MERCY FLIGHT FOR FISHERMAN

Pilot Bill Cooper Braves Bad Flying Weather to Bring In Sick Man

Pilot William Cooper, with his Skeena Air Transport Seabee flying boat, braved low clouds, heavy rain and generally unfavorable weather to make a mercy flight to Home Bay in Whale Channel, some ninety miles down the coast from here, early last evening to bring in a fisherman, Ernest Mareto of Vancouver, who had been taken suddenly ill while employed on the fish packer B.C. Flyer which is operating out of North Pacific Cannery on the Skeena River.

Leaving at 5:20 p.m., Cooper landed among fishing vessels at Home Bay to pick up his patient who was accompanied by Arthur Hanson, another member of the crew. Return was made at 7:45 p.m. Mareto was reported resting well at Prince Rupert General Hospital today. He "passed out" no less than three times while being rushed to the city.

Cooper was to make two more trips to Alice Arm today with mining supplies and will be leaving in a day or so for a routine check and overhaul of his plane.

NOTED NOVELIST DIES

SIMCOE, Ont.—Frederick Philip Grove, 77, one of Canada's leading novelists and winner of the Governor General's award for non-fiction in 1946, died last night at his home near here.

PREMIER KING RETURNING

STALIN PLANS COUP

LONDON—The Evening News declared today that Prime Minister Stalin of Russia has ordered the stage set for a coup d'etat in Yugoslavia and has already chosen a successor to Premier Tito. "Developments in the Moscow-Belgrade dispute are expected within the next three weeks," the paper said.

BANDIT CAPTURED

MONTREAL—An unidentified bandit was captured by a bank employee and the police today after a running gunfight following a $7,000 robbery of a branch of the Banque Canadienne Nationale. The bandit dropped the loot in the street in his headlong flight from the bank.

EXPORTING BEEF CATTLE

OTTAWA—An official of the Department of Agriculture said today that 2,835 beef cattle had been shipped to the United States from Canada since the embargo was lifted Monday. It is estimated the figure will be roughly three thousand by the end of the week.

CIVIC DELEGATION SEEK APPROVAL $550,000 'PHONE REBUILDING LOAN

A civic delegation headed by Mayor Nora E. Arnold will visit Victoria next month to seek approval by the provincial government for Prince Rupert to float a $550,000 loan to rehabilitate its worn-out telephone system.

Decision to seek approval for the loan was made by a special meeting of city council Thursday afternoon after the aldermen had approved a report by the utilities committee which recommended that financial provision be made for replacement of the present system before it breaks down.

The eight aldermen were unanimous in their opinion that, if possible, the city finance the project on a long-term basis, retaining ownership, rather than try and sell it to some utility company. To float the loan, which in the opinion of Alderman T. B. Black, utilities chairman, may be as high as $550,000, approval of the Lieutenant Governor-in-Council, as well as the electorate, will be needed.

Before the loan is placed before the electors in the form of a bylaw, approval of the provincial authorities will be sought.

The Victoria delegation will consist of Mayor Arnold, Alderman Black and City Clerk H. D. Thain. Mayor Arnold and City Clerk Thain will attend two municipal conventions before meeting the Ministers of Finance and Municipalities. The first will be the one-day convention of the Union of Central British Columbia Municipalities at Vanderhoof early in September and the second, the Union of B.C. Municipalities at Harrison Hot Springs at the middle of the month.

During discussion of the proposed loan, each of the aldermen expressed the opinion that reconstruction of the telephone system along the lines suggested in the utilities committee report would be preferable to attempting to sell it to a utilities company.

"No company will come in and make an offer because the system is not worth it," Alderman Black declared. "It is obsolete, impossible to replace any portion of it and obtain any satisfaction. If you do replace any portion, you will be faced with the same thing a couple of years from now."

In contrast to this prospect, Alderman Black outlined a reconstruction and financing scheme which would give the city a modern, automatic telephone system with provision for a replacement fund which would maintain it in first class shape during and after the period of the loan.

"In the figures arrived at there is allowance for a replacement reserve and this should be included in any bylaw that is drawn up," Alderman Black continued. "In the past, all profits have gone into general revenue while part of them should have gone into a replacement fund."

"Such a fund would maintain good service while the bond issue is being retired and at the end of that period we would have a system as good as new. After the bonds have been paid off, the profits would accrue to the city."

Alderman Black forecast that there would be an increased cost to telephone subscribers but that there would be an increase too, if the system were not replaced.

NO PROFITS NOW

"At the present time there would be no profits if it were not for the long-distance business we do," he declared. "I venture to say that, within two years, there will be no profits at all because maintenance costs are rising rapidly as the domestic system deteriorates."

Alderman Robert McKay, who opened the discussion, told his colleagues that "I, for one, have come to the conclusion that renewal of the telephone system is a 'must.' Anticipating a substantial population increase, he said, made it necessary for the city to see that proper communications were maintained.

"We can do one of two things," he continued. "We can replace the system ourselves or we can turn it over to someone else to do it. If someone else is willing

PRINCESS IS 18, LONDON BUZZING

LONDON—Princess Margaret celebrates her eighteenth birthday Saturday and London is flourishing with rumors about her engagement to the Marquess of Blandford, aged 22. After her birthday she will be able to take on a larger share of the Royal Family's public duties and on September 6 will represent the King at the enthronement of Princess Juliana in Amsterdam.

PAID DUTHIE MINE VISIT

Hope is held of locating more ore in the area around the Duthie mine on eastern slope of Hudson Bay Mountain near Smithers so that mining and milling operations may again be resumed there but, in the meantime, there are no plans for immediate activity, it was stated today by J. E. R. (Jerry) Wood, managing director of Duthie Mines (1946) Limited, who is in the city today after paying a brief visit to the property. Mr. Wood, who is also president of Wood, Parr & McCloy Ltd., consulting mining engineers and contractors, arrived in the city by train last night from Smithers and plans to leave by plane tomorrow afternoon on his return to Vancouver.

Son of Roland W. (Roly) Wood, noted mining man of a generation ago, who, with A. B. Trites, at one time owned the Premier mine in the Portland Canal district, Jerry Wood is the author of the well known book "Detour" in which he recounted his experiences as a prisoner of war of the Germans in World War II. Serving as a lieutenant with the Royal Canadian Engineers, he took part in the Dieppe landing and was taken prisoner. He escaped from prisoner of war camp but was free for only three days before being recaptured along with Col. Cecil Merritt V. C. of Vancouver. Finally in April, 1945, he was liberated.

Prisoners of war in Germany did not suffer in any degree comparable with those who had the misfortune to fall into the hands of the Japanese, commented Mr. Wood, but, nevertheless, it was a grim time for many. Food allowances from the Nazis were barely enough to maintain life and Red Cross parcels were a Godsend. Mr. Wood himself was reduced from 190 to 152 pounds.

to do it, it must mean that it will be profitable. I want to see the city reap that profit."

Aldermen Rudderham, Nickerson, Morin, Stone and Casey shared Alderman McKay's views.

Alderman Black told council that, because of difficulties in obtaining manufacturers' commitments, it might be as long as 18 months before material deliveries were made. His committee's estimates of costs, he added, were based on maximum prices and might run as high as $550,000.

PIONEER PASSES—F. M. Crosby, in business here since very early days, died last night.

FRANCIS CROSBY, CITY PIONEER, PASSES AWAY

Francis Marion Crosby, pioneer Prince Rupert resident who established the city's first bakery and who has been proprietor of the St. Elmo Hotel for more than a score of years, died in Prince Rupert General Hospital last night at the age of 79.

Born at Glencoe, Minnesota, in November, 1868, Mr. Crosby pioneered in the western United States before coming to Prince Rupert in July, 1908. He came here from Goldfield, Nevada, where he had taken part in a number of mining ventures.

Shortly after his arrival here he established the B.C. Bakery, later entering the second-hand business on Third Avenue. He then purchased the St. Elmo Hotel, which he operated for many years until the time of his death.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Josephine Crosby, whom he married in Prince Rupert. There are no children. There are two brothers—O. W. Crosby of Minneapolis and Arthur Crosby of Portland, Oregon.

SERVICE FOR JAS. HOPKINS

Final Tributes Paid Prior to Interment in Vancouver

Many local friends were enabled at the Grenville Court Chapel of the B.C. Undertakers this afternoon to pay final tributes of esteem and respect to the memory of the late James Hopkins, well known in local men's clothing and sporting circles, who passed away suddenly on Wednesday night.

Rev. Fred Antrobus, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiated and Mrs. E. J. Smith presided at the organ for the accompaniment of the hymns "A Day's March Nearer Home" and "Even Mer the Sun Hath Set."

Later in the afternoon the remains will be placed aboard the steamer Catala to be taken to Vancouver where interment will be made next Tuesday with a service from the Grandview Funeral Home and interment in Forest Lawn Cemetery, Rev. Mr. Fyler of Grandview Baptist Church officiating.

Pallbearers were J. S. Lindsay, Frank Hicks, Wallace Dell, Garnet Hull, W. D. Lamboie and Allan Morgan.

The casket was adorned with beautiful floral offerings.

Consul General 'Abused' Position And Violated Proper Conduct 'Grossly'

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—The United States today officially demanded that Russia recall its consul general, Jacob I. Lomaskin, from his post because of his conduct in connection with the Soviet refugee teacher case in New York. Gross violation of his powers and privileges as a diplomat are charged.

Soviets Enter British Zone

Another Incident as Russians Allegedly Chase Black Marketeers

BERLIN (CP)—An official United States report said today that Soviet troops and German police from the Russian sector of Berlin entered in pursuit of alleged black marketeers from the Soviet sector. There was no shooting and on one was injured, the affair thus differing from yesterday's when six Germans were injured, one seriously.

British and Russian officials are reported to be conferring on the incident.

TWO TUNA BOATS DUE

Two boats are expected to arrive here tonight carrying 33,000 pounds of tuna, according to reports received in the city today. They are the Mae West, Capt. O. J. Hanson, with 1,300 fish totalling 18,000 lbs., and the Vancouver boat Miss Judy, with 1000 fish, about 13,000 pounds.

POWER WILL STAY PRIVATE

EDMONTON—It appeared virtually certain today that private power companies will continue to control generation and distribution of electricity in Alberta. Late returns after the plebiscite in conjunction with the province's general election Tuesday increased the margin of ballots favoring privately-owned power over those advocating public ownership.

Returns from larger cities reversed the early trend in favor of public power.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis

The disturbance which entered the northern coastal regions of British Columbia yesterday evening is now moving south bringing rain to the coastal areas and showers to the interior. There is little indication of much improvement today although rainfall will become showery this afternoon or evening. Unsettled weather is expected to continue through Saturday. Temperatures remain much below the August normal in most areas.

Forecast

Queen Charlottes and North Coast—Cloudy with widely scattered showers today. Cloudy and continuing cool Saturday. Winds northwesterly (15 mph) in the exposed areas, light elsewhere. Lows tonight and highs Saturday—At Port Hardy 49 and 59, Massett 50 and 60, Prince Rupert 50 and 60.

Whether or not he leaves, the effect is that he is stripped of his diplomatic status as far as this country is concerned.

The note says that the United States holds Lomaskin responsible for giving out misinformation and accuses him of "abuse" of his position and "gross violation" of the proper conduct of a foreign official.

The note, delivered to the United States embassy here last night and published today, flatly rejected Russian charges that the teachers, Mrs. Oksana Kosenkina and Mr. and Mrs. Michael I. Samarin, had been abducted by the anti-Communist Tolstoy Foundation with connivance of American officials. Rather they had been "rescued." The three, said the note, wanted to stay in the United States.

Mrs. Kosenkina, who jumped from a third storey window in the consulate last week, was back in an oxygen tent at hospital today because of labored breathing and her condition was reported to be still critical.

URANIUM IS FOUND AGAIN

VANCOUVER—Word of a second uranium strike in the Bridge River district Friday added fresh impetus to the frenzied prospecting race.

The new strike is on property under option to Egil Lortzen of Vancouver and is located near the claim of Ernest Johnson who pioneered the rush.

The announcement touched off a deluge of professional and amateur prospectors.

Claim stakes line the sloping walls of Gunn Creek valley like a row of picket fences enclosing a garden.

The rush has already claimed its first victim—Thomas Taylor, of Vancouver, aged 60, who collapsed and died on a rough trail leading to the new field.

Coincident with Taylor's death came warning from Dr. J. F. Walker, deputy minister of mines for British Columbia, telling the public "not to lose its heads" over the strike. "We don't want to get too excited yet," he said.

FINED $50 ON LIQUOR CHARGE

In city police court Thursday afternoon Walter Symanyk was fined $50 and costs with an option of one month in jail after being found guilty of supplying liquor to an Indian.

Controls Again?

NATURALLY, there is speculation as to whether the reimposition of price ceilings by the federal government on Western Canada wheat flour and bread made therefrom is to be the forerunner of further price controls in view of the present inflationary trend which has been causing much concern with its signs of getting out of control. Strong pressure has been exerted on the government to return at least partially to the field of price control before the situation becomes impossible for too many ordinary people and some sort of an economic collapse develops.

It had been expected that the law of supply and demand would cause a levelling out of prices after controls were lifted but, so far, that has not been the case. There has not been the availability of goods that might have been anticipated, unit production costs, what with high wages and other factors, having, doubtless, had something to do with this situation.

There is a growing feeling that something must be done in the way of a resumption of controls which would logically have to apply not only to prices but to wages.

Some way or another some sort of a balance must be reached unless a breakdown is to eventuate.

A state of affairs where costs of production are too high to permit a fair profit and where wages are inadequate to meet the cost of living cannot, of course, go on.

Maybe it is that controls are the only answer and that the government is now inserting the thin end of the wedge in a new line of policy.

MENACE OF COMMUNISM

IT IS INTERESTING to note that the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, at its national convention in Winnipeg, views the communist menace with sufficient alarm to include among its ten major resolutions one reaffirming the party's opposition to communism, resolving that "totalitarian communism" is incompatible with "democratic socialism."

The C.C.F. evidently does not fail to recognize the danger to what we call our way of life.

True there may appear to be only a few communists but it is a mistake to assume that, because there are only a few, they cannot do much harm. There is already concrete evidence of the harm being done, particularly in the way of trades union infiltration and ill-considered demands on industry.

History can already be referred to exemplify the danger of the few economic and political fifth columnists.

In 1917 there was only one communist in Russia for every 2,277 people. What danger in that! But in that year the communists took over Russia. In the United States today there is a communist party man for every 1,814 people in the country. The best guess is that, in Canada, the proportion of communist sympathizers to the people as a whole is one in 500. But, of course we can go on saying that it can't happen here. We hope it won't but certainly it can, unless we become alive to the danger and accept our individual responsibility to keep on guard against it.

So it is satisfactory to see that the C.C.F. is among organizations that is alive to the danger. Well, it should be, too, since it has been proffered the "Kiss of Death."

MONTGOMERY'S COUNSEL

"A PERIOD OF EXHAUSTION can be ill described as peace," said Field Marshal Montgomery in a public address Tuesday. He reminded his hearers that since 1945, a sense of uneasiness has hung over the nations. Should an attack come, it would be swift and sudden, unlike the circumstances of 1939. He counselled a state of readiness, not some time in the future but now. Marshal Montgomery should be able to distinguish between a world, actually at peace, and a world that thinks of war.

URANIUM RUSH

THE STAMPEDE to get rich quick, through finding uranium is gaining momentum rapidly, particularly in and around the Bridge River region, less than a couple of hundred miles north of Vancouver. It is not so long ago that the metal did not cause any excitement whatever but today its value is enhanced through atomic developments.

Uranium is found in a variety of compounds, largest concentration being in pitchblends.

Enchanting Uses for B.C. Wood Are Shown in Celanese Exhibit

INTERESTING DISPLAY WILL BE FEATURE OF INDUSTRIAL SECTION OF CIVIC CENTRE CARNIVAL

The chemist's magic which will take trees from the back of British Columbia mountains and place them decoratively on the back of Milady in millions of North American homes will be featured in the Celanese Corporation of America's fascinating exhibit at the Civic Centre carnival which opens Saturday night.

Shipped specially from the corporation's New York headquarters, the display will give Prince Rupert people an idea of the processes which will transform B.C. timber into fabrics and plastics with literally hundreds of uses after the projected Watson Island cellulose acetate plant gets into production.

The exhibit has been set up in the upstairs common lounge of the Civic Centre. It consists of one panel of six by eight-foot dimensions showing the processes by which wood pulp is made into plastics and fibres and two other colorful panels of similar dimensions displaying the resultant textiles and plastic products.

Express charges on the exhibit from New York to Prince Rupert totaling more than $270, were borne by the company. It is understood that it will be turned over to the provincial Forestry Department for further display in the province when the Civic Centre Carnival is over. It was sent here at request of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Port Day committee.

Purpose of the display is to demonstrate the verity of the slogan which crowns all three panels — "Celanese Corporation of America produces the things you use—wear—live with" and, as shown, those things are legion.

At the top of the first panel is a plastic container of wood pulp, from which a tube drops. Another tube, leading from a container of acetic acid, joins the first and the resulting blending produces cellulose acetate, base of all the products shown.

The plant from which the chemical ingredients come is the Celanese Corporation's Chemsel plant at Bishop, Texas, but actually, the cellulose acetate will be produced at the Columbia Cellulose' $20,000,000 Watson Island plant when it is completed.

Real miniature railroad tank cars standing on a siding at the Chemsel plant are figurative sources of the acetic acid, and the methanol and formaldehyde which are used in later processing.

From the cellulose acetate stage, different processes are used to obtain different products. For plastics, the acetate is mixed with "plasticizer" and mixed with coloring materials to obtain plastic moulding materials which are shipped to manufacturers.

For plastic sheets, it is mixed with a solvent and color added to produce transparent sheets of colored plastics which have a thousand industrial uses.

For the manufacture of textiles and colorless plastic film, the cellulose acetate is channelled through a filter, and there the process for each material is separated again.

For clear film the acetate is mixed with a "casting dope," then poured into a casting drum from which the congealed material comes out in an endless roll with the appearance of a thin, flexible celluloid.

For fabrics, the filtered cellulose acetate is piped to a chamber containing "spinning dope" after which it enters a bobbin chamber, emerging as fine, white yarn that is spun on spools. The yarn is of consistent texture and color. It is from this yarn that the fabrics displayed on the second and third panels are made.

On the second panel, yard goods of varying weights and colors are draped for background. In the foreground is a dressing robe of "rose geranium" color, while displayed nearby are plastic buttons, cosmetic compacts, pearl beads and a comb. Here plastic and fibre products are mingled in a manner similar to that of a modern home.

The same theme is continued in the third panel where yard goods, some heavy, some light, plastics in this section include chess men, playing cards a pepper mill and salt shaker, metal plated cigarette case, sun glasses frame, radio cabinet and a fountain pen case, some in solid colors and some in gay prints display uniformity of texture in each particular type of cloth.

The upholstery of a chair is of heavy celanese fibre, as is the rug which covers the "floor" of all the panels. It is of celanese "staple fibre" of light green color.

On the whole, the display is extremely educational and in excellent taste.

THIS AND THAT

"I suppose the next thing, you'll be telling me you know more about this than I do!"

ROTARIANS HEAR OF SALES TAX

Prince Rupert Rotarians learned about fine points of the Social Security and Municipal Aid Tax, commonly known as the three per cent sales tax, at their weekly luncheon meeting at the Broadway Cafe Thursday afternoon. The speaker was Stanley Wilkins, representative of the sales tax division who is at present stationed here. Club secretary E. T. Applewhite was chairman of the meeting in the absence of President D. C. Stevenson who is on holidays. Guests at the meeting were Eric Johnson, of Hual, England, Don Alexander and G. Beveridge of Vancouver, R. W. Ward, Calgary and F. W. Stone and H. V. Tattersall, Prince Rupert.

Prince Rupert Public Relations Council was told last night by its chairman that a survey was about to be made of the northern transprovincial highway with a view to listing its facilities, services and characteristics for the benefit of the motoring public, particularly tourist drivers.

SOCCER STUFF...

The Legion attacked at the start of Wednesday night's football game in which Canadian Legion defeated High School 4 to 2 but Lien tackled well and cleared. Wilson shot well but Brodie caught and cleared. Wyatt was aggressive and Boulter saved his shot. Greer gave Christison a nice pass and the latter shot over. Nelson stopped a student attack and then Olsen checked a Legion move. Murray made a nice run until Hell cleared. Wyatt crossed a good centre and Ralph Smith shot a fine goal to give the Legion the lead. The student forwards combined well and Yelland had to be good to check them. Currie's shot was blocked and Brodie cleared.

Burnip made a nice run and Boulter did well to clear his centre. Hebb cleared twice in good style. Shier and Currie combined nicely and Nelson was lucky to clear.

Boulter ran out and cleared and, after a good High School forward attack, Wilson shot poorly. Shier and Currie again got away and Brodie had to save. Ralph Smith showed good form, and then Pat Wilson made a good run. Yelland stopped Currie. Murray beat Large and crossed a fine centre that John Wilson cleared. Nelson shot just too high. Owens crossed a beauty but Pat Wilson and Currie both failed to connect and Legion led 1-0 at the interval.

Murray's run was the first feature on resumption and then Currie and Shier forced two corners. Christison's good shot just missed. Lien and Olsen defended cleverly when Wyatt and Christison attacked. Yelland stopped Wilson and then Owens missed a great chance to equalize. Wyatt managed to elude John Wilson but his shot seemed to be going wide until it took a crazy hop and went right across the goal but kept out. Murray took a corner kick that came back to Nelson who scored with a good grounder. High attacked but Legion came back and Christison put them three up. Olsen fed his forwards and Currie and then Owens threatened with the latter missing an open goal. In another attack Owens crossed the ball and Currie and Shier worked it in front of Brodie where Pat Wilson gave it a final touch to give High School their first goal. Wyatt broke away and Christison nipped in to put the Legion further ahead. Owens missed another open goal. Burnip stopped Currie. John Wilson stopped Wyatt cleverly. Pat Wilson fed Currie and Shier carried on the good work but Yelland and Glen Smith cleared. John Wilson broke up a Legion attack. Large stopped Murray. The students were trying hard and Pat Wilson forced a corner. Owens placed it well and when it came out to Lien the latter beat Brodie with a grand shot to give the students their second goal. Nelson broke away and from his fine centre Christison just topped the bar with a fine effort. Full time found the Legion winners 4-2.

TEAMS:
Legion—Brodie, Yelland, Glen Smith, Nelson, Greer, Burnip, Wyatt, Christison, Ralph Smith, Dave Murray.
High School—Boulter, Hebb, John Wilson, Large, Olsen, Lien, Bob Currie, Shier, Pat Wilson, Owens.

Referee—A. Ronald.
Goal Scorers:
Legion—Ralph Smith, Nelson, Christison (2).
High School—Pat Wilson, Lien.

COMMENTS

Both teams played a man short but the game was fast and always very interesting. Towards the end it got fast and a trifle furious with no quarter asked or given.

Brodie was good. Glen Smith played hard in defence. Yelland and Greer tackled hard and checked closely. Nelson kicked strongly. He played a roving

Sport Shots

At a recent banquet in Edmonton in honor of Jockey Johnny Longdon, only jockey in American turf history to ride more than 3,000 winners, R. James Speers, noted horseman, explained that western Canadian racing owed Longdon a debt of gratitude. An Edmonton newspaper, reporting on the banquet, told the story in this way:

"It seems when the game was experiencing the dark days of the mid-1930's, Longdon dipped into his savings to help keep the sport from going under. He had been riding across the line several years by this time. If you know your general run of professional athlete just think what this makes Longdon."

Life in Britain under Communism would mean no cricket at Lord's and no football at Highbury, Fulham or Brentford, says Rev. R. M. Pitt, vicar of St. Lawrence's Church, Brentford. In his parish magazine he wrote: "We would see the abolition of those amusements which we all value in every town and city. Our greatest need is for a constructive force through our present dangers."

Claim to be the first man to bowl a six byes (runs awarded for unhit balls that get past the wicket-keeper) is made by C. J. Kortright, former Essex fast bowler, in the 1948 Wisden, leading cricket almanac. He was playing in a club match on a small ground at Wallington, Norfolk, and bowled a ball which rose almost straight and went out of the ground without a second bounce. It was well within the batsman's reach, and there was no question of a wide being awarded.

THE TWICE-A-WEEK LOCAL

The kids were polished... the rest of us slicked up, too. We were off to the depot... there to watch the thundering steam-driven giant round Ander's corner. Its whistle, echoing through the valleys, thrilled us. That whistle brought visions of distant lands... great cities... rolling wheat fields. It spelled romance and adventure to all... that was the twice-a-week local.

Rockets and Signals—H.M.C. S Cayuga, Crescent, Athabasca.

Mrs. E. M. Kennedy and Miss Gillian Jolliffe of the Anglican Sunday School Caravan visited the members of the Sunday School By Post. They drove round the lake by Nadina visiting all the way, coming back via Ootsa Lake and back by the ferry.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Parkvold, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Wick and Mrs. Alice McMeekin called in for a visit. They were returning to Prince Rupert after extensive travelling through the lakes district.

Thirteen attended the Women's Christian Association meeting at Mrs. Phil Kelly's home at Southbank, on Saturday afternoon. Those who crossed on the ferry were met at Southbank by Phil Kelly and taken to the meeting in his boat. Mrs. Charles Millar, president, opened the meeting and after all singing hymns, Mrs. Kelly gave a very interesting lesson. The hostesses Mrs. Millar, Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Taft, served lunch after which the visitors returned the same way by boat.

The church service was well attended on Sunday morning with the church filled to capacity. The next service will be Harvest Thanksgiving on the third Sunday in September.

CEEING ... with CEE

Oh to be a boy now that cow-boy suits are here. Practically every young boy longs to be a rootin', tootin', hard ridin' cow-hand. He doesn't have to have all the trimmings. His imagination will provide the horse but to be a proper son of the saddle, the would-be cow poke likes to be togged out in a fair imitation of the rig his favorite movie hero wears. In at least one local store there is a good range of cow-puncher clothes for boys. There are pant-chaps complete with bat-wings and shiny metal discs and matching vests or boleros. Of course there are fancy shirts with colorful inserts and braid, loud enough to satisfy any broncho buster that ever straddled a broom handle.

When she went into the Post Office she was wearing a white blouse. When she came out she was wearing one with a bright floral pattern. So it seemed but it was an illusion. What she had was one of those half-and-half crepe affairs, fancy in front and plain in the back.

Practically every man that wore a battle dress will tell you how comfortable it was—especially during winter in England and on the continent. They were just about the finest thing a man could wear for the conditions that existed and, even before the Canadians left Holland, Dutch merchants were displaying jackets cut to the battle blouse pattern. On the local market there is a sport jacket styled to imitate General Eisenhower's field jacket. This one isn't made of drab olive colored material. It is all wool with broad green and white or gray and white checks. Somehow it has a fresh appearance about it as though it was truly designed for the great outdoors.

Plastic has appeared in the form of many household furnishings lately and any day now housewives will be able to buy a new rolled plastic fabric that comes in all colors and patterns. Kitchen table cloths that will match the color scheme and look like cloth coverings—Dining table cloths that imitate lace etched work and look like it when placed over a plain white table cloth—Window curtains, shower curtains are some of the other forms this wonder plastic comes in as well as yardage if one feels like making some fittings to conform to one's own ideas. The plastic is easily cleaned by wiping or washing and if hung up to dry wrinkles just fall out.

A local firm now has what might be the answer to a hobbyists' dream. It is a power tool that fits snugly into the user's hand. A large assortment of attachments can be obtained with the machine and then the handcraft man is ready to go to work on wood, leather, steel or glass. He can use it to carve, grind, tool, etch or cut, depending on his inclination or the job on hand.

First he put a rope on the end of the clothes line so it could be tightened. Worked pretty good too until the first all-night rain; then there was a boom in the morning gloom and the line lay coiled like a skinny snake in the garden patch. He repeated this performance twice before buying enough wire to hang himself (but didn't) and put it where the rope used to be. It works fair but there is quite a problem involved everytime the line stretches and has to have the slack taken out. Yesterday he discovered a bronze wire tightener about the size of an elongated salt seller. The wire is threaded through the attachment and three steel balls inside, centre on the wire and hold it from slipping out as long as there is the line. To tighten one hand is used to tighten the end of the wire until the slack is gone. TRY A CLASS

Going Steady... Together

1. SMALL businesses play a vital part in our everyday life. Their size generally makes mass-production methods impracticable, but they perform the equally necessary function of distribution . . . catering directly to the customer. Typical of small businesses in British Columbia are the 333 independent Chevron Dealers.

2. EQUALLY important is the role of the big companies. These are able to collect the capital to build factories, buy the machinery, provide the tools and meet the pay-rolls which make mass-production possible. In this category come such organizations as Standard Oil Company of British Columbia Limited.

3. LARGE and small businesses are necessary in our free economy. The small business provides personalized service; the big company mass-produces at low cost. The sale of gasoline, refined in British Columbia by Standard of B.C. and brought to you by your independent Chevron Dealer, is typical of the partnership of large and small business.

4. BOTH are capital at work, producing something people want, selling it in open competition at a profit. This system, we believe, offers the greatest incentives, the highest standards of living, the best job-security . . . in an atmosphere of initiative, fair-dealing and freedom of opportunity. This is the ideal combination!

Our Ring Display

If you will take notice some day in this section you will discover that it deserves more than a passing glance.

You will find that all the gems are there. And if you should happen to be a good one you will at once decide that our qualities are the average.

We took pains to have it that way.

If you've a ring need of any kind you will forget that our values can compare with any.

We've lately added quite a number of which have not been in stock in Prince Rupert.

All we ask is a look.
