Russians Courting Trouble Over Berlin

SOVIET FIGHTER PLANES ZOOM 100 FEET FROM U.S. LIFT TRANSPORTS

PLANE MISSING IN NORTHERN B.C.

EDMONTON, (P) — A light plane carrying a woman and her son is overdue today on a flight in northern British Columbia and a snowstorm prevented the R.C.A.F. from launching an air search.

The Stinson aircraft, piloted by Mrs. Lintner of Anchorage, Alaska, failed to reach Fort Nelson, B.C. Monday night on a 52-mile flight from Watson Lake, Y.T.

It is believed that the woman was taking her son to a United States school. The R.C.A.F. will launch a search as soon as possible to locate the maroon-colored plane which followed the Alaska Highway along British Columbia's northern boundary.

STATES ARMY TUG IN POSITION ON REEF

Obviously badly holed and all the water coming in, the tug was hoisted by the bow high out of the water. Ernest Caldwell of the steamer "Albatross" described the position of a large Army tug which is stranded on the Herbert Reef in Arthur Passage, 20 miles south of here.

The Prince George passed Herbert Reef about 10 o'clock this morning. The tide at the time was nearing its height.

Capt. Caldwell admitted that the vessel appeared to be in a precarious position but might not be in immediate danger of falling off the reef into deep water. He pointed out that the position there is usually fairly well protected.

Nearby the tug is a barge-like craft which might be a small floating dry dock such as the tug was reported to have in tow.

The United States Coastguard has had vessels standing by the tug and it was reported today that salvage vessels were en route north from Seattle.

The twenty-one members of the crew of the tug were reported to be safe.

Reds Are Said To Be Resuming Arms Production In Occupied Germany In Contravention of Potsdam Agreement

BERLIN (CP)—Nine Soviet fighter planes buzzed dangerously close to two American supply planes over the Berlin air corridor today, United States authorities announced. The officials said they were transmitting a written protest to the Russians charging violation of the air safety regulations and demanding remedial action.

The pilots said that the Yak ships came within 100 feet of them.

Meanwhile a dispatch from the American-licensed Decca News Agency attributed to informed Soviet zone administration quarters a statement that the Russians are illegally re-activating armament industries in the zone of occupation, especially production of aircraft parts. This activity would constitute a violation of Four Power agreements for demilitarization of Germany which began with the Potsdam declaration. Plants are reported to be producing turbines, tires, small arm parts, jet planes and airplane fuselages.

The notes of Great Britain, France and United States charge that Russia menaces world peace with the Berlin blockade. The three identical notes demand early action by the security council.

Three-Power Note To U.N. Council

PARIS, (P)—British, United States and French foreign ministers have approved the terms of their note to the United Nations on the Berlin crisis and the text was handed to Secretary-General Trygve Lie today.

The notes of Great Britain, France and United States charge that Russia menaces world peace with the Berlin blockade. The three identical notes demand early action by the security council.

HAROLD GATTY FISHING TUNA

LOS ANGELES — Harold Gatty, Australian flier, who served as a navigator for the late Wiley Post on a round the world flight in 1931, is completing arrangements for a commercial tuna fishing enterprise in the Fiji Islands. He is president of the South Seas Marine Products Ltd.

Radio Range Site On Islands Reserved

The site for a new radio range station at Copper Bay on the Queen Charlotte Islands has been reserved for the Department of Transport according to a report from Victoria.

ASSAULT TRIAL BEING HEARD

Trial of James Leo Pope, charged with indecent assault on an 11-year-old boy, was begun before Mr. Justice N. W. Whittaker in Assize Court Tuesday afternoon. The case was adjourned after the Crown had presented its evidence through four witnesses.

Pope is conducting his own defence while the Crown is represented by T. W. Brown.

Pope is alleged to have made an attack on the boy last June 2, having accosted him on the overhead stairway and taken him to a place near the railway tracks at Cow Bay.

Pope pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Those who gave evidence yesterday were the boy, the boy's mother, Sydney Alexander, a railway engineer who had seen the two near the railway tracks, and Corporal A. H. Taylor of the city police, who arrested Pope following the alleged attack.

The boy told the court of the alleged circumstances of the attack and his mother related the story told by the boy when he returned home on the evening of June 2.

MURDER CHARGE LAID IN SOUTH

VANCOUVER, (P) — George Wallace, 35-year-old Indian, was charged with murder on Tuesday in connection with the death last Wednesday of Andrew Kirkpatrick, 62.

The charge was laid after a coroner's jury ruled that Kirkpatrick died "as a result of injuries received at the hands of Wallace." Witnesses at the inquest testified they saw Wallace strike the victim and then search his pockets.

Earlier Wallace was charged with the theft of 76c from the dead man.

LABORITES IN CLASH

Talk About Bolting of Left Wingers Brings About Row In Toronto

TORONTO (P)—An open clash between the United Steel Workers of America and the United Electrical Workers, both Canadian Congress of Labor affiliates highlighted a hectic meeting Monday night of the Toronto Labor Council.

During the proceedings, Murray Cotterill, council president, declared there were "rumors" that certain "Left Wing" unions were planning to bolt the Canadian Congress of Labor council.

A resolution was adopted condemning border restrictions against trade unionists and calling upon the C.C.L. to ask the C.I.O. to make representations to the United States government.

STILL FOOD IN ALASKA

SEATTLE (P)—The Portland Oregonian quoted Governor Ernest Gruening saying that there is no immediate prospect of a shortage of food in Alaska's larger cities, despite the west coast maritime strike.

He added, however, that fresh produce, butter and eggs are getting scarce in the outlying areas and prices are starting to climb.

Meanwhile, the Alaskan air-lift began to step up its tonnage today and officials reported that it can handle a still greater volume.

Longshoremen Sign Wage Agreement

VANCOUVER — A new wage agreement has been signed by deep-sea longshoremen in Vancouver. Covered by the new accord, which gives an increase of 15 cents, will be between 1,500 and 1,600 dock workers in Vancouver, New Westminster, Chemainus and Port Alberni. The new rates are $1.55 an hour straight time, $2.33 overtime. The old rates were $1.40 and $2.10.

Thomas Dewey Quit Law, Music For Public Life

Colorful New York Governor Is Republican Candidate Second Time In Presidential Fight

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON—Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Republican candidate for the second time in November's presidential election, might have made a million dollars in law. Instead he chose public service which paid little but brought him fame as a politician. He was New York's racket-busting district attorney and has served two terms as governor of New York.

Dewey, suave and polished, is nearly five feet, eight inches tall but looks shorter. He dresses immaculately but quietly. His moustache now is known wherever pictures are printed. He is dark with arresting brown eyes, an engaging smile and wide spaced teeth which he does not like to have photographed.

He wanted the Republican nomination in 1940 but retired in the face of the Wendell Wilkie landslide, and worked in Wilkie's futile fight against Franklin D. Roosevelt. In 1944 there were plenty of old-guard candidates available at the Chicago convention but Dewey won and went on to defeat by still-unbeatable Roosevelt.

Now he is again the Republican candidate, as a result of careful planning and organization on his part and his own personal determination to reach the White House.

Fortune in Farm
His personal fortune probably is almost entirely wrapped up in his $30,000 farm near Pawling, New York, which he bought 11 years ago with a down payment of $3,000.

In spite of the fact that Dewey has been in the big-salary class ($35,000) only since he became governor and in spite of the terrific demands such an officeholder must face in addition to high income taxes, he is proud of the fact that he paid off all the mortgage. "Dapplemore," his 300-acre Pawling farm, now is his. His predecessors as governor were millionaires.

Dewey was born March 24, 1902, in Owosso, Mich. His father was a small-town newspaper publisher. His mother was Ann Thomas of English and Canadian descent.

He recalls with interest and pleasure the summers he spent as a small boy with his Aunt Eleanor Thomas in London, Ont. At the University of Michigan where Dewey got his arts degree he was leader of the college glee club. He went to Columbia Law School in New York with ambitions divided between law and the concert stage.

In white's "Scandals"
He studied both, taking singing lessons at the Percy Reector Stevens music studio. There he met Frances Eileen Hutt of Sapulpa, Okla., who was well started on a musical career with engagements in a number of stage successes, including George White's "Scandals."

He was admitted to the bar in 1926 and two years later he and Frances were married. They have two sons, Thomas, 15, and John, 12.

With family responsibilities, Dewey decided to restrict his singing to home duets with his pretty wife. He plunged into law as a career, but his private practice soon ended when he entered public legal service in New York City.

CLEVELAND'S INDIANS ON WAY TO TOP

NEW YORK, (P)—The Indians may be a vanishing race, but you couldn't tell it to the baseball world today. Led by Manager Lou Boudreau, the Cleveland war party appears to be a cinch to clash with another species, the Boston Braves, for the World Series wampum.

Boudreau's tribe has a two-game lead over the runner-up Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees in the American League's pennant fight. All contenders have only four games left.

The New York Yankees, champs of the baseball world a year ago, had little fight today. Buck Harris's warriors seemed to feel that they blew a big one yesterday when they bowed to Carl Scheib, 21-year old right hander of the Philadelphia Athletics by a score of 5-2.

RED UNIONS BARRED FROM ATOMIC PLANTS

WASHINGTON (P)—The United States government today barred atom-bomb plants to unions whose officers refuse to disavow Communism. The action was taken on congressional charges that a network of Soviet spy rings in the U.S. tried during the war to feed atomic secrets to Moscow. It stemmed from an Atomic Energy commission order.

YUGOSLAVIA BACKS RUSSIA

PARIS (P)—Yugoslavia today lined up solidly behind Russia as the western powers prepared to send their case against the Russians to the United Nations. Foreign Minister Edvard Kardelj said in the General Assembly that the world's woes are due to the anti-Soviet policies of the western powers.

BRITONS MUST WORK HARDER

LONDON (P)—Britons who recently were congratulated by Sir Stafford Cripps on their recovery achievement, were today told that further effort will be required.

A report by the Chancellor of the Exchequer said that exports are higher than in 1933 but are still worth only 16 shillings in a 20-shilling pound.

When United States aid ends in 1952, he said, home production must bring this figure to par, as well as provide more for the home market.

GERMANS MADE DARING ESCAPE

BERLIN, (P)—The Berlin police said today that about 25 Germans consigned to forced labor in Russian operated uranium mines in Saxony made a daring escape last night. The prisoners made their dash for freedom while their train passed through the British sector of the city.

Do We Get Grain?

THERE IS TO BE a greatly increased movement of grain through Vancouver for export this season. At least fifty million bushels is due to be shipped from this coast, it is stated. An active market abroad, including the United Kingdom, India and South Africa, will be one responsible factor. Another is that increased railway freight rates will have the tendency of sending more grain to the nearest coastal points for waterborne transport.

With this increase in grain shipping activity to the British Columbia coast coming up, now might be a good time to inquire if Prince Rupert is, at long last, going to share in the traffic. The city council has been interesting itself in the matter but, so far as can be learned, with no satisfaction as yet. Chamber of Commerce quarters may also consider it timely again to do something about it.

It has already been actively suggested that something should be done in the way of encouraging lumber shipments from the interior through Prince Rupert for export now that transcontinental freight rates are becoming prohibitive. This was one of the urgent suggestions that was made at the Associated Boards of Trade convention in Juneau last week.

TELEPHONE SERVICE

THOSE WERE interesting figures which we published yesterday as coming from the telephone superintendent regarding the congestion problem of the local service. It was explained why the applications of many would-be subscribers could not be met, making a strong argument in support of the present move to establish a new local telephone system in Prince Rupert. Of course, there are still those who hold that there are things we need worse than a new telephone establishment and the matter may be expected to be one of continued discussion.

However, one thing we would like to comment upon here is the situation in the exchange itself, particularly as far as the hard-working girls there are concerned. We may be inclined in impatience at times when there is a little slow response to our calls or when there is the odd mistake to be hastily critical. Mr. Love tells us, however, that the local switchboard operators are handling far more than average traffic volume. So, maybe, we are not really getting such bad service after all. The girls, doubtless, have their harassing and trying moments. It is easy to criticize without knowing or appreciating the difficulties they may have to contend with.

TRUMAN'S GAME FIGHT

WE WON'T LOSE this campaign for lack of hard work. I intend to make more public appearances and wage the most strenuous campaign any President has ever attempted. I'm not only going to make radio appeals to the man in the street—I'm going to rub shoulders with him. We'll need a heavy vote and I'm going to get it if I have to punch door-bells."

So speaks Harry Truman, now in the midst of his western tour. He will deliver more than a hundred addresses in at least 18 of the 21 states his 17-car train will touch on the 9,500-mile tour of the coast and return. A poll concedes him no chance at all, to win. One may not like Truman or his politics. But everybody appreciates spunk, the resolve to come out on top, and the disregarding of no matter what opponents may choose to say.

Ancient Steamer Victoria Loved By Generations of U.S. Seamen

A 78-year-old lady left Prince Rupert for the north yesterday after a brief visit, confident, even in her advanced maturity, of the devotion of enough men to make her the envy of most of womankind.

She sailed proudly, did the veteran steamship Victoria, knowing that time and faithful service had made her a queen to more than two generations of American seafaring men. And she put on no dowager airs, either, because she was aware that her officers still pronounced her "as good as ever."

Said to be the oldest ship sailing under the American flag, the Victoria, 370 feet long, 3,700 gross tons, sailed Tuesday for Ketchikan and other Alaska ports after unloading 20,000 cases of canned salmon and six carloads of frozen fish here. She will pick up more Alaskan cargo for Seattle.

She is travelling waters which her hull has ripped since before 1900 when she was taken over by the Alaska Steamship Co. from the Cunard Line. And if ships have the human qualities which their crewmen bestow on them, her memory can go back another 30 years when she played a part in the most brilliant period of the British Empire.

She could bring a nostalgic tear to the eye of a handful of aging Scotsmen by recalling her launching at Dumbarton in 1870 from the slipways of Dennys Shipbuilding Co. and those same Scotsmen would eye lovingly the narrow wrought-iron strakes of her hull almost perfectly preserved—a sight rarely seen in these days of welded steel.

Although her original engines have long since been replaced, there is still much of her engine room machinery that bears the marks of their nineteenth century builders.

In those days, she sailed as the Cunard liner "Parthia," first to carry that famous name. And among her early memories is that of carrying British troops to Africa to relieve General Gordon's besieged soldiers in the Sudanese city of Khartoum in 1884.

Sold to an American line just before the turn of the century, she entered the run between Seattle and Nome in the gold rush days, and became famous to thousands of gold seekers. It is to the two generations of American seamen who served on her, however, that she is really endeared.

To them, she was, and is, known fondly as "Queen Victoria's Yacht."

Says her current Captain, Chris Trondsen, of Seattle: "She takes the seas like a battleship, smooth and solid. And she can still make 13 of her original 16 knots."

TOUCHING INCIDENT

The affection shown by her crew is a touching thing. It was illustrated little more than a month ago, while the Victoria was sailing from Seattle to the Alaska ports. On that voyage, with simple ceremony, the ashes of Taylor Bertrand Shiels were scattered from her deck over Puget Sound.

Mr. Shiels served aboard the Victoria as third assistant engineer in 1900 when she was on the Nome run. He later became chief engineer and served aboard her for many years. His last wish, when he died in Seattle last July 11 was that his ashes should be committed to the sea from her deck.

What there is about a ship that gives it a personality that men learn to love cannot be explained, but it exists, seamen declare.

Perhaps it is because some ships allow their crewmen to discover brief moments of happiness which other ships deny. Certainly, the Victoria allowed that to certain of her crew men during her brief visit here.

There was the case of Capt. Trondsen, who went aboard the salmon-loaded American ship Reef Knot, which was also tied at the ocean dock and discovered that his brother was pilot on the latter vessel.

That set the keynote for other reunions and celebrations that featured the visits of both vessels.

Then there was the Victoria's purser, Robert W. Farmer, who met his former wartime skipper, Hugh Campbell, now second mate on the Reef Knot. Farmer and Campbell had served together on the Liberty ship James K. Kelly from 1942 to 1947 and knew the comradeship born of partnership in the two Jima amphibious landings in 1944.

And Third Mate Odmund Sumstad celebrated his tenth wedding anniversary in somewhat lonely fashion, relieved by the good wishes of his fellow

MADE FIRST VOYAGE ON VICTORIA

Visit of Veteran Alaska
Liner Interests David
Crocker, Local Pioneer

The visit of the veteran Alaska Steamship Co. steamer Victoria to Prince Rupert early this week with a cargo of canned salmon and frozen fish from southeastern Alaska for transshipment East over Canadian National Railways was of particular interest to David Crocker, 1228 Park Avenue, one of the real pioneers of the north country. In May 1900 Mr. Crocker was a passenger on the Victoria when she made her first voyage from Seattle to Nome, a service in which she became famous for half a century.

The Victoria, which had once been a Transatlantic liner, was then newly out of service as a transport to the Philippines in the Spanish-American War, carrying troops and supplies from the West Coast across the Pacific Ocean.

The trip from Seattle to Nome, Mr. Crocker recalls, took about two weeks. The course was from the Straits of Juan de Fuca to Unimak Pass and then through Bering Straits and Sea. It was a lucky trip from the fine weather standpoint but floating ice in Bering Sea caused some delay.

Even when he made the trip from Seattle to Nome, Mr. Crocker was no stranger to the north for in 1898 he had joined in the Gold Rush and went into the Klondike from Dyea over the old Chilkoot trail. He also worked the Atlin creeks for gold in his day. "I never made a fortune," Mr. Crocker admitted "but I struck gold at times and it was a great life."

Mr. Crocker has been a resident of Prince Rupert since September 1909. He is now partially invalided and lives quietly at home where he always welcome the visit of pioneers to talk about old times in the romantic days of the Golden North.

FINAL MASONIC HONORS HELD
 Service Monday Night For Late William Finlayson
 Tyee Lodge, A.F. & A.M., in compliance with the dying request of deceased, Monday night conducted a Masonic funeral service at the chapel of the B.C. Undertakers for the late William Finlayson, superintendent of the local grain elevator, whose death occurred at the end of last week. The service was opened at the Masonic Temple whence the craftsmen proceeded to the chapel to surround the casket as the final rites of the order were performed by D. C. Stevenson, senior warden, acting in the absence of worshipful master, Frank Skinner, and assisted by William Cruickshank, as chaplain, and Harry Calderwood, as director of ceremonies. The hymns were "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me."
 Following the chapel service, the Masons marched in solemn procession, accompanying the remains to the steamer Princess Adelaide on which they were taken to Vancouver where the funeral will take place with Rev. W. D. Grant Hollingworth, formerly of this city, officiating.
 The pallbearers were J. L. McIntosh, W. R. McAfee, Duncan Munro, John McLeod, William McLeod and James Bremner.

 Henry Azak, Naas River Indian, was fined $25 and costs in city police court this morning on a charge of having liquor in his possession. His explanation, which did not satisfy the court, was that he was keeping two bottles of whisky for other people.

CITY WORKMAN HURT IN FALL
 Harry Wilkinson, carpenter in the employ of R. C. Mutch, city contractor, is in hospital suffering from a broken left shoulder and painful bruises as a result of a fall caused by a collapsing scaffold while demolishing a water tower at Roosevelt Park. Mr. Wilkinson fell between 15 and 20 feet, landing on jagged rocks as the scaffold collapsed. He was given immediate medical treatment. The water tower, built by the American Army, was taken over by the city after the war and was sold recently to the interior village of Williams Lake. It is being torn down for shipment. The scaffolding, built solidly, is believed to have been damaged by a recent storm and subsequently weakened by working on it.

BIG FISHING INDUSTRY Great Britain's sea fishing industry is among the most important in the world.

PITCHER DON BLACK SERIOUSLY INJURED—Don Black, Cleveland Indians hurler who entered baseball's hall of fame last year with a no-hitter against the Philadelphia Athletics, was seriously injured in a recent game between the Indians and St. Louis Browns. Fouling off a ball pitched by Brown's pitcher Bill Kennedy in the second inning, Black suffered a hemorrhage of a blood vessel near the brain surface and had to be assisted off the field. Doctors indicate no operation will be necessary. Picture shows Black being helped off the field by Trainer Lefty Weisman and Pitcher Bob Lemon. Doctors say that Black has a 50-50 chance to recover. In spite of his loss, the Indians have virtually clinched the pennant in the American League, being two full games ahead of New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox after yesterday's play.

Sport Shots

Jimmy Bloodworth of the Montreal Royals can be put down as a man who hit a crucial home run and never got a chance to run it. Also he is the man who caused no end of confusion in Montreal after the Royals knocked Rochester Red Wings right out of the International Baseball League playoffs at the week-end. Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll says the commotion which followed Bloodworth's game-winning belt kept the sports desk telephones ringing constantly with people who wanted to know the score. For the record, the score was 3-0.

The reason for the confusion was that, while Bloodworth, voted the most-valuable player in the league this season, hit the ball over the fence he got no farther than second base before the Delormier Park mob reached him and carried him off the field to the dugout. Whitman and Oscar Grimes, who were on base ahead of Bloodworth, crossed the plate. That's why some folk argued the score was 2-0 and that Bloodworth's drive was only a two-bagger. That would have made the score 2-0.

Others said that when fans invaded the diamond it automatically cut the drive down to a double which would bring the ground-rule into force. Dink recounts how Frank (Shag) Shaughnessy, the league president, ruled Bloodworth hit a home run. "The ball was hit out of the park," said Shaughnessy. "Bloodworth couldn't get any farther than second base because the crowd ran out on the diamond. This is official."

Reminiscences and Reflections

Wheat is commencing to be received at Vancouver's elevators much to the satisfaction of shippers and city. Up in Prince Rupert the situation is different. There is an excellent grain elevator there. This is beyond question, for wheat has actually been handled. It happened years ago. So much for that. But since then, the plant has been silent and empty. If it is intended to be used, definitely, for decorative purposes, it would seem that protests are in order.

Representative of Biological Station

After spending a few days in the city to establish Archie McLeod as local representative of his department at the Pacific Biological Station at Nanaimo, Dr. J. L. Hart, senior biologist at that station, left by this afternoon's plane on his return south. Dr. Hart is in charge of ocean fisheries at the Nanaimo station, director of which is Dr. R. E. Foerster. Archie McLeod is the successor here to Gordon Calderwood who has left for Vancouver to continue studies in biology at the University of British Columbia. His duties are to gather information in regard to life history of fish which are brought into this port.

Back to standard time. A dog needs two tails about as much as Skeena requires two different times. But if the system is to continue indefinitely then have daylight saving everywhere in Canada. Doing so will save a lot of grief.

Jacques Greber, town planner from France, who already has spent several years drafting long-range designs for the beautification of Ottawa, says that, before the job is finished, half a century must pass. Oh well. What are a few hundred years more or less so long as the taxpayers have no objection.

With daylight saving "out" at last, there does appear to be a less uneasy feeling as bedtime approaches. If one must rise at an hour distressing to think of, five o'clock, without any "saving" is early enough, Heaven know. But when it becomes four, the fad (for after all, isn't that what it is) becomes mighty hard to take. Why can't everybody make it good old 8:30 and let her go at that!

CITY TO SEEK AMENDMENT TO ARCHITECT ACT

City council will recommend to the provincial government that the Architects' Act be amended to increase the minimum amount under which a building must be designed by a registered architect from $10,000 to $50,000.

At present, buildings costing more than $10,000 must, under law, be designed by a registered architect. The minimum, Alderman Brooksbank claimed at Monday night's meeting, is now too low, considering the way building costs have risen. Intent of the law is to make large buildings safe for occupancy in their design and construction. However, because of increased costs, a $10,000 building now is quite small, he said.

"Lots of ordinary homes cost $10,000 now," Alderman Brooksbank declared. "The Act was never meant to apply to them."

The matter was brought up in council with the receipt of a letter from the B.C. Architectural Institute which protested against the alleged designing of a local building by a non-registered architect. The letter asked what council planned to do about it.

"I gather that they mean the prosed Canadian Legion build-

Latest from Portland Canal Mining Centre

Evan Harris, superintendent of Morris Summit Mine, who has been at the mine for the past week or so, left for the south on the Cardena on Monday. He is confident that big developments are in store for the mine.

Robert Dunlop, general foreman for the Department of Public Works in the Atlin District, returned from a tour of inspection of Lower Post, Atlin and Telegraph Creek. While at Atlin he picked up a piece of mammoth tusk which was uncovered while he was watching sluicing operations on one of the creeks.

Toronto Report On Premier's Closing

The men at the Silbak-Premier wine wanted a raise. They demanded an increase of $1 a day across the board as from December 6 last. The company offered to pay the new rate as from July 1, but said it simply didn't have the $40,000 needed for retroactive pay. In a strike ballot the miners voted 124 to 22 to quit work. The company closed the mines two days before the deadline. All machinery has been brought up from underground. The tunnels are closed and boarded up. The mess house and the bunk houses are padlocked. The stores have finished their closing-out sales.

FAREWELLED AT STEWART PARTY

STEWART—The Moose Home was the scene of a delightful party last Thursday when Mr. and Mrs. Pete Svedberg were guests of honor of Portland Canal Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, and Chapter 16, Women of the Moose.

Mr. and Mrs. Svedberg, who will be leaving Stewart shortly, were the recipients of gifts from both the Lodge and the Chapter of which they have both been active members. In acknowledging the gifts and the good wishes they both expressed the hope that they will return in the not too distant future.

Military whist was played. The winning table consisted of Mrs. Jacobson, Mrs. B. J. Smithson, Henry Neilson and Pete Svedberg. Consolation prizes went to Mrs. Manojlovich, Miss Violet Manojlovich, Miss Ella Hachil and Miss Jaunita Hawkins.

The co-workers of the Women of the Moose supplied a splendid repast which was thoroughly enjoyed.

BATHING BEAUTIES, SMALL FRY SIZE—The judges in the recent Newport, R.I. bathing beauty contest thought they were seeing double, and they were, when they started to pick the winner of the title, "Little Miss Easton's Beach of 1948." The title went to "Number 41," June and Jean Gottlieb, three-year old identical twins. The small fry version of the bathing beauties strike a pose like their big sisters.

DROWNED IN INTERIOR LAKE

James Eli Clark II of Ootsa Loses Life Under Tragical Circumstances

News of the drowning of James Clark came as a shock to all the residents of the Lakes District. He was of the third generation to bear the name of his grandfather, James I. Clark, a famous horseman and guide, and also of his father, James I. Clark II, one of the best guides and rodeo riders of the central interior.

The accident occurred on the Blackwater water-shed near Eucinko Lake. While making a dangerous ford, the young man's saddle horse plunged suddenly into very deep water and either struck him with his head or kicked him as he left the saddle.

According to eye witnesses, Clark swam for a few strokes, sank once, came nearly to the surface and then suddenly disappeared.

Every effort was made by members of the Geodetic Survey party for which he was packing to locate the body but some hours elapsed before it was recovered.

Contact was made with Queen's authorities and the police made an effort to reach the scene of the tragedy.

On Saturday the father was flown in from Ootsa Lake by Jean Ernst, pilot for the Griffiths Brothers of the Flying Fishermen's Camp and the body brought to Burns Lake where the funeral service was held. Rev. A. W. Atkinson, rector of the St. John's Church, conducted the rites.

Honorary and active pallbearers were Manley Rehill, John Harrison, William H. Harrison Jr., Ernest Harrison, Clifford Bennett, Buddy Bennett.

Cars from all over the district attended the last rites, the Ootsa Lake area especially being loaded with floral tributes.

Henry West of Ottawa, in charge of another Geodetic and Mineralogical Survey, attended the funeral.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Q. Is it good form for one to say to a person, "I have forgotten your name?"

A. No, this is usually unflattering. It is better to carry on with the conversation as well as you can, avoiding the use of names.

Q. Is it all right for a dinner guest to rest one hand on the table while talking?

A. While it isn't exactly "bad form" still the best place for the hands at the table, when not in use, is in the lap.

Q. Is it all right for an employer to reprove a servant in the presence of others?

A. No, this is extremely ill-bred. Any such criticism should be given privately.

MUNICIPALITIES GROUP TO MEET TWICE YEARLY

The Union of Central B.C. Municipalities will hold semi-annual conventions, instead of annual, as in the past, in order to draft and consider regional resolutions prior to the time they must be submitted for consideration by the province-wide Union of B.C. Municipalities.

Decision of the Central British Columbia municipal body to increase its tempo was announced to city council Monday night by Mayor Arnold and City Clerk Thain in a report of the Vanderhoof convention which preceded the U.B.C.M. parley at Harrison Hot Springs earlier this month.

Resolutions considered at Vanderhoof all had been submitted for the U.B.C.M. agenda more than two months before and delegates felt that all they could do about them was coordinate their voting to present a regional front and that this was not enough.

"All we did was hash over somebody else's resolutions. If we had a meeting beforehand, we could have worked up something constructive ahead of time that would have been of real value to the North," Mayor Arnold said.

Deadline for the U.B.C.M. resolutions is July 1 and the northern political group plans to hold its first semi-annual meeting next year sometime in June. The second meeting will be held shortly before the U.B.C.M. convention.

"It adds force to a resolution when it bears the notation that it is supported by a regional municipal union," City Clerk Thain told the council meeting. "The delegates take it more seriously than if it is presented by a single municipality."

The meeting next June will be held at Burns Lake while the annual meeting will be held at Terrace in September.

Officers of the Union of Central B.C. Municipalities, elected at Vanderhoof this year are:

President, Commissioner Stanley Gould, Smithers.
Vice-President, Commissioner L. C. Steele, Vanderhoof.
Secretary, City Clerk H. D. Thain, Prince Rupert.

What's New at CIVIC CENTRE

Noting the need for an adult photography club in this city, Lieut. Mike Stapleton has undertaken to form one and next Wednesday is calling a meeting of all those interested. The well-equipped dark room of the Civic Centre will be investigated and plans drawn up for activities during the winter.

For those who are interested in music Neville Gerrard is planning an evening every two weeks when, with the use of records and by discussion, it is hoped to create greater understanding and appreciation of good music. Interested teen-agers as well as adult will be welcomed in this group. It is still under consideration whether to follow the Music Appreciation course of the University of British Columbia Extension Department or whether it would be more interesting to work from the basis of individual composers.

Art will not be neglected this year. On December 1 Miss Faure is coming from Telkwa for several months and she has offered to give art lessons to a teen-age group and to an adult group. The teen-age group she would prefer to meet on a Saturday so that, when the weather was good, they could go outside to sketch. The adults would have to choose their free time to meet in the Hobby room to do still life objects until they could get outdoors to work.

Church Corner Stone To Be Laid By Bishop

Natives of the Naas River village of Aiyansh will celebrate Thanksgiving Day next month by laying the corner stone of a new $12,000 Anglican church which they plan to rebuild on the site of a former one which burned down. Bishop J. B. Gibson will officiate at the corner stone ceremony on Sunday, October 10 and the following day will be given over to banqueting and sports. The church, which will also be named St. Bartholemew's, will be an exact duplicate of St. Andrew's cathedral in Prince Rupert, use of plans for the diocesan cathedral having been allowed for the Naas River structure. Councilors of Aiyansh are appealing to all villagers to return home in time for the ceremony. Boats are being made available for transport.
