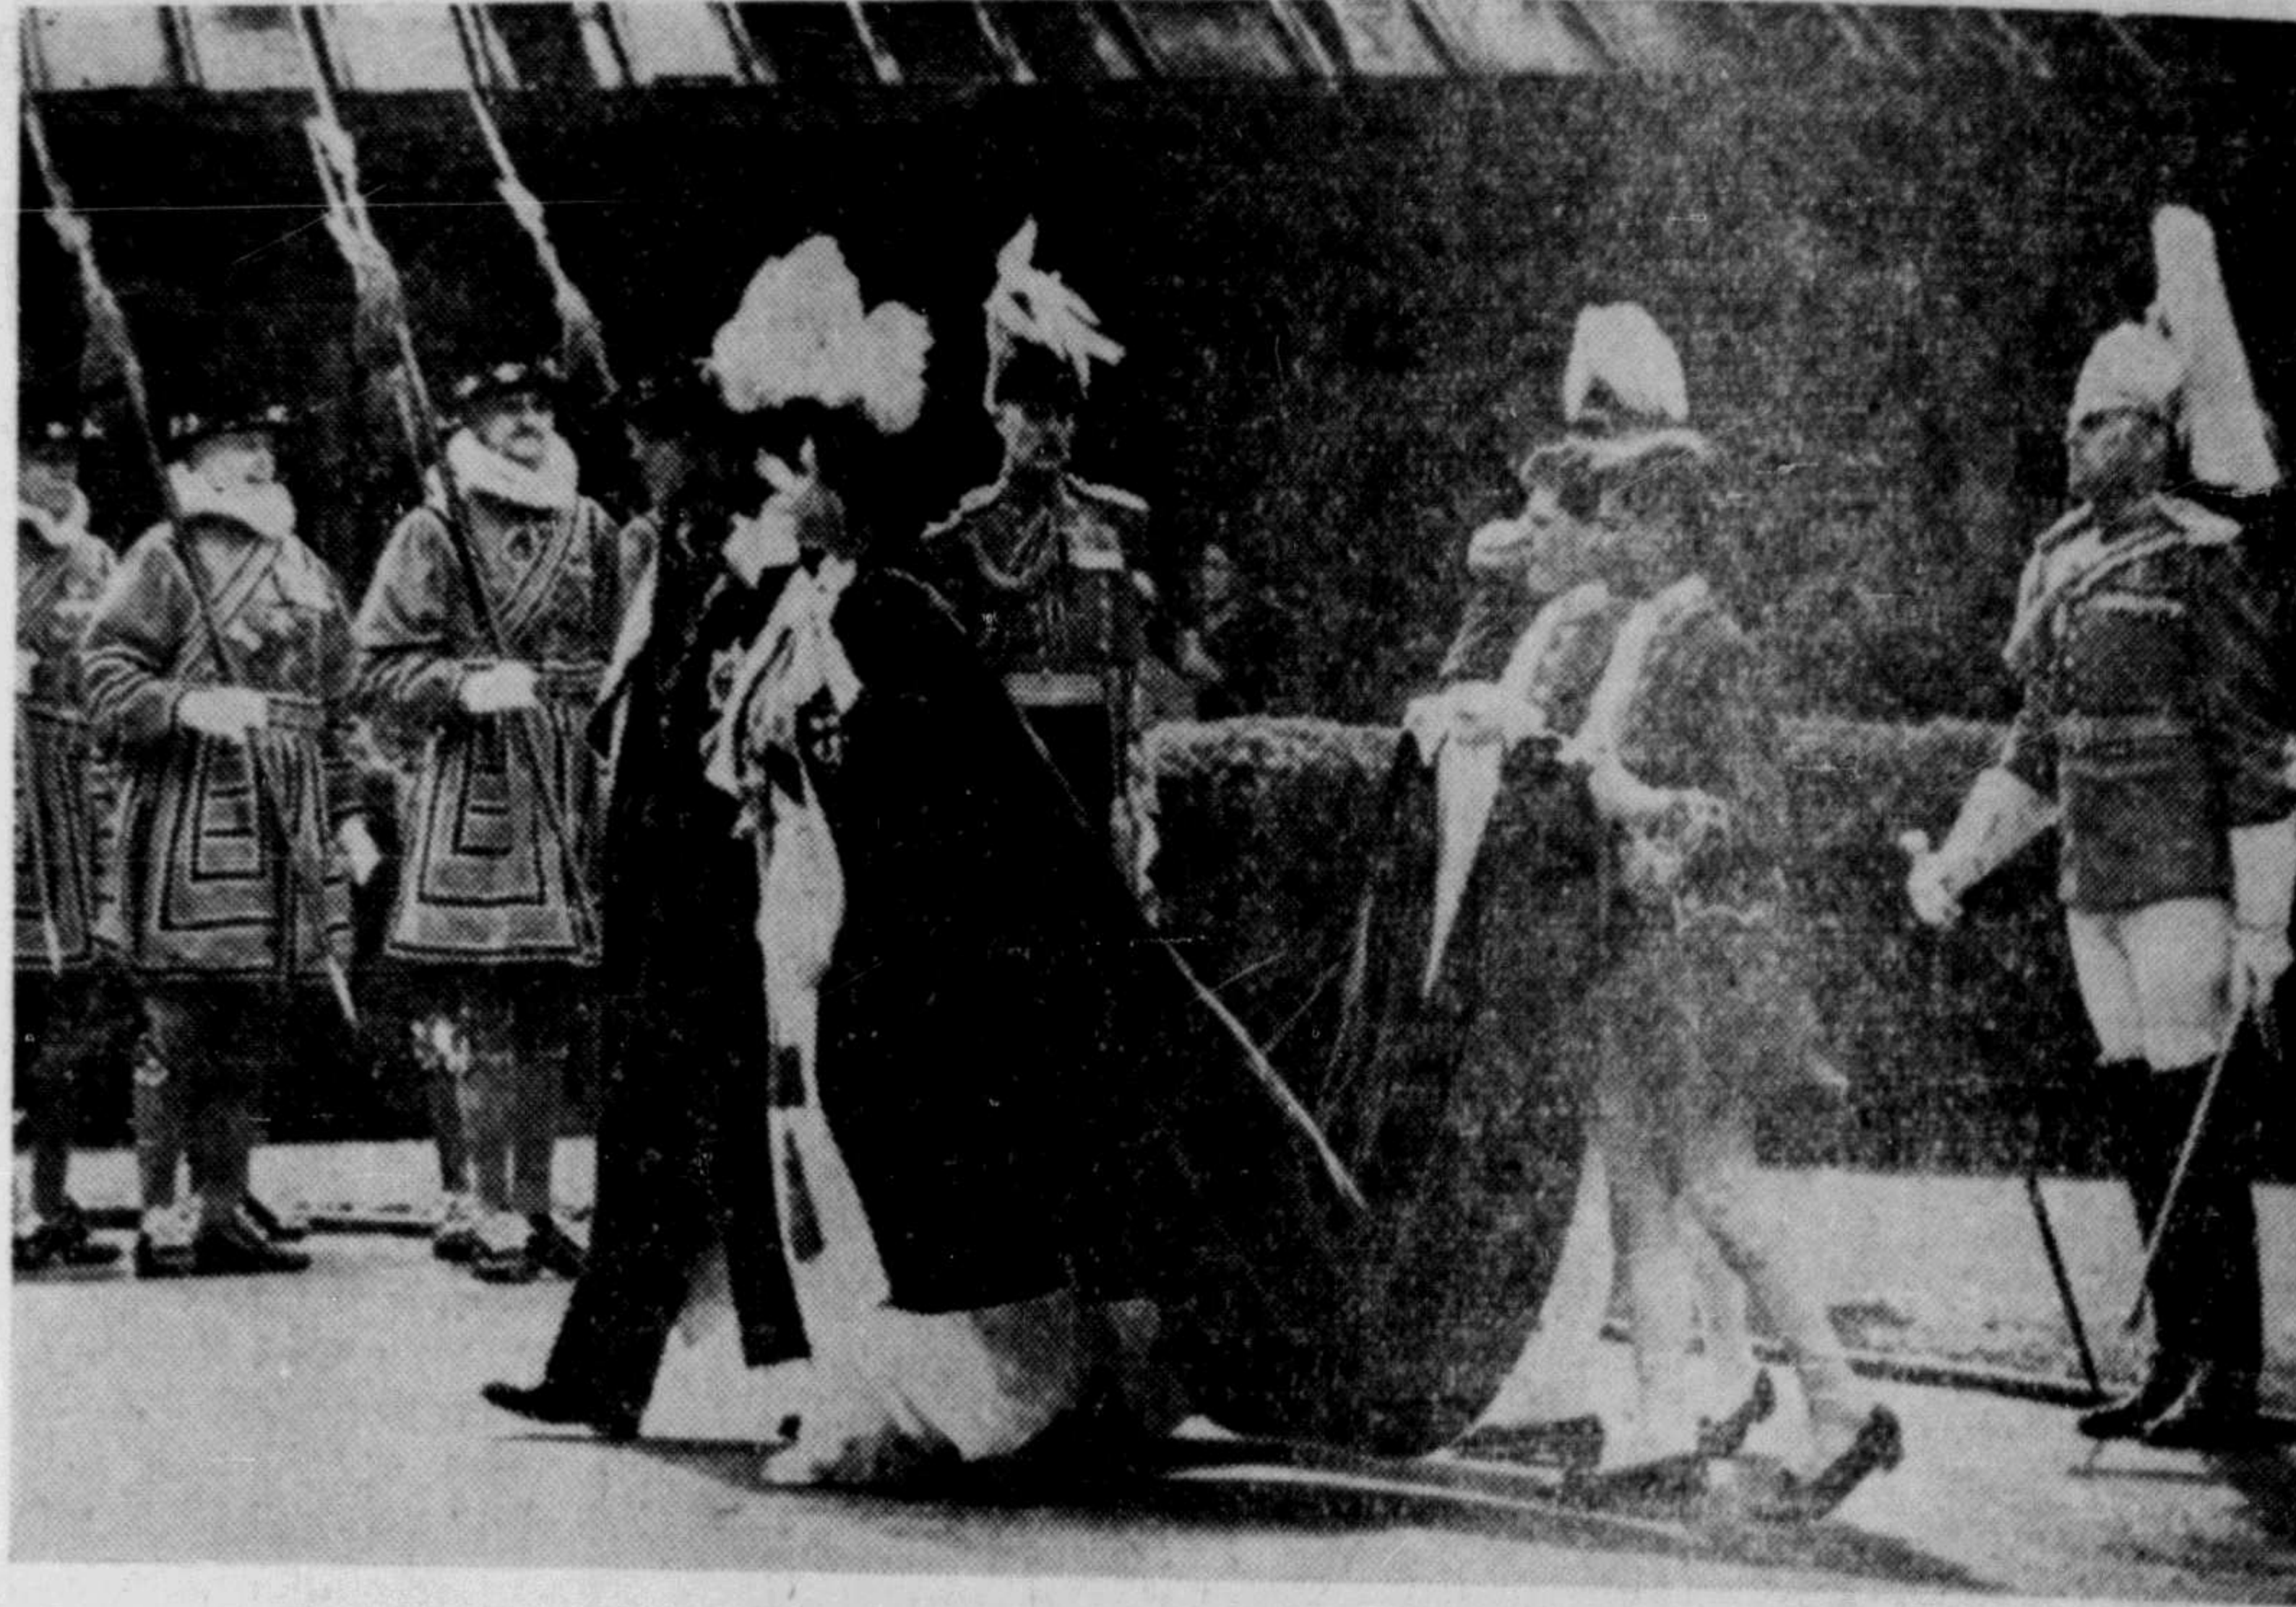

Education of the masses was the greatest single item arising out of Norway's independence, declared Rev. Earl Soland at a Sons of Norway gathering to celebrate the 136th anniversary of that event. When the Norwegian people gained their independence," he said, "they made use of it in many ways, chief of which was compulsory education of all the people of their land."

Mr. Soland told of the development of the country from before 1814 when the masses were virtual slaves, while a privileged few skimmed off the cream. He blamed those conditions on ignorance, which breeds fear. He then told of the institutions of higher learning that had been built up and of the fine technicians they were producing, men who were taking their places in industry throughout the world.

The Norse were slow acting, deliberate people, the speaker said, and did not bring about change by revolution, but they did bring about a gradual improvement in conditions wherever they went through their industry and desire to better themselves. They were accepted wherever they went, he continued and were easily assimilated into new surroundings. They were not politicians or civic leaders but their influence was felt in other ways, he said.

Mr. Soland told of the tremendous industrial development of Norway during the present century and its effect on the standard of living. Before the war he claimed, Norway was "the poorest" in the world in social legislation. Among Norwegian industries he mentioned the whaling fleets, the fish canning industry and Norwegian merchant ships, which were the fastest in the world.

Mr. Soland's address was part of the program following smorgasbord at the Sons of Norway hall. The central table groaned under the weight of delicious food that graced it. There were 140 people present with the downstairs packed and tables set up in the balcony. Rev. Mr. Soland said grace. Peter Petersen was master of ceremonies. The program consisted of three selections by the Varden Singers under direction of Peter Lien, "I Know of a Land," "The Next Bert Cameron rendered two violin solos, "Chalet Girl Sunday" by Ole Bull and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" by Victor Herbert. Mrs. Roy Wick then sang "Solveigs Song" by Grieg and Strauss, "I'm in Love With Vienna."

Mr. Soland's address was followed by two more selections by the Varden singers, "The Silver and Norway," "My Norway," with Mrs. Antone Dybavn taking the solo part.

Committee arranging the feast and entertainment consisted of Mrs. O. Giske, Mrs. John Petersen, Mrs. Selvig, Gunnar Selvig, John MacNaughton, R. Hunderide, Peter Petersen, Knut Slatta and Rudolph Olsen. Earlier in the evening Mr. Olsen had given a radio address telling of the significance of the day, when the constitution of Norway was completed May 17, 1814. He told of the crowning of King Haakon in 1905 and the strength and unity of Norway since that time, particularly during the war, when the German invaders had tried to seek out and kill the king, and of their failure, to do so.

The meeting closed with "God Save The King."

Chairs and tables were cleared out of the hall and a merry dance continued until the small hours of the morning.

TIM-BER-LOX

Protects Paint from Peeling and Blistering

A Penetrating Sealer and Paint Mix

Tim-Ber-Lox is a clear liquid made from the finest, toughest resins and water-repellent oils and is used as a thinner for oil based paints or as a clear primer before painting or varnishing.

You will be proud of your paint job when you use TIM-BER-LOX because:

- Tim-Ber-Lox helps prevent paint from "Peeling and Blistering" by affording protection against moisture.
- The use of Tim-Ber-Lox with paint actually saves YOU money because each quart of Tim-Ber-Lox you use replaces a quart of paint.
- Tim-Ber-Lox, mixed with paint, reduces "brush drag" to a minimum, thereby giving increased coverage and a superior, longer lasting paint job.
- Paint mixed with Tim-Ber-Lox flows on more evenly, more smoothly, allowing an inexperienced painter to do a smooth professional looking paint job.

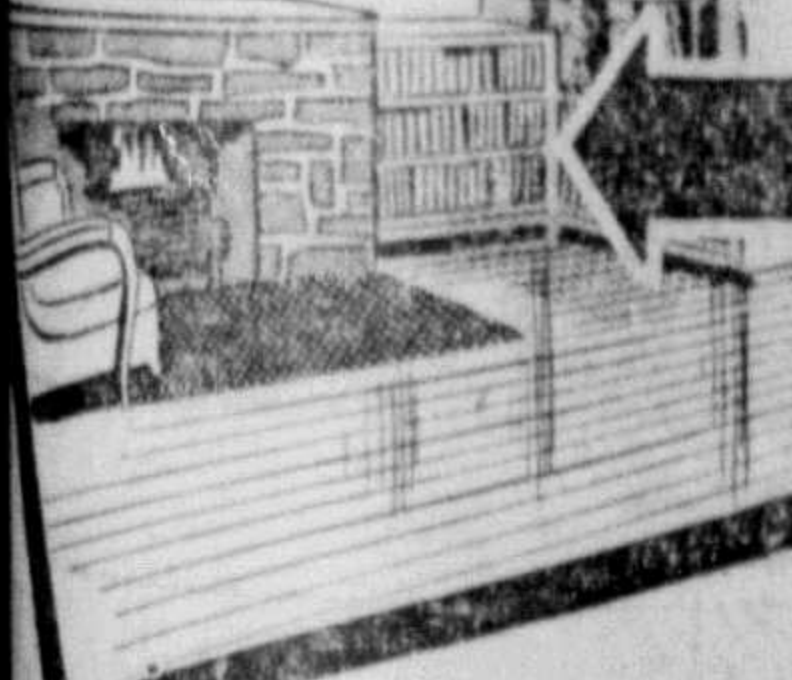

OUTSIDE PAINTING

In order to secure a good paint job it is first necessary to secure a good ground or prime coat. It is in this prime coat that the addition of Tim-Ber-Lox to paint is highly recommended. Paint with Tim-Ber-Lox added, has superior penetrating and sealing qualities which provide a reinforced foundation against moisture and helps prevent the peeling and blistering of succeeding coats of paint.

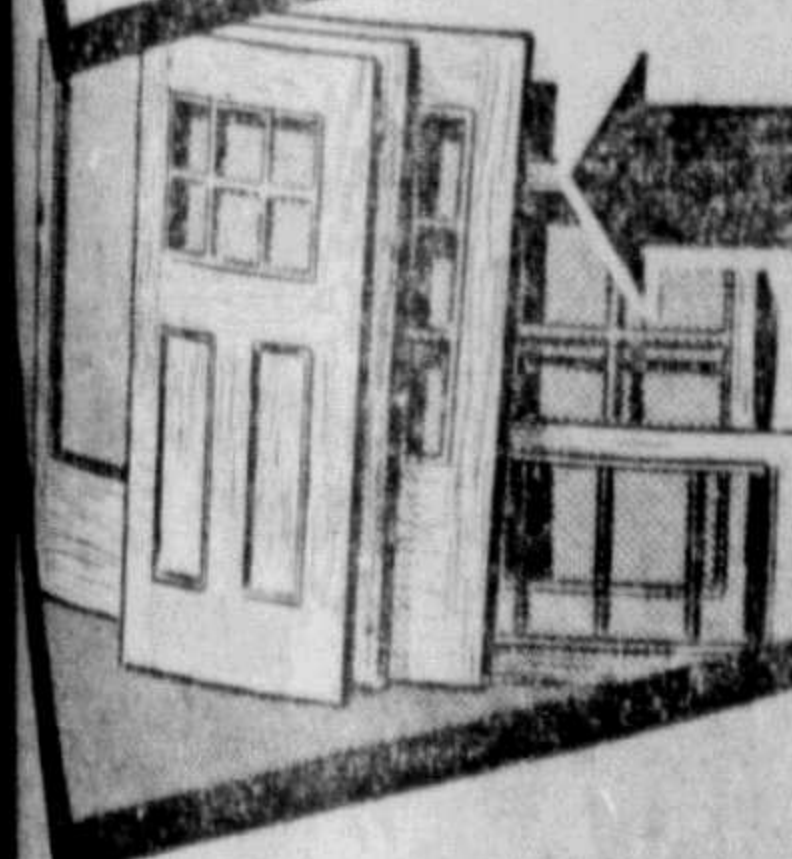

PLYWOOD

A single application of Tim-Ber-Lox will prevent warping, will greatly reduce warping, buckling, surface checking and will eliminate "Grain Raise," leaving the surface smooth and uniform for subsequent coats of varnish or paint. It costs no more to use Tim-Ber-Lox — as Tim-Ber-Lox replaces the prime coat of paint or acts as a varnish undercoat where plywood is later to be varnished.

HARDWOOD FLOORS

Tim-Ber-Lox gives a beautiful, soft, natural floor that is water, dirt and stain resisting. Tim-Ber-Loxed floors are sealed beneath the surface and therefore easier to keep clean, and retain the wax much longer.

MILLWORK

Tim-Ber-Lox treatment of all millwork — sash, doors, window frames, etc., will help prevent moisture "pick up" which is the reason for paint peeling and blistering, will also greatly reduce warping, shrinking and checking. Millwork can be treated just as economically with Tim-Ber-Lox as it can be with ordinary paint.

Conservatives Hear Leader

Mr. Anscomb Talks of Coalition and Politics—Proud of Gov't Record

The annual meeting of the Prince Rupert Progressive-Conservative Association, in the Civic Centre last evening was featured by an address from: Hon. Herbert Anscomb, provincial Minister of Finance in the coalition government and leader of the Provincial Progressive Conservative Association.

Dr. R. G. Large, retiring president, was in the chair and extended a cordial welcome to the Minister, who left by car this morning, continuing his tour through northern and central British Columbia. He had arrived in the city Wednesday aboard the Prince Rupert.

The remarks of the leader were heard with deep interest and attention. Following what he said, the local Association elected officers for the year.

Mr. Anscomb, after a reference to the good sized audience in view of the inclemency of the weather recalled early visits to the city. The contrast between the early days and now, was very great indeed. There had been tremendous changes.

Mr. Anscomb spoke of the inauguration of the coalition form of government in British Columbia, such being considered essential when the second Great War broke out to help carry on for the preservation of country and people along accustomed lines. It was of first importance that the provincial government thus formed, be strong, vigorous and active and that these facts be presented to the people of British Columbia fully, and without undue delay. Organizations were mapped out and organizers named so that administrative matters could readily be handled. Above all, it was vital that the effective work of coalition would be always kept before the public. To accomplish all this was a tremendous job, and required sufficient money, which was not always easy.

The model method for coalition, Mr. Anscomb remarked, might be viewed as twenty-four hours a day and twenty-four months a year, but it had to be realized there were C.C.F. members. This was a point that had to be remembered.

The speaker touched on Socialism and Communism and went on to tell of how it was clear the public stood in support of the new government. It was felt, said Mr. Anscomb, that they must be kept informed of what was being done, and to this end great series of letters were sent out. If numerous communications were issued, it was also true that there were many answers, as well as requests. All this, supplementing the services of the press, radio and screen, kept reaching the mass of the people.

TRANSFERABLE VOTE
Speaking of the single transferable vote Mr. Anscomb said it had been given consideration and, while the proposal was given some favor, it was possible there might still be changes of view. The whole matter was in process.

German, Japanese Trade Returning

OTTAWA — Canada is slowly evolving a pattern of trade with Japan and Western Germany that eventually may mean a return to the old pre-war normality. However, trade officials say it will be a long time before final steps are taken to restore complete relations with the two countries. Officials believe the establishment of German trade commissioners in Britain and the U.S. may be the outcome of diplomatic talks among Big Three foreign ministers now proceeding in London.

Farmers Warned To Move Cattle

CHILLIWACK — Fraser Valley farmers living outside the diked areas have been advised to move livestock out of reach of a possible flood as a precautionary measure. Lyle Macken, head of the Chilliwack Valley flood emergency committee, said, "we have absolutely no reason to become panicky, but we must not become careless."

of analysis. It might, at the present, be regarded as a moot question.

Speaking generally of the record of coalition, Mr. Anscomb was of opinion that the public felt satisfied that service of effectiveness and value had been given. There was nothing, in any sense to be ashamed of. Coalition, of course, would come to its end eventually and, whenever it might be felt that a return to the old parties would be desired, both could feel a pride in their joint services under coalition.

In his concluding remarks, Mr. Anscomb reviewed at some length the growth of industry and settlement in British Columbia. He mentioned in this regard, oil possibilities in north east British Columbia, the enormous Peace River coal wealth, power developments and P.G.E. Railway expansion. He described the progress of aluminum possibilities, something that should it become established, would become of vast importance to the province. This, though, was not being hurried. It would all take time.

Other matters having the attention of Mr. Anscomb included social services, hospitals, education, increase of school children and school buildings, the latter embracing those to be erected in Prince Rupert, marketing and finances, and the effect that devaluation of money in Britain was having on Canadian products.

Officers for the year were elected as follows:
Honorary President—Hon. Herbert Anscomb.
President—W. D. Lambie.
Vice President—Harry Daggett.
Secretary—Treasurer—Mrs. Willa Ray.
Executive Committee—J. T. Harvey, R. G. Large, W. R. McAfee, D. C. Stevenson, G. L. Rorie, Hugh MacKenzie, G. J. Dawes, Mrs. Crawford Moore and C. H. Elkins.

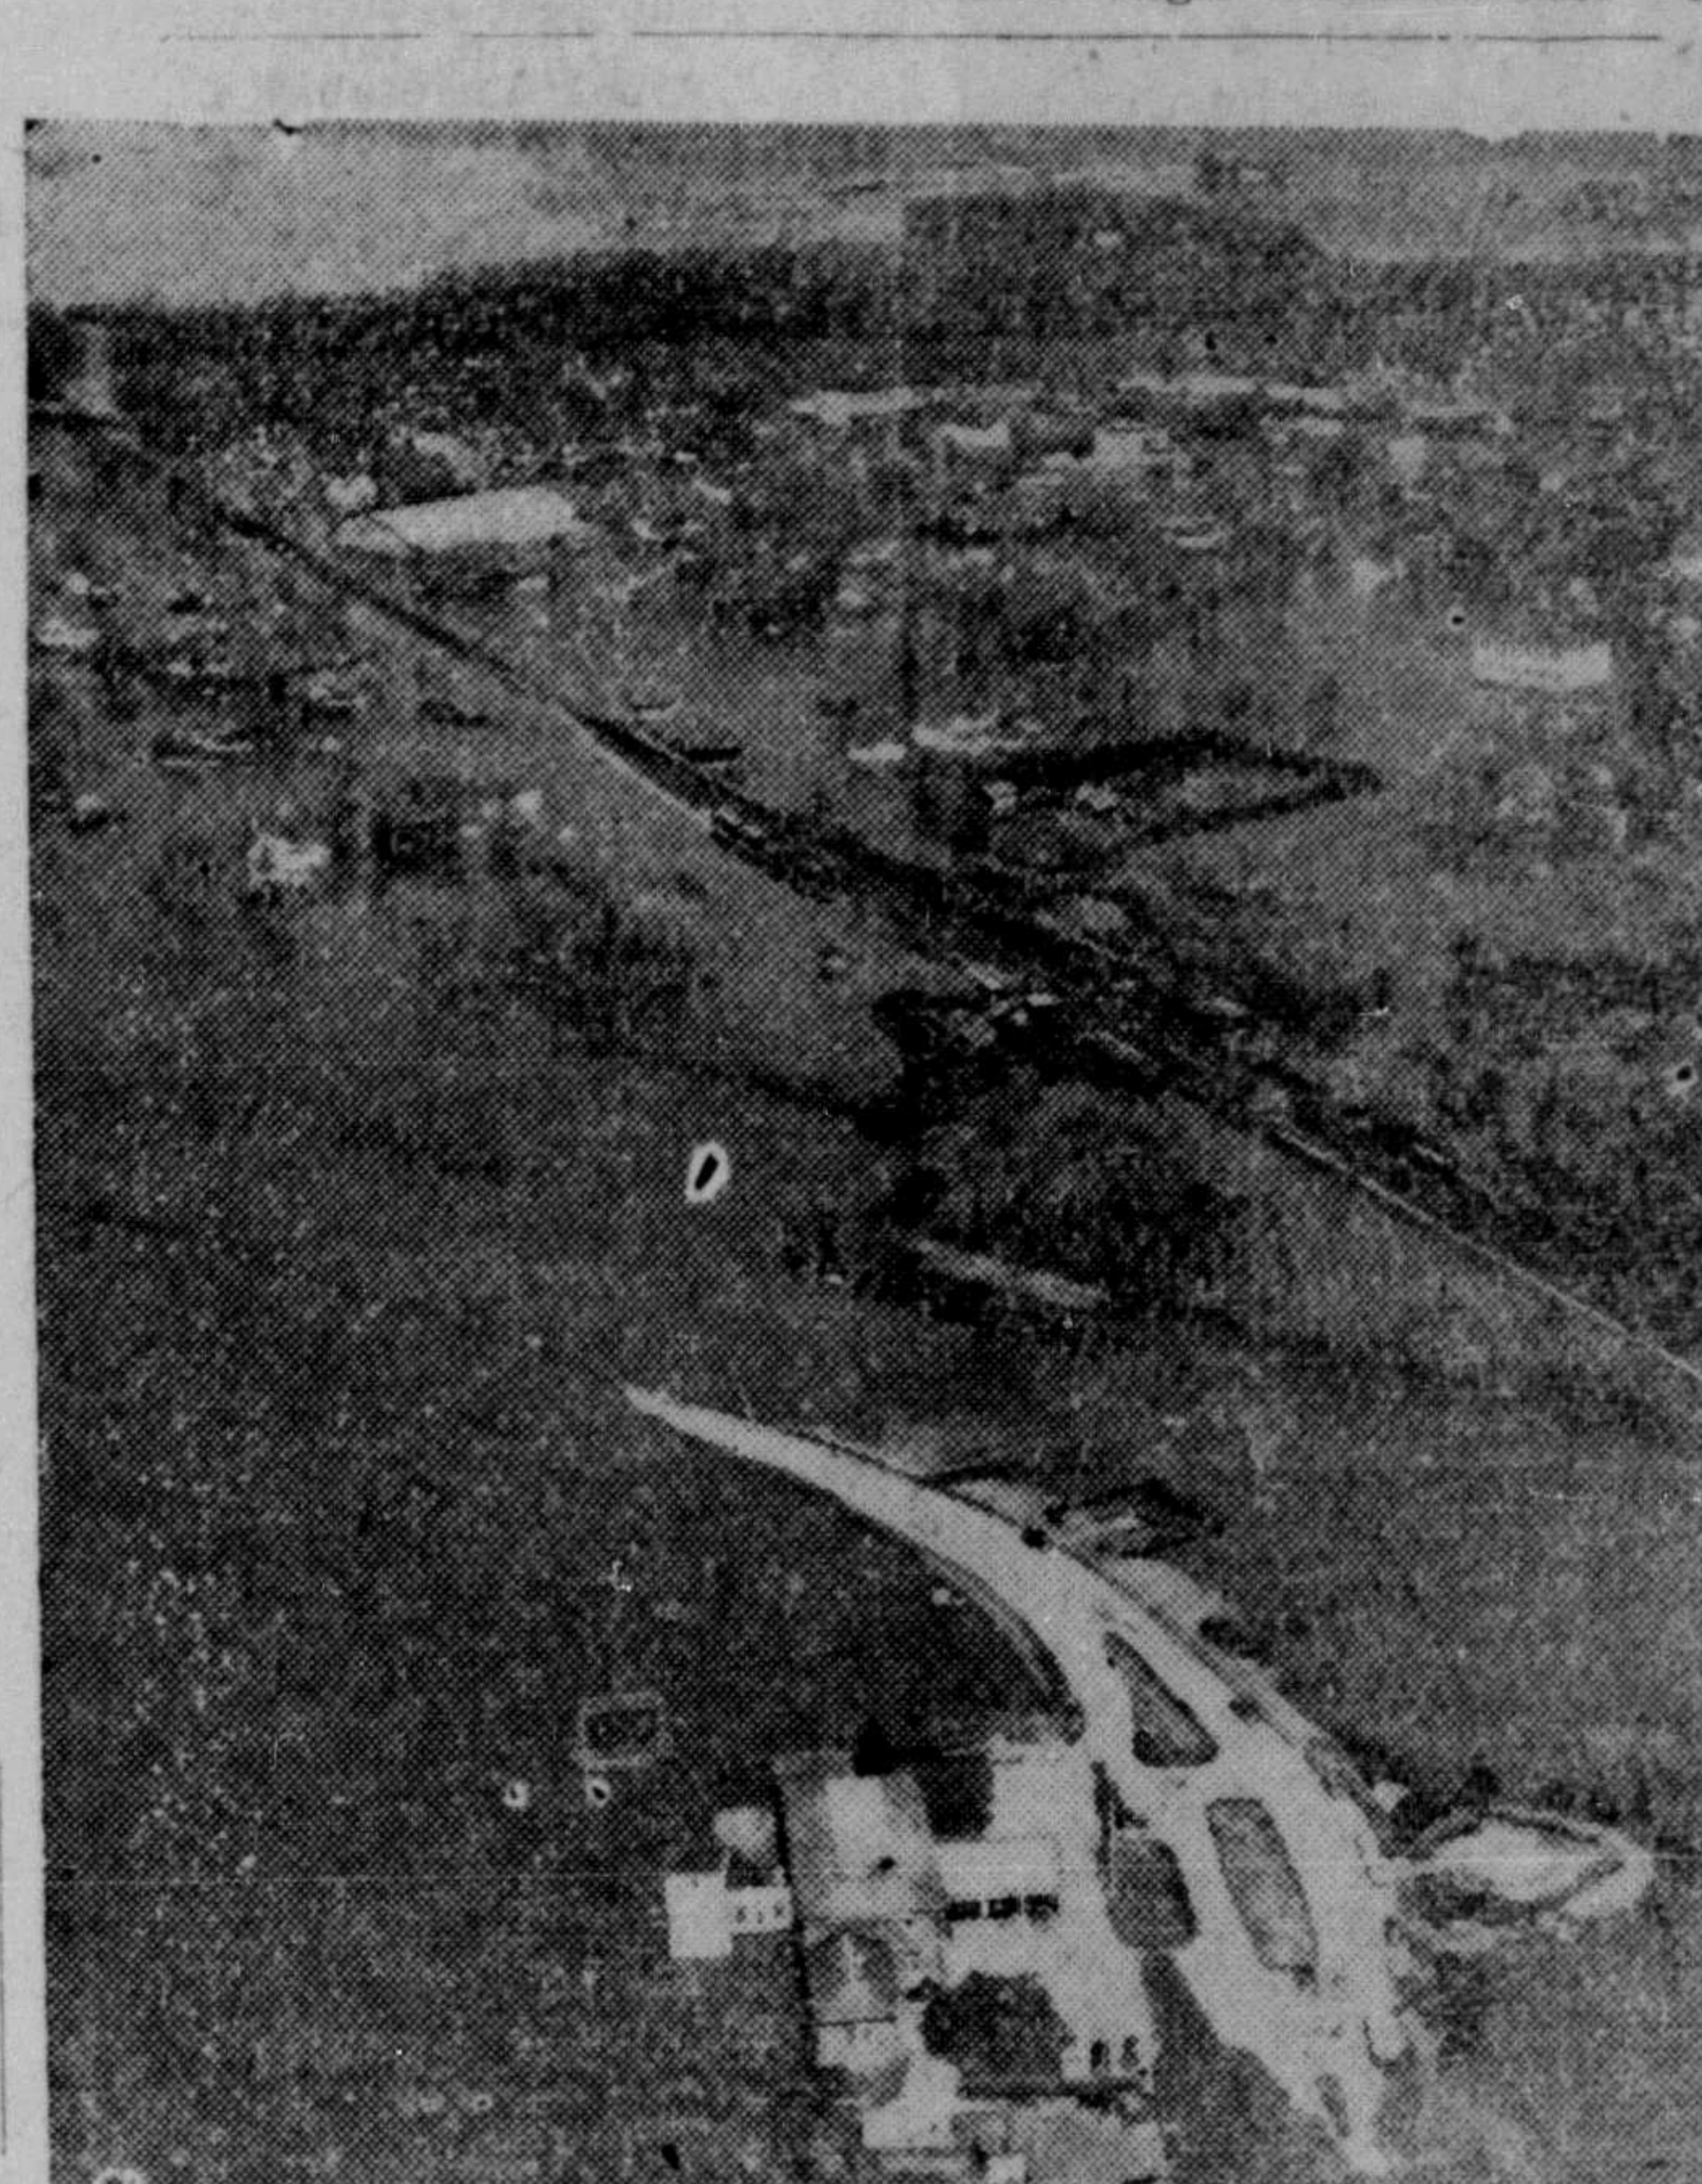

Nuns Burned In School Blaze

HULL, Que. — Four nuns are believed burned to death last night in a $250,000 fire that swept the centre section of Hull normal school for girls. Police said they had recovered the unidentified body of a woman from the still smouldering ruins.

Two other nuns escaped from the top floor of the school at the height of the blaze. One into a fireman's net. All 85 students and 58 other nuns escaped unharmed.

Sister Marie Annette, 32, suffered a broken spine when she struck a tree while jumping into the net. Her condition is serious.

Terrace Students Visit Hazelton

TERRACE—A special meeting was called on Thursday evening in the school board office to decide whether to send any of the school children to Hazelton on June 5 to participate in the sports there. Those present were, Nick Schmeling of the Terrace Civic Centre, C. W. Michiel, Mr. Alger, Mr. E. S. Laird, Mrs. Hall, Mr. Noakes and J. Hagen.

It was decided to send track and field teams from the boys and girls of 12 years and up, but, as this was the first year, not to send too many children for the first time. Cars will be procured to take the youngsters there.

From now until then, elimination races will be run to be sure of sending the best in the teams from here.

Mr. Anscomb Speaks—

Return To Enterprise

Instead Of Security Urged Minister Of Finance

"Enterprise and initiative must be brought back to the minds of people rather than the search for security," Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb told Rotary at luncheon Thursday. "If we are to be able to reduce the rising cost of social security in the province, people came to Prince Rupert to pioneer not to look for security, that was the way the province was developed and it is the only way in which continuing development can be made."

The minister was referring to the $22,500,000 social security bill that faces the province this year. He did not wish his listeners to get the idea he was against security. If that was what the public wanted and was willing to pay for he would follow their wishes. However, he added, that was money that would produce nothing directly or indirectly to the economic life of the province or its development. He said the people's minds had been cultivated to expect security and, until they had been taught once more the value of opportunity rather than security, the high cost would have to continue. But he stressed the need to have social security measures carried out properly.

One item he mentioned that would cost taxpayers $5,000,000 this year was old age pensions.

Mr. Anscomb said there were 3,000 pensions per month being added to recipients of that payment. He did not blame the man who had lived out his life in Winnipeg and wanted to retire in the milder B.C. climate. It was one thing that could not be changed and he, for one, would not want to see it changed.

Hospitalization was a tremendous problem, the speaker said, for any government. He admitted mistakes had been made at first but added if he never made mistakes he would not have to worry about getting up in the morning. It was not under his direction, he said, but there would have to be a $7,000,000 deficit met from public funds this year. He called on doctors to help in cutting down patients' stays in hospital which averaged two days longer in British Columbia than in other places. He said to date 200,000 people had gone through hospital with their bills paid. He was not frightened at the premium rate, he claimed, and went on to tell of the Blue Cross plan. He mentioned the society paid less than actual cost of hospitalization, which amounted to indirect subsidization. It was for that reason that the premium had to be higher than the Blue Cross.

Great Highway Plan

Of roads, the Finance Minister told about the huge master development plan that had been worked out in 1942 calling for expenditures amounting to $210,000,000. At the time he had hoped the Dominion Government might have helped out with the cost.

At long last, he said, the Dominion had offered to pay half the cost on one Trans Canada highway route. Mr. Anscomb stated the economic life of B.C. was predicted on a good road system. On that basis the government was going as far as it could without federal assistance. Expenditures in the next seven or eight years would amount to $86,000,000 on a master plan that included a good highway from Prince Rupert to Prince George. When completed, he was confident the highways would carry costs with the gasoline tax alone. The Hope-Princeton highway was carrying more traffic than had been dreamed of when plans were being made. At this point he said the province's public debt position was not bad but, with so many calls being made, it had to be watched carefully.

Money was the big problem again in education, said the speaker. There would be $20,000,000 spent in new buildings alone this year, half of which cost would be borne by the province and half by municipalities and cities. He called attention to a 10,500 increase in enrolment over this time last year and the number of new class rooms that would be required to handle the increase. Divide the number of new pupils by 40 to find the number of new rooms required, he suggested.

Mr. Anscomb called the 50 per cent increase in population since 1942 part of the natural movement westward of Canadians and warned of the responsibility to develop the province to take care of the influx. Speaking of school costs, he said the Social Security and Municipal Aid tax adopted a few years ago was to help municipalities meet mounting school costs, although the cities' share had not been tied to schools. He said Prince Rupert's share of the $24,000,000 collections this year would pay $89,000 of the $124,000 estimated school costs. If further demands are made by the municipalities, he went on, it may be necessary to tag those funds.

Mr. Anscomb was cautiously optimistic about B.C.'s future. He claimed development had to go on with its abundance of raw materials and its cheap shipping facilities. However, he warned of the dangers of losing some United States markets overnight if protective tariffs were raised. For that reason it behooved British Columbia industrialists to develop other world markets as well. He explained that the abundance of raw materials here made it impossible to absorb them all in secondary industries in B.C. but there was a great development of secondary industries throughout the province.

"We have a tremendous future," he declared, "if we go sanely and spend within the limits of the income we now have."

Newfoundland Trip

Speaking of his trip to Newfoundland, the minister was well pleased with the result. British Columbia's presentation of a mace to the newly acquired province was the first official gesture made by sister provinces to Newfoundland. It called for excellent display of acceptance in the legislature and became an historical occasion, he said. The old mace he compared to an old totem pole it had a history dating back 100 years when a lady held it as security for rent money owing her. The government could not pay her until Parliament met and Parliament could not meet without the mace. The deadlock was finally broken by the speaker, who paid the woman her money. He sketched briefly the age of the new province—the House of assembly is 133 years old. Like Rupert, he said the province depends to a great extent on its fisheries and the effects of devaluation of Sterling was bad. However that state had been greatly improved by her move to join Canada.

The speaker was introduced by R. G. Van der Sluis, president of the club.

Hemorrhage Death Cause

Inquiry into the death of Bernard Morton Anderson, a resident of this city for nearly a year, who died in General Hospital Tuesday night, is being held this afternoon in the sheriff's office at the Court House. An autopsy was performed on the body by Dr. A. W. Large yesterday. The man died of cerebral hemorrhage. Police are investigating Anderson's personal past in order that any relatives can be contacted.

Canada to Work In European Aid

OTTAWA (C)—Prime Minister St. Laurent announced yesterday in the Commons that Canada will be glad to accept an informal working relationship with the organization for European economic co-operation. He called attention to a statement issued in London by the foreign ministers of three major powers, the United Kingdom, the United States and France in which it was indicated that American aid to Europe is likely to continue after Marshall aid ends in 1952.

Investigate Relief Needs

OTTAWA (C)—Prime Minister St. Laurent announces that two federal-provincial fact finding commissions have been named to report on the governmental financial aid needed to succor disaster areas in Manitoba and Quebec and indicated plans for personal visits to the districts.

Defence Minister Clixton also said both the Canadians and American governments have asked for an international joint commission to expedite recommendations for future control of the rampaging Red River in Manitoba. Quebec suffered disastrous fires at Cabano and Rimouski.

Tax Amendments Too Complex

OTTAWA (C)—The Commons yesterday plodded through the complexities of the government bill amending the Income Tax Act. In a slow committee study of the 48 clause measure, opposition members urged Finance Minister Abbott to have the technical provisions of the act drafted in clearer, more understandable language and advanced together improvements they felt could be made.

Mr. Abbott said it had been found necessary to make some changes and improvements in the new revised income tax law adopted in 1949.

Juvenile Dope Major Problem

VANCOUVER (C)—Herein in the hands of teen aged children has opened a new front in the war against juvenile crime. R. C. M. P. officers said yesterday the arrest of three juveniles, one of them a 14 year old girl, charged with possession of narcotics, is evidence of a "trend towards narcotic activity among juveniles that has reached major crime proportions."

International Force Created

LONDON (C)—Atlantic pact powers in effect have agreed on the formation of an International Security Force, Canada's chief delegate to the 10 day conference of pact members said today. Hon. L. B. Pearson, external affairs minister, singled out the phrase "balanced" collected forces as one of the most significant in a communique issued yesterday. He said the phrase really means the 12 countries in the pact have agreed to create an international force capable of ensuring peace.

Oliver Santurbane left on yesterday's plane for Vancouver en route to the southern states in the hope that the change will be beneficial to his health.

CANADIANS ENROUTE TO ROME—Passing through London on their way to Rome, are some of the one hundred Holy Year Catholic pilgrims from Canada. They arrived at Liverpool on the Empress of France.

Give Camp To Scouts

The Prince Rupert Kinsmen's Club, at their regular meeting Wednesday night, decided to offer the Kin Kiddies' Kamp to the Boy Scout Association of Prince Rupert. It was felt that the Scouts would make good use of the summer Camp at Lake Lakelse and the Kinsmen's Club would assist the Scouts in the upkeep of the Camp.

Final plans were completed for the annual May 24 celebrations which will include a large parade, the May Queen Crowning and a Sports Day, followed by a dance and frolic night at the Civic Centre.

George Tomlinson, from the Junior Chamber of Commerce requested the Kinsmen to appoint representatives to a special committee to look into the matter of electing a candidate from this area to compete for the honors of Miss P.N.E. of this year.

Following the meeting there was a stag party in honor of Bud Timmermeister who is leaving the city Friday for a new post in Vancouver.
