Arctic New 'Mediterranean'

ALREADY, the Arctic is being called "the new Mediterranean of the world." This is due to the profound changes that air power is bringing about in transportation, in international relations and in many other important respects.
Use of the air, instead of the surface of the seas, is shifting travel routes between the great centres of the earth. In other words, trans-ocean schedules must operate over polar zones. Flying will have to be across that part of the world where the circumference of the globe shrinks. So far as North America is concerned, the Yukon, Northern British Columbia and Alaska lie directly within this path.

SMILE AND WORLD SMILES

TAKING one's self too seriously, says Dean Hurst of the Ontario College of Pharmacy, is at the bottom of much of the world's troubles and tragedy. Persons he says, incapable of ever smiling, or having an agreeable thought are more than likely to be unhappy. And anyone of the same nature, but occupying a high place, will be sure to contribute to the misery of the masses instead of just the individual. Fanatics and zealots are dangerous. The more authority and dictatorial whims the greater the danger. Did anyone ever hear of Hitler or Mussolini or any of these creatures aspiring to rule creation getting off a pleasantry, or see one of their countless photographs, showing a smile?

HOW COMMUNISTS WORK

MOST CITIZENS of a Democracy are unable to cope successfully with Communism because in normal experience nothing is encountered which approaches it for audacity and unprincipled ruthlessness, according to a new booklet issued today by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. Designed to point out to Canadians the tactics employed by Communists in their unceasing efforts to gain control of labor and other organizations, the booklet, "How Communists Operate" is a follow-up to "The Communist Threat to Canada" issued last year.
At its last general meeting, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce recorded its vigorous opposition to Communism, and pledged itself to "continue to expose the menace and to develop a wider public appreciation of the danger it presents." "How Communists Operate" was prepared to implement this policy. Because one of the first Marxist dicta is the need to gain active labor union support, part of the new booklet is devoted to a detailed exposition of the procedure by which Communists endeavour to secure control of labor organizations. Various tricks and "tactical shortcuts" which Communists, "unhampered by normal consideration of ethics, morals, respect for religion, respect for law, etc.", employ to gain their ends are exposed and explained.

The Chamber's study suggests that the myth of invincibility employed so successfully by the Nazis for a number of years is again being used as part of the Communist psychological warfare and can be defeated only by hard work, intelligence and persistence.
No part of Democratic society is secure from Communist attack, the booklet states. A worker, a business man, a housewife, can all be ensnared whether through a union, a "charitable" front organization, or some form of housewives' league.

NORTHERN AND CENTRAL BRITISH COLUMBIA'S NEWSPAPER

"CANADA OFFERS THE WORLD..."—Mr. J. G. Diefenbaker, M.P., points out one of the many interesting features of the Canadian exhibit which will be shipped to London this week for the British Industries Fair, May 3 to 14. Built around the theme Canada Offers the World..., and designed to make overseas businessmen more conscious of Canada's position as a producer and world trading nation, the exhibit was previewed by members of parliament and government officials at the show-rooms of the Canadian Government Exhibition commission in Ottawa.

Reminiscences and Reflections

By W.J.

Back in the spring of 1936, the world—and got away with most serious flood in this district in generations suspended a hint.

The winter had brought a superabundance of snow, and by May, sudden warm weather. Streams rose rapidly. There were rainfalls. Fields and highways were inundated. People had to vacate houses. Boats sailed through railway tunnels.

Life became just one thing after another for the railway-men.

What may happen this spring is a matter of some speculation. No one denies that snowfalls have been frequent and heavy, and that at this season there is always the chance of warm weather that could come unseasonably early. There is, however, a difference between the emergency of a dozen years ago and the possibility of a flood this year. Prior to 1936, nothing much had ever been done in the way of taking precautions against suffering from high water, but since 1936, with the knowledge of what had been inflicted fresh in mind, a lot of substantial and essential work has been performed. This would be a protection today.

Tourists still have wrong ideas about the north. It's not so long ago people living in the east were uncertain about Prince Rupert having electric light, telephones or paved streets.

To many, Alaska is the land of dog teams and stern men. Ross Wheeler, postal clerk in Juneau, was questioned by visitors the other day. They had voyaged north on the S.S. Aleutian. They asked for an assortment of Alaska stamps, and rejected what they received.

"Why," remarked one, "we never knew you used the same stamps here as we use in the States."

Without mentioning any names, we perceive now and then on the traffic-thronged streets of Prince Rupert, a man who reminds one faintly of Jesse James and there are moments when one could swear he had just brushed past a distinguished actor, Monty Woolley. Whiskers some times play odd tricks.

Fish, and little else but fish, speaking commercially, has laid the foundation of many a flourishing city of today. Perhaps the process has taken a long time but it was on in and through the sea that the original start was made.

Among the impossibilities is the task of having everyone realize clearly and remember that no individual, or no set of individuals ever set out to boss

SHIPS and WATERFRONT

Veteran chief steward of long years' service on the Alaska route, Joseph Knott is making his farewell voyage aboard the C.P.R. steamer Princess Louise with the present trip to Skagway. He was here yesterday forthbound and will be back Friday afternoon on the way south. "Joe," as he is familiarly known, is retiring and will make his home in Victoria. There is probably no better or more favorably known ships' officer on this coast and he will have the best wishes of many friends. He has served on the Alaska route on practically all ships of the line including the old timers.

On her regular voyage to Alaska, C.P.R. steamer Princess Louise, Capt. P. L. Leslie, arrived in port at 9 o'clock yesterday morning from Vancouver and sailed a couple of hours later for Skagway and other northern points. The vessel had a total of 139 passengers on board including six who disembarked here, a similar number taking passage from this port for the north.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

For the information of our advertisers, A.B.C. auditors make a complete, annual audit of our circulation

Audited Distribution for your Advertising

GOOD advertising copy and attractive layouts are, of course, essential to the success of your advertising. But from the standpoint of final results the answer depends upon the distribution of your advertising.

When you buy newspaper advertising you are paying for an opportunity to talk to people about your merchandise and service. What you get for your money, therefore, depends upon how many people there are in your audience, where they are, how this audience was obtained, and many other facts that indicate the value of the circulation as a market for what you have to sell.

In order that our advertisers may have this information and thus be able to invest in advertising in The Daily News on the basis of known, verified facts, we are members of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

The Bureau is a national, co-operative association of publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Every year one of the trained auditors employed by the Bureau makes an audit of our circulation records. This audited information is issued in official A.B.C. reports covering each member publication. You avoid guesswork and speculation when you advertise in an A.B.C. newspaper.

Kenneth B. Warner, publisher of the Interior News, Smithers, arrived in the city by train Sunday and left this afternoon by air for Vancouver on a business trip.

It was not until 12:30 noon Sunday that the regular train due the preceding evening, arrived. Delay was caused by waiting for connections in the prairie country. This was because of the floods in Manitoba, Saskachewan and southern Alberta.

Gus Christianson, New Hazel-

ENTHUSIASM FOR DRAMA FESTIVAL

Pupils, teachers, choir leaders, aspiring actors and directors have been industriously working for the past six weeks to prepare their contributions for the Prince Rupert and District Music and Drama Festival being held in the Civic Centre this week.

E. E. Hyndman, chairman of the festival committee, reported at an executive meeting Friday night that great enthusiasm is being shown by the school children. Although tickets have only been on sale for two days, S. A.
Cheeseman of the Borden Street School teaching staff, said the demand for them was extremely encouraging.

A. G. Boas will be in charge of all ticket sales, acting as a co-ordinator for the various selling groups. Members of the Business and Professional Men's Club will be invited to assist as door attendants during the performances.

The festival is sponsored by the Parent-Teachers' Council and members of the Parent-Teachers' Associations are making arrangements to billet participants from outside points.

Through the School and Community Branch of the Department of Education, under whose auspices the festival was organized, arrangements have been made for Ross A. Lort, C.D.A., SUNDAY SCHOOL ENJOYS PICNIC

Intermediate Classes of United Church Visits
Digby Island

Twenty-five members of the Intermediate Sunday School of the First United Church packed their lunches, climbed into hiking clothes and set out at noon Saturday for their annual picnic.

Under the leadership of Rev.
R. A. Wilson and Esther Harrison the party walked to the Co-operative fish plant where they were met by a boat and ferried to the wireless dock. On the beach they were joined by another group, including Francis Stone, one of the teachers, who had reached the rendezvous direct by boat from Prince Rupert.

During the afternoon softball and other games were enjoyed on the sands and those who did not care for this type of sport explored the area, gathered shells and investigated the sea-life left by the receding tide. After their semond picnic meal the group left for home at 7 p.m.

Seasonable Ideas for Housekeepers

Timely Recipe

Peach Bread Pudding
"Peach Bread Pudding" is a good substantial family dessert that you will want to serve often. The sweet delicate flavor of the peaches adds a light fruity touch to this simple spicy pudding that's so good and so easy.

1 cup sliced canned cling peaches
8 slices white bread 1 1/2 cups milk
4 eggs
1/2 cup honey
1/2 cup granulated sugar 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon nutmeg

Drain peaches thoroughly. Cut bread into cubes and place one half in greased 1-quart casserole. Arrange peaches on bread and top with remaining bread.
Scald milk and pour over eggs that have been beaten with honey, sugar, salt and spice.
Blend well and pour over bread and peaches. Place casserole in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 1 hour, or until silver knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serve warm. Serves 6 to 8.

News of SMITHERS

Two moose paid a visit to town early last week and were watched by J. M. Collison and several of his neighbors. The animals appeared from the brush bordering on King Street where they remained for about fifteen minutes until a passing car frightened them off.

All Smithers is looking forward to the installation of a water system in the near future. Plans are moving apace and authority for the printing of bonds for the project was approved by the Village Commissioners under Chairman Harvey Davies. Negotiations are under way to purchase a tank from War Assets Corporation but final approval is still being awaited. The tank will have a capacity of 100,000 gallons. Armco Pipe Co. is supplying the pipe for the system and have informed the commissioners that delivery will commence in September. The $106,000 system will be a decided asset to the village when installed.

A drive for funds in the Conquer Cancer campaign has been taken over by the local Odd-fellows' Lodge and Chairman A. C. Fowler reported that the first day's collections were extremely encouraging. Although the campaign got off to a late start, through no fault of the Oddfellows, the quota should easily be exceeded in a few days.

The Bulkley Valley Branch of

TREAT LEFTOVERS WITH DUE RE- SPECT; MAY BE APPETIZING

There are two kinds of leftovers. Some just happen and others are planned for second-day use. Either kind may be offered as an appetizing encore.

When small amounts of food are not eaten at one meal there is a real challenge in making them into something so good that the family will not recognize them as yesterday's surplus.

The careful planner often cooks an extra quantity of food, knowing that it may be dressed in a new way, saving her time and energy and meeting with the entire approval of everyone at the table.

Home economists say that there need be no apologies for made-over dishes. When they are served piping hot or in a crisp, chilled salad and well seasoned they deserve respect.

That applies whether they are the accidental kind or carryovers deliberately cooked and kept for the second meal.

The first point in keeping cooked food is careful storage.

"Keep cold and covered." A scrap of cooked cereal may be used as a binder for meat loaf, to thicken soup or go into muffins. A little gravy gives extra flavour to soup, sauces or casserole mixtures. Bits of leftover meat, ground and mixed with egg or cereal may be shaped into wee balls, browned and dropped into clear broth, making a hearty main course soup. There are many ways in which these extra bits of cooked food may be dressed up but because the amounts vary so greatly it is better to use general recipes and vary the ingredients, supplementing the amount on hand with freshly cooked or uncooked foods.

These recipes are excellent and allow for variation of some ingredients.

Modern Etiquette By ROBERTA LEE

Q. When a girl is offered a cocktail in a crowd, but she does not drink, what should she do?
A. Say "No, thank you" but graciously. It isn't necessary to add that she does not drink, nor should she accept merely to please others.

Q. Isn't the bridegroom supposed to pay for the wedding music?

A. No. This expense should be borne by the bride or her family.

Q. What is a hors d'oeuvre, and how is it pronounced?

A. It is a side dish, a relish.
Pronounce hor du-vr, o as in or, u as in turn, accent after the du.

DIPLOMACY WITH CHILDREN Fond parents should try a little more diplomacy in bringing up their youngsters—if they want to take the nagging out of child-rearing.

In a breezy little booklet entitled "Obedience," the health and welfare department lists eight do's and don'ts for parents.

1. Expect the child to obey—never let him get the impression that you expect him to do otherwise. If you expect co-operation you are more likely to get it.

2. Make few demands, but be sure that those you make are carried out by the child.

3. Mean what you say—if you ask him to do something and then do not bother to see that it is done, he will soon get into the habit of paying you no attention.

4. Have the same general rules from day to day—if you are lax with your child one day and strict the next, he is confused and consequently becomes more difficult to handle.

5. Keep your temper—the surest way to make a child sullen is to lose your temper. Either he will lose his temper too, or he will learn to hold a grudge.

6. Do not order, but "ask" your child to do things—use of this method teaches the child cooperation.

7. Avoid bribery and coaxing —bribery will soon teach the child he can bargain with you.
Coaxing is an admission of weakness and is an unfair appeal to the child's sympathy.

For Real Display

It is surprising how little it costs in time or money to have a really big bed of massed annual flowers, something that will really attract interest and attention. One should not crowd these things. Leave a foot or more between all but the tiny types. Indeed in very long borders along roadways or paths there should be sufficient room to permit much of the early cultivation with a hand-drawn or tractor-operated cultivator.

First, the bed should be dug or cultivated thoroughly at least twice before the annuals are sown or set out. This gets rid of the weeds and gets the soil in good shape. For a long bed three feet wide is about a minimum requirement. Into this one can plant dozens of different type annuals, with the smaller things generally at the front, the bigger things at the bottom. For tiny things like French Marigolds, allow about ten inches between, and for the biggest things like cosmos, full-size zinnias, etc., two and a half to three feet is not too much room. A solid bed of one kind of flower in various colors makes a most effective display. Petunias and zinnias are especially suitable for this purpose.

Thinning is Important

A most important job, after the plants are up, will be thinning and spacing. This is vital work and applies to either flowers or vegetables. Crowded flowers will grow thin and spindly, will not bloom freely and the biggest plants will topple over in the first storm. They should have half as much room between as they will grow tall. This means about 4 or 5 inches for things like nasturtiums, less for alyssum, much more for tall marigolds, cosmos or spider plants.

With the smaller vegetables, a couple of inches between plants is sufficient. This applies to leaf lettuce, early carrots, beets, etc. Beans and peas should have from 4 to 6 inches between plants, and as all the seed usually germinates it should be planted about this far apart. Rows should be from 15 inches to 2 feet apart.

Spread Them Out

One gets quite a thrill out of having the first vegetables or flowers in the neighborhood. But there is also much solid satisfaction in having good and beautiful things from the garden long after those next door are done. Perhaps the commonest mistake of all amateur gardeners is stopping planting too soon.

With vegetables, especially, most varieties should be sown at least three times about two weeks apart. This will protect against late frosts or flood damage and will keep a tasty supply of the freshest vegetables coming along. In most parts of Canada it is possible to set out plants and sow seed almost up to the first week in July and still have reasonable expectation of good results.

HOW CAN I ???

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I prevent so much grease when frying anything in deep fat?

A. Keep a piece of brown wrapping paper close to the stove. When fried to the desired brown, lift the food out and place on the brown paper to drain. The paper will absorb every bit of the fat.
