Atomic Age

“THERE WILL ONE DAY spring from the brain of science a machine, or force, so fearful in its potentialities, so absolutely terrifying, that even man, the fighter, who will dare torture and death in order to inflict torture and death, will be appalled and so will abandon war forever.”
Who said that? Thomas A. Edison was the man and he made no mention of atomic energy. He had no name for what he had in mind but it was a vision of this, the great inventor was thinking about. He has long been dead but his opinions remain entitled to respect. If this is not the atomic age, it is the dawn of such an age. Today, something is brooding over the world that transcends all else. It is this force, this staggering power. Its possibilities, as yet only feebly guessed at, sets a universal question mark.

Harnessed, and exclusively applied to purposes of peace one can only surmise what atomic energy might not be able to do for the general benefit of mankind. But utilized as an instrument of war, it could only mean the wrecking of nations and general chaos. A choice must be made, before the people of today can feel the relief that it is their right to expect rather than to merely hope for.

One thing in favor of death over taxes—death doesn't get worse every time Parliament meets.

FREEDOM OF PRESS

GUARANTEE of freedom of the press is being sought by the Canadian Daily Newspapers' Association because this organization with a membership of eighty-six feel convinced these rights are insecure. Not so long ago, the year was 1938, the question of press rights became an issue in Alberta. Sir Lyman Duff, then Canadian Chief Justice, had the following to say:

“Under the British system, which is ours, no political party can erect a prohibitory barrier to prevent the electors from getting information concerning the policy of the government. Freedom of discussion is essential to enlightened public opinion in a democratic state: It cannot be curtailed without affecting the right of the people to be informed through sources independent of the government concerning matters of public interest. There must be an untrammelled publication of news and political opinions of the political parties contending for ascendancy.

“Democracy cannot be maintained without its foundation: free public opinion and free discussion throughout the nation of all matters affecting the state within the limits set by the criminal code and the common law. Every inhabitant of Alberta is also a citizen of the Dominion, and the province cannot interfere with his status as a Canadian citizen and his fundamental rights.”

SECOND PRINCE GEORGE

HUNDREDS of Vancouver businessmen were making an admiring inspection of the new CNSS Prince George while Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier was telling the Commons that Canada needs a whole fleet of fast modern merchant ships.

Mr. Chevrier himself could do something about that. As the cabinet member directly concerned, he could intimate to the CNSS directors that he would be glad to approve a request for a sister ship to the George.

Indeed, the suggestion was made publicly by Howard Mitchell, president of the Vancouver Board of Trade. In a speech to the inspection party, he pointed out that Yarrow's still has the templates of the George. The skilled construction crew which built her is also intact. Why not put them to use, he asked.

Mr. Mitchell referred—and not too delicately—to the fact that the CNSS fleet on this coast now comprises one magnificent vessel and the 38-year-old Prince Rupert. Mr. Mitchell thought that a replacement for the Rupert is overdue. To judge from the tourist bookings already made for the George, however, the Canadian National might profitably run a fleet of three. The Rupert has by no means outlived her usefulness.

CNSS directors will undoubtedly weigh the business merits of the idea. Their calculations should also include the goodwill value of placing their construction contracts on the coast where the line operates. Ability of local yards to give fast delivery is another favorable factor.

The company placed the contract for the George with Yarrow's after The Sun waged a vigorous campaign on the principle plus the urgent need for new steamer accommodation on the Pacific service. It was a happy decision by the company, as anyone who has crossed the gangplank of the George will testify. The vessel is a credit to the builders and the line and her luxurious appointments will be a pleasure to every passenger. Another of the same would be doubly appreciated.

The man who invented the hole in the doughnut really had the secret to food conservation.

Bellingham Four Make Open Boat Cruise Up Coast to Alaska

A leisurely holiday trip from Bellingham, Washington, to Juneau in two open boats is the fortunate experience of four State of Washington people who stopped in Prince Rupert briefly Tuesday afternoon, a week away from their home port.

Forgetting their jobs and their shore-bound cars are Roy Harris, superintendent of schools at Meridian, Washington, his son Everett, a high school junior, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Caylor, of Lynden, Washington. Both towns are near Bellingham.

They are travelling in open, 18-foot boats, powered with 33 horsepower outboard engines that send them scooting through the water at 19 miles an hour. They sleep and eat on the beaches, stopping where and when they like. The Caylor boat is christened Skip and the Harris craft the Aleta.

“This is our summer vacation and we are really enjoying it,” said Mr. Harris, a soft-voiced man who is proud of the fact that he coached Bellingham's champion amateur basketball last winter. “So far we have had nothing but good weather.”

They expect to be between 30 and 40 days making the round trip.

Their major concern is to make sure of a gasoline supply, since the big, hungry outboards each drink about four gallons an hour at cruising speed. Their daily progress is gauged according to the gasoline supply and with an eye for comfortable camping sites along the shore.

Since leaving Bellingham on June 6, they have moved leisurely up the coast, sometimes travelling only three or four hours a day.

“We move when we feel like it and we stop when we feel like it,” continued Mr. Harris. “We have enjoyed meeting the coast people, they are friendly and hospitable.”

Mr. Harris and Everett are both capitalizing on their holiday. The former plans to write an article for a boating magazine describing the journey and Everett, an enthusiastic camera hobbyist, is taking a 16-millimeter color film of their journey. In addition he is shooting color and black and white “stills” of scenic spots.

Mr. Caylor, a staff member of the Richardson Tractor and Implement Co. at Lynden, is mechanic for the boats while Mrs. Caylor is in charge of supplies.

Her comment that they had been “living out of cans” drew a storm of protest from her husband and the Harrises. She had, they averred, put up some mighty hearty meals along the way.

NEARLY CAUGHT BY HIGH TIDE

Only at one point on the trip so far had there been any threat of discomfort, and that failed to materialize. While camping on a beach down coast, they found that their tents had been pitched closer to the high tide level than they had realized. The water, however, just came up to the doors of their tents, then began to recede.

“We wouldn't have drowned, anyway,” said Mr. Caylor. “We were sleeping on pneumatic mattresses. We might have floated away, though.”

Idea for the cruise to Alaska originated with Everett a year ago after the same group had made a cruise through the Gulf of Georgia and the Strait of Juan de Fuca. Everett made the suggestion to his father, a bit hopelessly, then was delighted to see it catch hold and mature.

“It's probably the only chance that we would have in our lives to do it,” Mr. Harris explained, “so I thought we might as well take it.”

On the Gulf Islands cruise, Mr. Harris kept a journal from which he wrote an article for Pacific Motor Boating, the same magazine for which he plans to write about the Alaska cruise.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Q. Hasn't a devoted wife the privilege to open her husband's mail?

A. No. This has nothing whatever to do with devotion. Neither should he or she pick it up and read it after it has been opened, without permission. A well-bred person will not even scrutinize a postal card that belongs to someone else.

Q. How should a girl introduce a man to her mother?

A. “Mother, this is Mr. Martin,” or, “Mother, this is Ralph Martin,” if she knows the man well.

CO-OPERATION ON GARBAGE

Public co-operation will be necessary if the city's back-door garbage pick-up scheme, instituted this month, is to work effectively. City Council was informed Monday night by City Engineer Don Stewart.

He pointed this out after Alderman T. B. Black had registered a complaint that city garbage crews have in some cases failed to return the garbage cans to their proper places on collection rounds.

“The amount of garbage is much heavier than it was when we made pick-ups off the street,” Mr. Stewart said. “It seems that, since people don't have to carry it from the back step any more, they have a lot more garbage.”

Since the new plan was put into operation, Mr. Stewart said, the collection crews have been getting not only garbage, “but bed springs, mattresses and all sorts of stuff” as well.

“We eventually will get the collection worked out properly but it will require co-operation on the part of the citizens,” he declared.

Alderman Black pointed out that articles in excess of the regular amount of garbage could be charged for under the new bylaw.

Flood of Beginners Expected At City School This Fall

More than 100 beginners will be added to Prince Rupert's school population at the beginning of the 1948-49 term next September, according to registrations already made to principals of the three elementary schools. More are expected to register before the term opens.

Registrations up to June 15, according to the principals totalled 111. Parents of prospective beginners were asked by the School Board to register them at the nearest school by June 15 in order to give the Board an idea of the number of newcomers to be expected.

"We want an indication of how many to expect," said Schools Secretary Mrs. M. M. Roper. "We have to have some advance notice in order to prepare for them."

Both Mrs. Roper and the school principals believe that there will be more registrations, particularly at the time school opens, but, with the number already registered, will give them an idea of what to expect.

In order to be eligible to start school in September, a child must be six years old by November 30, 1948.

Registrations at Conrad Street School, where the enrolment usually numbers about 200, have been 41, according to Principal T. G. Bateman. This is slightly higher than last year.

At King Edward School, where the enrolment is normally slightly more than 260, there have been 40 applications for beginners to start in the fall.

Principal R. G. Moore of King Edward emphasized the desirability of early registration "because the number of teaching staff and the amount of free text books we will require is based on the number of pupils."

Borden Street, with a normal enrolment of 200, can expect at least 30 beginners, because that is the number already registered. However, Principal J. S. Wilson anticipates more than that.

Total population of the city's public schools, including Booth Memorial High School, has been between 1,100 and 1,200 during the current term.

CITY COUPLE WED SATURDAY

A pretty wedding was solemnized in the presence of a few friends in First United Church Saturday evening when Miss Dorothy Bernice Stacey, youngest daughter of Mrs. Louise Stacey, of Prince Rupert, became the bride of Edward Joseph Holhauser, son of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Holhauser of Saskatchewan. The rite was performed by Rev. R. A. Wilson.

Beautifully gowned in white sheer satin with floor-length veil crowned by halo headdress, the bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Peter Wells. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Bridesmaid was Miss Velma Stacey, sister of the bride, wearing a floor-length gown of light green and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations.

Groomsman was Joseph C. Major.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, 1447 Eighth Avenue East.

processing plants worth mentioning!

Queen Charlottes, with the mildest climate in Canada and with the largest area of potentially agricultural land on the Pacific Coast north of the Fraser delta, have had barely enough farming gone to demonstrate the practicability of that enterprise!

Queen Charlottes, with every indication of metalliferous areas have scarcely been prospected at all.

Queen Charlottes, with reported oil seepages, have been "wildcat" in the least promising places unsuccessfully!

Queen Charlottes, with some minor proven coal deposits of high quality, have not been explored in the areas most likely to carry continuous bodies of it but only in the broken up areas!

I note in the Daily News that a big outfit is interested in sites for power development for aluminum manufacture. Undoubtedly the Skeena right at your door has a greater power potentiality than any other river on the coast. I noted white water all the way from Hazelton down to where it broadens out. There looks to be plenty hard rock formation for basing dams, etc.

The Missouri River in Montana is no bigger and to me appears much less feasible as a power source but there are several large dams and lots of power being produced on it above the Fort Peck Dam.

Why doesn't your Chamber of Commerce get some qualified engineer to look that river over and give them an estimate of its possibilities. Then get out and push! It would be more businesslike than trying to curtail the postal services now enjoyed by these islands.

SHORT SPORT

The Maritime sports scribes' feud with the Canadian Boxing Federation concerning the vagaries in the middleweight division is on again. Alex Nickerson (Halifax Herald) continues to beat the drums for recognition of George Ross, the West Bay Road, N.S., farm boy, as the Canadian middleweight champion. Announcement that the Halifax Athletic Commission had become a member of the Canadian Boxing Federation caused the most recent verbal blasts.

What irked Nick most was the fact that the Halifax Commission paid a $50 affiliation fee. "The Halifax Athletic Commission," says Nick, "having paid a fee to the Canadian Boxing Federation is now in a position to argue about the Canadian boxing champions with the self-appointed triumvirate from Ontario and Quebec, who have set themselves up as rulers of all things connected with the prize ring in Canada. The fact that the Halifax Commission had paid tribute to the Canadian Boxing Federation means nothing in Cape Breton. They maintain, and rightly too, that George Ross, who has never lost a bout since he turned professional, is the Canadian middleweight champion."

Nick says that Roger Whyntall, Pete Zaduk and Ross were all unrecognized as champions for reasons that are "sheer rot." He feels the "tardy recognition given the C.B.F. by the Halifax body will carry no weight in Cape Breton Island... they are at a loss to understand why George Ross should not be universally recognized as the middleweight champion of Canada even though the Cape Breton organization refused to pay $50 to Montreal interests. Their old-fashioned idea, it would appear, is that boxing champions are won by leather-covered fists, not by a fragile, lily-white hand signing a $50 cheque," Nick concludes.

Ed Smith (Sydney Post-Record) claims the Halifax move was a surprising one. "The Halifax Commission's decision to become part of an organization that is there and has no intention of being insulted out of existence must truly shock the long-range mockers of 'this self-appointed body.' Canada needs a centralized boxing administration for the good of boxing and for the good of those who pay the shot at the box office. The C.B.F. has lately shown that it wants to make its way out of its former anaemic state. A few more transfusions and it shouldn't be long before they call for a re-organization of the Federation and the appointment of an executive board consisting of members from every province in the Dominion."

HIGH SCHOOL WINS FIRST GIRLS' GAME

First girls' softball game of the season saw the High School team, sparked by Betty Sedgwick on the mound, defeat Moose 4-3 in an exhibition at Gyro Park that was featured by a good quality of play.

Because the ladies so far have been unable to drum up a third team, no league has been drawn up, so it looks like it will be Moose versus High School periodically during the summer. In the meantime, however, the girls are hoping that some other group will organize and present themselves for league competition.

LAWN BOWLING PLAY STARTED

Fine weather, greens which were never in better shape and a goodly number of tyro players were combining factors which got the Lawn Bowling League season off to a splendid start last night. Three matches were played, resulting as follows: MacPhee rink, 17; Arroll, 14; Macdonald, 27; Frew, 15; Ross, 26; Paul, 18.

back into their hard seats last night. After the first couple of innings, all they had to do was wonder how badly the Moose would get beaten.

It was not that the Moose batsmen could not hit Lindsay. They clouted him for 11 but the smooth-working Savoy fielders kept the runners from coming home in a style that was most discouraging for the lodgemen.

Moose Pitcher Hector McKinnon hurled for eight innings during which he was hit 15 times for 11 runs. Then Coach Benny Windle went in for the balance of the ninth but it was much too late.

Moose got two hits off Lindsay in the first three innings but it was not until the fourth that they scored. Vanetta got on base on a feigner's choice play and Hichen's on an error. Both were brought home on a double by Calderoni.

In the seventh, Moose scored three runs. Shier and Kerr coming home on a single by Rosedale and Calderoni off a single by Kerr.

In the ninth, Moose scored two runs off three hits. Shier and Kerr singled, Shier coming home when Rosedale flied out to left field and Kerr on a force play when Vanetta walked.

Savoy had their big inning in the second when they brought in seven runs off five hits. They also scored one in the first, two in the fourth and one in the ninth.

Sees Hope For Louis

Tony Zale's Victory Shows Age Can Be Overcome

by Arch MacKenzie Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA, ☉ — When rugged Tony Zale clubbed Rocky Graziano into submission in the third round of their middleweight championship bout last week, Dave Dryburgh of the Regina Leader-Post figured it was a good omen for Joe Louis who meets Joe Walcott June 23 in defence of his heavyweight crown.

"Zale has probably silenced the Louis - is-a-fat - old - man chanters," said Dave. "At 34 he made the birdies sing for a youngster like Rocky Graziano. So why can't Louis? He doesn't even have youth to conquer. Walcott became of voting age some considerable time ago."

Between the lines of that brief but hectic middleweight scrap, Dryburgh read that an old gaffer can have authority in his mitts. "He saw no reason for believing Louis wouldn't use Zale's strategy."

"He'll go after the kayo early. The old rock-a-bye punch is still there at 34 but the old pins complain when asked to go the route."

Aside from a potent fist, Dryburgh figured another angle might help make life miserable for Walcott this next time.

Walcott "has had a lot of time to think about what the heavyweight championship will mean to his way of living for the rest

GARDEN NOTEBOOK

EARLY VEGETABLES SHOULD BE SOWN FOR LATE CROPS

Quickest maturing vegetable is the early radish which matures in 20 days; and slowest are winter onions which require 115 days.

Between these extremes are other vegetables, which may take 30, 40, 60 or 80 days to reach the size and quality which best fits them for table use.

In the early spring, these maturity dates are of less significance than later. Early varieties should always be sown for an early harvest, but the late ones also should be sown for fall and winter use.

As summer advances, however, maturity dates become more important, and before sowing any crop the gardener should make sure it has time to mature before winter sets in.

Seed catalogues usually give the maturity date for each variety listed. The average date of the first killing frost in your vicinity should be known. Compare these two, and you can easily avoid crops which have no chance to develop fully before winter comes.

Until June 1, however, there are few vegetables which cannot be sown with good chances of a crop. Long season crops are lima beans, broccoli, cabbage, celery, collards, cucumbers, egg plant, kale, leek, onion, parsley, parsnips, peppers, New Zealand spinach, rutabaga, salsify, Swiss chard, squash and tomatoes. After June 15 these may be risky.

Cauliflower and brussels sprouts are fall crops, and seeds should always be sown late. There are two salad crops which are at their best in the fall—endive and Chinese cabbage. Chinese cabbage which matures in 90 days is difficult to grow in the summer, because it runs to seed, but in the short days of autumn, it makes beautiful elongated heads of crisp leaves having a suggestion of cabbage flavor which are delicious cooked or raw.

Vegetable crops which should not be sown in June include peas, early radishes, lettuce and spinach. All these require cool weather, and you may sow very early kinds in August, so they will mature in the autumn.

Quick maturing crops include snap beans, beets, carrots, endive, lettuce, kohlrabi, turnips, spinach, peas and radishes. The later you sow, the "earlier" should be the variety you sow.

No matter what the vegetable, it will taste better the sooner it is cooked after being harvested. Half an hour may be sufficient to dull the flavor of those that are rich in sugar, which quickly begins to change to starch.

The quickest annual flower to bloom is leptosyne stillmani,

FORMER LOCAL PEOPLE SUFFER FLOOD LOSSES

According to word received in the city, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Allen, former well known residents of Prince Rupert, suffered property loss from the Kootenay River flood in the Creston area where they now reside. Mr. Allen was for many years district forester here, later being stationed at Nelson whence he took up residence in retirement at Creston.

Other former Prince Rupert residents to suffer from the floods were Mr. and Mrs. Ingvald Urseth who just recently settled at Agassiz following Mr. Urseth's retirement as fisheries supervisor here.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Finnie, who recently moved from Prince Rupert to Chilliwack, are believed to have been unaffected by the flood as their place is on high ground.

TOURIST SEASON IN FULL SWING, ALL LINES BRINGING VISITORS

Any doubts existing as to whether or not the coast tourist season has begun were dispelled Monday with the arrival of Union Steamships' cruise ship Chilcotin, which began her summer service from Vancouver to Alaska.

Chilcotin, under command of Capt. Harry McLean, was the second of the summer cruisers to dock here Monday and the third during the weekend. She carried 46 passengers making the round trip to Alaska. The vessel arrived at 2:30 p.m. and sailed later in the afternoon for Ketchikan whence she returned last evening southbound.

Monday morning, the Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Louise, Capt. P. L. Leslie, was here enroute to Juneau and Skagway with 100 or more tourists among her total of 226 passengers.

Saturday, the Canadian National line's new ship Prince George called, northbound, with 250 round-trip passengers. That afternoon the Princess Norah was in port southbound.

Chilcotin, newest of the Union post-war fleet, this summer returns to the cruise service which she commenced a year ago. However, this year, the cruises will extend further afield than in 1947.

At the end of June, Chilcotin will alternate her regular six-day cruises to Ketchikan with a 12-day trip further up the Alaska panhandle to Juneau and possibly to Sitka. Her last cruise, in September, will be of similar duration and distance, it is understood.

Other officers, in addition to Capt. McLean, serving aboard the Chilcotin are A. E. (Wally) Walsh, first officer; George Craigen, chief engineer; Gerald Foote, purser; and Jack Minnis, chief steward.

STEWART

The promiscuous discharging of firearms, in the confines of the village, was brought to a sudden stop when Constable G. Nelson apprehended two youths. One being a juvenile was let off with a warning, the other was put under suspended sentence. In both cases the firearms were ordered confiscated by stipendiary Magistrate C. G. Tran.

Owing to ill health A. Russwurm, who has been very active in all social activities for many years, has had to resign from many of his positions and is leaving for Vancouver to take treatment. The position of secretary to the School Board, which he has held for many years, will be taken over by Lennox Gardiner.

Canadian Doctors To View Antique Drugstore

Dating back to 1793, this antique apothecary shop—without cigarettes, soda fountain, or razor blades—will greet physicians attending the annual Canadian Medical Association meeting in Toronto June 21-25 at the Royal York Hotel. The shop contains over 1,000 pieces of early Americana. Jean Durand is shown filling a prescription for Dorothy Bennet as it was done in Colonial days.

Spring Salmon Run Average—Prices Good—Three Corvettes Coming on Run

Spring salmon runs in the trolling waters adjacent to Prince Rupert continue average in spite of the muddy flood waters of the Skeena River and northwest winds which have been causing the fish to run deep. The trolling fleets are now all out on the Stephens, Dundas and Warke Canal grounds. A start is now being made to rig for cohoes. Prevailing prices on the grounds are 20½¢ for large springs, 17½¢ for medium reds and 9½¢ for small with 12½¢ for white springs and 11½¢ for cohoes.

Within the coming fortnight all the new converted corvette ships of the Union Steamships coastal fleet will be on the Prince Rupert run for the summer months. Due here a week from next Sunday afternoon, the Camosun will be going on the Vancouver - Prince Rupert-Stewart route. The Coquitiam is already on the Vancouver-Queen Charlotte Island-Prince Rupert run while the Chilcotin is doing weekly cruises from Vancouver through Prince Rupert to Alaska.

Returning south on her maiden voyage to Alaska with the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce party on board, the new steamer Prince George, Capt. Ernest Caldwell, is due in port at 3 o'clock tonight from the north. She is to sail south at 12:15 p.m. The times are daylight saving.

Ed. Snidal of Cassiar Cannery left by air on Monday evening for a few days at Smithers and Hazelton on company business.

of his days. The first time he was just out there swinging and hoping in spite of the we-knew-it-all-the-time tripe his supporters have been peddling."

EXIT GRAZIANO

In reflection, Dryburgh affirms Rocky's recent fight—his first and last defence of the middleweight crown "should be the last we'll hear of Graziano for a spell."

Because of the shenanigans which drew the ire of the boxing authorities on Rocky's head, this defeat might mean finis for him.

"Some of it is his own fault and some isn't. As a champion he could make a go of it but now that he's been stretched out on the deck he won't get many blue chip offers."

Dryburgh says that it was a bad show for Rocky when rain postponed the first bout.

The nervous tension no doubt
